Suspend Phone Rate Increase For One Month

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today the government has suspended for one month after Nov. 1, pending hearing of an appeal, a five-per-cent rate increase by Ontario and Quebec granted Bell Telephone Company.

The announcement said:

"The prime minister . . . announced today the governor-in-council (cabinet) has suspended pending the appeal to the board the application of the order of the board of transport commissioners dated Oct. 10, 1958, authorizing increases in rates to be charged by telephone services by the Bell Telephone Company.

"The decision was made to make it possible for the government to consider the appeals that have been made against the increases."

Gas Perennial Problem in Springhill Mines

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — Although Dosco officials, including the Cumberland Railway and Coal Company's No. 2 pit here are soft coal mines.

In the Springhill coal field, gas is a dangerous problem. The so-called firedamp, is given off by the coal seams in Springhill.

No. 2 mine is the deepest in North America. The deepest part of the mine is about 5,000 feet straight down from the surface.

An explosion that killed 39 men years ago was attributed to an electric spark from a broken power cable that set off gas and coal dust.

Diefenbaker Voices Sorrow Over Disaster

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the Springhill coal mine disaster has drawn the family of Canadians together in sorrow and sympathy for families of the men still missing in the Nova Scotia mine accident.

In a brief statement to reporters as he entered a cabinet meeting, Mr. Diefenbaker said he spoke for all Canadians in expressing "heartfelt sympathy" for the relatives of the miners trapped and in hoping that the missing men would be brought up safely from Springhill's No. 2 mine.

RUSSIA TO LEND $100 MILLION TO CONSTRUCT DAM

Seen as Clincher In Red Penetration

CAIRO (AP)—The Soviet Union has agreed to lend the United Arab Republic 400,000,000 rubles worth of materials and equipment to start Gamal Abdel Nasser's 400-foot dam at Aswan on the Nile.

The credit, amounting to $100,000,000 by Soviet reckoning, was seen by some diplomats here today as the clincher in Moscow's economic penetration of the Middle East. It may mean Nasser has given up his idea of serious economic co-operation or reconciliation with the Western powers.

The United States, Britain and the World Bank three years ago offered to lend Egypt $270,000,000 for the $1,300,000,000 dam in southern Egypt. The U.S. abruptly withdrew the offer a year later after Egypt started buying arms and arms from Soviet bloc. Nasser, in retaliation, nationalized the Suez Canal.

The Soviet credit, announced by Premier Khrushchev in Moscow Thursday night, does not mean that the Russians will be starting of work on the vast project has been cleared.

SUDAN INVOLVED

The proposed dam 600 miles south of Cairo would flood miles of territory across the border in Sudan. Egypt would displace 41 32,000 Sudanese.

But the Sudan government, through whose territory the Nile flows before it reaches Egypt, has not agreed to this new use of the waters, and Sudan has a plan of its own. It is expected the negotiation the south to develop thousands of acres of cotton land.

If Egypt goes ahead with the Aswan project without Sudan's consent, new international crisis could be touched off.

Before the Russian move can be called their offer of financing, Egypt must sign a deal. It is expected to help build the dam. Later the Russian announced they were also offering experience to help with projects that would show more immediate results.

Nasser already has swung Egypt's trade pattern sharply to the Communist bloc as a result of his 1955 arms deal, in which Egypt traded cotton for the arms the West wouldn't sell him.

Fail to Find Murder Suspect

HAGERSVILLE (CP)—As the mid-morning sun appeared, a dramatic search for a gunman to carry land near this village was abandoned today.

The all-night search was for a man believed to be Joseph Takacs, 27, of Toronto, who had been issued, charging him with the murder of his eight-year-old daughter.

The burial slaying of the little girl was discovered when police poured a week ago in the farmhouse of Joseph Takacs' house at Fair-Ground, near Simcoe.

Joey's head had been bludgeoned and his neck slashed.

Shortly after 10:30 p.m. Thursday two newsmen at Hagersville quarries were approached by a man who spoke hesitant, broken English. "I surrendered. I said something about "hungry."

RAN AWAY

Then, when the workmen began to question him, he ran away —and vanished into the black confines of the quarry.

The workmen called the provincial police and gave a description of the man. It fitted that of Joseph Takacs.

Nine police cruisers converged on the quarry, together with some 25 OPP officers reinforced by members of the Simcoe and Hagersville police departments.

Half an hour after the hunt began, a thick fog wrapped itself around the four square miles of quarry land.

Inspector J. P. Laperriere, of the OPP's criminal investigation department, said: "From that moment, our task became almost impossible."

The search was abandoned 12 hours later.

172 Men Cut Off By 'Bump' In Nova Scotia Coal Mine; 80 Reach Safety, 1 Dead

Thirteen Hours After Upheaval Rescuers Still Unable to Reach Men

By IAN DONALDSON and HARRY CALNEK
Canadian Press Staff Writers

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — Ninety-one men were still trapper in the shattered Cumberland No. 2 colliery today, 15 hours after a sudden upheaval in the depths cut off 172 men working there.

Eighty had reached safety.

The men trapped were 85 miners and six men described by the company as supervisory personnel. Presence underground of the supervisors was announced this morning. They were not named.

It is understood they were in the mine to study the causes of previous bumps to which the Springhill colliery is susceptible.

One miner was listed as dead. Some survivors said they saw other bodies underground.

Arnold Patterson, a coal company spokesman, said: "The situation is not encouraging. It looks pretty grim. We are hopeful, of course."

He said he based this outlook on interviews with rescued men.

Thirteen hours after the "bump," a sudden shifting of strata underground, rescue crews still had not been able to penetrate gassy passageways at the deepest part of the mine, where most of the men were believed entombed by fallen rock.

Exact position of other 36 missing men was unknown.

VICTIM IDENTIFIED

The miner known to be dead was identified as Harry Halliday, 52.

Through the night and into morning survivors trickled out of the mine portal and through lines of walking, anxious relatives.

There were smiles of relief on the faces of those who recognized a loved one as he emerged. Others, including 16 injured, were helped or carried out. Many were overcome.

No. 2 mine is operated by the Cumberland Railway and Coal Company, a subsidiary of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation. Its turn is controlled by A. V. Roe Canada Limited.

Access to underground working levels is through a long sloping shaft that extends at about a 30-degree angle from the surface for more than 14,000 feet. Working tunnels extend like branches of a tree horizontally from this slope.

SUPERVISERS RESCUE

Harold Gorden, vice-president and general manager of the coal company, sped here from Sydney to take charge of rescue work. He went underground at 3:30 a.m. and was still there seven hours later.

Mine manager George Calder had been in the depths for more than 12 hours. Among the watchers at the surface was Sir Roy Dobson, chairman of the Roe organization. Also on other company executives came here from Halifax where they attended Dosco annual meeting Thursday.

A silent crowd shivered in a cold drizzle outside the mine mouth with fresh memories of the 1956 disaster—worst since 1914—that killed 39 men. Ni 14 other lives—in their minds.

Their hopes rested in the five-man rescue team, the volunteer dragermen who saved 88 from No. 4 mine years ago and lost two themselves in that tragedy. The dragermen were called underground in shifts to clear rock and debris from dust-choked gassy tunnels.

GAS POCKETS FORM

One of the first survivors said the "bump"—the name miners give to underground rock shifts of explosive force—knocked out the ventilation system, and

Bump Knocked Cigaret From Mouth Of Youth Quarter of a Mile Away

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — Bob Jewkes scrambled from the 13,000-foot level. He was dazed and almost incoherent. "All the mine roofs were falling in."

His brothers Billy and Doug were still trapped.

William D. C. Thompson, provincial mines inspector for 40 years, said: "I have been in 24 bumps. All is "susceptible to bumps." Six major upheavals were recorded in the province before the one at end of August.

The men still trapped, for two it held special significance. Their father died in the mine in 1956 explosion that killed 39. Frank Hunter was one of the 88 rescued then. He died last March—years ago almost to the day.

Thursday's bump was felt for miles around. It knocked a cigaret out of the mouth of 19-year-old Gary Embree a quarter mile from the mine. Gary's father, Burk, is missing.

"I only hope after this they clear the mine for good—even if it means the end of Springhill," Gary said.

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Two gaunt miners lay side by side in a makeshift armouries hospital today. Twelve hours earlier they had lain half buried beneath coal and rock 13,800 feet from daylight in the Cumberland No. 2 mine here.

Henry Dykens turned his head and managed a toothless grin through a cut and coal-blackened face. His rescuer, 44-year-old Peter McMannan, grinned back. They had dug their way out with bare hands and come to the surface.

"I got up at nine yesterday morning," said 30-year-old Dykens. "I felt shaky all morning. I don't know why. I was still shaky when I went down at three o'clock.

"Stanley Henwood was with me. He said, 'This place is due for a good bump.' I guess he was right."

His son, 17-year-old Art, was waiting beside him.

"My wife Margaret hasn't been here. She's the nervous kind but she'll come."

McMannan's wife Claire, 33, had come to the hospital to see her husband. Their three children, Theresa, 12, Brian, 9, and Jimmy, 7, stayed home.

"She couldn't say anything at first," McMannan said. "Then she was crying . . . . Then the first thing she said was, 'Open it.' The word I just finished saying: my rosary."

He shared her goodbye when I left yesterday. We always do. I guess the women-folk get used to it. They've always got that dread on their minds. It's hard to say if I'll go back. Claire will have a lot to say."

FLOOR HEAVED

McMannan and Dykens were working together when the mine bump—the name miners give to rock down on them.

"Gee whiz, it was only in my place," said McMannanan. "It just heaved for help, then I started to dig. I dug my way out by hand."

He found Dykens buried under the debris.

"It was awful," said Dykens. "I couldn't move. I was smothering."

One of World's Best-Known Planes, RCAF's C-5 Ready for New Trip

OTTAWA (CP)—"Canadian Air force 10,000," call-sign for one of the world's best-known aircraft, soon will be heard again around the globe as the RCAF's C-5 transport carries Prime Minister Diefenbaker on a journey to 15 countries.

Fresh from a complete overhaul, the unique C-5 which has flown some 3,000,000 miles in 8½ years' service is ready to add another 34,000 miles to its log. It takes off Tuesday.

The luxury plane's main use is to carry government persons on royalty on special trips. It has a crew of seven.

Its captain for this trip will be Wing Cmdr. William K. Carr, 35-year-old commanding officer of 412 Transport Squadron. Fellow pilots he and his officers have been planning every step of the route, preparing for every eventuality — a job that involved a trial word dirtip by an RCAF North Star in the last month to all the major points of call.

The first officer, Flt. Lt. Robert G. Hatch, has been around the world three times and flew Mrs. Queen during her visit to Canada last year.

But the veteran of the C-5 is the squadron's flight steward, Sgt. Joseph Mignault from Ile Perrot, Que. He has been on many of the plane's major flights since it went into service in July, 1950, with three world trips including that of former prime minister St. Laurent.

He is busy planning menus for some 30 meals to feed the 28 persons who will be aboard the C-5.

The C-5 will carry a crew of 12. Eight will be on duty at a time but the crew is augmented to meet the requirements of long flights of up to 21 hours.

The plane was built to fill the RCAF's requirement for a luxury to carry important persons. Its passenger list reads like an international "who's who." Royalty, prime ministers, presidents, cabinet ministers and parliamentarians have travelled in it.

The plane's physical make-up is unique. It has an enlarged DC-4 fuselage, a DC-6 undercarriage and four Pratt and Whitney engines. It is similar in appearance to the North Star but is less lofty and 20 knots faster at 18,000 feet.

Pleading guilty to three additional charges of safe robbery, Robert Mondeville, already under sentence for breaking and entering and theft, was remanded until next Friday for sentence when he appeared in magistrate's court before Magistrate T. Y. Wills today.

Mondeville pleaded guilty to safe robberies at the Quinte Secondary School, at Rawson Rus Company office, and the office of Garage Supply.

He and an accomplice were arrested by police several weeks ago when they were found in the office of the British American Oil Company on South Front Street. Appearing on three charges he was sentenced to two years less a day definite, and six months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory.

The three additional charges to which he pleaded guilty today in the magistrate's court included following investigation by Police Inspector J. Keith Hayes. Only about $2,200 in cash was stolen from the three safes, including about $743 when the safe at Quinte Secondary School was robbed.

Holds Arrest Was Justified

TORONTO (CP)—Police were justified in arresting when accused failed to give a satisfactory explanation when stopped in the street at 3 a.m., a magistrate ruled Thursday.

Ernie Yuke, 34, of Toronto, found guilty of vagrancy, was fined $5 or 10 days. He said he would appeal.

Tate refused to open a suitcase he was carrying when a search court was told.

Magistrate W. F. B. Rogers told him: "If the rights of a citizen are to be maintained then the correspondingly high duties must also be maintained. These duties require you to identify your presence. If you had done so, you wouldn't be before this court."

Intermediates Get First Test Saturday Night

TRENTON — The local Intermediate "A" OHA hockey entry will face its first opposition this Saturday night in the Community Gardens when it meets the Port Hope-Cobourg Combines in an exhibition game which, according to Manager Jack Timmins, "The Visitors are one of the six teams comprising the Eastern Ontario Intermediate "A" group and finished in fourth place last season. They were ousted by top-place Bowmanville in a torrid seven-game series.

The new Trenton squad is at the present time handled by Len Gaudette who is filling in until a coach is appointed. It is expected that former hockey star Cal York will take over the helm of the Trenton team. Gaudette feels that his starting line will be three local boys, the Scott brothers. Joe Scott has fitted in well as pivot man for Gaudette and Hal Pal. The interpersonced Pat is looking like a veteran at the wing position and his unit to date is the number one forward trio.

Another combination that may be the spark-line has Len Gaudette centre between Jerry Scott and Foster. Gaudette has seen action in the British Columbia Senior and Ariner, while Orville Grawelle played last season with the Levis, Quebec Juniors who were knocked out of the Allan Cup playdowns by the Belleville Mats. Foster is a Belleville boy who just recently attended the Guelph Junior "A" camp and is trying to make up here.

Newcomers trying for berths include Larry Riley who last season performed with the Grimsby Peach Kings in the Manitoba Intermediate League; Doug Seale, fast Trenton boy who could be one of the better players in the league, and Gerry Scott from last year's Belleville Junior "B's." Defencemen cashing for a spot are Gaudette were Doug Murray from Belleville; Terry LeGrandeur, Gerry from Trenton, and Gerry Scott from Waterloo. Three goal tenders are at present battling for the post between the pipes, colorful Stocky Brown from Belleville, and Stan Riverlere, who has seen action in the Interprovincial League. It is expected that Riverlere will play half the opening game on Saturday night with Hooper finishing the engagement.

This weekend three more boys, who should have little difficulty in catching on with the squad from their past records, will arrive in town to take up residence. They are Bill "Red" Searle from the Dundas Intermediates; Eddie Brooks from Toronto, who played four seasons as centre man for Len Gaudette, and Ed Plata who last season played in Nottingham, England.

"We are allowed a combination of last season's players" said Gaudette. "A player who was out of hockey last season is a new face again. We have a few of those, which is giving us a break."

The Intermediate "A" schedule gets underway on Monday, November 3, in Napanee, with Trenton the visiting club. Two days later Trenton will open at home with the Bowmanville-Orono Combines the visiting club. This looks like an outstanding season of good entertainment for hockey fans in the district.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hat Roche of Brownsville believes he caught the world's smallest tarpon record tarpon Thursday. The fish was 4¼ inches long and weighed three ounces. He caught the tarpon off Padre Island on an artificial lure.

Most tarpon are measured in feet.

Roche said he is going to have the fish mounted.

Reappraisal Of Canada-U.S. Relations Urged

QUEBEC (CP)—The Canadian-American committee was to sit down today at its third meeting since its formation, after issuing a statement Thursday calling for a fundamental reappraisal of economic relations between the United States and Canada.

The statement said no further deterioration of commercial relationships between the two nations should be permitted.

The committee was created about a year ago by some 30 Canadians representing business, labor, agricultural and professional interests in both countries. Its objectives are to foster better understanding of problems of Canadian-American relations and to seek constructive solutions.

RESEARCH ADVANCES

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canadian universities are entering "the big league" in research, Dr. E. W. F. Steacie, president of the National Research Council said Thursday night, but he warned against an over-emphasis on the "useful-ness" of university work. He stressed instead their role in providing Canadians with knowledge through a well-rounded education.

Draegermen Have Hero's Role to Play

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—The draegerman, Nova Scotia's mine rescue crews, have the hero's role in today's efforts to save men trapped in the 3 p.m. explosion here.

In 1956 Springhill explosion they lost two of their own number while rescuing 88 miners.

The draegerman the name comes from the German-made equipment they originally used — are hand - picked for size, health, intelligence and temperament.

The typical draegerman weighs about 175 pounds and is about 5-foot-10. He must be more than 25 and is retired at 56.

Draeger crews generally consist of five men-miners who volunteer without extra pay for hazardous rescue work.

Queen's Will Not Attempt to Match Any Expansion

KINGSTON (CP) — Principal W. A. Mackintosh Thursday night predicted continued growth for Queen's University but emphasized Queen's will not attempt to match the rate of expansion of Canada's big metropolitan institutions of higher learning.

In a radio broadcast Dr. Mackintosh said he did not know how long the current large-scale building program will continue.

"What we do will be directed by our needs and resources in the circumstances of the time. Our thing is certain — There is no thought of unlimited expansion or expansion for its own sake."

During the last year a seamen's memorial was opened, Civil engineering and hospital units are nearing completion, work has begun on a social science building and another men's residence and a new women's residence is projected.

Wintermeyer Promises Quick Work on 401

KITCHENER (CP)—John Wintermeyer, Ontario Liberal leader, has promised that Highway 401 would be completed across Ontario within five years of his party taking office.

Mr. Wintermeyer, who has just completed a 20,000-mile Ontario tour, was speaking Thursday night at the annual meeting of his home riding of Waterloo North.

Touching on other planks in his program, Mr. Wintermeyer said the Liberal party would increase the aid to education, overhaul the municipal act and limit the commission form of government.

Mr. Wintermeyer said Highway 401 was needed for the industrial development of Ontario yet the Tory party had been in power by the time the Frost government finally completed it.

Warden Lloyd H. Price and Mrs. Price express appreciation to county council for the gift of matched luggage presented last night at the warden's banquet held in Tweed High School auditorium. Since becoming warden, Mr. Price has won acclamation as MLA for Hastings East and will represent the riding at Queen's Park.

External Affairs Minister Outlines World Situation In Talk at Warden's Banquet

Tribute to Hastings county Warden Lloyd H. Price, reeve of Elzevir township and M.P.P. for Hastings East was paid last night by county and other officials at the annual warden's banquet held at the Tweed High School auditorium.

Guests at the dinner included Hon. Sidney Smith, Secretary of State for External Affairs, and M.P. for Hastings-Frontenac; Lee Grills, M.P. for Hastings South, Senator George White of Madoc and Mayor Gerald Hyde of Belleville. Chairman for the evening was His Honor Judge J. C. Anderson, Hastings county Judge.

The evening saw varied entertainment, many words in high tribute to the retiring warden and an up-to-the-minute report on the world situation by Hon. Sidney Smith, one of three who responded to the toast to the banquet guests.

As the evening came to a close Warden Price and Mrs. Price were presented with a set of matching luggage, while Mrs. Price also received a lovely bouquet presented on behalf of county officials by Mrs. Kenneth York, matron of the county home.

In fine fettle as chairman for the evening's program Judge Anderson noted that being a Hastings county warden must be a stepping stone to higher official office.

By way of illustration he referred to the late Billa Flint, one time county warden, Dr. Harry of Bancroft, Lee Grills, J. Fred Wilson, Roscoe Robson, and now Warden Price who within the past months had become M.P.P. for Hastings East.

NEW BUILDING COMING

Judge Anderson stressed the importance of municipal government and said that the legislators are to their constituents, better value for the dollar in tax money is realized.

Now with Hastings county 11¼ years old county councillors have decided that renovations to the county court house, or possibly a new building, are required.

"And as it should be," he said.

Warden Price said that the warden's banquet was one of both pleasure and regret — pleasure in meeting so many old and close friends, and regret in that he would soon relinquish the office.

He said that the county had had a good year, it had kept within its various committee budgets and still had been able to reduce the county tax rate.

Warden Price also referred to the July visit of county councillors and county officials to Ottawa and said it had been a very enlightening experience for all members.

"Prime Minister John Diefenbaker visited us informally in the reception room, making his appearance without fanfare and without publicity, a procedure which is always with President Eisenhower.

"It made us proud of our democracy as it is lived in Canada," he said.

INTRODUCED MEMBERS

Warden Price introduced members of county council and other officials, while Senator George White introduced head table guests.

Reeve Charles Long, of Tyendinaga township; Eric S. Denyes, county clerk treasurer, and Councillor "Art" Robinson, of Elzevir and Grimsthorpe township, responded to the warden's address of welcome.

The toast to the guests was proposed by Alfred Wickett, reeve of Thurlow township. Response was by Hon. Sidney Smith, Mayor Gerald Hyde of Belleville, and Ray Woolfrey of Tweed.

Hon. Sidney Smith in response added his personal tribute to Warden Price and with his election as M.P.P. for Hastings East, he congratulated the county.

But, although prophesying a fast climb up the political ladder, Mr. Smith said Warden Price would never have a greater opportunity than during his present tenure of office to serve.

He said that true democracy was manifest in municipal government. "No part of our government is as close to the people or works so hard for the people as do members of municipal government," he said.

Touching briefly on the international scene, Mr. Smith said the world situation had cleared considerably since June and August when the Middle East situation was "grim indeed".

He said the Middle East situation at that time had been a counter keg which could easily have been ignited.

The air had been greatly cleared, however, with the United Nations endorsation of a resolution for peacekeeping in the Middle East crises to work out their own differences and with the decision for USA and the United Kingdom to withdraw forces.

Stability had been restored in the Middle East and Mr. Smith said that with tolerance and understanding it could be expected that the people would be able to work out its difficulties.

Turning to the Quemoy situation on the China Coast, Mr. Smith said that as Canada was not a great military power understanding why the United States felt small islands lying within a few miles of the China coast were so essential that it should be defended.

"I can't go along with the doctrine that these islands are a last line of defence against communism," he said.

On the other hand, he said that he understood that the United States felt that it had an obligation to Chiang-Kai-Shek, which we all know broke these pledges the way would be opened for Japan, and Formosa, to be taken over by communists.

"We hope and pray that Chiang - Kai - Shek can be brought to understand that while the U.S.A. must defend Formosa the small islands such as Quemoy are not worth the risk of lives in what might be a holocaust in which we in Canada may be the Belgium."

In conclusion Mr. Smith said that the attitude of representatives at the United Nations he was "glad to be back in the clean cold sweet life of Canada."

Entertainment included vocal selections by Norrow Gilders, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gleign Morrow of Stirling; a square dance by the Sidney Junior Farmers' Square Dance Team, and a skit "Why I Am a Bachelor," by members of the Tweed High School Dramatic Club.

Ex-county wardens, of whom about 15 were present, were introduced by County Clerk Treasurer Eric Denyes. Oldest warden present was Peter McLaren, who was county council head back in 1911.

Members of the Tweed Eastern Star entertained the banquet with county appreciation being expressed by Reeve J. T. Holt, reeve of Stirling Village, and county publicity committee chairman.

Secret Conclave Plans Completed

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Preparations were nearly complete today for the secret conclave that will elect a new pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

Scores of carpenters and masons put final touches on temporary walls and enclosures that will seal off the electing cardinals from the outside world beginning Saturday.

In St. Peter's Square, workmen cleaned the Sentrili fountains and prepared the area for the throng that will gather there while the voting is in progress.

Saturday morning the cardinals will gather in St. Peter's Basilica for a "mass of the holy spirit," a service intended to beseech divine guidance during the conclave.

Story of Rescue Of 4 Canadians, Chaplain Told

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—The story of the rescue of four Canadians and an American air force chaplain from a barren Arctic island on which they were stranded after a plane crash has been revealed here.

A report from the U.S. Air Force base at Thule, Greenland, said two American planes dropped supplies to the stranded men before a U.S. Navy ship picked them up.

The Canadians were identified as James A. Fraser, 29, of the Eastern Provincial Airlines plane that crashed; Donald W. Rawlinson, navigator-radio operator, and James P. Parsons and William Bruning, both instrumentation riggers. All are from Ontario.

The chaplain was Lieut. James T. Henderson of Ohio.

The report said their plane crashed Sept. 23 on Cornwallis Island, one of the islands off Baffin Island Oct.

A U.S. plane picked up distress calls, located the wreck and parachuted a survival kit to the stranded men. A second plane flew over and dropped supplies.

Next day, the U.S. Navy supply ship Greenville Victory arrived at the scene and picked up the five men. They were taken to Greenland.

SLEMON STATES

shal Slemon made these points:

1. An aggressor's defensive and strategy will not likely rely on ballistic missiles alone for a number of years.

2. Air defence systems must be developed and integrated with the manned bomber threat.

3. Missiles to cope with the air-ground threat will be limited in number and variety, but they will not be learning to the Quemoy and Matsu human brain flexibility."

4. Deterrence still is the best strategy against the ballistic missile.

Air Marshal Slemon said atomic warhead capability now is being incorporated in the Bomarc and Genie air-to-air missiles. An atomic-headed air - to - air missile, the AIM-26, which vastly increases the kill probability of all interceptors armed with it, already is in operation.

Both miners were working in neighboring No. 4 on Nov. 1, 1956, the day the pit was wrecked by an explosion that claimed 39 lives, but they finished work before the blast.

"Margaret didn't like the idea of me going back after that," said Dykens. "But when things are going good it's a good job. I don't know anything else.

"I'll go back. She won't like it but she'll get used to it.

"It's toughest on the women," said McManaman. "The kids don't bother them. They don't realize yet what it's all about."

McManaman started as a miner in 1936, Dykens in 1935.

CPA Says It Can Make Money On Tourist Runs

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Pacific Airlines figures it can make money by working mainly for the low-priced tourist fare.

Two CPA witnesses appearing before the air transport board Thursday argued CPA could operate a little profit but by putting half-loads on its passenger planes, with 80 per cent tourist traffic and 20 per cent in first-class fares.

But John Edison, counsel for Trans-Canada Air Lines, maintained CPA would run into a lot of trouble. No major American line, he said, could even break even by carrying half-loads.

As for catering mainly to tourist fares, Trans - World Airlines tries it and showed a deficit of $15,000,000 last year on revenue of $200,000,000.

CPA witness Frederic Kimball, American aviation consultant, said it was true that TWA lost money, but it was not necessarily have been from its tourist fares. The company had a lot of other troubles.

But he agreed with Mr. Edison that the average American line carries only 36.6 per cent in tourists and 63.4 per cent in first-class fares. TCA carries 48 in tourists and 36 in tourists.

The board is now hearing CPA application for a share in TCA's transcontinental operations.

More bickering broke out Thursday among opposing lawyers.

Board chairman C. D. Shepard suggested Mr. Edison "quack" a remark made by Ian Sinclair, general counsel for CPA, brought in by CPA to bolster its own legal brains, headed by counsel James Creelman.

This came when Mr. Edison said he did not want to "embarrass" Mr. Kimball by reading from an American document on the value of cockpit radio and Mr. Sinclair interjected: "You might embarrass yourself if you quack at all."

"Well, Mr. Chairman," said Mr. Edison, "I do not know what we do with observations like that."

Ignore them, Mr. Edison," Mr. Shepard advised.

Grace Kelly Wedding Stamps

NEW YORK, October 24—The wedding of Prince Rainier III and Grace Kelly is, of course, of general interest to the world, but to collectors the event is of very special interest . . . for Rainier's principality has for years issued a special set of wedding stamps for collectors. Usually the large format, bearing pictures of the Prince and Princess, and the Award winning bride . . . The stamps were issued only for a few days only, and already have become a "collectors item".

Because the wedding set has evoked a lively interest in stamps of Monaco and elsewhere, Paris office has prepared a collection containing the entire set of the Grace Kelly set of five, but the popular Olympic and Brotherhood issues and the Bozio Art set; a total of 22 mint stamps, which we are offering at office for just $1.00 to introduce our approval service. HIGHWAY 401 COSTS

Highway 401 is going ahead, not by leaps and bounds, but by bits and pieces.

Those who are critical of this method of highway building might revise their opinions if they considered some figures given in the most recent issue of "D.H.O. News" published primarily for the information of employees of the Ontario Department of Highways. The September issue reports the completion of two sections of the new highway, the Trenton-Belleville-Marysville strip and the second leg of the Kingston bypass. The Trenton to Marysville stretch is 22 miles long and cost in excess of $10,440,000. The Kingston bypass is 17 miles long, all told, and cost $7,785,000. These are staggering figures, even in days when a million is commonplace. When 40 miles of highway cost over $18,000,000, it is easy to understand why the entire length of Highway 401 cannot be built at once.

As a matter of fact, these bypasses make good sense. Much of the traffic on Highway 2 is local traffic. The bypasses, by providing two routes in those areas where travel is heaviest, eliminate time-consuming and accident-producing bottlenecks. Once the new section of east Trenton, now under construction, is completed, the full value of this strip of highway will be even more evident than it is today. As for the Kingston bypass, even the first leg from west of Cataraqui to Highway 15 speeded traffic to and from the Rideau Lakes area, while the extension of the bypass now open to Gananoque greatly enhances the value of this stretch of road.

OUT-FOXED

To read a Canadian Press story, one would think that all the residents of Ontario's second largest county were in danger of going stark, raving mad - - with rabies.

A federal veterinarian, Dr. T. J. Cornish, is reported to have told the Grey County Council four out of every ten foxes in the county may be rabid and that the fox population might run as high as 500 to the square mile. That would mean a fox to every 100-yard square within the said area, plus another 211 other foxes running around looking for a parking place. No wonder Grey County foxes are rabid.

The Grey County Council decided to do something about the menace. It will release 24 foxes with prices on their heads, hoping that by the end of the year the $1,250 bounty raised Grey County hunters will shoot a lot of untagged, but rabid, foxes.

With Dr. Cornish reporting an average fox population of 50 to a 100 per square mile, the odds look rather poor. Since the county has an area of some 1,700 square miles, there must be at least 85,000 foxes within its borders, according to Dr. Cornish's figures. This means that the law of averages will require a hunter to shoot 3,500 foxes in order to bag one with a tag. Now shooting 3,500 foxes may not seem such a difficult feat, when hunting in areas where there is a fox to every city block, but Grey County had a $5 fox bounty until August 1 of this year, when it was abolished because officials refused to handle pelts due to a fear of catching rabies, and up to that point the number of pelts presented was between 1,400 and 1,500. There thus seems to be a good chance that none of the tagged foxes will be shot.

But perhaps there is no need to worry. The Canadian Press quotes Dr. Cornish as saying that a rabid fox usually dies about nine days after it is infected. If four out of ten foxes in the county are rabid, as suggested, then the 85,000 foxes in the county will be reduced to 51,000 one day before this ten-day wonder expires.

We hope so, anyway, otherwise a number of Grey County hounds, with whom we have had a nodding acquaintance, are going to find that it is really a dog's life this winter. We can sympathize with them, because that the average Grey County hound runs right by 499 of those 500 foxes scampering around a square mile of Grey's rolling countryside. If owners of Grey County hounds ever get the idea that this encounter with a fox was inadvertent and unavoidable and not the greatest piece of scent-defying ever performed by redbone, black and tan or Walker, many hounds will be giving tongue in a different key.

KNOW THIS FISHERMAN?

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I fished the streams at morn - and night,
I've let my bed at 4 a.m.
To go where pickerel would bite;
Much trouble I have made for them.
Behind the boathouse I have stood
And 'currycombed the fishes' scales;
I think the trip has done me good,
But I will tell no fairy tales.

Mosquito Hut we called our lodge.
All night a busy man was I;
Mosquitos I would try to dodge
Or slaughter them upon the sly.

Oh, they were big and sharp and vicious,
Their vicious bills as keen as nails;
They murdered sleep the whole night long,
But I will tell no fairy tales.

Oh, great the havoc that I wrought
With pickerel and bass and pike;
And many shaded nooks I sought
Where always I could get a strike,
But it is over now, and so.
I will not sing of sharks and whales;
My fish were just as big, I know,
But I will tell no fairy tales.

Humor of the Illogical

Montreal Gazette

George Bernard Shaw had gone to see a doctor. The doctor examined Shaw's eyes with scientific care. Then he gravely informed him he had strong vision.

Shaw, not aware of any diminution in his eyesight, was surprised. "And what is wrong with my poor eyes?" he asked.

"Nothing," replied the doctor, "absolutely nothing. That is what is wrong with them."

It was difficult for Shaw to understand such logic in a pronouncement. Apparently normal eyes have to be abnormal to be normal. If eyes are abnormally normal, they become abnormal. The doctor, says Shaw, then asked him for an autograph. Shaw inscribed it on a cheque.

Often it is curious how people make "illogical sense." They seem to defy all logic, and yet, in some special way of thinking, they are logical to them.

Pavlova could never quite understand why she was hailed by a young ballerina she had seen interviewing a cow in the Garden. She had asked the girl to do a certain step. "You must excuse me, ma'am," the girl had replied. "I cannot hear you; I am engaged with this cow."

Sometimes these curious chains of hidden logic may enter into sentences of condemnation. Thus Ruskin's judgment never fell so keenly as when it was based on the reasons that seem unreasonable.

The war artist, C. R. W. Nevinson, had been making a number of sketches at Paschendaele. Ruskin suddenly he sent a message to appear at once before Major Lee of Intelligence.

"Do I understand," asked the Intelligence officer, "that you have been at Paschendaele?"

"Oh yes," said Nevinson, and showed Ruskin the sketches he described how he had been all over the battle.

"Aren't you aware," asked the major, "that you are forbidden to go to that section of the line?"

"Why," Nevinson assured him. "Nobody ever instructed me to keep away from there."

"Of course not," snapped the major. "We were forbidden to tell you."

Nevinson says that he managed to keep from shouting out loud, but something of his thoughts must have got through his eyes, for in a few days he was back in London. He had been guilty of insubordination, for breaking a rule that was never, on any account, to be disclosed to him.

There is no reason to believe that the doctor, the young ballerina, or the major of Intelligence f ever believed that their explanations failed to be convincing to others. They were all speaking in a manner thoroughly logical to themselves. The only time, however, when the illogical remark may arise from a misunderstanding. A shift of time or place may disconnect the chain of thought. This may betray a person, unconsciously, into a remark that is the opposite of what is happening.

One day Winston Churchill was entertaining his cousin, Lady Lilian Grenfell, to lunch. This was shortly after the South African War, while Churchill was in the House of Commons. He had been influential in bringing about the final magnanimous settlement. As a peace-offering the Boers presented the great Cullinan diamond to King Edward VII; and, being aware of the part Churchill had played, they presented him with a model of the diamond. In fact, it was a handsome push pride; he enjoyed showing it to his visitors.

On this occasion, with his cousin as his guest, he sent for the model. There was some delay, however, and the conversation had turned to other topics. At length the butler presented himself at Lady Lilian's elbow, with a shagreen case on a salver.

Lady Lilian glanced at this model of the Cullinan Diamond. She shrieked in horror. "I do not very well strained, which had escaped from its mold. It not a pet dog, Winston, to show you," she said, and went on with the conversation.

The humor of illogical remarks may be lost without intention. There is a type of humor — and a most important type — that depends upon the logic being as illogical as possible. Lewis Carroll, of course, was one of the greatest masters in this field. But there have been many others.

Maurice Evans was among them. His illogical logic appealed to conversation, apparently spontaneous.

Someone happened to mention that Evans's mother-in-law had been protected by law they had become fewer, instead of more numerous. Evans commented Saring, as though he were making a considerable remark, "the plovers won't take the trouble to lay eggs if nobody's going to eat them."

One of his friends heard him asking for some cheese in a post-office in Florence. "Are they fresh?" he asked anxiously when he got it. "Are they very fresh, they are for an invalid."

This type of illogical humor may, of course, be used for the sharpest of satire. It can exhibit weapon to handle; but some have used it skillfully, as when "Punch" in a recent issue, in a men's music, "My friend Wagner's music is pretty much better than it sounds."

Hollywood Has New Trick

Wasnlips Specialist

According to a report from Hollywood, two new films have been tricked out with "sub-liminal cues."

For those who are not right up to date in the powers of persuasion department, a subliminal cue can be explained as something that is flashed on a screen at so few frame an hour that it is perceived only subconsciously.

At this speed the conscious eye cannot detect the message, but it is said to affect subconscious notes it and there is a response.

Perhaps it is not surprising—though it is certainly depressing—to learn that the subliminal cuse in these two films are such words as "popcorn" and "drink," and that their purpose is to increase tension in moments of terror.

Here it seems film-makers have been taking a leaf from advertisers. Some have described the technique as "soft sell" or indoctrination. Mr. Jack Dawkins, president of Toronto's Art Directors' Club, described it s few months ago as "as dangerous as the hydrogen bomb."

There does not seem to be any scientific evidence of the mass effects of subliminal perception. A group in New York submitted themselves to a test and were warned. Nevertheless, that intensive "eat popcorn" messages would be flashed on the screen at five-second intervals.

The only response came from one member of the audience who said he thought he wanted a hot dog.

There has always been a variety of techniques in mental persuasion. It is a field that is constantly developing. Whether people should be exposed to this so-called subliminal kind without their knowledge may be something else again.

There has always been suggestion; it is a part of living. Whether people should be exposed to this so-called subliminal kind without their knowledge raises a moral question.

Few Airmen Read DRO's

Dorwsil Standard-Freeholder

Air Force has an institution called DRO's. Tradition has it that airmen never read DRO's, if they can possibly avoid doing so.

One commanding officer, in a waggish moment decided to put the truth of the legend. This message appeared over his signature on the usual DRO's: "The first ten airmen reporting to my office this evening after 1700 hours will receive five days leave."

The stunt didn't cost much, for only one airman reported, and protested that he was ill, but hardly proves or disproves the truth of the old legend.

What would your reaction be on receiving a notice that Most people would figure somebody was trying to pull off a stunt and, when commanding officers are concerned, it probably would be the penalty for a for a stunt like that. Many an airman, volunteering in response to a command "anyone interested in music — please step forward" has found moving the piano in the officers' mess.

Naturally most men would not report. So the airman are still failing to read DRO's and officially officers are still in the dark about their failure, unless they happen to remember their own days when they were on the receiving end of the Queen's Rules Routine Orders, instead of on the issuing side.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

INSECURITY AND LACK OF LOVE CAN CAUSE CHILD'S TEMPER TANTRUMS

"Dear Dr. Molner: My granddaughter is eight months old. Until about a month ago she was a good baby. Recently she cries most of the time and has tantrums that end in hysterics if she isn't picked up when she wants to be. The only way to calm her down when like this is to pick her up and rock her. They have tried letting her cry, and blowing in her face to stop her from crying, but to no avail.

"Her parents scold her and scream at each other quite a bit in her presence. They get angry with the baby when she cries (say she is spoiled) and spank her a couple of times when she cries for no reason.

"The parents go out quite a lot (they can't afford a baby sitter) and take the baby with them, until she hardly knows where her home is. The baby is not physically ill.

"Could she have acquired a sense of insecurity because of the way her parents treat her and another reason? Please help a worried grandmother to help her sweet grandchild. — N. K. L."

Your letter is the best example I've seen of a classic description of how not to bring up baby.

Perhaps the baby's parents have their perspective and can't see themselves the way they are.

Every baby is entitled to a place where he (or she) feels safe and secure. Nothing needs lots of sleep. Every baby has a little bit of the assurance and happiness I need!

Maybe these are the young parents who just don't know how to care for a baby. If so, I'd suggest that they get a book on baby care, either from a library, or buy one — the government variety is very good one and can be bought for a quarter. Then instead of going out a lot, they put her practically to bed, and read up on how to bring her up.

Sounds to me as though so far they've done everything wrong except starve the poor mite.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes a tear in the eye? When I go to bed I usually have to breathe by mouth. In the morning my nose is running and usually I have to sneeze. — Mrs. J. S."

Has your doctor investigated the possibility of allergy — something to which you are exposed only at bed time? Common possibilities are such things as some cosmetic you apply at night, or something in your room, a climatic example is feathers. People who have found they are allergic to feathers in their pillow can simply add a plastic cover under the pillowcase. Kapok, for example, might suggest sleeping without your pillow for a few nights. If you have any disagreement, you have a clue. I mention feathers as one example I am familiar with; obviously there are many possibilities and some simple, Logical detective work helps find the answer.

Note to Mrs. Q. E.: Your letter pleased me immensely! The reebiest doctor today can save more lives than the greatest one of a generation or two ago. We have so many more things to work with. Yet today's few words of encouragement and reassurance can do as much as anything for the happiness — and health goes with happiness.

Reds Thought Kilt a Skirt

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Seeing a Scottish youth walking along the streets of Moscow, a Russian policeman arrested him on the ground that he was wearing a skirt, masquerading as a woman. Ian MacIntyre is 18 years old and insists that he was not wearing a kilt. The policeman just couldn't believe that a man wore a skirt-like dress he was anything but a man, and suspected him of being involved in a plot. Surrounded with some sinister intention. Speaking through an interpreter, he told the kilt, the officer signed to him and his friends to follow him to the police station.

Other policemen were there. All the commotion brought to them a high police officer entered the room. Evidently he had been awakened by the police and had to do something to the group of policemen and students to tan that he could go.

Perhaps no stay-at-home Russian has a kilt since the days of the Crimean war. It might be an interesting study of Scottish tourists made a practice of wearing a kilt.

IT SHOULD MAKE US THOUGHTFUL

A man who lives in a distant part of the world writes us that sometime ago what he thought of the people living in Canada and the United States.

"I hate them," he said, "a n d why should I not? They are rich and with. What I hate is not the people but their arrogance.

"I do not say for us to take. We are pretty sure that a great deal of this is mistaken notion from envy. People living in parts of the world where they cannot have what we have are often inclined to be jealous of us. But after according ourselves all the justification we can get out of such undeniable facts, it remains true, none the less, that we do, in our prosperity, have, as a people, developed a sense of complacency which irritates people in other parts of the world. Take our blessings for granted. We convey the impression that if people do not have the benefits we have it is because they are lazy, inept, or lacking in ability.

This is sometimes true — but not always by a great deal. There is poverty, deprivation, and suffering all over the globe and we, most fortunate inhabitants of this planet, if we close our ears and our hearts to such realities, do dreadful damage in our souls as well as to our country.

Arrogant? We are not arrogant. But we are often thoughtless and we do render feeling for suffering, which can be healed not by money but by love.

Let us start thinking and feel-

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A professor of history in my acquaintance was showing me his magnificent collection of large color prints of the famous paintings of historic scenes, such as Sir Francis Drake playing bowls and his friends enjoying a game of bowls when the news of the Spanish Armada reached him. Famous battles, mighty naval engagements, the line of march leading his legions, all were beautifully and inspiring works of art.

"But," said the professor, "they are ridiculous. Look at Sir Francis Drake all dressed up in the period costume of his time, with h i s feathers and ruffles and jewels! Who would play a game of bowls in such a getup? Why do we imagine a game of bowls was anything different in Elizabeth's time from what it is today? I wager that if Drake played a game of bowls, dressed in the soft shoes, a pair of old pants and a pullover. And as for Caesar leading his legions, all done up in armor, ribbons and purple, as for a fancy dress ball, you don't need to be much of a historian to know that Caesar was never a soldier at all, but a warm shirt and w o o l i n s and he stayed back where generals belong.

WRITE IT DOWN

One of the fine. little friends I know of is that one in the form of a notebook. You can never tell when this little friend is apt to help you out in time as well as money by the notes that you gather from day to day. The notebook allows you to keep on with your work after jotting down a brief memo in it. It helps you not to forget! And it is a constant reminder covering a number of things. It keeps that memory of yours alert, as well.

Get the habit. Write it down. Keeping a notebook handy w i l l save many a worry and stimulate many a thought. How many times your companion at luncheon gives you and idea or suggestion t h a t might not keep with no notebook near at hand. A notebook stimulates the mind and keeps refreshing it.

There is a book I discovered many years ago called "Samuel Pepys' Notebook." It is alive with ideas and references t h a t not only may prove helpful but may give you many a pleasure y o u otherwise might not have. T h e book is full of suggestions and mental stimulators. Scott Fitzgerald did his Notebook like t h a t of Butler's. Anthologies are really books that introduce you to the best of a writer. I never start reading a book without having a notebook and pencil near at hand. If we take a notebook with us when travelling we can make many a trip richer in notes that later will be welcome reading! Why n o t write it down? You'll be glad.

Home – Centre of International Neighborhood Is Convention Theme for Women's Institutes

By GLADYS WARD

Taking as their theme, "The Home-Centre of the International Neighborhood," the combined districts of Hastings, Prince Edward and Northumberland Counties opened the thirty-second annual convention of the Women's Institutes at the Masonic Temple on Foster Ave. on Tuesday morning.

Greeting the delegates at the door were, Mrs. Clifford Reid, and Mrs. Douglas Atkins, of Belleville, while Mrs. Arnold Mitchell and Mrs. Everett Phillips were in charge of registration.

Mrs. M. Rutherford, of Grafton, presided at the morning session which started with community singing led by Mrs. Gordon McCubbin, of Warkworth, with Mrs. Jack Parrot at the piano.

A roll call of districts was answered by the district directors with a one minute reply on the subject of Canada's Institutes and these countries working towards international neighborhood. Mrs. E. J. Scott of Wooler, representing Northumberland East, spoke about "Australia" where the Women's Institutes were affiliated with the A.C.W.W. Pen Pal Club and had other nationalities to learn to look at their neighbors without prejudice. They were attempting to broaden the outlook of women to international fields.

CEYLON

Mrs. Yout, of Colombo, spoke on Ceylon for Northumberland West, stating that with the help of UNESCO many schools had been set up, notably nursery schools and agricultural advancements. One department of agriculture was cooperated to train women of the Institute to farm work, gardening, dairy work.

For Prince Edward county, Mrs. Clifford Hubbs told of the Women's Institutes of 'Africa' which have the same aims and objectives as our own. They had united to help women individually, and collectively. The membership varied from 18 to 220. Many projects have been planned to improve homemaking and community welfare. The government had encouraged the work of the Institutes.

Mrs. Ken Nicol, of Madoc, "Hollings Home" was founded on Holland where they had just celebrated their 40th anniversary and had 46,000 members. They had sponsored an exchange of Institute Swiss girls; collected money for displaced persons; and sent money for glasses for Albert Schweitzer mission hospital in Africa.

SCOTLAND

Hastings East was represented by Mrs. H. Chisholm of Roslin, who spoke on "Scotland." An independent land found the program of the Institute had helped make them creative homemakers, and made them realize that they were building a great empire of the spirit.

In Ireland the members are known as Irish Countrywomen and the branches are called Guilds, explained Mrs. Millard Grills of Frankford, speaking for Hastings West. The Guilds are the same as the Institutes, had organized tours for students to study rural education, and had sent parcels and letters to needy countries.

Two reports were brought before the meeting for future discussion by Mrs. W. J. Reid of Norham. The first was introduced by the Second branch and dealt with a uniform standard of text books and education for all Canada. The second was from Hilller, suggesting cures on the growth and spread of weeds through more thorough knowledge and necessary action.

Mrs. Roscoe Robson called all the guest speakers who were participating in the program to the platform and introduced them.

WELCOMES GUESTS

The chairman, Mrs. Rutherford, welcomed the guests and reviewed her year as an area officer when she took particular note of the 50th anniversary at Consecon, and shared in the 85th anniversary at Burnbrae. The winners in the quilt block project for the area were announced as 1st York Road, first prize of $15, and Grafton winner of the second prize of $10. These were sponsored by Salada Tea and the Provincial Women's Institutes.

Two vocal solos were given by Mrs. Don Rutherford, "Do You Know My Garden?" and "Friend of Mine," a quartet from Madoc sang "We Are Proud of Canada."

In her report on "Citizenship and Education," Mrs. Sherman Foster of Hilller, reported that there were fifty-two branches. Their motives included "Today Canadians, Yesterday's Heritage, the Seedtime of Tomorrow"; citizenship, like charity begins at home; conscience is the voice of time, are to be inhaled, not swallowed. Roll calls were responded to with a beauty spot in Canada; what I read first in Canada. Nearly every district told of contact with new Canadians, a minister of the Dutch Reformed Church spoke on the advantages and difficulties of his people who came to Canada; the qualifications required and the receiving of citizenship papers.

EDUCATION

Education is everybody's business and required thinking, discussing and debating the problems. It was calculated by note that of six people who came to leave school before Grade XI, four of them left on account of boredom. Universality. Some branches encouraged the teachers by giving prizes and by giving progress awards and buying sports equipment. Encouraging local history and an interest in Boy Scouts, Cubs and Girl Guides.

Visits were paid to the St. Lawrence Seaway; the Parliament buildings at Ottawa and other places of interest. Speakers included the Bell Telephone Company; the agricultural representative; the economist and Children's Aid Society told of their work. Safety was stressed, especially village council at a tea; demonstrations of electrical and other appliances, book bindings and many films were used. Papers on Canada's Defence and retarded children.

Mrs. H. Jarvis brought a tape recording which was produced by the Hilller church, but for the use of any people, designed to meet the problems of parents and to help them "Build a Child Asks", and was a discussion on the question of death and how it should be explained to children. It was urged that the local radio station would use it.

DISTRICT ANNUAL'S

REPORTED

Mrs. C. H. Gillespie of Grafton, Provincial Board director, brought greetings from the "Gleanings from District annuals". The speaker thanked the Institutes for the annuals and the many interesting things she had found in them. Commenting on their founding in 1908.

Remedies displayed and home remedies a four-poster bed; a homemade crib; sun bonnet and clothes; the possibility with of storage places. In West Northumberland the quilt was preserved by a hobby, and ranged from scrapbooks, to needlepoint, from knitting; rugs and quilts. At Grafton a plaque to the musical was unveiled in Memorial House. A scholarship was given one girl to study music, and another girl given to provide advanced hairdressing. A millinery course proved popular with two branches. All annuals had interesting roll calls. East Hastings had made 20 hats in the millinery project; there were displays from tools to rubber; pictures made with nut shells. Mrs. Gillespie announced that a new home economist was coming to the district.

BANNERS DISPLAYED

Pots of yellow 'mums and ferns were placed along the platform in the Masonic Temple and on each side of the picture of the Queen, banners were displayed to show the different districts and their branches, which were presented at the Thursday afternoon session of the Area convention of the Women's Institutes.

Mrs. Roscoe Robson, Hallowell, was in the chair, and opened the proceedings with singing by the assembled women. Mayor Gerald B. Hyde extended the greetings of the city, and welcomed the members as an organization that had established a higher standard of living in the area. Mrs. Neil McMillan thanked the mayor for the opportunity of meeting in Belleville.

Miss Jayne Gay, Ivanhoe, reported on "Community Activities and Public Relations' with 51 branches. Roll calls were replied to with such subjects as: A responsibility I can accept in my own community; something for a retarded child; bring a friend and introduce her; how to plan for leisure years; an improvement needed in our parks (the answers sent to town council); an episode of horse and buggy years.

MANY MOTTOES USED

Many mottoes were used, among them, Life is like a ladder, every step is up or down; do not lose courage at your hill, climb it; anyone who thinks by the inch, talks by the yard, ought to move by the foot; those who bring sunshine into the lives of others, cannot keep it from themselves; the reason a dog has so many friends is because he wags his tail, not his tongue.

Papers were given by delegates to district annuals, area conventions and Guelph conference; reports on local, national and international activities. A number of Institutes reported having lawyers on making wills; biographies of Mrs. John Dieterman and Miss Ethel Pairclough national gas line; juvenile delinquency; films were shown on Jamaica, Frobisher Bay, Alberta and "A Home of their Own".

Branches had participated in many worthwhile activities and had helped in many projects in various ways, with Christmas baskets; parties and concerts for shut-ins; toys to local Children's Aid; food and clothing to fire and flood victims; gifts and cards to hospitals; caring for cenotaphs; cancer dressings; health clinics; trash cans placed on village streets; layettes to Korea; gifts to the blind; a local park.

Funds were raised by catering to banquets, weddings and refreshment booths at fairs.

In the way of entertainment, tuo trips were popular and the speakers included the Crime Intercepters, Rock Gardens in Niagara Falls, O'Hara's Mill, the Bata Shoe at Bancroft and many others. Summer picnics and suppers, a night's lodging for visiting Institute families together.

It was suggested in this report that more panel and group discussions be held, and more singing at the meetings.

Mrs. Sherman Foster led the meeting from the Indian homemakers by Mrs. A. Simpson of Tyendinaga. She had brought samples of work being done by every group. A table, buckskin articles were arranged which included beaded moccasins, a belt, and a drawstring bag.

INTEREST IN WORLD AFFAIRS

In her report on "Home Economics and Health," Mrs. Jack Parrot, Plainfield, reported that of 63 branches reports had been received from 56, and showed a keen interest in world affairs as well as interest in their own problems. Conservation had a record of 24 years of girls' work.

Responding to roll calls proposed some of the following: name a health rule; my first mistake after marriage; a domestic duty I would like to see a man do; a favorite hobby; an unusual talent; and was answered by a hobby, and ranged from scrapbooks, to needlepoint, from knitting; rugs and quilts. At Grafton a plaque to the musical was unveiled in Memorial House. A scholarship was given one girl to study music, and another girl given to provide advanced hairdressing. INTEREST IN WORLD AFFAIRS

In her report on "Home Economics and Health," Mrs. Jack Parrot, Plainfield, reported that of 63 branches reports had been received from 56, and showed a keen interest in world affairs as well as interest in their own problems. Conservation had a record of 24 years of girls' work.

Responding to roll calls proposed some of the following: name a health rule; my first mistake after marriage; a domestic duty I would like to see a man do; a favorite hobby; an unusual talent; and was answered by a hobby, and ranged from scrapbooks, to needlepoint, from knitting; rugs and quilts.

Topics were varied and interesting; handling and home management; story of an egg from the hen; dust will keep, but violets won't; stretching food and dollars; frozen foods; teaching the blind to help themselves; tranquillizer drugs; fear and asthma.

Local speakers were heard from the county health unit; a address and film on mental health was given, and one on cancer. A graduate of Macdonald Hall spoke on the life and studies there; video were shown by a local Horticultural Society.

Demonstrations were mostly practical but the cultural things and hobbies were not neglected; handwriting demonstrations were smocking, knitted goods, how to paint landscape, jam making, decorating a cake for special occasions, growing vegetables for fancy salads, stuffed toys made from odds and ends.

Displays of services were reported on: meals and one money; hospital bedding; making salads; lamp shades; rug making; needlecraft and dressmaking.

Motions added spice and humor to the programs and usually followed the theme of the day. Some of those suggested were: blessed is she, who, by her skills, can help to cure another's ills; a merry heart cures more microbes than medicine; men make houses, women make homes; every woman knows it isn't what you do that shows, it is what you don't do; mothers write on the hearts of their children what the world will not erase; there are three things a woman can make out of nothing, to salad, a hat and a quarrel; the talents you have, for the woods would be very silent if only the best birds sang.

Donations showed a wide scope for unselfishness and sympathy and were made to the cancer fund; C.N.I.B.; mental health, Bethesda convalescent home; Salvation Army; Unitarian fund; Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto.

The 4 H clubs had a busy year in the report given because the stitutes. Clubs taken included the cereal shelf; garden club; gardening; clothing; sweets unto-date; being well-dressed and grooming; the girls and the active part in Institute activities.

UNITED KINGDOM HOMES

Miss Mary Hooton, president of the Junior Farmers of Ontario, brought greetings from the group. Miss Florian spoke on her trip to the United Kingdom, presenting two reports of her visit, the homes and the country. Their homes were similar, yet with differences. The houses were not designed for the convenience of women. Most of them had a toilet as one end of the house and the dining room as the other. They were generally kept in almost all rooms, but little central heating. Coal was the greatest comfort for the chilly beds. Meals were similar to ours, although an excellent dinner at noon afternoon tea; and supper of bread and butter and a one-dish meal.

They were friendly homes and welcomed the visitors. The girls work at home of the farm and are trained on the job. They pied per ..cre than in our country, but produce is sold for sale for their produce.

Miss Homan considered it was really worthwhile to visit Great Britain, and she had learned much from her trip and from experience.

Mrs. James Haggerty of Napanee, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, addressed the meeting giving the highlights of her work in the Institutes.

"This has been a year of firsts," said the speaker. "Membership in Institutes has been fulfilled with the opening of a Provincial office on Bloor St. in Toronto. The first national specialist was appointed and the office equipped with modern conveniences. The first national convention was held in Ottawa. The first national co-operation and a feeling of affinity and strength.

YEAR OF PROJECTS

"It has been a year of projects. The F.W.I.O. fund to send delegates to Australia has reached an amount of $5,000. A purely voluntary project, a small gift was presented to Ceylon has far surpassed its expectations. The women opened their hearts to their sisters in distress and raised $1,000 for the Algerian service committee working for the Algerian refugees. Children has been given over 1200 layettes, and over 1,000 quilts have been sent to the refugees and Korean children. There can be no doubt that of the finished of this work, the Prime Minister of Canada has been the finished of this work. The contributions go to people of all faiths, color and creeds.

"A resolution regarding surrendered duties and how they affect women was brought in and it is hoped to support a wider discussion after further study. Holiday rallies at Guelph and Stoney Creek were well attended and keen interest, with many outside our own country attending.

"Many visitors from abroad with an increase of over 1,300 in membership. I would like to see the members encouraged to interest more women in Institute work. Commemorative history workshops are being planned.

"The department of Agriculture has given the Women's Institutes Home Economics. The Institutes are assuming more responsibility but the department of agriculture is always in the background to lend a hand.

"The Associated Countrywomen of the world will meet in Finland, Europe, from August 3 to 15 next year.

"An award has been received for outstanding contributions in citizenship consisting of a prize. Canadian beaver pelt which will hang in the national office in Ottawa.

Two future activities were announced by the president, the Institutes plans to have a booth at the Royal Winter Fair, and to have a rural safety program.

Sterling silver five o'clock teaspoons with the Institute rose were displayed which can be purchased from the provincial secretary.

The safety council has requested information about any steps taken by Institutes for traffic safety.

RETARDED CHILDREN

There has been much study and effort on the part of the Institutes for remedial measures for retarded children and these are responsible for many training classes and special education for these children.

Many 25th., 50th., and 60th., anniversaries were being celebrated across the province and the president had attended many of these happy events.

The evening session was opened with the singing of songs of different nationalities in keeping with the "friendly convention's" theme of international neighborhood. Mrs. Rutherford presided at the table with mauve and white 'mums arranged in a low glass bowl.

"The reception committee was Mrs. Allen Pigden and Mrs. Leonard Trotter, both of Madoc. The billeting was in charge of Mrs. Ben Denyes, and decorating was done by Bay of Quinte W.I.

Mrs. Ken Nicol of the Junior Institutes of the area was given by Mrs. Al Last, Plainfield, president of the Thurlow Junior Institutes.

In all the clubs the Junior Institutes of Ontario Farmers' most jointly for a number of meetings, the topics chosen were of interest to both groups. Topics chosen covered a wide range with the help of the Junior Institutes being artificial flower making; dramatics and public speaking. The projects included selling mail box signs and selling tickets on a parcels of fair.

Films were shown at several meetings and prizes awarded were invited to others. Some of these were: a lawyer who spoke on the legal aspects of farming; Ontario Provincial Police, who spoke on methods of accidents and highway safety; and a panel which discussed teenage problems with the parents and Juniors taking part.

RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Square dance teams have been active and successful, and recreational activities included softball, ice rink, parties, hayrides, Halloween and Christmas parties. All clubs participated in county activities such as field days and choral festivals which were conducted by the Juniors.

Each provincial basis Juniors were active on debating teams, public speaking, field days, T.V. broadcasts, leadership training schools and attending conferences, conventions and weekend leadership year.

The young people entertained at the evening meeting, Miss Gail Juby, of Point Anne, with two tap dances and Miss Frazer, of Madoc with vocal and guitar solos. Bob Hall, Ameliasburg, played the piano panied on the piano by Mrs. W. Warbam.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. O. S. Matthews, mathematics teacher at Quinte Secondary School, who was introduced by Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Mr. Matthews spoke of his homeland, India, stressing certain aspects of life.

"It have been greatly marred and somewhat saddened by the improper knowledge many people have of India," Mr. Matthews said. "We think of India as a backward country without much culture. Actually their culture dates back over 1,000 years. Many examples of their early art are found carved on the walls of the temples. India has made many contributions to culture in her art, poetry, architecture, music and dress. The Indian way of life finds its interpretation in these media.

POPAT'S PRESENCY STATUS

"To understand the present status of India we must realize that throughout the years India has been constantly plagued by invasions, being gradually submerged by the native culture. Representatives of other countries were sent to India for the sake of its wealth and gradually were drawn into its political conflict. Gradually Britain became the ruling power and developed her industry keeping order. A revival of culture by education was introduced by the Central government in 1835. Education was something better the Indian-will not only for the Brahmins, but for all. Buddhism has been years to be growing weaker, but Mohammedanism is popular and the rich and very active.

"The caste system is a real thing in India, and no one knows its origin.

The top group, (Brahmins), is composed of priests, scholars, warriors, tradesmen, and the depressed class, or children of God', which numbers about 50-million. The Indian accepts his caste as part of his religion, and is not social structure. He believes in transmigration of souls. They are usually determined by the kind of life he lives now. He hopes, by living a good life to be reborn into a higher caste.

LOWER CASTE EXPLOITED

"Rich crops in because the higher castes have exploited the lower castes, and have taken much to raise the stature of the lower castes.

"Physically, the representative people who make up about 75 per cent of the people. They are of the same way year after year and prefer their children and yokes to machinery. Gradually, they are being taught to use modern methods and machinery. Education in every aspect is going to be the responsibility of the people who are wonderful people, real sons of the soil."

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. Rutherford.

Mrs. H. Brooks, of Cherry Valley, announced the results of the judging for the Provincial and Area Institutes. The judges were: Mrs. G. Burkitt, Mrs. W. Black and Mrs. Z. Irwin.

First prize went to North Hastings, Ivanhoe branch; second to East Northumberland, Community branch, and third to East Hastings, Quinte branch. In presenting the awards Mrs. Brooks pointed out that these histories were intended to be an historical record of the members' own community for posterity.

The financial report was given by Mrs. Holmes after it had been audited by Mrs. Norman and Mrs. F. Grant Kerr.

Miss Helen McKercher, 'ot Toronto, director of Home Economics service brought greetings from that department, commending the women for serving their community well and expressing appreciation to the press and radio for their support.

Provincial president, Mrs. James Haggerty, of Napanee, spoke on the topic, "Across Ontario at Area Conventions", pointing out that in order to make comparisons because the conventions had its own individuality, and after attending 13 in two months, the speaker found it would be boring if they were not different.

MAYORS BRING GREETINGS

Beginning in the north with Port William and Port Arthur Mayors Jones and Hargreaves, then them, Mrs. Haggerty noted that one outstanding feature was the welcome from both cities brought greetings. The work of the Institutes was progressing in the north and the reports were amazing. Last year, 400 showed their activities that the president was convinced that women were capable of great leadership force for good in the country.

At one northern convention the theme was, "The Candle of Life". The Lamp of Learning, the Candle of Love. They are using the talent that lies at hand by having their women's work take part.

In the London area a group of 13 women called the Earl Terry Singers favored the convention with songs. They sang songs which were inspirational. There were outstanding speakers at all conventions.

In Kingston tea was served at the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club for the blind and a tour was conducted through the institution.

At every convention the president showed a warm welcome, and found a fine group of women every place. Every Institute's work is always a feature at every convention, and the Institutes were commended for sponsoring these groups.

Mrs. Haggerty praised the Belleville area for their excellent program and wished them success in all future efforts.

Stirling Girl Director Of Presbyterian WMS

By KINNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Canada has a color bar — but it's directed against Indians, says Frieda Matthews of the Presbyterian church's Women's Missionary Society.

She says it's a two-fold problem: "Indians must prove to themselves that as well as white people that they can work in professions and do work requiring higher education," she said.

It is part of Miss Matthews' job as director of national missions to give Indians the opportunity of education.

OPERATE TWO SCHOOLS

The WMS runs two schools for Indian children, one for 150 children at Kenora, Ont., and another for 72 children at Birtle, Man. Both are residential schools and at Birtle older children attend the local high school.

The schools receive government grants, and one chief job is administration, said Miss Matthews. "The government appoints teachers, but we supply matrons and supervisors."

"We also try to persuade Indian children to stay at school until they have a decisive education and are able to take good jobs.

"Indians have proved they can work in trades such as lumbering and construction as well as much skill as white people, and they have companionship in their jobs if given the opportunity and training.

Girls from the schools have become secretaries and teachers and some of them are working toward university entrance qualifications.

Miss Matthews was born in Stirling, Ont., and after attending Peterborough normal and taking deaconess training in Toronto, she spent a year working at Kenora Indian School.

Her next job as deaconess involved riding horseback around Willowdale, Alta.

"There were just mud roads in that area, and everybody used horses," she said.

After a few months of studying a horse, Miss Mathews acquired a horse and buggy, then a sleigh for winter travel.

Later, she went to Shaughnessy, a mining community near Lethbridge, Alta., and then to Edmonton.

She was appointed a national director in 1947.

Fluoridation Topic at St. Michael PTA

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Michael's School Home-Parent-Teacher Association was held October 20th in the assembly hall.

Mr. Clarence Langabeer presided. After a short business meeting, the guest speaker of the evening, Dr. J. T. Letersky was introduced by the president and spoke on 'Flouridation'. In a very delightful manner Dr. Letersky explained the system used in adding fluorine to the city water and the caution taken in doing so.

At present it is not considered an experiment any longer, it is, he stated, a proven fact with figures showing 60 per cent less tooth decay of children living in cities with fluoridation.

Rumors of fears surrounding this method are fears of the unknown. Medical and Health Associations in Canada and United States have approved of its use very highly.

Dr. Letersky concluded his address by giving the audience an idea of the shortage in the profession of dentistry today. In the United States there is one dentist for 1800 persons and they consider this figure alarming yet here in Canada, the ratio is only one per 3000 persons. Parents and teachers were asked to encourage the young men who are considering this profession.

Mr. Herbert Brown thanked the speaker.

A social hour followed with refreshments served by Mrs. J. Power and her committee.

England Rehabilitates 80 P.C. of Juvenile Delinquents

EDMONTON (CP)—A woman Justice of the peace says England rehabilitates 80 per cent of its juvenile delinquents.

Peggy Simmons of Grays, Essex, said in an interview here that in England delinquents are carefully studied to determine what course rehabilitation should take.

Miss Simmons, in Canada to visit Girl Guide companies under a King George VI bursary, said that in England, as in Canada, some boys than girls come before the juvenile courts.

Each case has its own reason and home, where girls and boys are sent for three weeks' observation before a decision is decided. Youngsters who commit different types of offences are kept separated while psychiatric, medical and school reports are considered.

If the child's home environment is not satisfactory, he is sent from the remand school to a boarding school, where authorities using all the reports of experts decide what type of correction would best for the youngster.

The child who has always had difficulty in school, and for whom persistent failure may be a contributing factor in delinquency, there are trade schools where they learn some work or metalwork, for instance, for gardening, while a girl may study dressmaking, cookery or commercial subjects.

Miss Simmons believes the correction school and takes a job, after she is frequently visited by a social worker. They know that if they lose their job, they can go to the social worker for help.

Miss Simmons has been a justice of the peace for seven years and sitting at juvenile courts. In adult cases, three justices sit on the bench and juvenile platform, but in juvenile cases the magistrate sits off the bench and the child directly in an attempt to encourage him to talk more freely.

"When I'm trying some of those boys to tell me why they wouldn't mind being back on the bench," Miss Simmons said. She feels the secret is love. Boys, teen-agers with their own style of dress, their own attitudes are great—deal of ability. They have to show off in some way or another.

She was chosen as a justice of the peace because of her long career in Girl Guide work. She has been active in Guiding for 28 years, and now is captain of the company she joined as a Girl Guide 28 years ago.

It was for her organizational work with the Girl Guides all over England that Miss Simmons won the bursary for her present trip. She reached Canada early in July, and will leave for home on Dec. 5.

St. Margaret's Guild Holds Autumn Tea

An attractive tea and bazaar was held on Saturday afternoon at St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill Church Hall, under the auspices of St. Margaret's Guild, with a splendid number of patrons and guests in attendance.

The hall was prettily decorated with autumn plants and branches of red Mountain Ash berries, and presented a gala appearance with the attractive booths placed about the room.

Greeting the guests at the door were Mrs. L. Arthur Page, wife of the rector, and Mrs. A. Brown, president of the Guild, who welcomed them one with a cheering smile and a warm handclasp.

Mrs. G. Corley and Mrs. J. Exley presided as treasurers for the afternoon.

AUTUMN THEME

The tea table was eye-catching with its autumn theme appointment, as were the little guest tables. Presiding at the silver service were Mrs. G. Monford, and Mrs. Shepherd, while replenishing the plates of dainty sandwiches and tiny cakes were Mrs. Hinds and Mrs. Tripp, and helping in the kitchen Mrs. O. Grimson, Mrs. H. Putman and Mrs. Bailey.

The home cooking table, in charge of Mrs. J. Bateman, Mrs. E. Bedford and Mrs. DeCarlo, was filled with many dainty pieces of confection, pies, cakes, cookies, tarts, all attractive with fancy toppings and icings.

The apron table had many lines for Christmas sale which is fast catching up on the "cut-it-offers." In charge of these were Mrs. T. Lloyd and Mrs. W. Meens and Mrs. Babcock.

The plant table was in charge of Mrs. W. Collier; the vegetables in charge of Mrs. Gordon Bateman, and his kinds drew many customers. These were conveyed by Annabelle Docter, and the candy table by Christine Brown and Beth Boyd.

Interest centred around the bride were held by Mrs. James White, 8 Evans Street, Belleville, when miscellaneous showers were received and at the home of Miss Shirley Domonion, Dundas St. East, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leslie McIntosh are shown signing the register in College Hill United Church, Belleville, following their marriage recently in the former's pastorate by Rev. Mr. Marie Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Henry Wood of Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregg A. McIntosh, also of Belleville. (Photo by William E. Riley, Belleville.)

McINTOSH — WOOD

College Hill United Church, Belleville, was the scene of a pretty wedding recently, when the Reverend W. E. G. Dovey, pastor of the church, united in marriage, Marilyn Rose Marie Wood, Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Henry Wood, and Arthur Leslie McIntosh, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. McIntosh, Gladioli formed a lovely background for the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Clifford McIntosh, of Peterborough, who sang, "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of Wedgwood white silk organza over taffeta, in ballerina - length, featuring a princess line bodice with Sabrina neckline offset with an empire sash to the back, falling into a full - length panel caught in a cluster of fabric roses. Cap sleeves and a bouffant skirt added a nice accent. She wore a finger - tip veil of tulle illusion caught to the head with a shaped ballet cap, and carried a bouquet of red and yellow roses on a white Bible, centred with knotted streamers.

Mrs. Robert Kemp, of Niagara Falls, Ontario, attended her cousin as matron of honor, wearing bridesmaid's gown in short length, with molded bodice in silhouette style, with short sleeves and shoulder cap sleeves, the bodice offset with an empire band swirling into a full skirt, caught with bows and falling into a full - length panel. She wore a matching headdeau and carried a nosegay of Sweetheart roses surrounded with red and yellow 'mums.

Mr. John Fitchett, of Peterborough, was best man for the bridegroom, while Messrs. Clarke McIntosh, of Castleton, and Roy Wood, of Toronto, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's table was appointed with a three - layer wedding cake, centered on a white damask linen cloth. The bridal flowers added a lovely nuptial note.

The bride's mother, in navy blue sheer shantung with pink accessories and corsage of pink, baby 'mums, received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, attired in navy sheer with taffeta with matching hat and gloves, and corsage of white, baby 'mums.

For traveling to Montreal, New York State and Lake Champlain, Lake Placid, Peterborough, and Toronto, the bride chose a tweed suit, with black velvet collar, matching accessories in black, with white hat and gloves, and red rose and white 'mum corsage.

Telegrams from Castleton, Peterborough, Niagara Falls, Ontario; Vermont; Lake Champlain; Hull, Quebec; Belleville and Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh will reside in Belleville.

Sons of Jacob Jewish Ladies' Aux. Sponsors Delightful Tea

The Sons of Jacob Synagogue, Victoria Avenue, made a delightful setting Wednesday afternoon for one of the season's most successful teas and bazaars, sponsored by the Jewish Ladies' Auxiliary; which, coupled with a lovely autumn day with bright, skies and a carpet of swirling, brightly-colored maple leaves, was but a foretaste of the unique and intriguing atmosphere within.

Just inside the entrance where the thronging guests were welcomed by receptionists, Mrs. D. Berez, wife of the Rabbi, and Mrs. I. Shulman, president of the Auxiliary, a large T.V. guide presenting "The People's Choice," spectacular in color, and wide of range, designating the various channels and their directors.

EXQUISITE DRIFTWOOD

Also here were several exquisite "Driftwood" centrepieces, and table lamps; some varnished, others sensibly left wild in flight; while others were tinted a pleasing grey. These and a number of oil paintings were displayed by Johnny Meyers. Vases of artificial velvety red roses and yellow Shasta daisies were displayed by Mrs. H. Meyers.

Through a silver archway depicting a T.V. aerial, could be seen the spacious tea room which overflowed onto the stage, where three quartet tables, each covered with white linen and centred by vases of colorful mums in shades of bronze mingled with yellow marigolds and sprays of silvered grasses. The super guest tables occupied the lower section of the auditorium and round about were the various 'channels', each adorned with a white valance bearing black Hallowe'en faces and individual legends.

PLEASING ARRANGEMENT

The long tea table was appointed with a lovely ecru-tinted Battenburg lace cloth, centred by an arrangement of blue and white chrysanthemums and flanked by tall silver candle holders, heavily ornate, containing stubby blue candles sent from Israel. Silver and crystal completed the pleasing arrangement.

Those presiding included: Mrs. D. Berez, Mrs. E. Junger, Mrs. J. Greenbloom, Mrs. F. Gitelman, Mrs. A. Lipen, Mrs. H. Kay, Mrs. J. Goldberg and Mrs. S. Spiegel.

Serving were Mesdames I. Yanover, M. Mire, N. Albert, J. Mayer, M. Tuchmeyer, D. Thomas and B. Taylor. Behind the scenes in the kitchen were Mrs. B. Yanover, Mrs. A. Lipes and Mrs. A. Meyers.

In charge of the tea room, with its silver legend, "The Pause that Refreshes", were Mrs. S. Rose and Mrs. J. Nemtin.

Channel 4, designated "Dough-Re-Me", produced by Mrs. J. Albert, assisted by Mrs. F. Gitelman, Mrs. I. Lindenberg, Mrs. J. Yanover, Mrs. B. Freeman and Miss B. Tobe, was a 'Mecca' for lovers of good things, including a chiffon and yellow iced cake with green trim, made by Mrs. B. Yanover; which went to Mrs. W. Van Tassel, 239 Bleecker Avenue. Dill pickles and tomato juice and cucumbers, marmalade, cookies, chocolate drops, angel cakes, date macaroons, lemon and apple pies, apple strudel, coffee cakes, swan decor cream puffs, pinwheels and a host of other delicious confections. Preserves and pickles were convened by Mrs. Speigel and Mrs. Kamsel.

Channel 11, "The Price is Right", comprised a bevy of lovely aprons; some white organdy with triple rows of pink embroidery; others in embroidered blue flowers; frilled aprons in peach, green and various colors, using print and gingham materials; sateens, and towel aprons; nylon taffeta blouses in white and green. This was produced by Mrs. Kunneer and Mrs. Greenbloom, assisted by Mrs. Scwartz.

"The Wide, Wide World" displayed some fine handicrafts from Israel in the form of gold-edged ceramic-like articles in mottled green enamel, such as tri-branched candle holders; ash and pin trays; vases, and other little figurines. This was produced by Mrs. K. Shulman.

Channel 5 was the "Treasure Hunt", or white elephant, produced by Mrs. T. Schwab and Mrs. M. Levine, assisted by Mrs. C. Goldman — was a boon to bargain hunters with its collection of odd cups and saucers; covered wagon table lamps; sugar and cream china and glass; boxes of puzzles, books, purses, billfolds, lip sticks, fancy bath soaps, costume jewellery and placemats.

Channel 7, "The Knitorama", showed some fine knit goods; little baby sets, togs for toddlers; bootees and hoods. Mrs. J. Goldberg and Mrs. A. Lipes were the producers here.

Channel 3, "One of a Kind" with Mrs. S. Mandell as producer displayed novelties, including doll bed ornaments; crocheted doillies, place mats, lovely white wool shawl and white cotton sweater.

"O Susanna" showed a lovely doll bride, complete with white bridal gown, veil and white floral bouquet, as well as a whole wardrobe of pretty dresses, as and sports outfit. This was in charge of Mrs. Lee Jouard, producer and creator, and Mrs. N. Albert. This joy to any little girl's heart was won by Jane McCutcheon, and drawn by Susan Shulman.

The door prizes, jewellery, drawn by Mrs. L. G. Irvine, was won by ticket holder No. 60, and the 'dinner for two,' drawn by Mrs. A. Black, went to the holder of ticket 249. Holders of these tickets please contact Woodland 8-5168), Mrs. I. Shulman.

An outstanding bazaar and tea, uniquely produced, and most successfully culminated in bringing acclaim to the directors Mrs. I. Shulman and Mrs. S. Lipsor, to the business manager, Mrs. A. Black; to the decorating producers, Mrs. J. Yanover, Mrs. M. Mire and Mrs. I. Shulman.

And Mrs. H. Simrod was secretary, and Mrs. K. Shulman was in charge of publicity.

HOW TO ADDRESS ENVELOPES OF WEDDING INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is there a definite form for the correct addressing of the outside envelopes of wedding invitations? Three of my good friends w h o have volunteered to address these envelopes would like to know. Thank you for your guidance about this. — Bride-to-be

Yes, there is a definite pattern for addressing these so-important envelopes. For the usual address, there should be four lines. (1) Name on first line (no abbreviations in names). (2) Street address on second line. (3) Name of city (with Zone Number, when possible) on third line. (4) Name of province on fourth line. (No abbreviations.) Like this:

Mr. and Mrs. John Hill Lane
123 Pleasant Street
Home City 4

Note: (a) The city and province should not be written on the same line. (b) Tell those kind friends

Beverly B. — Martin and I were both 21 when we married. We have been married 10 years and have three children. At the time we married my mother, a widow, was very much opposed to t h e marriage. She felt that we were too young. I know that she also wanted me to remain with her for a few years because I was the youngest in the family a n d she would be alone without me.

Well, I've always felt pretty guilty about leaving Mom in the lurch like that, and I've tried to make it up to her in every way. I visit her several times a week and we always have her over on Sundays.

Now it's gotten to the point where my wife resents having Mom over. I feel that I can't neglect my own mother. Mom hasn't done any harm to Beverly. Why should she take this attitude?

Beverly B. — Martin and I were married 21 when we married. All right. He was just a baby. I was a woman. I tried with understand, compromise a n d make allowances, but I'm just fed about full.

Three or four evenings a week Martin stops at his mother's on the way home from work. Our dinner is delayed. The kids often go to bed without seeing him. Then on Sunday we spend practically the whole day with his mother.

Martin has another brother and sister and they are also devoted to their mother. They all f e e l guilty about having le:t her alone, but Martin is the worst of all. They take turns having her at their homes on Saturdays and they also visit her during the week occasionally.

The Council: It seems to us that Martin and his brother and sister are practising a kind of reverse form of "Smother love."

This elderly woman's social life is being completely monopolized by her children. She doesn't have a chance to go out and make friends of her own age and interests. What time does she have for church or social activities? Others with friends if her children take her in for every second week can she find a hobby or spend a weekend with a friend if all her Saturdays and Sundays are taken up?

We have a notion that Beverly resents not only the time Martin has taken from his married life, but also his mother, but the feeling he so badly misplaces. He is entitled to his wife as long as he has time and energy left from togs toward his mother.

Martin should recognize that he was of age when he was married and that he has done so wrong in leaving his mother to look after his own family. He did not leave his mother "in the furch" unless he failed in some necessary financial responsibility toward her. He has absolutely nothing to "make up" to his mother.

Once he has recognized these facts in his mind, Martin will have to re-educate his feelings until he reaches the point where he can freely and happily devote himself to his own family.

The Experts Say

Exposure to Light Causes Potatoes to Turn Green

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Green may stand for danger in potato.

Frances McKay of the consumer information service, Mandy Sayer department, Ottawa, says exposure to light will cause some potatoes to turn green and this can be harmful if they are eaten.

These potatoes produce a chemical substance called solanine which could be mildly poisonous. She advocates peeling off half-an-inch around such a potato to make it safe.

LONG STUDY

The department of pharmacology at the University of Toronto has a buy-your plan under way to solve the mystery of the potato. Professor George Lucas reports that after two years' study the researchers still cannot decide whether green potatoes are poisonous.

"We have started this study because thousands of dollars worth of potatoes are thrown away every year if they go green," he said. "But for all we can tell at this stage, the potatoes are rejected because of folklore beliefs that they are poisonous.

"Money and potatoes can be saved if we can show they are not poisonous, and that they can be safely fed to animals."

But research has struck a snag. Green potatoes apparently produce two closely - related substances, solanine and solanidine, and no way has yet been found of separating these substances for closer analysis.

"We hope in about a year to have something definite to report," said Professor Lucas.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

With softball and baseball diamonds in the mothballs, so to speak, it is now banquet and windbreaker time for the champions.

The Ontario Amateur Softball Association in announcing the list of twenty champions, says that 1958 will be recorded as one of the outstanding playing seasons with regard to superb, determined and skilful competition.

Over 412 playoff games were sanctioned commencing on August 13 and culminating in the North-South finals on October 11 and 12.

In a season of outstanding diamond feats, perhaps the Oshawa Tony's "darling adventure" stood out. The Tony's, who played an exhibition tilt with Point Anne this summer, won the top honors in the OASA list of championships, annexing the senior "A" title in their first year of competition in this series. Last year the Tony's won the all-Ontario senior "B" crown.

Another fine performance, or performances, were those recorded by the Amherstburg Anderson Taverns, conquerors of Point Anne in the intermediate "A" semi-finals. The Taverners won that classification title and added to it the intermediate industrial crown.

Eastern Ontario circles annexed two of the twenty crowns, the classy Maple Grove nuggets the junior "C" kernels and Cornwall, for the first time in the sport's history, winning the juvenile "A" title.

The senior "A" title went to Beamsville, with the Kirkland Lake lassies winning the intermediate ladies' championship. Mount Hope, Ayr's and Saltfit took the intermediate "A", "B" and "C" titles in that order with Toronto Kribicks, conquerors of the Belleville Bobcats, grabbing the "AA" crown.

Oshawa, Burlington and Rostock won the junior "A", "B" and "D" honors with Burlington and Binwood annexing the juvenile "B" and "C" titles. New Liskeard won the midget championship, Point Edward, the bantam title and Nyasa the peewee crown. Simcoe "squirts" won their tournament championship.

Sectional club and individual performances also marked the softball season just finished. Noteworthy is the remarkable double no-hit game staged by the intermediate "C" squads from Jarvis and Cayuga.

Johnny Edwards, the Jarvis hurler, proved a sensation in the playoffs. He dazzled with pitcher Bevilacqua of Caproni in the famous twin-no-hitter, winning by a 1-0 score. He allegedly just one run and struck out 215 batters in the 21 playoff games to set a phenomenal record that will likely stand for some time.

Burlington, like Amherstburg, was another centre to amass twin titles, the Lions capturing both the junior "B" and juvenile "B" championships.

While the Belleville District Softball League did not boast any championship squads this season, it enjoyed one of the best playing years in its long history. All member teams played topflight softball and acquitted themselves well in the association playdowns. Point Anne's well-balanced team came up with the league championship.

"RED" APPOINTED

Lloyd George Doran, better known as "Red", has been appointed to the referees' committee of the Ontario Hockey Association. The popular sarnia-ite will act as a supervisor of officials in the Eastern Ontario district and will report on their activities from time to time.

The announcement of "Red's" appointment was made at the referees' get-together the other night, when officials from all parts of Eastern Ontario were here to hear the last word on rules, regulations and whatnot.

Referee-in-chief Pat Patterson was in charge of the meet, and went over the rules "bit by bit" besides answering a flock of questions from the whistle-blowing fishfolk.

One familiar face was that of Louis LeCompte, an RCAF officer, and one of the better OHA senior arbiters. Louis has been tooting a whistle for quite a number of years now and counts world tournament games in his book of achievements. Louis was a member of the Fort-ne Trenton Flyers squad of the 1936-37 season which won the Ontario intermediate "A" championship, and outside of the current Belleville-Trenton tie-and-shirt from this hockey neck of the woods to take part in Allan Cup play. They were eliminated by the senior champion Port Colborne Sailors, if memory is correct.

NAMED TOP LINEMAN

CALGARY (CP)—Rookie tackle Don Luzzi of Calgary Stampeders Thursday was named this year's outstanding lineman in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Luzzi will receive the Mel Beckett-Mavis De Marco Trophy, presented in memory of two Eskimo lineman who died in separate accidents. Beckett was killed in an air crash in 1954 and De Marco in a car accident. Luzzi, 22, came to Stampeders from Villanova University.

GREAVES TO FIGHT VEJAR

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Willie Greaves, Canadian middleweight champion from Edmonton, and Chico Vejar will meet in a non-television 10-rounder here Nov. 10. Greaves knocked out Louisville's Billy Tuck in the third round here Wednesday night to boost his record to 36-9-1. Vejar, who fought Harvey De Vito here recently, has a 76-13-2 record.

Backstrom, Beliveau Blasts Climax Shattering 9-1 Win; Red Wings Take Over Second

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens are boss once more in the National Hockey League.

There's little question after the 9-1 pasting they gave Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night.

Hawks looked like the team that wanted a share of first place with Canadiens for just one period, holding the score to a 1-1 tie. Then they fell apart. Their defence stumbled, their defence collapsed and goalie Glenn Hall was hopelessly outnumbered.

WINGS NIP BOSTON

Detroit Red Wings nipped Boston Bruins 3-2 to complete Chicago's rout, moving them from first - place contender to third place in the league standings. Wings are second now.

Montreal fans saw the slaughter in the second and third periods led by two - goal efforts from rookie Ralph Backstrom and veteran Jean Beliveau.

Montreal notched three goals in the second period and three in five more in the last, four of them coming in three minutes and nine seconds of play.

Ted Sloan's goal kept Hawks going in the first period, but from then on the defence wobbled and they looked disorganized and they looked disorganized gave the Habs two of their early goals, allowing the club to be swiped cleanly from him.

CANADIENS SCORE TOO

Canadiens too played loosely in the first period and missed a half-dozen likely scoring opportunities. They outshot the Hawks 40-17 for the game.

André Pronovost, Don Marshall, Dickie Moore, Tom Johnson and Maurice (Rocket) Richard all tossed single counters behind Hall.

In the deluge Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion moved into top spot in NHL scoring race. Two assists gave him a total of nine points on three goal and six assists. Backstrom's goals were his first in the NHL. He came this season from Ottawa - Hull Canadiens, Montreal's junior team.

Boston was held almost scoreless in the Detroit game, but Larry Hillman ruined Terry Sawchuk's shutout bid in the final second of play, scoring his several feet out of the cage in a scramble.

Johnny Wilson scored his first two goals of the season to give Detroit a 2-0 lead in the second period. Defenceman Red Kelly's screen shot caromed off Wilson's stick into the Boston net in the first period and Wilson took a pass from rookie Charlie Burns for the second score.

Alex Delvecchio's 20-foot shot trickled off Boston Jim Simmons' pads early in the final period to make it 3-0 for Detroit. Hillman's goal ended the game.

RANGERS' TROUBLES

At the bottom of the league New York Rangers disclosed trouble with wayward players and Toronto Maple Leafs worried over a goalie for this weekend. Rangers stand 8th, Leafs 6th.

Leafs host Red Wings Saturday and Chicago travels to New York. Boston plays Canadiens in Montreal.

Leaf coach Billy Reay is pondering putting Ed Chadwick in goal to replace Johnny Bower, who played in Toronto's 8-4 loss to Red Wings Sunday.

For four days he has given Chadwick an extra half-hour practice stopping shots while other players were back in the dressers. But Thursday night he still said "I don't know who'll be defending the Leaf nets."

In New York general manager Murray (Muzz) Patrick said three Rangers have been fined since the season began two weeks ago. Who they were, and why they paid, he wouldn't say.

His only comment was that they broke club rules. One was fined twice. But Patrick says he doesn't expect any trouble from now on.

OHA Refuses Release to Frank Bathgate

Frank Bathgate, starry centre-winger who has been playing with the McFarlands in exhibition games, won't wear a Macs sweater in schedule play.

The spokesmen of the Ontario Hockey Association, at a special meeting last night, refused to grant Bathgate his release.

The player was said to be the property of the Windsor Bulldogs and involved in a player deal with the striking Sudbury Wolves.

"There were no reasons given by the spokesmen of the Association to refuse Bathgate his release," Macs manager Drury Denyes said this morning.

Windsor Bulldog coach Murph Chamberlain, who has consistently refused to let Bathgate come to the Macs, was present at the meeting.

But what was Belleville's loss will be a Windsor or Sudbury gain.

Bathgate has refused outright to play for either of these clubs, and last night he reiterated the statement.

The Macs will also be without the services of Bill Sweeney and Rags Ragglan tonight. Waivers on the players won't reach the deadline until midnight. Belleville Manager Drurys said he will exert all efforts to have Raglan reinstated by game time, if it is at all possible.

Birdie In Line For Braves' Top Teepee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts, the Milwaukee Braves' newly hired executive vice-president, has emerged as heir apparent to the presidency of the multi-million-dollar baseball empire.

President Joe Caiross left no doubt that the ex-Cincinnati Reds' manager would be in full charge of the organization while Caiross is in Florida overseeing a $500,000,000 housing project for Braves' owner Lou Perini.

Caiross told a press-radio-TV luncheon Thursday at which Tebbetts was introduced that he himself would be devoting more time to the construction business and "maybe in a matter of years Birdie will be president of the ball club."

Caiross said the Florida project probably would take 10 years of his time.

Tebbetts asserted he has adopted a strict policy on non-interference with the labors of field manager Fred Haney.

"I'm not going to prostitute my baseball knowledge something I wouldn't want done to me," Tebbetts said. He explained that Cincinnati general manager Gabe Paul "never came to my clubhouse without my invitation and he never talked with the players without my permission. They will be my pillow ophy."

"Haney is a very fine manager," Tebbetts said. "Any report that we didn't get along are erroneous. As manager of the Redlegs, I was out to beat the Braves and any other opposition. There was nothing personal in it.

Hull-Ottawa Edges Chevies In Penalty-Studded Game

HULL, Que. (CP)—Hull-Ottawa diens' Claude Cyr. Cyr required Canadiens put on the pressure in several stitches to close a head the final period to defeat Corn- wall Chevies 3-1 in the opening game of the OHA senior A eastern division schedule Thursday night.

Bob Rousseau, Clarke Richard and John Annable scored in the third period for the Habs—playing their first complete schedule in the league while Neil Burke counted for Cornwall.

The penalty-studded game saw standout netminding by Gerry Desvaney of Cornwall and Casa- sean grabbed a loose puck near centre ice and slithered around Cornwall's Don Labelle to score on a backhand shot from close in.

Annable combined with Richard and Norm Doyle to close out the scoring for Canadiens at 11:46

Officials handed out 23 penalties—20 in the first two periods—fourteen of the total going to the home club.

FIGHT CANCELLED

HALIFA (CP)—A Nov. 2 fight between Richard (Kid) Howard, Canadian lightweight boxing champion, and Lahouri Godih, the French champion, has been cancelled, local promoters announced Thursday. They said Godih has been released from the boat to fight Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., leading world title contender.

Burke opened the scoring at 6:17 of the last period, pulling up a clearing pass at the Cornwall blue line and going in alone to beat Cyr cleanly.

TIED IT UP

Richard evened the score 28 seconds later"by taking a perfect pass-out from Guy Black and drilling a slap-shot past Desvaney.

Rousseau scored the winner at 9:44 while teammate Roy Ellett got out a hooking penalty. Rous-

Sudbury Wolves on Strike Reasons? No Jobs, Bonuses

SUDBURY (CP) — Top-rated Sudbury Wolves won't be opening the Ontario Senior A hockey season tonight—IJW team has gone on strike.

Coach John (Peanuts) O'Flaherty cancelled tonight's game after most of his players refused to sign contracts. The Wolves were to open the merged Ontario and Northern Ontario Hockey Association schedule here against Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds.

The players didn't come to terms by the 11 p.m. deadline Thursday, the time the team had to have its playing cards in the mail to league headquarters.

There were two main player beefs—the club's inability to provide either jobs or signing bonuses.

Club president Ted Hill said the league had set a $1,750 weekly limit on teams salaries with no bonuses and he would "absolutely refuse to pay players any money under the limit."

As for Joat, O'Flaherty pointed to the fact 13,000 men are on strike here against the International Nickel Company of Canada and jobs aren't available.

A charge that some teams were paying bonuses was aired at a league meeting last week in Toronto. No action was taken pending filing of affidavits by each team that bonuses weren't being paid.

SEVEN SIGNED

The Wolves, who need 15 men for a game, have so far signed only seven and one is forward Bob Forhan, out with an injury and unable to play tonight is any case.

O'Flaherty said two others had agreed verbally to contracts, but he wouldn't dress a team unless he had a reasonably full roster. That applies to the second game next Wednesday at the Sault, although the coach expressed confidence he will have enough signatures by then.

Meanwhile, the Wolves have appealed to the other five teams for player assistance.

"If they don't sign, we'll just bring in other players who will," O'Flaherty said. "But we have to have a contending team here. That's the only way we'll get any fans out as long as the strike against Inco lasts."

If Wednesday's game has to be cancelled, O'Flaherty said, the club will probably have to withdraw from the league.

"It would be better for us to quit now than to cheat by giving the players more than the salary limit."

There's been one retaliation already—non-signing players have been fined a week's pay.

AT THE PARK — Enacting one of the most demanding dramatic roles of her career, Elizabeth Taylor comes to the Park Theatre screen tonight in MGM's spectacular picturization of Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe", in which she plays the lovely Rebecca, accused of being a witch. Also starring in the epic drama, filmed in England, are Robert Taylor, Joan Fontaine, George Sanders and Emlyn Williams. With a supporting cast of thousands, and on the same program for your added enjoyment, Robert Arthur keeps a close watch on Dave O'Brien and Kelly Thordsen, two former outlaw "Friends" who tried to intimidate him in a bank holdup, shown above in one of many exciting scenes from "The Desperados Are in Town", also co-starred is Kathy Nolan and Rhodes Reason.

Will Ask Macs To Loan Packers Forward Line

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Tribune says the Belleville McFarlands will be asked to lend a forward line to the Kelowna Packers for the Western senior champions six-game tour of Russia and Sweden.

Otherwise, it says, the senior Winnipeg Maroons may be asked to strengthen Packers for the trip. "If the McFarlands decide to turn thumbs down on the Packer request for aid, then Kelowna will almost assuredly call on the Winnipeg trio," the paper adds.

The paper quotes Gordon Juckes, Canadian Amateur Hockey Association official from Melville, Sask., as saying the Packers definitely need forward help.

All three Winnipeg players have been working out with junior clubs in the area.

International Soccer League Is Predicted

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail say an international soccer league may be operating in Canada next year.

The paper says "a professional soccer league, embracing teams from Hamilton, Montreal, Toronto, Detroit and New York may be formed before the 1959 season gets under way."

Administration would be along the lines of Canadian football leagues and the National Hockey League.

Played Same Role in 'Lineup' For TV for Last Five Years

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—An old San Francisco cable car mounted on a truck base rolled into New York's Rockefeller Plaza the other day.

A husky, grey-haired man sprang from the truck cab, stepped into the traffic of 49th Street, held up his left hand, pointed at a car authoritatively with his right—and traffic stopped dead. The old cable car moved ahead on the plaza and Warner Anderson, actor, leaped into the truck cab.

If anybody recognized him he would have been identified as Lieut. Gubrie of the San Francisco police department. That's the role he plays in The Lineup (CBS-TV, Fridays, 10 p.m. EDT). In his fifth year as a good television police officer, there are times when he seems to be more Guthrie than Anderson.

Riding the cable car from Chicago to New York was strictly a publicity stunt, uncomfortable physically and mentally to Guthrie—pardon, Anderson. Once here however, he talked quite comfortably about policemen.

"There's an attitude about all policemen that puts you at a disadvantage until you know them well," he said. "When any policeman meets you for the first time, he has a way of staring at you that makes you feel you're guilty."

Anderson admits he's been Guthrie so long that he's probably typecast as an actor. In fact, he thinks Guthrie is about the last role he'll play in his acting career. Apparently The Lineup could go on forever, but if it ends Anderson figures he will turn from acting to directing and producing.

Movie Column

Carl Sandburg Read Poetry in Miltie's Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The local scene was brightened considerably this week by the presence of Carl Sandburg, here to read his poetry on Milton Berle's TV show, of all things.

He presided at a mad cocktail party in his honor, and he had a comment for each of the guests he met. He sipped his whisky sour and seemed to enjoy the bubbub that whirled about him.

What does he think of the next-generation writers? "I don't concern myself with refinements (short-lived things)

Has he followed the movies? "Have II I reviewed a thousand films in seven years as movie critic for the Chicago Daily News."

What is he working on now? "It's not supposed to be known, but I'm revising 30 poems of mine."

Never have I seen the film crowd so agog over a celebrity as they were for the white-thatched, leather-faced poet of 80 years. Even Alec Guinness succumbed. He was being honored at another party next door at the Beverly Hills Hotel, and he said he one thing he would do if he most was meet Sandburg. He did.

Guinness was here briefly to help publicize his new film, The Horse's Mouth. He seemed pleased to learn a theatre man's opinion that only he and Brigitte Bardot meant anything at the box office. Has he met BB?

"No, but I'd like to," he smiled. "I'd like to do a picture with her, too."

The smile on Bob Hope's pan is because his independent film,

Alias Jesse James, is three days ahead of schedule. Quite a contrast to his last outing.

"We dropped $600,000 on the cutting room floor with Paris Holiday because we didn't know what we were doing," he said. "Believe me, it pays to plan ahead."

Hope plans to abandon the independent field for a while. He's dickering with 20th Century - Fox for a couple of pictures. There was nearly a reunion of Bing Crosby and Bob in Norman Krasna's Who was that Lady I saw You With? But the new play liked it and tried to make a deal. But Columbia made a better bid and it'll star Tony Curtis and Dean Martin. . . .

BCI Seniors Swamp Picton 64-0 While Juniors Lose 14-12 Verdict

By PAUL FLEMING

In C.O.S.S.A. junior and senior A football games at Picton yesterday the B.C.I. seniors ran rough shod over P.E.C.I. seniors defeating them 64-0. In the junior tussle B.C.I. came out on the short end of a 14-12 decision. This was the Juniors' first loss of the current campaign.

In the senior contest B.C.I. struck early in the 1st quarter when Carl Mower drove over centre from close in to put B.C.I. out in front 6-0. In the same quarter after a series of bucks and runs and passes Don Deacon plunged off tackle for a TD, a convert pass to Garry Coyer made the score 13-0 in favor of B.C.I.

Midway through the second quarter Don Masters threw a perfect 45 yard strike to Garry Coyer in the end zone and Masters converted making it 20-0. Near the end of the quarter Gerry Rowbotham slashed through the centre from the 5 yard line and the 1st half ended with B.C.I. out in front 26-0.

Early in the third quarter John Baker broke through to block a P.E.C.I. punt and paved the way for another major by Hector Ralph. Boomhower. Masters again added the extra point and B.C.I. now led 33-0. The B.C.I. squad then went on a scoring spree as Carl Mowers, Bob Brown and Don Deacon added TD's and Garry Coyer adding a convert ended the 3rd quarter out in front 55-0.

In the final frame Carl Mowers who had a field day accounted for his 3rd TD on a sleeper play and a convert pass to Bob Brown put the score to 64-0. Later Don Deacon who also liked the end zone accounted for his 3rd major, making the final score 64-0.

Both teams showed fine competitive spirit but P.E.C.I. just couldn't get untracked. For B.C.I. Deacon, Mowers, Boomhower and Rowbotham and Masters really rolled up the yardage in the backfield and along the line Kellar, Adaire, Brown and Coyer more played a good game.

JUNIOR GAME

The Junior game was a thriller from the start until the final gun. For the most part of the first quarter the teams fought each other to a standstill until the final minute when speedy Gary Woodbeck of P.E.C.I. proved the 2nd scout for T.D. the convert attempt was blocked. P.E.C.I. then started to mobilize and Don Skinner tossed a long pass to Stewart Muirhead on a 50-yard pass and run play. The convert was wide and the score stood at 6-6. Late in the first half Tony Stewart smashed straight over centre for a major score and they added the extra point, putting P.E.C.I. out in front 13-6. In the final seconds Stewart Muirhead plunged off tackle from close in but the try was low and the half ended with Picton out in front 13-12.

A big break came in the third quarter when Jim Davis of B.C.I. recovered a loose ball on the 5-yard line of P.E. but BCI couldn't capitalize on the opportunity, and PECI took over on their own 2-yard line.

In the final stanza Roy Insley recovered his own fumble on the P.E. standoff down to the BCI 20-yard line where Roy Insley cried a field goal which went wide for a single making the final score 14-12 in favor of PECI.

For the winners, Murrey German, Gary Woodbeck, Bob Sweetnam and Tony Stewart turned in a fine performance as did Stewart Muirhead, Don Skinner and Jim Davis in a losing cause.

Teepees, Flyers Win Over Marlies, Petes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Junior A hockey moves into its second week today when St. Catharines Teepees and Barrie Flyers locked in first place.

Both clubs won two games for six points, three points ahead of Toronto Marlboros in the Ontario Hockey Association standings.

For each, the third win came Thursday night. Teepees smothered Peterborough Petes 4-2 in Peter first home game of the season while Flyers dumped Marlboros 5-4 at Barrie.

At Hamilton Cubs took on Toronto St. Michael's and outscored them 3-2 in the final period to take their first win of the season, 6-4.

Barrie, with only one loss against it, outshot Marlboros 35-24 and held up a 4-0 lead before Ian Sinclair scored Marlies' lone goal.

Barrie scorers were Ray Dupuis, Marcel Tessier, Ed Westfall, Gaetan Secours and Dale Rolfe.

PETES WEAK

St. Catharines, yet to lose a game, was never threatened by Petes. Stan Mikita and Calec Mair led the Garden City sextet's goals each while Ted Wright, George Harris and Bob Corupe got singles.

Wayne Roddy, Hugh McGonigal and Barry Ribocek scored for Petes. Their team is winless in two starts and goes to Cubs' home to meet the Biltmores, who have tied one and lost one.

Centre Ron McNeill scored two goals and Don Wilcox, Bob Dillabough, Ed Cooke and Lloyd Rieder scored one in Hamilton's victory.

The teams were locked 3-3 going into the third period but St. Mike's Majors keep up to Cubs' scoring and suffered their second defeat in two games. Larry Keenan's two goals led St. Mike's and Gene Rebellato, Lee Kozak and Bruce Draper had one each.

since 1944 for the Pirates. It was Murtaugh's first full season as manager.

Murtaugh received 149 votes in the Associated Press poll of sports-writers and sports broadcasters. He became the first manager to be chosen in competition with managers of both leagues. Previously, the associated Press poll selected one manager in each league.

Bill Rigney, of the third-place San Francisco Giants, was second to Murtaugh with six votes. Haney and Casey Stengel of the championship New York Yankees each collected five first place nominations. Stengel received four, Jimmy Dykes, who finished the season at Cincinnati, Harry Craft at Kansas City and Joe Gordon, who completed the year at Cleveland, one each.

Bucs' Murtaugh Major Leagues Top Manager

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—In the midst of congratulations over his selection as the Associated Press major league manager of the year, Danny Murtaugh remembered Pittsburgh's 1958 average today.

"Bill Meyers helped me an awful lot," the sharp featured, 41-year-old Pirates manager said in his office. "He carried the end of my career, I got to thinking about wanting to be a manager. Billy would let me sit next to him on the bench. He gave me a lot of advice, told me why he did things.

"Billy was a good baseball man."

Murtaugh, former second baseman, who never played for a major league team, led the Pirates from fourth place, was named manager of the year Wednesday by the baseball writers. He polled 149 votes to 6 for Bill Rigney of the third-place San Francisco Giants, who finished the season at Cincinnati, Harry Craft at Kansas City and Joe Gordon, who completed the year at Cleveland, one each.

Quinte Footballers Whip Trenton In Both Ends of COSSA Twin Bill

By ROGER WALTERS

Quinte Secondary grid squads chalked up two victories against Trenton in COSSA Junior and Senior "A" action at QSS yesterday. The Seniors walloped their opponents 64-0, while the Juniors blanked Trenton Juniors by a 35-0 count.

Quinte Seniors got off to a fast start, marching downfield from the opening kickoff with Rickey Locke plunging the final four yards for Quinte's first TD. Two minutes later Ron Stewart, who played an outstanding defensive game, made a 46 yard end run, which, along with Hull's convert gave Quinte a 13 point advantage. Ron Hull notched the third marker and Quinte left the field with a half time lead of 19 points.

Trenton's John Kerr and Serge Scuccatto combined to drive Quinte back to their five yard line early in the second half, from where the latter scored the visitor's lone TD. Otherwise they failed to make any headway, as Quinte's D a r Buddle and Gord Smith came up with some noteworthy defensive plays. Quinte quarterback Ron McBride, who completed ten of 16 attempted passes, set up Quinte's two other TD's with passes to Bill Green and Rick Clarke. Hull and Locke accounted for three, giving both a pair of touchdowns and making the final score 32-6.

In the junior encounter Trenton failed to hold back the powerful Quinte squad, which dominated the play throughout the game. Bob Follwell threw two touchdown passes to Bill Lackford in the second half. Hall converted both, making the half time score 14-0 for Quinte.

Steve Wilson continued the Quinte attack early in the second half scoring on a ten yard end run. Other majors were scored by Alan Wardle and Larry Mills. Hall converted the first two and kicked a single point completing the scoring for Quinte 35, Trenton 0. Quinte's Gary Davis, Bernie Ladouceur and Wardle played a leading role in the victory, each playing a brilliant defensive game.

Stephen Juba Again Elected Winnipeg Mayor

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mayor Stephen Juba was re-elected Wednesday with a landslide majority over property owners approved three of four money bylaws calling for expenditures totalling $8,950,000 in Winnipeg's civic election.

Mr. Juba, 64, polled a record number of votes for a Winnipeg mayor in winning his second two-year term. His total was 58,979. W. A. Konantz, his nearest opponent, polled 11,263 while a third candidate, Stan Carrick received 746.

The largest individual total previously polled by a Winnipeg mayor was Garnett Coulter's 54,-561 in 1946, election officials said.

PROPORTIONAL BALLOT

Four of nine aldermanic seats were filled after the first count under the city's proportional representation system. A second count was to begin today in an effort to fill the remaining six vacancies.

172 MEN

that pockets of deadly gas were forming.

Dragswmen used respirators in their search for survivors in the mine.

The bump occurred at 8:08 p.m. It shook houses 14 miles away. In Springhill dishes tumbled from shelves. Hundreds of horrified townsfolk poured into the streets.

Veteran miners said it was the most bumpy in memory.

"Every house in town shook," one housewife said.

Survivor Frank Thibeau said that underground "it drove me into the air."

Layton Amon, injured about the arms, legs and face, told reporters: "The place is full of gas."

THREE MILES IN

The mine stretches downward for three miles from the pithead. The bottom end of the slope is 1,400 feet below the surface. The main body of trapped miners was believed to be between the 13,200- and 13,800-foot levels — nearly three miles from the pithead.

As the crowd gathered at the pithead there were many hysterics. Several wives collapsed. But the cold night passed with more than above 40 degrees during the night—the pithead scene grew quiet, except for shouts of mine officials and the sobs of a few women.

Help flowed into Springhill from nearby agencies, the armed services and private individuals. Cars with headlights lit formed a ghostly caravan held to mark the landing place for a navy helicopter carrying blood plasma.

Miners who reached the surface showed more than half of their trapped fellows than their injuries. Some begged to say and help in rescue operations.

There were few in the crowd without relatives still under ground—among the missing or in rescue crews.

Thursday night's bump was the most recent of a series of rock shifts that injured 14 men this year. Six bumps were recorded between mid-March and Sept. 1. SUSCEPTIBLE AREA

Hiram B. C. Thompson, a provincial mines inspector for 40 years, said the area is susceptible to bumps, the cause of which is still undetermined.

Richard Boss, who rescued the pithead safety, identified the first body brought from the mine as that of miner Harry Holliday. "I saw him thrown against a prop—it looks as if every bone in his body was broken," Boss said.

Russian Poet May Not Get $41,420 Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP)—There was speculation here today that Boris Pasternak, Russian poet and author of the anti-Communist novel Doctor Zhivago may not be allowed to receive his $41,420 Nobel prize for literature. There also was speculation that reprisals might be taken against the 68-year-old Pasternak, who lives just outside Moscow.

The Soviet government has not permitted publication in Russia of the novel which won the Nobel prize announced here Thursday.

Power and Utilities Invest Billions in Canada's Development

Throughout Canada as a whole, power and utilities companies are spending close to three billion dollars this year in capital investment. This record level of construction in Canada's future is based on "best potential" demand, of course, is for industry. But even in the domestic field the per capita use of electricity is more than double the figure of 1945. Today, more than 80 per cent of Canadian homes have electricity compared to 50 per cent ten years ago. The same advance is evident in varying degrees in new types of household appliances.

In eastern Canada new sources of power are being found—

Much of the increased growth

Maritimes refer to the newly-developed Mactaquac hydro-electric project on the Saint John River—are near East Coasts and in the Ontario-Quebec area the Chalk River which has been accelerated by The British Commonwealth Nuclear Power Association.

It has been estimated that the cost of transmitting 150,000 kw of power from the Hamilton area to Montreal is the equivalent of a 10% increase in the cost of coal. If 250,000 kw are delivered the increase would be only 7% and if 500,000 kw are delivered the increase would be only 5%.

Ingenuity has also reduced the cost of power. Today's 1-kw saw mill is only one-tenth the size of a 100 million thermal generating plant of four years ago

First Decision Of New Pope To Choose Name

VATICAN CITY (AP)—One of the first decisions the new pope will make is the choice of his name.

He will be expected to announce his choice almost immediately after his election in this weekend's conclave.

What name will he choose?

It could be Pius. Most popes choose a name of one of their predecessors with whom they feel some affinity. Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli chose the name Pius XII because of admiration for Pope Pius XI and Pius IX.

It also could be Benedict, Clement, Gregory or Leo — other names used by popes since 1794.

Or it could be one of the names before these became popular.

John, used by 23 popes, still holds the record although it has not been selected in more than 400 years.

Another name, Innocent, was adopted 13 times, the last in 1721.

Benedict has been used 15 times, Gregory 16 times, and Clement 13 times. Other possible choices include Urban, Sixtus, Julius, Paul, Alexander, Nicholas and Adrian—all used by popes in the past.

Conceivably, the new pope could keep his own name. The last time that happened was in 1522, when Dutch-born Adrian VI used his own first name.

The custom of changing names is traced to St. Peter. His original name was Simon, but Jesus called him Cephas, meaning rock in Greek. This was translated into Latin as Petrus. Peter is derived from that.

Peter is counted in Roman Catholic history as the first pope. His name is one that has never been used again.

Duplessis Says Labor Brief Harshly Worded

QUEBEC (CP)—A miner killed in a dynamite blast while Gaspe Copper Mines Limited at Murdochville, Que., was strikebound last year has been described by Premier Duplessis as "the victim of his own methods."

The premier, also Quebec attorney-general, said a dynamite cap was found in the miner's clothes when Herve Bernatchez, 35, was taken to hospital after the explosion on company property July 12, 1957.

Mr. Duplessis made the statement Thursday after the Quebec Federation of Labor (CLC) presented its annual brief to the cabinet.

The brief said court procedures had been slow in coming during the violence - marked strike, sparked by a certification dispute between the company and Murdochville local of the United Steel Workers of America (CLC).

Mr. Duplessis remarked that the brief was "very harshly" worded and some of the statements contained were not true.

The federation said some labor laws are not effective and others are not well administered. It asked that the government consider transforming the provincial labor relations board into a parity board of union and management representatives.

The brief also said the federation will continue to react to strikes on issues of recognition if there are no other means.

Mr. Duplessis said delays are not always the fault of the government or employers. Some are caused by labor.

Dulles Pleased By His Talks With Chiang

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles reports to President Eisenhower today on the prospects for war or peace he found during Formosan talks.

The answer, he told reporters, is "up to the Communists." He added: "I cannot read their minds."

Dulles said in a brief airport statement that his consultations with Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-Shek had been "eminently satisfactory."

He praised the Chinese Nationalists as being among the staunchest of allies, without which, he said, the United States would be in a "desperate position" of Communist encirclement.

Dulles was reported by informed officials to have obtained from Chiang a conditional promise to cut his forces on the Quemoy and Matsu islands. The conditions were that he get more modern weapons and that the Chinese Communists institute a long-term cease-fire.

Dulles himself declined to discuss the reports.

Reds Resume Quemoy Firing

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Communists resumed their artillery attacks on the Quemoy islands today after a lull of 23 hours.

The Nationalists, equipped with eight-inch howitzers and other guns brought in during the two-week cease-fire, hit back.

The Red Guns, silent since noon Thursday, started blazing again at 11 a.m.

The Communists first directed their fire against Little Quemoy and the nearby Tan Islets, then extended it to Quemoy, largest fortress of the Nationalist offshore islands.

Nationalist quarters claimed that Quemoy's defenders since Monday have inflicted more punishment than they have received.

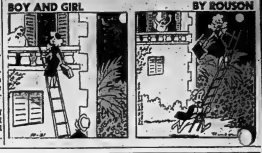
Installment Plan In Dental Bills To Start Jan. 1

TORONTO (CP)—A plan that provides for payment for dental treatment by instalment takes effect in Ontario Jan. 1, under the sponsorship of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons.



A service charge of 30 cents a month on unpaid balances of $100 and 50 cents on higher balances will be paid by the patient.

The plan is voluntary but most of Ontario's 3,000 dentists are expected to take part, said W. E. Jackson, the administrator. Existing patient-dentist payment plans will not be disturbed.

The instalment payments may be made to the dentist, to a chartered bank or to plan headquarters in Toronto. A similar plan starting Jan. 1 in Alberta may be tied in with Ontario's scheme for administration purposes.

The plan will cover the cost of false teeth and all types of dental service. Dentist and patient will determine the monthly payments.

God Guides Us to Problems

By ROY L. SMITH

There is a disposition on the part of many people to think that God ought always to be leading us out of trouble, away from responsibilities, and around difficulties. As a matter of fact, God guides us many times into problems, in order that we may grow while solving them.

DELIVERANCE OR DEVELOPMENT

It seems to be the case that God is very ambitious in behalf of his children. He wants them to become splendid, sufficient, and triumphant. And it cannot be done without struggle. Written into the very fabric of life is the necessity for making an effort.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for October 26, — "TEMPTATION IN THE WILDERNESS," — Matthew 4:1-11.

A young lad who had been studying the violin for more than a year, under a very wise teacher, came home one evening in great excitement to tell his mother that his teacher had given him "the hardest lesson he has ever assigned me. He says that I can play it, but that it is going to take everything I've got." And the adventure of living to the limit with his violin thrilled him. He wanted to achieve and he knew it would involve him in mastering hardcounsite than he had ever before attempted.

Faith in God does not deliver us; it inspires us to believe we are bigger than our difficulties.

The burden of the average prayer consists of a fervent plea that God shall bless us. Have you ever thought of what a "blessing" is?

A preacher in the midst of a highly successful pastorate suffered a serious illness, just as he was entering the most critical period of his work. For many weeks he was completely shut away from the outside world, and was not allowed to communicate with anyone except his family and his doctor. Years afterward, in describing the experience, he said: "It I had my chance, and were given the chance to live over again any portion of my life, I would take those weeks I spent in the sick-room. It was the greatest blessing I ever had." But he probably never would have asked God to bless him by sending him to the hospital.

"I failed in the jewelry business, and it was the most valuable experience I ever had," said a veteran business man. But he probably would never have asked for a business failure with the thought it would be a blessing.

God does not aim at making us comfortable, but at making us competent. When Jesus went to His temptation, it was for the purpose of seeking guidance, and immediately He found himself in a series of difficult problems.

None of us is ever left alone for any great length of time. As soon as we are rid of one temptation another arises; as soon as we have solved one problem, we discover others; as soon as we win one victory we find ourselves in another fight.

As we follow Jesus through those turbulent years in Palestine, we cannot fail to be impressed that the Devil returned to the task again and again, tempting, disguading, and endeavoring to confuse him.

EXPLOSION ROCKS OTTAWA, 28 INJURED

Remote Hope Some Miners Alive

Rescue Workers Push Closer To 83 Trapped Men

81 Brought to Surface Alive; 10 Bodies Found

By IAN DONALDSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — Teams of blackened rescue workers today edged nearer the underground trap of 83 men trapped under tons of rock and debris in Cumberland No. 2 coal mine.

"There is a remote hope, a very remote hope, that some men will be alive," Dosco coal chief Harold Gordon told reporters early today.

Of 174 men trapped Thursday night by a mighty upheaval in the subterranean tunnels of the mine, 81 survivors have been brought to the surface alive. Ten men are dead, including one whose body is still underground. A ninth body brought to the surface today was identified as that of Edward McDonald.

Mr. Gordon said that regardless of the time involved, rescuers will continue probing the narrow, debris-cluttered tunnels in search of the missing whether they're alive or dead.

TO RECOVER BODIES

"It is our intention to bring everyone up," Mr. Gordon said. "It may be a week or it may be longer." He said it was possible that some could survive more than a week if they lived through the rockfalls that followed the bursting of the mine.

After a 1956 explosion that took 39 lives, the adjoining Cumberland No. 1 pit was sealed with 34 bodies inside. The mine was later opened to recover the bodies and then re-sealed.

Earlier Friday Mr. Gordon told a press conference no hope was held for about 35 miners trapped at working levels 13,000 and 13,800 feet from the pithead—nearly a mile below the earth's surface in the continent's deepest coal mine. Major rescue operations continued in an area 13,000 feet down where 30 to 35 men were working at the time of the bump.

While bare-faced miners with picks and shovels inched through the underground jungle of broken timbers and heavy boulders, a compressor — masked draegerman treated the clawing slopes above for poisonous gas.

Above them on the surface stood small clusters of women holding to the slender thread of hope that their husbands, sons or brothers were still alive. Reports of mine officials and workers who have seen the disheartening scene.

TOUGHEST ON WOMEN

"It's toughest on the women," said rescuer Tom McManaman, 44-year-old father of three children, who spent a day of his life after being felled by tumbling pieces of mine timber. Helping Chief Dosco whose headquarters is among the waiting, said to a reporter:

"Wouldn't it be something if they could find a few?"

A reporter here said the air of optimism prevalent during a mine explosion that once spent a nine adjoining No. 3 and killed 39 miners in 1956 "you didn't know what the explosion might have done to the men who survived the bump."

Fred Rideout, who has worked the coal seams for 26 years, was temporarily trapped at 13,800 feet. "It was the hardest bump I ever felt," he said after being brought to safety.

"She just kind of threw every-thing right out. I never knew a bump could be hard." He was working near Fred Halliday, one of the 10 known dead. Halliday was thrown against a prop so hard "it seemed every bone in his body was broken," another survivor related.

LIKE EARTHQUAKE

"The bump—a sudden movement of the walls, floor and pillars—was a mile—shook this town of 7,000 like an earthquake at 4 p.m. ADT Thursday night.

Hundreds of women, children and miners screamed down the main street which still bears the blemishes of a 31,000,000 cubic yard wreckage the business district on Betting Day, 1957.

Four hospitals stood ready at a moment's near the Miners' Hall which bears the names of the men killed in the 1891 explosion.

At the mine they gathered around the huge governor. There hung the name tags of the miners underground. Nearby two hours later—at 9:50 p.m. ADT—mine officials said they had been unable to account for about 50 men.

Through Thursday night and Friday, the pithead vigil of the women waited. As the first survivors trickled to the surface—a few at a time, sometimes on stretchers — women broke down. Others stood with relief as they saw a husband, son or brother arrive. But except for the men who did not appear.

AID POURS IN

Supplies and offers of medical supplies, men, rescue equipment and relief money poured in after news of the disaster.

The RCMP rushed men and vehicles to the area. Navy helicopters began ferrying blood plasma. The Salvation Army and Red Cross hurried mobile canteen units and workers to the scene. The RCAF stood ready to carry supplies.

The Nova Scotia government set up a temporary office here manned by Acting Premier G. I. Smith and Mines Minister J. A. Manson. Mr. Manson announced the province's mine rescue station opened by a disaster committee set up during the 1956 explosion.

Canadians Unite to Offer Springhill Deep Sympathy and Financial Aid

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada took Springhill's disaster for her own today.

As the hopes of the third blast blow to the Nova Scotia town in two years spread across the country, Canadians in all walks of life began extraordinary citizens began mobilizing for aid or offering whatever they had.

The Queen, through Governor-General Vincent Massey, sent her "deepest sympathy" to the families of the dead and trapped miners as a result of a gigantic underground upheaval in Springhill's No. 3 colliery Thursday night.

Mr. Massey himself called it "a tragic disaster" and joined Springhill Mayor Ralph Gittup: "I send a sincere and heartfelt message of sympathy."

Newspapers took note of Springhill's 1956 mine explosion in which 39 died and a $1,000,000 fire a year later which wiped out part of the business section. They also printed stories quoting Mayor Gittup as saying the town would not be "licked" by disaster.

In a wire to the mayor, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said:

"Please advise me at once if we can give any assistance in the work of rescue or in medical or other ways."

"The people of Canada are shocked and saddened by the terrible tragedy that has struck which struck again in Springhill. "On behalf of the Government and of all Canadians I express the very deepest sympathy with those who have been suddenly bereaved of their loved ones." Canada also, he said, admired the courage of the rescue teams—the draegermen—"who at great risk of life are engaged in trying to save others."

Revenue Minister Nowlan, MP for Springhill, was in Ottawa.

CHOOSE TEACHER, PASTOR OF SOULS CARDINALS URGED

Ritual for Selection Of Pope Commences

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church were exhorted today to choose a teacher and a "pastor of souls" as the new pope.

The solemn ritual of electing a successor to Pius XII began in St. Peter's Basilica with 52 of the 54 princes of the church in attendance.

The process began with a mass of the Holy Ghost to ask for divine guidance, only a few hours before the cardinals were locked away in conclave.

The mass was celebrated by the dean of cardinals, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant of France.

The conclave will not end until the 52-and pontiff is elected by a majority of two-thirds plus one of the cardinals present.

That might be the last thing, the last balloting, he will be signed after several days.

Bancroft District Mother, Daughter Killed in Crash Near Millbridge, Four Hurt

A Bancroft district mother and her six months' old daughter were killed and members of the family were taken to Belleville General Hospital Friday night as result of a car-truck crash on Highway 62 near Millbridge, 40 miles north of Belleville.

Dead are Mrs. Ellen Vardy, 26, and her six-months-old daughter, Wenita. Both are believed to have died instantly as the Vardy car plowed into the rear of a standing truck.

In Belleville hospital are the dead woman's husband, Rodney Vardy, 31, and the couple's three young sons, Randy 5, LaVerne 3, and Larry 1. The father and one of the sons were said to have been critically hurt in the accident. Both pulled that a truck owned by William C. Can-nliff of R.R. 3 Madoc, and carrying a farm tractor, had stopped on the highway when the lights were giving trouble and-wiring beneath the dash caught fire.

As the truck was stopped the Vardy car plowed into the rear. The Vardy car was almost completely demolished by the force of the impact which knocked the farm tractor from the truck platform.

Two of the injured were taken to hospital in Bush's Ambulance Service, Belleville, while the Max Bush Ambulance from Tweed took the other two to hospitals.

Ambulance drivers said the body of the six-months-old baby was found beneath the dash of the wrecked Vardy car.

Provincial Police from Madoc investigated the accident.

TCA Seems in No Immediate Danger of Losing Monopoly

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines appears to be in no immediate danger of losing its transcontinental monopoly.

The reason is that the air transport board, now studying the application of Canadian Pacific Airlines for authorization to operate a transcontinental service in competition with TCA, is not the final arbiter in the matter.

The issue in all likelihood will be decided by the cabinet of the government before it is settled.

Under the Aeronautics Act, final overtones—TCA is publicly-owned and CPA is a private corporation—Prime Minister Diefenbaker would probably want to be in his hands.

But Mr. Diefenbaker departs Tuesday on the first leg of a trip that has a lot of work to catch up on when he gets back in late December and it is unlikely he will be mainly concerned with the operation of the new aviation department.

It appears probable, therefore, that the TCA-CPA battle will not be resolved until well after the start of 1959.

Meanwhile, most observers feel that the air transport board can so far not been too impressed with CPA arguments up to this point. Hearings have been long and tedious.

CPA counsel appeared to recognize this when it summoned to its aid Ian Sinclair, Liberal counsel for the pre-war Canadian Pacific Railways, and asked that Grand Mitchell, MP for Hamilton West, appear early next week. Both requests were granted as scheduled.

CPA has maintained it can run a non-stop trans-Canada service with seven big passenger planes. TCA has 18 such planes.

The board does have the power to reject or accept any CPA application or either party in the dispute may appeal to the cabinet.

At the moment, it does not appear that the board is anxious to commit itself to accept or reject the CPA application outright.

It has been suggested some would seem to be a series of recommendations to the board concerning air travel within Canada and including its views on the feasibility or otherwise of CPA entering into competition with CPA on trans-Canada routes.

9-Storey Building Wrecked, Several Stores Flattened By Huge Mysterious Blast

Damage Over 2 Million, Suspect Gas Was Cause

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Downtown Ottawa was rocked by a huge mysterious blast today.

A nine-storey government building was wrecked and some 28 persons injured. Damage was estimated at more than $2,000,000.

First reports were that several persons were killed in the explosion, centering in the Bank-Slater streets area, one of the city's main arteries. However, these reports could not be verified. Police said they had no reports of any dead.

Eyewitnesses said when the explosion occurred, it was so loud though a bomb had struck. Some of the injured were reported to have feared they were victims of a bomb.

COLLAPSE FEARED

The blast shattered windows several miles from the scene and flattened a number of stores. Injured were taken to hospital.

Shaking a motor car show room filled with new-model cars. Police roped off the area fearing collapse of the walls of the Department of Public Works Government Building, housing income tax and Health departments, and of the Civil Service Commission.

One wall of a nearby theatre was reported to be cracked.

Police speculated the blast may have resulted from an explosion of boiler gas main. Debris was scattered over a wide area. Plate glass windows were shattered in business stores for blocks around. Some customers were reported cut by flying glass in the explosion.

CLOCK STOPPED AT 8:17

Clocks in the area stopped at 8:17 a.m. EDT, the likely time of the explosion. The city department steam was sounded at 8:18 a.m. — more than a dozen fire trucks were rushed to the scene, concentrating on the block containing Bank, Slater, Kent and Albert streets.

A dozen of five ambulances rushed injured to hospital. Some persons were reported suffering from cuts caused by small sporadic fires that started after the blast.

One, in a crowded department store showroom was flattened along with two adjoining businesses, a restaurant and a printing store. A row of houses adjoining the government building on Slater were so badly hit that police figured they would require repair. Dozens were left homeless.

SCHOOL WRECKED

Glebe Collegiate Public School, at the corner of Kent and Slater, less than a block from the centre of the explosion, was badly damaged.

The cause of the blast remained a mystery hours after the disaster.

A Canadian Press reporter asked Police inspector James Callaghan whether it looked as too, Ltd., on Slater and Laurier, though gas was the reason.

He replied that he thought it was.

The smell of gas overhung the area.

Ottawa Gas Company employees drilled holes in a street near the explosion centre, but reported trying to shut off the gas flow.

FIRE AT SCENE

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who was about to join his colleagues at a cabinet meeting when the blast hit, left his office to the scene. He was visibly shocked. He said the press was "appalling and inconceivable."

He walked along the street, over broken glass and other debris. He said a federal investigation will be launched.

One of the walls of the Odeon Theatre, on Slater, next door to the Jackson Building, was reported to have caved in.

Reporters were critically injured was William Anderson, 65, suffering from multiple injuries. Among the other injured was a man pouring cement a block from the blast. A woman and her daughter sitting in a restaurant. The latter was cut by flying glass.

Jackson Building, a man in bed in his home a half-block from the government building.

FIRST HEARD RUMBLE

Jack Byrne, parking lot attendant, told a reporter that shortly after 8 a.m. he heard a long rumbling noise.

"When I looked up I saw a big ball going through the roof of a tall building," he said. "It was red in the centre. It seemed to be a collection of rubble and fire.

John Hamilton, 24, Perth, Ont. said: "It seemed to rain glass. I didn't know whether to run before fall on the ground."

BIG BUILDING TWISTED

The side of the Jackson Building appeared to be twisted. Scaffolding surrounding the building was twisted. Heavy cornices hung precariously from the top and looked as if it would fall at any moment.

An unidentified ambulance driver said: "Some people are dead, some people" were trapped in a building across the street. Police constables were busy at the scene.

Communists See Nobel Prize Award As Cold-War Plot Against Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union criticized today the award of the 1958 Nobel prize for literature to Boris Pasternak as a cold-war plot against Russia.

The Literary Gazette said the award announced Thursday in Stockholm was "a hostile political act directed against the Soviet state." This was the first official Russian comment.

The government organ of Letters voted the prize to Pasternak for his novel Doctor Zhivago which sharply criticizes life in Russia. A best-seller abroad, the novel has been withheld from publication in the Soviet Union.

Pasternak, 68, said he was overwhelmed and overjoyed.

A cable received in Stockholm said he hoped to go to the Swedish capital Dec. 10 for presentation of the award and the $41,400 that goes with it.

If he does so no official word here whether Pasternak would be permitted to make the trip.

The Literary Gazette criticized both the selection of Pasternak and the book itself, which had been attacked in Russia several times since it first was published abroad.

The journal called the novel "an artistically squalid, malicious people's with the hatred of socialism" and said it was "far from the level of even narrow minded enemy of the revolution . . . petty, useless, mean."

The Literary Gazette accused foreign publications of commanding that Doctor Zhivago get the prize and said the Nobel prize press then took up the cry by praising the book.

The Swedish "correspondents found the author after the award was announced Thursday. He had chosen a muddy path for a solitary walk in a forest not far from Moscow. In a country squire as he walked near his country home in Peredelkino, a suburb about 20 miles from Moscow.

Stories on the prize were filed Friday but were held up by Moscow censorship until Friday night.

"I have been walking through these woods and thinking about what has happened," he told a group of reporters who had been directed to him by his wife. He talked for about 10 minutes, then announced:

"I still have some thinking and some walking to do."

Rescue Workers Push Closer To 83 Trapped Men

81 Brought to Surface Alive; 10 Bodies Found

By IAN DONALDSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — Teams of blackened rescue workers today edged nearer the underground tombs of 83 men trapped under tons of rock and debris in Cumberland No. 2 coal mine.

"There is a remote hope, a very remote hope, that some men will be alive," Dosco coal chief Harold Gordon told reporters early today.

Of 174 men trapped Thursday night by a highlying upheaval in the subterranean tunnels of the pit, 81 have been brought to the surface alive. Ten men are dead, including one whose body is still underground. A ninth body brought to the surface today was identified as that of Edward McDonald.

Mr. Gordon said that regardless of the slim hope involved, rescuers will continue probing the narrow, debris-cluttered tunnels in search of the missing whether they're alive or dead.

TO RECOVER BODIES

"It is our intention to bring everyone up," Mr. Gordon said. "It may be a week or it may be longer." He said it was possible that some could survive more than a week if they lived through the rockfalls that followed the heaving of the strata.

After a 1956 explosion that took 39 lives, the adjoining Cumberland No. 4 pit was sealed with 36 bodies inside. The mine was later reopened to recover the bodies and then re-sealed.

Earlier Friday Mr. Gordon told a press conference no hope remained for about 35 miners trapped at working levels 13,400 and 13,800 feet from the pithead—nearly a mile below the earth's surface in the continent's deepest coal mine. Major rescue efforts are concentrated in an area 12,000 feet down, where 50 to 35 men were working at the time of the bump.

While face-faced miners with picks and shovels inched through the underground jungle of broken timbers and heavy boulders, rescue plotter — a maze of draggitunnels twisted the slanting slopes ahead for possible survivors.

Above them on the surface stood small clusters of women holding to the slender thread of hope strung through pessimistic reports of crushing rock and workers who have seen the devastation below.

DOUGHERTY ON WOMEN

"It's toughest on the women," said rescue worker John McMahon, 46-year-old father of three children, who clawed his way for his after being buried by falling pieces of mine wall. Mrs. St. Clair Rose, 30, mother of two children among the missing, said to a reporter:

"Wouldn't it be something if they worked in here now?"

A reporter asked the chief if optimism prevalent during a 1956 explosion that tore apart a mine and killed 39 and injured 20 miners is absent. "They didn't know what explosion they would have done but they know—and dread—bumps."

Fred Hebson, who has worked the coal seams for 38 years, said temporarily he was in 19,800 feet. "It was the hardest bump I ever felt," he said after being brought to safety.

"The last shot of three every thing rides on. I never knew a bump could be so bard." He was working near Fred Halliday, one of the 10 known dead. Halliday was thrown against a prop so hard "it seemed every bone in his body was broken," another survivor related.

LIKE EARTHQUAKE

The bump—a sudden movement of the walls, floor or passage of a mile—shook this town of 7,000 like an earthquake at 8 p.m. ADT Thursday night.

Hundreds of women, children and miners streamed down the main street which still bears the blemishes of a $1,500,000 fire which razed the business district on Boxing Day, 1957.

Few bothered to glance at a nonchalant Miners' Hall which bears the names of 135 men killed in an 1891 explosion.

At the mine they gathered around three blackboards. There were the same tags of the miners underground. Nearby two hours later—at 9:00 p.m. ADT—some officials said they had been unable to get through more than 50 men.

Through Thursday night and into the early hours Friday the miners walked. But the first survivors trickled to the surface—often hurt and sometimes on stretchers — women broke down. Some cried with relief as they saw a husband, son or brother alive. More wept for the men who died in the blackness.

AID POURS IN

Assistance and offers of medical supplies, men, rescue equipment and relief money poured in after news of the disaster.

The Nova Scotia government sent a mine emergency office manned by Acting Premier G. I. Smith and Mines Minister E. A. Manson. Mr. Manson announced Friday that a new fund had been set up for the disaster and another set up during the 1956 explosion.

Canadians Unite to Offer Springhill Deep Sympathy and Financial Aid

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada took Springhill's disaster for her own today.

As the impact of the third blow to the Nova Scotia town in two years spread across the country, relief agencies, governments and ordinary citizens began mobilizing for aid or offering whatever they had.

The Queen, through Governor-General Vincent Massey, sent her "deepest sympathy" to the families of the 93 miners feared lost as a result of the explosion and ground upheaval in Springhill's No. 2 colliery Thursday night.

Mr. Massey himself called it "a tragic disaster" and wired Springhill Mayor Ralph Giroux: "I send a sincere and heartfelt message of sympathy."

Newspapers took note of Springhill's 1956 mine explosion in which 39 died and a $1,000,000 fire a year later which wiped out part of the business section. They also printed stories quoting Mayor Giroux as saying the town would not die: "there will always be a Springhill."

In a wire to the mayor, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said:

"Please advise me at once if we can give any assistance in the work of rescue or in medical or other services.

"The people of Canada are shocked and saddened by the news of the terrible tragedy which struck Springhill last night.

"On behalf of the government and of all Canadians I express the very deepest sympathy with those who have been suddenly bereaved of their loved ones." Canada also, he said, admired the courage of the rescue teams—and draegermen—"who at great risk of life are engaged in trying to save others."

CHOOSE TEACHER, PASTOR OF SOULS CARDINALS URGED

Ritual for Selection Of Pope Commences

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church were exhorted today to choose a teacher and a "pastor of souls" as the new pope.

The solemn ritual of electing a successor to Pius XII was in progress in the Vatican with 32 of the 54 princes of the church in attendance.

The process began with a mass of the Holy Ghost to ask for divine guidance, only a few hours before the cardinals were locked away in conclave.

The mass was celebrated by Cardinal Tisserant of France.

The conclave will end until the 302nd pontiff is elected by a majority of two-thirds plus one of the cardinals present.

That might be Sunday, at the earliest, Monday, but nothing, or it might be after several days.

ADDRESSES CARDINALS

At the conclave mass Msgr. Antonio Bacci, Vatican secretary of briefs, was called to address the cardinals assembled in the great church.

Under curiaries - old conclave procedure, as amended by the late Pius XII, he had the duty of exorting the princes of the church to choose a capable pastor, and to do so in shortest possible time and with the greatest zeal.

The new vicar of Christ, Msgr. Bacci said in his oration prepared for delivery to the cardinals, must "build a bridge between heaven and the earth, summoning wrong-doers and the errant onto the straight road and urging the good to even greater perfection."

"He should be a teacher to all, ready to uncover and concern errors from wherever they come."

The church, Msgr. Bacci said, needs a pope with spiritual fortitude, charity and courage.

"He will have to be a teacher to all, ready to uncover and concern errors from wherever they come."

Bancroft District Mother, Daughter Killed in Crash Near Millbridge, Four Hurt

A Bancroft district mother and her six months' old daughter are dead and four other members of the family were taken to Belleville General Hospital Friday night as result of a car-truck crash on Highway 62 near Millbridge, 40 miles north of Belleville.

Dead are Mrs. Ellen Vardy, 28, and her six-months-old daughter, Wanita. Both are believed to have died instantly as the Vardy car plowed into the rear of a standing truck.

In Belleville hospital are the dead woman's husband, Rodney Vardy, 31, and the couple's three young sons, Randy 5, LaVerne 3 and Lenny 2. The father and one of the children said to have been critically hurt.

Provincial Police said that a truck owned by William C. Cantiff of R.R. 3 Madoc, and carrying a farm tractor, had stopped on the highway when the lights were giving trouble and striking beneath the clutch caught fire.

As the truck was stopped the Vardy car plowed into the rear. The Vardy car was almost completely demolished by the force of the impact which knocked the farm tractor from the truck platform.

Two of the injured were taken to hospital in Bush's Ambulance from Belleville, while the Max Bush Ambulance from Tweed took the other two to hospital.

Ambulance drivers said the body of the six-months-old baby was found beneath the dash of the wrecked Vardy car.

Provincial Police from Madoc investigated the accident.

TCA Seems in No Immediate Danger of Losing Monopoly

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines appears to be in no immediate danger of losing its transcontinental monopoly.

The reason is that the air transport board, now hearing applications of Canadian Pacific Airlines for authorization to operate a transcontinental service in competition with TCA, is not the final arbiter in the matter.

The issue in all likelihood will be decided by the full cabinet on appeal from whatever decision the board makes.

In such a case which has political overtones—TCA is publicly-owned and CPA is a private company — Prime Minister Diefenbaker would probably want to take a hand.

But Mr. Diefenbaker departs Tuesday on his world tour. He will be busy at work in cabinet on when he gets back in late December and in January will be confronted with the opening of the new session of Parliament.

It appears probable, therefore, that the board's initial decision will be resolved until well after the start of 1959.

Moreover, most observers feel that the air transport board has so far set down no conditions with CPA arguments up to this point, though the hearing is far from over.

CPA itself appeared to receive the brush-off treatment when Air Sask Ian Sinclair, chief legal counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railways, and asked that Grant McConachie, CPA president, spend early next week as a witness instead of later as scheduled.

CPA has maintained it can run a transcontinental service with DC-8 jet transport planes. TCA disputes this.

The board does have the power to reject or accept the CPA application but has shown in the discussion may appeal to the cabinet.

At the moment, it does not appear that the board will take it upon itself to accept or reject the CPA application outright.

Its more likely counsel would seem to be a series of recommendations to the cabinet concerning what routes CPA should be granted within Canada and including its views on the feasibility or otherwise of CPA operating in competition with CPA on trans-Canada routes.

Cardinal Dies At Conclave

Cardinal Mooney's death cut to 51 the number of cardinals who would elect the new pope.

First information obtained said that his death was not expected to affect the beginning of the conclave to elect the pope.

The cardinal's death was reported by Rev. Joseph Tucek, head of the National Catholic Welfare Councilmen's Service in Rome.

Eisenhower Asks Test Ban Start Oct. 31

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called on Russia today to join the United States and Britain in banning all nuclear weapons tests for one year beginning six days hence.

Eisenhower issued the call after meeting with Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, head of the American delegation which will negotiate with the Soviets in Geneva on an inspection system to police such a ban.

The President's statement noted that both Britain and the United States had announced other tests to stop testing atomic-hydrogen weapons for a year beginning with the start of these negotiations on Oct. 31.

Russia has been carrying out an extensive series of nuclear tests during the last few weeks after ending its own self - imposed ban.

The United States is still conducting its series of nuclear tests in the Nevada desert.

9-Storey Building Wrecked, Several Stores Flattened By Huge Mysterious Blast

Damage Over 2 Million, Suspect Gas Was Cause

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Downtown Ottawa was rocked by a huge mysterious blast today. A nine-storey government building was wrecked and some 28 persons injured. Damage was estimated at more than $3,000,000.

First reports were that several persons were killed in the explosion, centering in the Bank-Sister streets area, one of the city's main arteries. However, these reports could not be verified. Police said they had no reports of any dead.

Eyewitnesses said when the explosion occurred, it was accompanied by a flash and struck. Some of the injured were reported to have feared they were victims of an atom attack.

COLLAPSE FEARED

The blast shattered windows several miles from the scene and flattened a number of stores, including a modern one story room filled with new-model cars. Police roped off the area fearing collapse of the walls of the nine-storey government building, housing income tax and Health department offices, and the Civil Service Commission.

One wall of a nearby theatre was reported to have crumbled. Police speculated the blast may have resulted from stove-piping boiler gas main. Debris was scattered over a wide area. Plate glass windows were shattered in business stores for blocks around. Some pedestrians were reported to have been knocked down by the explosion.

CLOCKS STOPPED AT 5:17

Clocks in the area stopped at 5:17 a.m. EDT, the likely time of the explosion. A fire department spokesman was scolded at 5:19 a.m. More than a dozen fire trucks were rushed to the scene, concentrating on the block facing Bank, Slater, Kent and Albert streets.

A chain of five ambulances rushed injured to hospital. Some were reported suffering from cuts caused by flying glass and debris that started after the blast.

In the blast, a motor company showroom was flattened, together with two adjoining businesses, a restaurant and a printing shop. A row of houses adjoining the Jackson Building on Slater street were damaged. Police roped off the area.

SCHOOL WRECKED

The Kent Street Public School, at the corner of Kent and Slater, less than a block from the centre of the explosion, was badly damaged.

The cause of the blast remained a mystery hours after the disaster.

A Canadian Press reporter asked Police Inspector James Callaghan whether it looked as though gas was the reason.

He replied that he thought it was.

The smell of gas overhung the area.

Ottawa Gas Company employees drilled holes in a street near the explosion scene. They were trying to shut off the gas flow.

PM AT SCENE

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who was about to join his colleagues at a cabinet meeting, hurried from his office to the scene. He was visibly shocked. He said the scene was "appalling and inconceivable."

He walked along the street, over broken glass and other debris. He said a federal investigation would be launched.

One of the walls of the Odeon Theatre on Bank Street, near the explosion centre, was reported to have crumbled.

Police evacuated the blast area, including the Connaught Building, housing income tax and Health department offices, and the Civil Service Commission.

One wall of a nearby theatre was reported to have crumbled.

Students Prepare and Serve Dinner for Board, Teachers

TRENTON — Students of the Trenton High School in the homes economics and art classes stole the snow on Thursday night when they prepared and served a tureky dinner to the members of the town's Board of Education and the staff and wives of the HSS at the annual autumn dinner.

It was a notable event in that it was the first dinner party at which the principal and staff of Trenton High School have given a host to the members of the Board of Education in the new school building, and it was the first public dinner to be prepared in every detail by the students themselves. Working under the supervision of Miss Laura Lee and Miss Ursula Matthews of the home economics department, the students both cooked and served the meal, and arranged the table setting.

The dinner constitutes a return of hospitality on the part of the high school staff who were guests at a dinner given by the Board of Education in 1957.

Present at the head table were the Principal; E. S. McIlwain and the Vice-Principal, J. C. Garrett, and Mrs. Garrett; the Chairman of the Trenton Board, the Rev. G. A. Puttenham, and Mrs. Puttenham; the new resident school Inspector, Dr. W. S. Turner, and Mrs. Turner; the Secretary, James Utley, general manager of Dowes Caulker and Supply Company Limited, and Mrs. Utley and the Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Spaze and Mrs. Spaze.

The speaker and students were thanked by Miss Ursula, a member of the High School's teaching staff.

Following the dinner and the brief speeches the visitors were taken on a tour of the building and of the new section which is at present being added to the high school.

On the menu the students had local names attached to the different courses. They went like this: Quinte tomato juice, Hillier broth, Consecrated sliced turkey, Murray mashed potatoes, Prince Edward salad, Hastings mixed vegetables, Sidney pull cup, Trenton High School cookies and Frontenac coffee.

Report Wells on East Side And Bigger Filtration Plant Will End Rationing of Water

TRENTON — With the discovery of a natural water vein on the east side of the Trent River and near the Gould Housing Development it was announced that it is believed that there will never again be the need for Trentonians to ration the use of water during the summer months.

The new well, along with the Public Utilities plans to increase the output of the filtration plant, will increase the water supply by at least 2 million gallons per day.

The addition to the filtration plant alone will increase the amount of 1,000,000 gallons of river water used each day.

The finding of the spring water on the east side was made after a crew of the Bell Telephone Company had trouble keeping water out of a hole they were digging for a pole.

When informed about this the Public Utilities Commission sent in a well driller, H. E. Jones and Sons, of R.R. 2, Trenton, and came up with what a well-driller expert described as "a natural."

The well specialist, N. A. Houston of Railway and Power Engineering Corporation Limited, Toronto, told the special meeting of the PUC that "Trenton has a natural water source there and it is on town owned land. It is the one thing nearly every town in Ontario is looking for and will be very lucky to penative to develop."

The well is 47 feet deep and is expected to pump 500 gallons per minute (720,000 per day), when put into production. The total cost to develop the well which will include pumps and pump house, will be $12,700.

Mr. Houston explained to the commission members that when tested recently the well deliverated a maximum for a six-hour period with only a drawdown of one foot. He said that with several pumps set up in different wells he felt the source could deliver an estimated 5,000 gallons per minute, (7,200,000 gallons per day).

He said, "This is something which should be tested over a period of time and with the wells properly spaced the entire water supply can be developed without the wells interfering with each other."

The well would have a 12-inch casing and could be pumped directly into the main on Sidney Street. This would feed the fresh water to the entire area in the town where it is not possible to do so at the present time.

Cliff Baker, a member of the PUC, moved that the wells be developed and a report on the water-mix maximum is available. It was explained that there is "many more wells for engineers" to do it this year and it is felt it should be laid over until next February.

OPPOSES DELAY

Mr. Baker also spoke out against delaying or postponing the plans to go ahead with the $102,000 addition to the town's filtration plant. He said the commission has promised sufficient water to the people of Trenton for the past two years and now that it has the wherewithal for the addition it should go ahead with it. By delaying he said he felt the PUC would be sure there will be enough water next summer or people will be able to water their lawns and flower beds without any restrictions.

Mr. Houston told the meeting that the best time to test this type of well was during January or February when all surface water has been sealed off from and then, if it continued to stand the rugged tests, it would be certain there is a large quantity of water there. He said it would take eight weeks at the very most to have a well in production.

The commission also decided to accept the tender of the Construction Engineering Company for a contingent fee with a GM diesel motor and a DeLaval pump to have as a standby with the hydro power should be knocked out. It will cost nearly $7,000.

The commission decided to get a two-way radio system installed in its two trucks and the possible rather than to wait until next year as had previously been planned. Radios, similar to those now in use by police, will be installed in the commission trucks and will be able to reach to Frankford.

Nationalists May Get More Modern Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Possible delivery of more modern arms to Nationalist China is being discussed by U.S. officials.

The result may be an expanded military-aid program for the Nationalists, although no decisions have been made.

Some authorities estimated that depending on what weapons experts decide is necessary, the cost of such as undertaking could run from a few hundred million more dollars to more than $1,000,000,000.

The question of modernizing and strengthening President Chiang Kai - shek's forces with newer American weapons has been linked in recent days with the prospect that Chiang may be willing to reduce the size of his forces on the offshore islands near the Communist mainland.

One difficulty in working out any expanded armaid-aid program for the Nationalists is the limited number of funds available for foreign military assistance.

These funds already have been strained to pour ammunition, heavy guns and other supplies into the Quemoy Islands to enable the Nationalists to stand firm against the Chinese Communist bombardments that began Aug. 23rd.

The cost of this special effort is estimated by some authorities at $300,000,000 to date. There is a possibility the administration will have to go to Congress soon with a request for supplemental funds.

Dispatches from Taipei said Chiang has agreed conditionally, after U.S. requests, to pull back more island strength of more than 100 men by Nov. 1 to about 60 troops.

His conditions were that the Communists should stop their attacks and that the United States should sadd with its promise to increase the firepower of the troops remaining on the islands.

Rain Reduces Size of Market

The rain had an effect on the morning market as there were fewer buyers and sellers who braved the rain.

Flowers and apple cider dominated the market insofar as quality was concerned. Marigolds and 'mums seemed to be in the greatest numbers as flowers sold at 25 to 35 cents a bunch. Apple cider remained at the same price as last week, $1.60 a gallon, with the prices for apples bars from 10 to 15 cents.

Apples sold at $3.00 a hamper for the Tolman Sweets; $1.50 for Wolfe Rivers and $2.50 for the Cortland and Macs. Pears were more inland strength of more than 100 men by Nov. 1 to about 60 troops.

Senator George White Delights A.O.T.S. With World Travelogue

A well planned "Ladies' Night" was enjoyed by members of the Bridge Street A.O.T.S. Club on October 22nd at Centre United Church Auxiliary Building. The program included a turkey dinner for which the ladies of the Centre Church are famous, and music by Miss Marg Hillis, accompanied by Alec Gordon. The feature of the evening was a talk on a trip around the world, by Senator George S. White, of Madoc. Special guests of the evening included the guest speaker and Les Grilla, M.P.

Judging from the way the food disappeared, the dinner with all the trimmings was a huge success. It was a delightful festival especially for the ladies who particularly enjoy a dinner prepared by others. While everyone relaxed for a few moments after dinner, Marg Hillis, accompanied on the piano by Alec Gordon, sang two old favorites, "Smilin' Through" and "Shortnin' Bread."

The toast to the ladies was proposed by Mr. G. Demeza. The reply to the toast was made by Mrs. Vic White.

The speaker, Senator George S. White, was introduced by Les Grilla, M.P. Senator White was born in Madoc and graduated from Osgoode Hall in 1920. He was elected a member of Parliament for North Hastings in 1940 and was re-elected, in four successive elections and was called to the senate in September, 1957.

Senator White's recent globe-circling trip was made partly by air and train and partly aboard a cargo ship via the Panama Canal to Japan, Okinawa and Hong Kong, thence by air to Southern Asiatic cities.

SHIP'S CARGO

The ship's cargo included trucks, motor cars, machinery and naval supplies to the east, and returned with pepper, goats' hair, barley, rice, spices, wines, liquors, rice, tapioca, macaroni, 500 tons of lemon juice, and talc.—The last item interested the speaker as the world's finest, cheapest and largest supply of talc is in his home town, Madoc.

The canal fees for the cargo ship through the Panama Canal are about $9,000 and for the Suez $30,200. The fees include cost of a pilot and special crew.

The first port of call was at Yokahama, Japan. The speaker noted that the Japanese will not accept either Canadian or American money. He was interested to note the Japanese are adopting many of Western customs, the clothes, their interest in baseball (the greatest ambition of many small boys is to become a baseball pitcher in the American League), and their speech.

Many of the people speak English, it is a great honor in Japan to be known as a student. and boys identify themselves as such by wearing a small cap and the girl students wear a special middy. While Western clothes are popular, the kimono, or pyjamas, parasols and wooden shoes are seen everywhere.

Cost of services is low. Wages are extremely low by western standards. Average wages for women is 25 — 30 cents per day and for men 90 cents per day. Hotel services are relatively inexpensive. The quality or the accommodation will equal or excel Canada's finest and train services similarly will equal to or better. Chair car services include hot tea (served free) flowers and blankets.

The streets in Tokyo are colorful especially at night. Tokyo's main street excels even Times Square in New York City with its colorful electric signs with their Japanese characters, and pictures.

Japan with its dense population is a country where practically every square foot of land is put to use. Even the streams and rivers are protected with stone and concrete to prevent loss.

After visiting other cities in Japan, the speaker left for Okinawa on the cargo ship — and while en route encountered probably the worst storms that the crew had ever experienced at sea, when typhoon Emma struck Okinawa and vicinity and for three days the ship was forced to run with the storm. Although the severity of the storm was terrific the ship suffered only relatively minor damage. The ship returned to Okinawa and the stabilizers were very severe there.

Hong Kong ,the next port of call is an interesting city — with its literally thousands of Sampans and junks, with their colorful sails around the waterfront, with its many bazaars and its tropical atmosphere. Since it is a free port (no taxes) it is a wonderful 'place for tourists to shop.

Senator White visited many other cities in India, the Middle East, around the Mediterranean and in Europe and concluded his remarks to the cities or places that impressed him most. Cities such as Rome, Athens, Istanbul and Jerusalem.

BUDDHA TEMPLE

Bangkok is a city with famous Buddha temples with emerald, jewels, ivory, etc. carpets and Mosaic — stained glass windows and rounded domes that shine from the sunlight — and fine draperies. A city of grandeur and color, of poverty and filth — of many trees and exotic flowers. A place where women and men work side by side at the manual labor.

Damascus is a city of colorful bazaars. In the stores have no fronts . . . where people work, cook, eat and sleep on the sidewalks. A city of antiquity costumes, turbans and sidewalk cafes.

In Jerusalem the speaker visited many of the holy scenes of Christendom, the Church of the Nativity, the Garden of Gethsemane — and saw olive trees that are growing that existed there 3000 years ago.

POVERTY

Senator White concluded with some general observations. "Of all countries I have visited the extremes of riches and poverty of mankind exists and continue side by side — that are seen in oriental countries. Camels and asses are often unloaded in baskets carried by the people on their backs. I am sure that ship will be using modern power cranes to load logs. Or, one might see a man with an electric refrigerator and after cooking outside the building will carry food by hand; or fields being tilled by ancient hand methods."

"Next in importance by the people for their extreme politeness, hospitality and courtesy. Our language and their courtesy to us — especially to us as Canadians, and to Canada. We are aware of their abject poverty and the ambition that makes they good subjects of Communism where they will grasp at anything that offers any hope of bettering their lot."

Mr. Ellard spoke briefly, thanking the speaker for his informative talk.

$19,000 in Cash And Pledges Now In Appeal Fund

Monday night some 400 volunteer canvassers will be on the march conducting house-to-house canvass of the city in the second phase of the Belleville United Appeal campaign.

Campaign chairman Archie Lewis explained at the regular weekly meeting of divisional captains held Friday noon at the Quinte Hotel, that the house-to-house canvass is necessary this year to provide a great many people with the opportunity of contributing towards this community effort, who would not be contacted otherwise.

"Actually there are several groups of people in this campaign," Mr. Lewis explained. "To enumerate a few, there are those of independent means, retired business and professional men, retired-business and professional women and widows, and business men and commercial travellers in from Belleville to do some work away from Belleville."

He also noted there are employees of several local firms who for one reason or another have not been a United Appeal campaign conducted on their own premises.

To date they have reported a total of $19,000 in cash and pledges has been collected to date which is about 22 per cent of total objective of $85,000.

He noted the fact a great deal of work will have to be accomplished between now and the end of the campaign. Canvassers and team captains in particular, were urged to "work hard and do their best" to help make the campaign successful.

During the meeting the 13 divisional chairmen gave oral reports on the progress of the campaign todate, and discussions were held.

Mr. J. C. R. Punchard, chairman of the payroll deduction plan campaign, reported that there were 75 payroll deduction units in operation, employing 5,800 persons and of this number 8 units have completed the canvass for Appeal funds.

In a closing address to divisional chairmen Mr. Punchard said: "The campaign is just beginning to kick. At the next meeting I hope each week we will be able to give a better picture of the campaign trend."

Can Get Anywhere You Wish BCIVS Graduates Are Told By Commencement Speaker

A. D. Archibald, former head-tient training and thus 53) tor of the commercial department of BCIVS, was the main speaker at the graduation commencement exercises yesterday evening at the school auditorium. Mr. Archibald's talk to the graduating class was pleasantly interspersed with humorous and many things which had faced the class and which would stand them in the future . . . much in the fashion that an uncle would talk to his nephews and nieces. "You can get anywhere you wish" he said as he described the general theme of the talk in which the speaker advised the graduates individually to develop the 'four-fold life' — physical, mental, social and spiritual — for maximum appreciation of life and enjoyment for their life and their community.

Mr. Archibald advised the graduates that the only place where success came before work was in the dictionary but that one required a love for his work or subject rather than merely a liking for it. He also pointed out to have real success and satisfaction, one must learn to get along anywhere you wish" from the BCIVS, the well-rounded former student and Sunday School superintendent, cautioned the graduates to "never quit his retirement going" and told graduates to be guided their perspective in their discipline, in good code of conduct, and high ideals. "The greatest gift you can give to the common road and not fall."

The speaker, who taught in Belleville from 1925, when he graduated from Ontario College of Education until his retirement in 1958, is a former native of Nova Scotia where he obtained his B.A. from Dalhousie University. He is a veteran of the First World War — he received the Military Cross from the King, and the Croix de Guerre conferred by H. M. J. A. Snetsinger, current Inspector of Secondary Schools Department. Miss Lynne Winstanley expressed the appreciation of the graduating class.

DELIVERS VALEDICTORY

The valedictory address was delivered by Miss David James, who observed that the word "commencement" embraces the idea of change and expressed the feeling that the graduates had changed since entering the school. "Our minds are more open," he said. "Our teachers have given us, to some extent, our ideals and attitudes toward life." "I challenge all this year's graduates," he said in conclusion, "to make that effort in life which will show our excel-

SHOPPING IS WORK, TOO

Jimmy Hatlo, whose cartoon "They'll Do It Every Time," appears on the main sport page of The Ontario Intelligencer, is a very funny man. It is perhaps too much to ask that he be fair as well as funny. Indeed, it may be questioned whether it is the business of the cartoonist to be fair. Rather, he makes a point by exaggeration.

The other day Hatlo had a two-picture cartoon showing a woman piling dishes in the kitchen sink so she could hurry off on a "shopping spree" with a friend, and a later view of the same woman complaining to her husband because she was overworked.

The point made was true and applies to more than dishes. Many of the hardships about which we complain are our own making.

And yet we wonder whether the inference was fair. "Shopping spree" suggests that the dish-piling housewife went out and had a ball. Men commonly regard shopping as something which most women get delights in doing. They persist in this attitude despite occasional evidence to the contrary, such as the requests for assistance at the super-market which, an unbiased observer would agree, suggest that she does not find all shopping a delight. The man of the house, though, persists in regarding as fun an occupation which proves the rule.

It is not the task of selecting articles, but the physical work of pushing the heavily-laden cart, which results in the request for assistance, he feels certain.

There is something to be said for this attitude on the part of the male. There is little doubt that women do enjoy much of the shopping they undertake. But should that fact be used as an excuse to transfer it from the "work" to the "pleasure" side of the ledger in the family bookkeeping? Do not many men enjoy much of their work, and is there even a suggestion that this means they should not be credited with it as necessary chore in the task of feeding, clothing and housing the family? If there is ever such a suggestion, there should not be. And, by the same token, much, if not all, family shopping is work. Indeed spending the family salary is just as important a task as earning it.

This does not mean that all shopping should be considered work. A man would have difficulty convincing his wife that he was working when he was testing the fit of a new shotgun, getting the feel of a golf club or deciding just which fishing lure was likely to get the most pounds of pickerel on the stringer. Similarly, a wife would be unwise to endeavor to convince hubbie that buying lipstick, perfume or a new hat was a chore.

But potatoes and pork chops, diapers and scampers, brooms and basins, Junior's sweater and a skirt for Sis — all these purchases involve work, and hard work at that. If, in the end, the purchases are exhibited with pride, it is no more than the reward many a man feels as he surveys the results of a day's labor.

THE SPECTACULAR PAYS OFF

Charles Hamilton of Detroit had been without a steady job for more than a year. He did not like being unemployed. So he pushed a sign through the city streets. The sign read "First-class all-around man wants job." He got 18 offers.

The little story answers some questions, and raises as many new ones.

It provides a convincing reply to the query whether any person who really wants to work is ever without a job for a lengthy period.

If Hamilton had not wanted work, he would not have gone to such lengths to gain employment.

But why did this method prove effective, when earlier efforts had failed? Some may say it was because Hamilton showed initiative. We doubt, though, whether any man who would devise such a scheme would go a whole year without showing initiative in other ways.

What made this particular bit of initiative pay off when earlier efforts to obtain work had failed? Was it the unusual nature of the appeal? If so, why is it that people respond so readily to unusual appeals for help, but seem hard hearted when more routine methods are used? Does anybody suppose that Hamilton's need for a job, and desire for one, were any greater than the needs and desires of other men who did not resort to an attention-getting scheme? How many of those 18 jobs were positions which would have been open in any case, for some worker, and how many were created to fill a need? Was Hamilton's long wait for work just a case of hard luck? If so, is there not some method which can be devised to give preference to the man who has been out of work longest, other things being equal?

LIFE'S A CHANCE

— By EDGAR A. GUEST

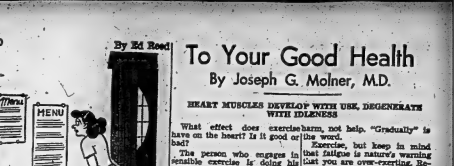
Life, as it seems to me
From start to end,
Is just a chance to be
Somebody's friend.

Not in ourselves we find
The joys we seek,

Life unto us is kind
As others speak.

We shall have used life well
If at the end
A few our praise shall tell,
And call us friend.

The Seawolf and Boredom



New York Times

When the atomic submarine Seawolf came to the surface and docked at New London after sixty continuous days under water it established a new record for this type of craft. It also provided an interesting study of how human beings left to their own devices battle against boredom. Most of us learn about this experience empirically. That number is great, their approaches varied, their effect depressing. When John Tyler as college president was host at a tea to which students were invited, as he once related, he politely asked each of them, "How are you?" Evidently he had picked the wrong man, for Dr. Finley proceeded to tell him in detail for half an hour. Boredom as a condition is not easily explained or defined, although its effects are harrowing. On the voyage of the Seawolf the crew of eleven officers and ninety-four men aboard experienced it savagely during the many hours off duty while at sea. As one of them put it, "You find yourself with a awful lot of time on your hands."

What they did with this free time raises the much broader question of why people behave during an extension of leisure for which they are not mentally prepared. Judge by the reactions of the Seawolf's personnel the submarine killers (we deliberately reject the euphemism of unnecessarily brutal) were sleeping and eating. Some of the men, known to their colleagues as "rack rats," spent as much as twelve hours out of twenty-four in the nearest thing unconsciousness of sleep. Swinburne in his poem o. Proserpine, writes, "I am weary with all my laughter. And men that laugh and weep." and ends the stanza with "And death is the end of all things." In the twilight of esthetic melancholy Swinburne was the last major figure nineteenth century this may be. Leaning against a pose, a gesture of theatrical abnegation, but the young men of the Seawolf were not. They ate and slept normal to harbor such a mood. They just did not know what to do with the surplus hours of freedom granted them. Sleep served for a few days to relieve the awareness of being physically cramped into a limited space with only sheets of metal separating them from the sea above. Frequent radio contact time and even though there was no physical need for it provided a sociable and less passive specific against the curse of boredom. Incidentally, there are several stimuli other than need for, behind which drive some people to eat. It is a pleasant concomitant to speakers who just delivered a paper, address, for actors after they have finished a performance, to others after any exciting experience in which they have just had a part.

Ascending the interest scale, some of the personnel of the Seawolf spent part of their leisure time in watching movies that grew decreasingly dull the third and fourth time around, also in reading. There were papers which, by the thirtieth day of the Seawolf the crew of eleven officers and ninety-four men aboard experienced it savagely during the many hours off duty while at sea. As one of them put it, "You find yourself with a awful lot of time on your hands."

Make Farmer Hired Man

Windsor Star

The Ontario Hog Producers Association has brought into the open a trend which is worrying many farmers, not only hog producers but others as well. It is the move by big corporations to go into certain types of farming on a mass production basis.

What happens is that a big outfit, perhaps a feed firm, makes an arrangement with a farmer. It provides him with the feed for the hogs, and probably even the piglets themselves. He undertakes to feed the hogs the firm's feed.

This may seem a nice arrangement to a farmer struggling to make a living. It takes the risk out of his operations. But, in effect he is becoming a hired man working for a corporation or, in another sense, only a hired man. He loses his independence. He is wanted to cancel the arrangement and start out for himself again, he finds it difficult to finance another start.

The same sort of deal is operating in the poultry field. A farm will supply eggs only to a farmer.

Managed on a mass-production basis these operations make competition difficult for individual farmers who tend very often to continue and enlarge, farming methods more puppet instead of independent, individualistic producers.

Trade Parley Set Course

Christian Science Monitor

To put the accomplishments of the Commonwealth conference which has just ended at Montreal in perspective it is necessary to look at the meetings in Ottawa.

Between the Ottawa and the Montreal conferences brought together finance and economic ministers of the British-led Commonwealth of Nations.

The 1932 meeting decided to deal with Commonwealth trade problems by setting up the so-called "imperial preference" system of tariffs in which Commonwealth members discriminated against outsiders. It is understandable that in that year of limited trade opportunities dividing the trade cake as advantageously as possible to themselves seemed a necessary defensive measure.

But there is another way to approach trade problems. And Canada has come to have more cake to divide. That is to say, to try to rid the trade world of restrictive practices in order to let trade expand. That aim has been the purpose of the Montreal meeting.

There are other touchstones from the past which help to give the Montreal meeting "trade, not aid" project of R. A. Butler, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer a few years ago is one. His aim was to put American-British trade in the place of American aid to Britain. Apparently the conferees indicated that it is politically easier for a country (in that case the United States) to give aid than to promote two-way trade.

Now Sir David Eccles, president of the British Board of Trade, has come forward with a similar plan for Commonwealth. He would have the more developed members open their markets to the less-developed members, thus helping them to help themselves.

Before they will be in a position to take advantage of such opportunities, however, some of the members need outright aid for development of their countries. And both the trade and aid hopes of the free Commonwealth depend to a considerable extent on the attitude of the United States playa in free-world economic development.

Thus the other Commonwealth conferences the results of this meeting really be read in the communique. They must be awaited in the actions with which members demonstrate give substance to the ideas expressed at the conference. The big news about Montreal is that it let the Commonwealth course in the direction of freer trade and encourage non-Commonwealth nations to set their courses in its wake.

A young bride was given this advice and warning by her grandmother:

"Child," she said, "I hope your married life is going to be easier than mine. All my wedded days I'a carried two burdens — Pa and the fire. Every day I've turned to look at one, the other has gone out."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WORK — THE REMEDY

Ofttimes it is proved that work is the remedy to ease sorrow, to give incentive to a person, and for the mind to get a new grip on life. Work is medicine to the soul. Work will relieve tension, drive away all fear and worry — if you let it! Work is health. Work is life. It doesn't matter a bit in form or shape of work. It's the substance that counts.

All honest labor is dignified and should be a matter of pride to every worker. The people who built America were workers. Across the uncharted miles in the Pacific coast pioneers left foot tracks of their own blood. They paced the way. They did not complain. They took hardship in its stride.

Yes, work is the remedy for an endless number of ailments and disappointments. It is the story of tired backs, and lowered intensity, of dreams and of their final triumph. Work has its spiritual as well as its physical aspects. When would our homes come from were it not for the women who keep the home bought? Nothing "just happens." Work makes things happen!

Work does more than this. It creates a satisfaction on the part of the worker, and keeps giving him incentive and an unexpected personal joy. People who work with others are the happiest. There are comradeship and interests that otherwise they would not have.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In Canada, we have 483 fresh-water lakes in which commercial fishing is licensed. This includes, of course, the Great Lakes. But Ontario has 176 inland lakes, Saskatchewan 105, Manitoba 96, Alberta 56, Quebec 25 and the Northwest Territories 12 that are licensed. Many of these commercial lakes in the west and north are very large, ranking close to the Great Lakes.

Out of the sea, of course, comes each year an enormous Canadian harvest of sea food ranging in value somewhere between 180 and 190 million dollars annually. The figures in poundage are astronomical, running more than a billion and a half that our Atlantic and Pacific fishermen drag up from the deeps.

What comes out of our fresh-water lakes commercially is much less in value, but still well over 20 million dollars a year. Add to this the hypothetical value of the sport fish that countless thousands of tourists catch, and you get a combined figure for the value of Canada's fisheries that should stir the souls of our bankers and rouse the appetites of all good feeders.

A personality caught trout tastes good fried in April. But 81 worth of that 200 million dollars worth of, say, fireman haddie, tastes mighty good grilled over charcoal in October.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

HEART MUSCLES DEVELOP WITH USE, DEGENERATE WITH IDLENESS

What effect does exercise have on the heart? Is it good or bad?

The person who engages in sensible exercise is doing his heart a favor. Note the word "sensible." I'll elaborate presently.

A man writes, "I am 40 and have followed a program of 12-15 minutes of calisthenics and one hour of handball three times a week, and I walk at least a half a mile a day. I have never had heart trouble and none in there has been some in my family. — L. W. C."

To him I say keep it up. At 40, you've been smart and put yourself in shape to enjoy and make use of regular exercise. The same amount of exercise could be disastrous to a man of the same age who hasn't exercised for the last 10 or 15 years.

The heart, after all, is a muscle and muscles develop with use, degenerate with idleness. A man in training enjoys boxing, football or any vigorous sport. A man of equal physique, but out of training would soon become exhausted and would do more harm his body if he went through the same activity.

To the man of 40, I say keep on exercising. It will do your heart good.

Here's another letter, even by a woman of 56: "Will walking up and down steps of stairs be hard? I do it six to eight times a day. I have a fear that I feel it start to beat fast and I begin to get puffy. Sometimes I feel fine again — L.M.F."

OVERWEIGHT A DOUBLE HANDICAP

I can only guess why she puffs. She tells me her heart is healthy. Is she overweight? It's hard work to lug an excess 25, 50 or more pounds up a flight of stairs, and doesn't matter whether it is a few times a day or carrying or excess weight that is part of you. (In fact, the fat is worse than carrying a package that you carry, since fat means you have to lift that weight and in addition the heart has to provide circulation to the tissue in that excess weight. It's a double handicap.)

So to this woman I suggest that (if she is overweight) she get down to her ideal weight. In addition, very gradually increase her activity until going up and down stairs no longer makes her puff.

She might well have her doctor check her heart from time to time to see that it isn't over-elevated.

The young person can indulge in vigorous activity and soon find himself with a splendid physical trim. If he stays that way, he will help his heart, although a coronary can hit anyone later, regardless.

The older person who puffs and puffs is one who has gotten out of condition. It will take him longer to get back in shape, and he must do it gradually. Exercising to the point of puffing, exhaustion and overstrain will only harm, not help. "Gradually" is the word.

Exercise, but keep in mind that fatigue is nature's warning that you are over-exerting. Remember that Dr. P. H. White, who was called to treat the President for his heart attack, can shovel snow at 70 and feel good. But he's been doing it for years. That's the answer! He also is a very careful man.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is Bright's Disease? Is there any cure or is it fatal? Does light work affect a person with it? — E.R."

Bright's Disease is a rather loose term which is applied to kidney disease. Yes, it can be cured. Often, however, it lapses into a chronic phase. In the chronic phase, it is usually related to infection in the kidneys, but there are, of course, various kidney conditions which might come under the general term of Bright's Disease.

People with Bright's Disease in the chronic phase do indulge in light work, but in the acute phase, bed rest is necessary.

Cut Timber On Strip Basis

Port Arthur News-Chronicle

Strip farming has been practiced on the Prairies for years, but only recently has the principle of Ontario timber operators begun strip cutting in the north. We expect there are some similarities between grain farming and tree farming in addition to the field in-stances conservation is the underlying factor that dictates procedures.

Grain farmers use strip farming to conserve the soil, and timber operators cut timber in strips to prevent erosion of the soil.

Strip cutting has been tried in many areas, including the Abitibi Power and Paper Company's Woodlands Laboratory, a 40,000-acre research centre near Redth, 65 miles northwest of Port Arthur. Here 66-foot strips cut in the 40-year-old jackpine stand, leaving 132-foot strips uncut. Scattered trees were removed from cutting to assist in the seeding-in of the strips, and were augmented by the planting of four-year-old spruce trees.

Strength for The Day

ANCHORS IN THE HOUR OF NEED

We have all heard the story of the ship which was washed against the rocks because its anchor was too short. When the wave, heavy rolling high and it needed to be held securely in one spot, it dragged and eventually wrecked on the rocks because the anchor was not reached bottom. The anchor rope was several feet too short.

A little boy was once wrecked because the rope by which they let down their spiritual anchor in the hour of crisis was too short. There are millions of people who never think about God until they get into trouble. Quite a few never pay until they have some difficulty reaching out to make. Unconsciously, many people hold that there is something in the air and ready to die. Even the Nazi war criminals turned to religion when the shadow of the gallows fell across their cells.

But the trouble about all such procedure is that when we need the help of religion most we have to our dismay that what we call our religion does not reach down into the eternal depths. Our doctrine of prayer is a rope too short to reach God. Because have never reflected on the sovereignty of God, we find that we flee to Him for security only when disaster suddenly assaults us. Here is another case of a rope too short.

The captain should have known that his anchor rope before he started out, and you and I should see to our spiritual security before the day of calamity comes upon us.

First Decision Of New Pope To Choose Name

VATICAN CITY (AP)—One of the first decisions the new pope will make is the choice of his name.

He will be expected to announce his choice almost immediately after his election in this weekend's conclave.

What name will he choose?

It could be Pius. Most popes choose a name of one of their predecessors with whom they feel some affinity. Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli chose the name Pius XII because of admiration for Pope Pius XI and Pius IX.

It also could be Benedict, Clement, Gregory or Leo — other names used by popes since 1724.

Or it could be one of the names before these became popular.

John, used by 23 popes, still holds the record although it has not been selected in more than 400 years.

Another name, Innocent, was adopted 13 times, the last in 1721.

Benedict has been used 15 times, Gregory 14 times, and Clement 13 times. Other possible choices include Urban, Sixtus, Julius, Paul, Alexander, Nicholas and Adrian—all used by popes in the past.

Conceivably, the new pope could keep his own name. The last time that happened was in 1522, when Deichokorn Adrian VI used his own first name.

The custom of changing names is traced to St. Peter. His original name was Simon, but Jesus called him Cephas, meaning rock in Greek. This was translated into Latin as Petrus. Peter is derived from that.

Peter is counted in Roman Catholic history as the first pope. His name is one that has never been used again.

Duplessis Says Labor Brief Harshly Worded

QUEBEC (CP)—A miner killed in a dynamite blast while Gaspe Copper Mines Limited at Murdochville, Que., was strikebound last year has been described by Premier Duplessis as "the victim of his own methods."

The premier, also Quebec attorney-general, said a dynamite cap was found in the miner's pocket when Herve Bernatchez, 36, was taken to hospital after the explosion on company property July 12, 1957.

Mr. Duplessis made the statement Thursday after the Quebec Federation of Labor (CLC) presented its annual brief to the cabinet.

The brief said court procedures had been slow in coming during the violence - marked strike, sparked by a certification dispute between the company and Murdochville local of the United Steel Workers of America (CLC).

Mr. Duplessis remarked that the brief was "very harshly" worded and some of the statements it contained were not true.

The federation said some labor laws are not effective and others are not well administered. It asked that the government consider transforming the provincial labor relations board into a parity board of union and management representatives.

The brief also said the federation will continue to resort to strikes on issues of recognition if there are no other means.

Mr. Duplessis said delays are not always the fault of the government or employers. Some are caused by labor.

Dulles Pleased By His Talks With Chiang

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles reports to President Eisenhower today on the prospects for war or peace he found during Formosan talks.

The answer, he told reporters, is "up to the Communists." He added: "I cannot read their minds."

Dulles said in a brief airport statement that his consultations with Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-Shek had been "eminently satisfactory."

He praised the Chinese Nationalists as being among the staunchest of allies without which, he said, the United States would be in a "desperate position" of Communist encirclement.

Dulles was reported by informed officials to have obtained from Chiang a conditional promise to cut his forces on the Quemoy and Matsu islands. The conditions were that he get more modern weapons and that the Chinese Communists institute a long-term cease-fire.

Dulles himself declined to discuss the reports.

Reds Resume Quemoy Firing

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Communists resumed their artillery attacks on the Quemoy islands today after a lull of 23 hours.

The Nationalists, equipped with eight-inch howitzers and other guns brought in during the two-week cease-fire, hit back.

The Red Guns, silent since noon Thursday, started blazing again at 11 a.m.

The Communists first directed their fire against Little Quemoy and the nearby Tan islets, then extended it to Quemoy, largest fortress of the Nationalist offshore islands.

Nationalist quarters claimed that Quemoy's defenders since Monday have inflicted more punishment than they have received.

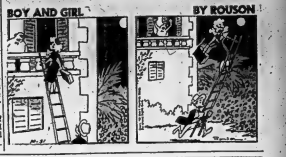
Installment Plan In Dental Bills To Start Jan. 1



TORONTO (CP)—A plan that provides for payment for dental treatment by instalment takes effect in Ontario Jan. 1, under the sponsorship of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons

A service charge of 30 cents a month on unpaid balances of $100 and 50 cents on higher balances will be paid by the patient.

The plan is voluntary but most of Ontario's 2,800 dentists are expected to take part, said W. E. Jackson, the administrator. Existing patient-dentist payment plans will not be disturbed.

The instalment payments may be made to the dentist, to a chartered bank or to plan headquarters in Toronto. A similar plan starting Jan. 1 in Alberta may be tied in with Ontario's scheme for administration purposes.

The plan will cover the cost of false teeth and all types of dental service. Dentist and patient will determine the monthly payments.

Weddings

SWAN — FOSTER

Northport United Church was the scene of a lovely autumn wedding on Saturday, October 11, at 2.30 p.m. when Shirley May Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric C. Foster, of Northport, Ontario, became the bride of Ralph Arnold Swan, of Corbyville, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Swan. The Reverend Clarence Judd, pastor of the church, officiated before a background of white and blue "mums interspersed with ferns. Candles, lighted with shafts of brilliant sunshine.

Mrs. Gilbert Stackhouse presided at the organ and rendered the "Wedding March" from Wagner's "Lohengrin," and accompanied the soloists, Brian Swan, cousin, brother of the bridegroom, who sang "The Lord is My Shepherd," before the ceremony and Mr. Ken Needham, who rendered "All Joy to Thine" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Eric C. Foster, the bride was radiant in her white bridal gown of bridal satin, with chapel train, and fitted bodice featuring a heart shaped neckline and yoke. Her lace veil and matching lace cap were re-embroidered with seed pearls, sequins and clusters of sequins, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and white heather.

As a bridesmaid, Miss Marilyn Foster, sister of the bride, was gowned alike in blue taffeta, with matching bouffant skirt and tani skirts. They wore matching headbands of blue and white flowers, and carried bouquets of similar flowers.

The flower girl, little Nancy Hoffman, cousin of the bridegroom, was demure and sweet in her floor length, tiered white taffeta frock with blue sash, and carrying a basket of blue and white flowers, with matching floral headband.

Mr. Howard Elliott, of Plainfield, was the groomsman, with Messrs. Martin Foster, brother of the bride, and James Leyten, of Corbyville, as ushers.

Church bells pealed as the bridal party and guests were leaving the church.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with a profusion of fall flowers. The bride's mother received in a blue brocade suit, with pink rosebud corsage. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who also wore blue with pink rosebud corsage.

The bride's table in a sunny alcove was centred by a white wedding bell, was daintily appointed with damask, and crystal and silver. After guests had take toped by pink roses, and flanked with white candles in crystal holders.

Those who served included: Miss Shirley Ackerman, Miss Eunice Foster, Miss Barbara Ann Clark, Miss Barbara Elliott, Miss Joyce Jacobs, Miss Mary Elizabeth Black and Miss Barbara Williams.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Merritt Hackett of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Swan will reside in Rossmore.

For the wedding trip, by motor, the bride donned a navy suit with beaded collar, navy accessories and gray Persian lamb jacket, with corsage of red rosebuds. On leaving the church presented her bouquet to her bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Swan, who, with Mr. Swan, were able to be present.

Guests were present from Belleville, Waterworks, Cobourg, Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa.

McGAUCHIE — FROST

Baskets of white gladioli, interspersed with ferns, flanked the chancel rail, and white satin bows, centred with sprigs of white gladioli designated the guest pews, formed a lovely setting, recently, for a pretty autumn wedding in Frankford United Church, when the Reverend Charles Clarke, of Guelph, united in marriage Jean Marilyn Frost, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frost, to William McGauchie, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Farish McGauchie, of Scotland.

The wedding music was provided by Miss Sue Ann Wallace, church organist, and Mrs. Clarence Hagerman, soloist, Miss Ruth Mumby, of Stirling, as she sang before the ceremony, "The Lord Is Risen," and, kneeling at the altar, the "Wedding Prayer," and during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love."

The radiant bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Harold Frost, wore an exquisite bridal gown of white, imported French lace and white faille taffeta, featuring a round neckline with re-pliqued scalloped lace bateau neckline in front, and ending in a deep "V" at the back. The cocktail-length lace over taffeta sheath, re-pliqued at the hemline, was accented by a pleated cummerbund and white faille overskirt flowing into a chapel train. A Grecian styled tiara of pearls and leaves studded with seed pearls and sequins held her elbow-length veil of French illusion, worn over the face. She carried a white Bible, the gift of former pupils, crowned with a white orchid, and white, stephanotis-knotted streamers, and wore

Miss B. J. Wood, of Toronto, as maid of honor. Miss Maisie Coombs, of Stirling; Mrs. Gordon Bulmer, of Belleville, as bridesmaids, and little Miss Jean Reddick, as flower girl, were all attired alike in cocktail length white organdy over white faille taffeta, with fitted bodices having bateau necklines in front, and deep "V's" at the back. The skirts were accented by a cross-over cummerbund of sea green crystal charm with floating back panel. They wore sea green white gloves, headdresses of white feathers and tulle illusion, and carried sprays of white carnations shimmering with green hellebore mingled with trailing ivy. The little flower girl carried a tiny basket of similar carnations, dropping petals along the aisle.

Mr. George Frost, of Montreal, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Howard Frost, also brother of the bride, and Gordon Bulmer, both of Belleville, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Rose Lavery Hall, where the bride's table was daintily appointed with white damask, silver candelabra and white adornments with tiny, pink rosebuds, centred with a three tiered wedding cake and pink roses. Tall white candles in crystal holders and vases of pink phlox completed the nuptial setting.

The bride's mother received, wearing twilight-blue lace, with matching picture hat; white orchid corsage and pink Sweetheart roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Rita Semple, of Toronto, attired in beige lace, with brown picture hat, beige accessories, and corsage of yellow, Talisman roses.

For traveling to Cape Cod, Mass., the bride donned a two-piece blue and black three-quarter length tropeze coat with matching sheath dress; black accessories, and white gloves, with white orchid corsage. The young couple are residing in Toronto.

Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother was in Dior Blue brocade and lace, tucked "V" neckline. She wore a draped picture hat of velvet matching the blue with pink gloves. Her corsage was of red roses.

For travelling, the bride wore a two - piece suit of black English wool crepe. The jacket is box style and gathered into a back sunburst with tiny bow of white hat and gloves. On their return they will reside at R.R. 1, Marmora.

Noted Ballet Artist to Visit City

Miss Celia Franca, artistic director of the National Ballet Company, will dance in the company's one performance here on October 28th in the Collegiate auditorium. This talented artist began her dancing career in England where she became a star of the world-renowned Sadler's Wells (now the Royal Ballet). She was choreographer for a number of new works for Sadler's Wells Theatre Ballet and was also commissioned to create new ballets for the BBC television.

Called "the greatest dramatic dancer the Wells ever had", Miss Franca also possesses leadership and organizing ability to an unusual degree. When the National Ballet Guild of Canada was established in 1951 for the purpose of creating a professional ballet company in Canada, Miss Franca was a happy and natural choice for the position of artistic director.

From a small beginning, the newly-formed National Ballet Company under Miss Franca's dynamic leadership has grown in artistic stature each year. "This company must have one of the best-disciplined corps de ballet in the world", wrote Sydney Johnson of the Montreal Star.

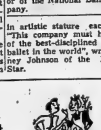
This — and That

BY HARRIET STEVENS

The other day T and T was chatting with a person who loves Belleville — the Bay of Quinte and both Hastings and Prince Edward counties. It was an accidental meeting and the thoughts or the ideas were not premeditated as far as discussion was concerned. He expressed the desire to remain anonymous when your columnist stated she would like to pass on his thoughts. This and That without comment. We were discussing, as most of us do these days, the solid impression of Belleville and the surrounding countryside.

He thinks Belleville should have a beautiful park in its centre. He can't understand just why the orchard between Farmer's Island and Belleville is gone on the east side of the city, wouldn't provide the sight and the view for a long period. In his opinion that a matter so vital to the city's welfare and should be a long range plan. As an aside, he observed that after the Bay of Quinte and Ontario another and another "five years from now" a modern phenomenon on these days.



As a first step, the purchase of the land would be required and the cost of removal of some of the apple trees and transplanting of others. Spread over a period of years it is his opinion that a beautiful city park and someday maybe, a new city building could be properly placed to enrich and beautify a wonderful city.

The man we talked the more eloquent he became. He envisioned volunteer efforts by city organizations, and he knows that already the city is expanding at a generous rate, that there is high and very little grading would be required. There is also, above all, the deficiency of parkland in Belleville and his enthusiasm grew. Here's a grand plan, even though the long range view would come to fruition only years hence and would benefit future generations. One thing is certain, the dreamer would not live to see the finished park of his fine imagination for his native city.

T and T passes these observations along objectively and without opinion.

When our friend dreamed his dreams of a lovely park, we were reminded of the poet who wrote — "Where if the dream come true? and if millions unborn shall breathe the hazel leaves that I shaped in my heart, the noble house of my thought, yet shall they know the name who wishes to remain anonymous?" We think of the poet locthyer provide our weekend thought.

T and T has received more than its share of kindness this week. Following the publication of Lovell's Canadian Dominion Directory for 1871, it was published in Montreal by John Lovell and we believe it was the John Lovell mentioned on a plaque we saw in Montreal last summer. It was in the home of John Lovell of Montreal that Jefferson Davis sought refuge when he fled from the U.S.A. at the time of The Civil War. The directory is a wonderfully well preserved edition which was originally the property of The Montreal Telegraph Company. Inscriptive of Mrs. Marvin's presentation autographed in Picton, T and T is grateful for this fine gift.

Belleville 1871 — an incorporated town on the Bay of Quinte, township of Thurlow, west riding county of Hastings. It is the county town and a port of entry. Its streets are wide, well laid out, and lit with gas and is has a number of handsome public buildings, private residences and stores. Front Street is the business street of the town. On Pinnacle Street is the Court House and goal, Bank of Montreal, Merchants Bank of Canada, Masonic Music Hall, market and armory."

There is much more. The directory is a massive volume of 1,200 pages, so it may be safe for to assume that this directory is practically as old as Confederation.

Legion Ladies' Aux. Holds Bazaar

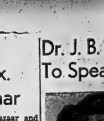
A very successful bazaar and tea was held on October 18 by the Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion, Branch 99, at the Legion hall. The Hallowe'en decorations of the hall were in keeping with the contrast of green, orange and black, with tiny pumpkins on each of the booths lighted with candles.

The little flower on each of the tea tables added a touch of gaiety, as did the beautiful bronze chrysanthemums that were in the hall leading to the tea room.

The tea table was pretty with its white table cloth, centred by an arrangement of white mapdragons, ferns and flanked by tall candle holders with green candles. A silver serving completed the arrangements. Mrs. David Bradford and Mrs. Barbara Shepherd presided at the tea table. Mrs. William Bailey, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was at the door to receive and welcome the guests.

Serving were: Auxiliaries J. Delroy, V. Terry, L. Legacey and L. Reed.

The ladies in charge of the booths were: Mrs. A. Meek and Mrs. N. Spencer (country store); Mrs. Ben and Mrs. Hendershot (white elephant table); Mrs. Hodge and Miss M. Hodge (aprons); Mrs. N. Hardwick and Mrs. G. Durfort (home cooking); Mrs. T. Helm and Mrs. A. Horsten (candy); Mrs. F. Davis (sweater lickets); Mrs. A. Young (baby quilt tickets), Mrs. Burd (miscellaneous); and Mrs. S. Heasman (Christmas card table)



The sweater for which the tickets were sold was knitted by Mrs. C. Jeffs and donated by her to the bazaar. The cake was made by Mrs. W. Haley and donated to the bazaar.

Mrs. Coles sold the tickets for the tea at the door.

Mrs. Edna Blair was in charge of the kitchen and kept the table well supplied with tea, sandwiches and cakes.

The winners of the draw which took place at the end of the bazaar were: Mrs. Bradford, 144 Albert St., (sweater); Mrs. Clarence Burford, 23 Hillside St., (quilt), and Mrs. H. Reid, 64 Benjamin St., (Christmas cake).

Rising Demand for Good Antique Pieces in Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Mollie Riordon loves the excitement of the hunt when her case, the search for antiques.

"I never know what I'm going to find; that's what is so stimulating about my work," she said in an interview.

She has been manager of an antiques gallery at the Montreal department store Ogilvy's) for the last eight years. Each year she makes a buying trip to Europe, England, France and Italy for historical furniture, paintings, china and other ornate work.

GROWING INTEREST

Canada's interest in antiques has grown considerably in recent years.

There is a rising demand for good pieces in Canada. One reason may be the big European immigration. But partly responsible, I think, is that Canadians, like their country becomes more established, are more taken up with their heritage.

And while interest in antiques is increasing, the supply of objects are becoming harder and harder to find.

"I've been a great voyage in antiques in the United States, too, and many fine European pieces have been shipped there."

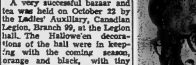
Besides tables, chairs, cabinets and other furniture, Mrs. Riordon looks for dishware, urns, candle holders and other such objects.

Sometimes she comes across pieces of item that can be converted into an interesting piece, she said.

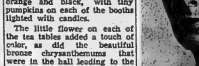
A "two-pounder" cannon she purchased, and to have been used on a ship that sank in the Lake Ontario 19th century, has been made into a lamp.

And a pair of altar candlesticks have been cut supports for a coffee table.

Such pieces are relatively modern furniture pieces, she said.



Our ancestors had nothing that low. I believe it was probably because they had things they didn't permit them to bond."



But some antique collectors add the less lowered on antique tables to serve the purposes of the modern coffee tables.

STEPMOTHER'S PROBLEM ABOUT SIGNING CHRISTMAS CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I have a most awkward situation to face concerning the signing of our Christmas cards. Will you please tell me how my husband and I should sign our Christmas cards to his children (my stepchildren), and to his stepdaughter by his first marriage? His stepdaughter and his oldest son are married. His youngest son is a teenager. These children do not use any name when they address me. When they come to visit us, they speak directly to me, omitting my name. Their own mother is living, and naturally they do not wish to call me "Mother". I hate to sign these cards "Daddy and Elizabeth" or "Jack and Stepmother" and "John and Elizabeth" doesn't seem right either. What do you suggest? — Stepmother.

It sounds to me as if your problem starts with the unfortunate fact that you and your husband haven't had a gracious and definite understanding with your husband's children as to the name by which you choose to be called. This is very often not an easy discussion to bring about, but it is a decision that must be made, in order to take away the awkwardness that otherwise exists. Naturally, as you say, since their own mother is living, they would not wish to call you "Mother". Nearly all step-parents of grown or half-grown sons and daughters prefer to be called by their first names, or perhaps by a nickname by which they have long been known. When they do not want this, they sometimes choose to be called "Aunt" and "Uncle."

If you and your husband and his children come to this decision before Christmas (you still have ample time!), you could use this name to sign the Christmas cards. If this isn't feasible, your husband might sign these few special cards to his children, including your name in the form he considers appropriate. Or you and he might sign the cards individually, your husband signing "Daddy" and you adding a message underneath signed with your first name.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

"GOD OF THE EARTH, THE SKY, THE SEA"

God of the earth, the sky, the sea!
Maker of all above, below!
Creation lives and moves in Thee,
Thy present life through all doth flow;
We give Thee thanks, Thy Name we sing,
Almighty Father, Heavenly King.

Thy love is in the sunshine's glow,
Thy life is in the quickening air;
When lightnings flash and storm winds blow,
There is Thy power; Thy law is there.
We give Thee thanks, Thy name we sing,
Almighty Father, Heavenly King.

We feel Thy calm at evening's hour,
Thy grandeur in the march of night;
And when Thy morning breaks in power,
We hear Thy word: "Let there be light."
We give Thee thanks, Thy Name we sing,
Almighty Father, Heavenly King.

When a hymn is wrested to glorify the wonders of God's world and the Creator, this one is apt to be chosen.

Samuel Longfellow wrote the words of the hymn in 1864 and the music was composed a few years later by Joseph Barnby. It is a favorite in churches of all denominations. Young people are particularly fond of it.

Mr. Longfellow was a Unitarian minister and the brother of the American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. He was born in Portland, Maine, on June 18, 1819, and was educated at Harvard University and the Divinity School at Cambridge. Following his graduation from the latter school in 1846, he served his first pastorate in Fall River, Massachusetts, from 1853 to 1860 he was pastor of the Second Unitarian Church in Brooklyn.

Mr. Barnby's name and talents are well known to most lovers of church music. He wrote tunes for a long list of hymns including "For All The Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," "Now The Day Is Over," and "When Morning Gilds the Skies." He was one of England's greatest musicians and composers, was born in York in 1838, and served with distinction as organist, composer, editor and choral conductor.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Beginning of the Reformation

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, Oct. 26 — four hundred forty - one years ago next Friday Martin Luther startled and fascinated the throngs of pilgrims who were gathered for All Saints' Day in the German town of Wittenberg by marching up to the door of Castle Church and nailing up his famous 95 Theses. Church doors in those days served as the community bulletin board. The "theses" were arguments against current practices of the church. Luther wanted to express himself about his disagreement with some of the things the church was doing, and he couldn't have found a better place or a better time. The town was full of people and they would all be going to church. His statements were sure to get attention.

Luther, himself a monk, was criticizing the church of which he was a member in good standing. He had no idea of breaking with it or leaving it, but things were soon beyond his control and the Reformation, the greatest crisis in the history of organized Christianity, was on. The unity of Christendom had been broken five centuries earlier (1054) when East (Constantinople) and West (Rome) split apart, each taking its millions of followers. Now the West was shattered by the blows of Luther's hammer, not just split in two but torn into many divisions.

What had so unexpectedly happened was the beginning of a process that is still going on—a revolt against authority. Luther believed, and those who came after him expanded the belief, that a Christian of informed mind and sensitive conscience needs no authoritative church to guide him. Every man, assuming his sincerity, can have his own direct encounter with God and can form his own pattern of response to that encounter.

UNION SERVICES

The effect of this approach to religion over the past four centuries has been immeasurable. In celebration, Protestants have given Reformation Day a festival of its own: the last Sunday in October.

Usually the day featured union Protestant services under the auspices of the local Council of Churches or the Ministerial Association, though the Lutherans frequently take the lead in such arrangements. The National Council of Churches publishes a suggested order of service for the occasion.

Monday, Oct. 27 — Finishing up his second letter to Timothy, St. Paul says "Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren." (Second Timothy, chapter 4, verse 21). Tradition holds that this Claudia was the wife of Pontius Pilate, and that Linus was her cousin. Linus followed St. Peter as Bishop of Rome.

It may seem strange to find St. Paul in the company of these relatives of the man who condemned the Lord to crucifixion, but there has always been a strong and persistent legendry about Pilate's wife and her leaning toward Christianity. Perhaps it grew out of the incident recorded in Matthew, chapter 27, verse 19, in which she tried to persuade Pilate to release Jesus. "Have thou nothing to do with that just man" she said, "for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of Him."

It is believed at least in the Greek Church that Claudia, when she first lived in Judea was attracted to the Jewish religion and then later to the teachings and personality of the strange Young Man who was finally brought before her husband to be tried for treason. Her inclinations were of course secret at that time, but if she is the Claudia mentioned by St. Paul then she must have come out in the open about her Christianity later, and brought at least one of her relatives with her.

Claudia is a saint in the Greek Church. Her memory is honored today.

Russian Visit Much Enjoyed By Ottawan

OTTAWA (CP) — An Ottawa woman found it isn't difficult to put in time when you're an astronomer's wife on a visit to Russia.

Mrs. Malcolm Thomson found she had an opportunity to do some sightseeing while her husband attended a conference of the International Astronomical Union at Moscow.

A former librarian, and mother of two young sons, Mrs. Thomson told a reporter here that a full program of events was arranged for the delegates' wives.

The two-week visit to Moscow and Leningrad gave her a chance to visit a Russian nursery — a spotless and well-staffed institution where children were cared for while their mothers worked.

The women in Russia do all kinds of work, Mrs. Thomson said. There are women gardeners, bricklayers and street sweepers, for instance. The street-cleaners don't have as much work as Canadian street - cleaners, she said, because Russians don't litter their streets or parks.

Mrs. Thomson said two major impressions from the Russian visit were the people's friendliness toward western tourists, and their pride in their country's achievements.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mark L. — Divorce is the only answer.

Dora L. — He must get it out of his system.

Mark L. — My wife and I have been a divided couple. We have been married nearly 30 years, but did not have a child until eight years ago — mainly due to the financial and health problems that have plagued us since we married.

These problems started lessening, but worse ones took their place. The war finally settled into pays well, but is very frustrating to me. I was put out west for it and feel that I would be much more successful at something else.

The worst blow of all hit when I realized that I was falling in love with a young divorcee who had been a very good friend of my wife's. This woman finally admitted that the feeling was mutual. This surprised me as my wife and she told me to get it out of my system — in other words have an affair with the other woman. But I feel divorce is the only answer.

Dora L. — I care so deeply for Mark that I wouldn't want to keep him if he doesn't want me. If I have lost his love he is of no use to me. But I feel that his feeling for this other woman is infatuation, not love.

I think that Mark should recognize that both of us have reached the stage of life where youth seems particularly attractive — and that woman is a good 12 years younger than we are. She wants to marry Mark, I know, but I think it would be a mistake for both of them. She cannot possibly understand him as I do, after we have been through so much together.

I am not an immoral person, but I feel that this is the only way to save our marriage. I know that Mark will have to get this thing out of his system. Then he'll begin to see how foolish it is.

I am making a great sacrifice in going this far and Mark should be willing to make some sacrifice for me.

The Council: — We don't understand how Dora can insist upon her morality and at the same time offer such a proposal. But we'll assume that she is desperate and harassed to the point where she cannot think very clearly. In any case, we think the idea does not even have the virtue of being practical. It is likely to have the result of hurting and enmeshing everyone concerned in such a way that they'll never see their way out.

From the way Mark tells his story, we feel that he understands that there is a relationship between his sexual problem and his infatuation with the other woman. It appears that as a result of his frustration in his work, he looked about for a further means of personal expression and hit upon the area of sex and romance.

His problem certainly is not uncommon. We feel very strongly, however, that he is fighting a losing battle when he tries to solve things this way. An affair, or even marriage, with the young woman will give him a monetary sense of release. But in time he will be left with the same situation, complicated by the fact that he is committed to the support of two households.

We suggest that Mark try to be frank and fight to find a way to release his full powers in the work area.

Home Economics Director Advises Delegates to Keep Competition Out of 4-H Clubs

(By GLADYS WARD)

"It is not the technique of hooking rugs that is important, it is the sense of satisfaction and the joy of achievement in creating your own design and colors," Miss Helen McKercher of Toronto, director of home economics service told the area convention of the Women's Institutes at the Friday morning session in the Masonic Temple.

"Each year I look upon this as a real occasion and opportunity to discuss the work of the home economic service," Miss McKercher continued. "In extension service we know it is only successful when you accept this chance and we like to have evidence of that. Is that interest passive or do you put it into home and practise the new method? As a result of the 1957 short training schools, with 9,000 taking the classes and 11,000 taking the short courses a great many were exposed to change of practice. Leaders as a result served more whole wheat bread, salads, and casserole dishes for guests. Thus zest and variety are added to the meals. Preserved are arranged to make them more attractive to men and children. We hope you will encourage leaders to attend training classes where they will learn in a generous amount. There have been so many changes and so much to learn all the time."

"The policy is that leaders must attend these training schools. It is important that you build up interest in the things you are trying to do."

"Try to keep competition out of 4-H clubs. There are sometimes fosters criticism. There are 110 Tweedsmuir Histories workshops planned, and Mrs. Walker has a busy schedule. This will not be put in next year's program."

ACCURATE MEMBERSHIP ACCOUNT

Miss McKercher asked for cooperation with the names of new secretaries after the annual meetings; also for accurate account of membership and subscribers to "Home and Country" publications.

The speaker considered that the biggest job was to keep up to date. Every meeting had to be interesting, with something new had to be learned to make it worthwhile. Leaders had the privilege of attending the Royal Winter Fair as guests of the Department of Agriculture.

The Ontario Departments of Agriculture and Transport, alarmed at the increasing number of farm accidents, have combined to make a study of the reasons why they happen and what can be done. They are studying the question and are preparing a questionnaire. A survey will be made of farm accidents and from this basis they will determine causes and cures.

Another study is to be made of farm income by the agricultural engineer, and for this purpose, Miss Helen Graves is going to be on loan to assist with the program. Research will be conducted by the study of actual samples of farm scenes.

"We have pooled our wisdom, courage and ideas this year with happy results," the speaker concluded. "Summary day's have a real purpose and members of the home economics staff will judge results on those days. I congratulate you for honoring my Junior clubs for so long in this area. I appreciate your loyal support and ask you have the best of the old and blend it with the best of the new."

A reception committee of Mrs. Roy Badgley, Shannonville, and Miss Jean Johnson, Carrying Place, greeted the guests on arrival. Mrs. Reid presided over the morning assembly which opened with singing.

A humorous reading was given by Mrs. Ralph Hill of Trenton describing the experiences of newcomers with a corpse and two doctors.

MANY REFRESHMENT PRIZES

Mrs. Arthur Jameson of Elmview branch, read the report on refreshments. Prizes were awarded for nine, noting that rural women have many responsibilities, and the greatest of these is to keep their urban sisters interested in the affairs of agriculture and to have their support for farm organizations. A wide scope of topics were discussed, and demonstrations, roll calls, contests were won for nearly every member participating. These included what we eat and why; a tour of the rural community; a garden pest and how to control it; my favorite hot dish; the number of people born on a farm; an advantage of living on a farm, a house cleaning hint.

Mottoes should carry out the theme of the year, and some of those submitted were: Agriculture is the life of the nation; Let Us Serve as We Start, but What we Finish that Counts; A Farm Life is a Full Life.

REPORTS DISCUSSED

Mrs. James Haggerty, president of the Y. W. I. O. discussed the reports and asked for full reports from the branch conveners. Mrs. Haggerty had been a very interesting and varied from one area to another as each branch had different views. All standing committees reported tours and visits were paid and helpful hints given by the program of adult education. The president was especially pleased with the citizenship report on New Canadians. 4H clubs are a part of home economics and should be reported from there. Mrs. Haggerty congratulated the district that used its own members for programs and they could not hunt up information without developing themselves, giving them the self confidence to present a paper. Each branch had a great deal of talent among its members, and it was good to use it, and they should be encouraged to develop local talent. This area was steeped in historical tradition, and an amazing amount of research had been done. The president suggested that files should be used wherever possible and the use of microfilm was excellent. She congratulated the conveners on the excellent reports.

Mrs. Fred Perry, of Napanee, gave a report on the Provincial Board of Agriculture, stating that this year they had chosen public relations as their project for the women's committee, hoping to create a better feeling between producer and consumer. Within the organization was included such commodity groups as farm forums, folk schools, Junior farmers and Women's Institutes, all working together for a common cause. The economy of the farmer is most important to the world. If he cannot sell him produce and make a profit he cannot buy. Farmers feed industry and industry feeds the farmer, we must have unity between rural and urban residents. In the Rural Co - operator publication many items of interest can be found. It is full of agricultural problems and should be used more. A delegate should be sent to Vineland for the leadership training school.

At the Friday afternoon session of the convention, Mrs. S. R. Beatty presided. Mrs. W. Johnston, Consecon, and Mrs. Ernest Moore, Madoc, were the reception committee.

Roll call convener, Mrs. A. E. Sauve, presented the girls of Hastings County. One hundred and 99 girls had completed the cereal sheet project; Providence Bay branch had 20 junior girls and county honors to 31 girls. Mrs. Sauve also represented the Guelph conference and 22 clubs were taking, "Cotions Can Be Smart."

Miss Donna Robinson of the Ontario Hydro, Toronto, spoke on a special project, celery, describing celery, uses, growth, the high moisture capacity, nutritional value and uses such as adding to pickled beets, salads, soup, and as a cooked vegetable in cream sauce.

MEDICAL SKIT

A skit, called "Around the Bend," with Mrs. Ward as nurse by the Eldorado club, showing that cereals may be used at any time of the day and added healthful and economic food.

Mrs. Ward presented the girls from Elmview, in charge of Mrs. Eggleson, who demonstrated the proper fabric for cutting a pattern. They demonstrated the straight thread material, how to shrink it if it was not sanforized, how to fold the fabric in single file or double fabric, and the right and wrong sides. "Bees and Beans" and their leader was Mrs. Gordon Macklin.

The Women's Institute of Northumberland and the York Road club demonstrated the Junior Girls' Guard, which was an exceptional display, well arranged on the platform. Mrs. Ward introduced Young and Myrna Wilson explained the purpose of the organization, reminding themselves that every freedom means responsibility, and the worthwhile hobbies; how to prepare tasty, nutritious and economic meals; learning the importance of posture in sitting, standing, bending and walking.

The two girls demonstrated the use of the telephone for emergencies; they were taught how to answer and make accidents, and artificial respiration for drownings or shock; care of the hair, face, hands and nails; and keeping fit mentally and physically.

Th Consecon club in Prince Edward county had an exhibit of 20 cans of fruit and vegetable variations. Miss Beverly Walt gave the basic recipe and then the fruit could be varied with tomato juice added, or made into jelly, or spices added, or with fruit filling and topping.

The second extension project for Prince Edward county is "The Third Meal."

Mrs. Lou Lowell of the Demorestville club spoke on their project, which was well dressed and well groomed, stressing cleanliness, proper rest and diet. On the display were samples of hand lotions and shampoos with directions for making them. The Prince Edward girls are working on "Creative Accessories For A Girl's Bedroom."

Mrs. MacGregor and Mrs. Fensham of Colborne were dressed in costume to an amusing dialogue called "Some Old Scouts' First Visit To Scotland."

SLATE OF OFFICERS

Mrs. Clifford Bester brought in the slate of officers for the nominating committee, and Mrs. Haggerty took the chair for election of officers for the coming year. The new officers installed were:

Honorary chairman, Miss Bessie Mitchinson; chairman, Mrs. M. Rutherford, Gordon Bay; vice-chairman, Mrs. Roscoe Bolton, Hallowy; 2nd vice-chairman, Mrs. Cecil Reid, Trenton; 3rd vice-chairman, Mrs. S. R. Goodfellow, Consecon; Public relations representative, Miss Jayne Gay, Ivanhoe; Junior Institute, Mrs. Gordon Fox, Bloomfield; auditors, Mrs. Jack Parrott and Mrs. Roy Badgley, Belleville; Home Country reporter, Mrs. Bernard Brooks, Cherry Valley.

One resolution was sustained which read: "Whereas the growth and spread of weeds throughout Ontario including some new varieties, eg., yellow rocket and bladder campion, present an increasing problem to agriculture and property owners, therefore be it resolved that members of the Women's Institutes acquaint themselves with such, destroy them when they can and notify the weed inspectors whenever possible."

Mrs. Harry Coulter, of Foxboro, brought in the report of the courtesy committee, including all who had helped to make the convention so enjoyable, the speakers, entertainers, executives who planned the conference, those who catered, the Masons for the use of the hall, and all officers for leadership.

Wet or Fouled Plugs Cause Ignition Trouble

By Eugene Milmoe

When the engine refuses to start, a blind guess at the trouble may pay off — but the few of us are that lucky, so it's well to know the possibilities.

Ignition troubles are more often at fault. Usually, however, it is best to check out and eliminate the fuel system, first. The engine could be flooded due to excessive priming, fouled gas pump, choke or carburetor troubles. If there is not enough fuel getting through, the fuel line and tank become added suspects.

The list of possible ignition troublemakers will include wet or fouled spark plugs, dirty or burned points, loose or corroded cable connections, weak battery, weak coil, defective rotor, cracked distributor cap and Valve leakage or bad timing can also prevent engine starting — although these are usually classed with the common causes.

From J.N.: "Under the hood of my '53 sedan, there is a peculiar rattle every so often. It doesn't seem to act up when the engine idles, so I can't trace it. Any hints?

(A) Engine vibration can cause a loose air cleaner to rattle at certain speeds.

C.E. writes: "I am studying automobile mechanics and would appreciate your advice. What is used to dress and clean the regulator contact points?"

(A) Use a fine contact file and clean with carbon tetrachloride.

P.V. asks: "Is it true that drivers in some parts of the country run their cars without fans in winter?"

(A) Yes. In certain sections it's not unusual for a motorist to remove fan blades in order to get faster engine warm-up and better cold weather performance.

From H. Mc.: "My engine has been flooding and I've had a couple of trips to the local service stations. One says it's the carburetor float level and needle valve — while the other believes it is due to an over strength fuel pump. Which would you agree with best?"

(A) Since excessive fuel pump pressure is not considered a possible, I would check out carburetor float level and needle valve operation first.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

MIGRATION SPEED

By Winifred Wilson

When being chased or when chasing someone else we run, but when obliged to go a long way we walk. Similarly, birds adapt their pace to the occasion, their migration speed is only about what they have to travel to for escape or when pursuing their prey. Much about the flying time for birds has been learned by banding. Because of hunters, ducks are, naturally, the banded birds most often found, so they furnish a good example.

The normal flying speed of ducks is between 40 and 50 miles an hour, but when hurrying they may attain 80 miles. In migration, however, their average daily flight is about 83 miles which means that they evidently fly for only two hours or so, at their ordinary speed. This is because they must have time to eat as well as to rest. Energy is used up in flight and must be replaced, that the bird may regain the performance the next day for weeks in order to reach its goal. An exception to this is that some ducks travel about five days after it had been banded with no stops of more distant. Its daily flight average must have been 200 miles — but even this is only about twenty-five hours of continuous flying.

STOP TO REST

The majority of birds divide the time differently from this: they fly for about eight hours, when a suitable haven is found, with estables that the particular species must have and they are a matter of one, two, three or four days to feed and rest. Water fowlers, like some of the flycatchers, make only from 10 to 17 miles an hour on their flight, and consequently take a long time to reach their destination; others, like the peregrine falcon and the swift fly excessively fast in ordinary flight, something like 100 miles an hour.

The rate of speed in general — not that it flies so slowly, but that it dawdles more than others. An accurate record of migration is made in spring by the ever-checked birds of the far northern Florida the end of April, yet may be seen in Alaska in May. Also, a certain wandering warbler reaches New Orleans about April 5th, and is found in Manitoba by a letter post of May. To do this it has to fly out fans in winter!"

(A) Yes. In certain sections it's not unusual for a motorist to remove fan blades in order to get faster engine warm-up and better cold weather performance.

From H. Mc.: "My engine has been flooding and I've had a couple of trips to the local service stations. One says it's the carburetor float level and needle valve — while the other believes it is due to an over strength fuel pump. Which would you agree with best?"

Canon Law Puts Remarkably Few Restrictions on Election Of Spiritual Head of Catholics

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Staff Writer

Chances are the solemn Veiled Canon considers that opens today will wind up in a day or two with the selection of an Italian cardinal as the new pope.

It hasn't got to be that way. Canon law places remarkably few restrictions on the election of a spiritual head for the Roman Catholic Church. He need only be a male Catholic who has reached the age of reason unaided by heresy or schism.

The informant rules, however, are strict.

There has not been a non-Italian pope in more than four centuries, not since the Dutch-born Adrian VI ascended the papal throne in 1522 for a reign that lasted little more than a year.

The last non - cardinal to be chosen was the unfortunate Urban VI, whose election in 1378 was declared invalid only months later by the cardinals who elected him. They claimed they voted under duress.

The revocation opened what is known as the western schism, when, for 39 years, western Christendom was confused by the presence of two—and at one point three—rival claimants to the papacy.

There even have been laymen popes, the last of whom apostolic secretary, was the ascetic lay monk elected in 1294. He resigned after five months when he found himself ill-equipped to handle the office.

It is generally agreed among Catholics that the pope to be elected in the next few days will be the 262nd successor to St. Peter, founder of the Roman church—but no one can make the statement with absolute certainty.

It depends on how you count Stephen II, who died on March 22, 752, and died two days later before his ordination. Some of those days the pope's reign was dated from ordination. Now it starts with election.

It also depends on how you count Benedict IX. He was elected in 1032 at the age of 12, deposed in 1044, reinstated the following year, removed again after a 50-day reign, and installed a third time in 1047.

Many of the early popes reigned only a short time. The two days of Stephen II was the shortest—if you count it as a reign. Pius IX, elected in 1846, ruled the longest—32 years.

While the pope is technically the Bishop of Rome, several popes never even visited that diocese during their reigns. Early papal Rittiges is brought about by the occasional appearance of men known as anti-popes. Anti-popes were those whose elections had been declared invalid but who claimed to rule nevertheless.

There have been nearly 40 anti-popes, the last of whom, Felix V, renounced his claim in 1449 and accepted a cardinal's hat from Pope Nicholas V, the next pope.

Whoever is elected pope in the next few days certainly will change his name to that of one of his predecessors. It is customary since the reign of Sergius VI (1009-1012).

The last pope could speak that modesty has ruled out.

On the long list of popes dating back to the year 97, no one has ever sought to assume the name Peter. Pius XII referred to himself promised "the key to the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 16:19).

RAF Jet Plunges Into Residences In Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP)—An RAF jet bomber on a combined goodwill and training mission exploded and crashed in flames in a Detroit riverfront residential area Friday.

The six crew members died in the inferno.

Three homes were demolished. Another dozen were set afire and at least a score more were damaged in the downpour of flame-whipped and blazing debris.

Almost unbelievably, only two persons received injuries serious enough to require hospital treatment.

Trailing smoke and flame, the triangular-shaped Vulcan roared over the Detroit skyline and then its right wing hit a big ball of fire. The whole sky turned red."

The air intelligence officer said the ship was from the 82nd Squadron, which certainly Command based at Waddington air base near Lincoln, England.

The captain, Flt. Lt. John Willoughby Modey, carried a message of goodwill from the mayor of that city to the mayor of Lincoln, Neb., near his hometown. He was the U.S. strategic air command.

The crash area was one of middle-class two - storey frame houses and brick bungalows from Isolde Crosse Pointe Park.

GAS SPRAYED WIDELY

Moments after the crash, one of the four-engined bomber sprayed a five-block area. A number of persons reported they got the gas.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Ewald were in their home when the explosion of the plane plowed into it. Ewald, 72, managed to get the dust - choked and trapped his 65-year-old wife. A neighbor, Michael Dunkin, came to their aid.

"Mrs. Ewald was screaming for help," Dunkin said. "She was on fire. Their dog was on fire too."

Between them, Dunkin and Ewald pulled her out.

She and her husband were taken to hospital. The cabin was found safe, cooling her singed tail in a nearby canal.

Several other houses and small pleasure craft moored on the network of canals that line the area were damaged. A spatter of debris peppered the marine hospital not far off.

Debris also showered down on the grade school in front, panicking crowded with children. But none were hurt.

The crash was the second within the city limits in five days. Monday a private plane crashed in a cemetery, injuring its three occupants.

Collapse of the No. 4 shaft of the Cumberland mine occurred in the lower levels and was felt over two miles away. Most of the men trapped were working on the 13,400 and 13,800 foot levels and draegermen have hundreds of feet of fresh-to-clear away before they will reach the trapped men. The mine is the deepest in North America.

Blame Economic Difficulties For Turks' Political Tension

ISTANBUL (AP)—Political tension is rising in Turkey.

Western diplomats call this economically troubled country the freest stable in the Middle East. But political speeches echo with such words as "anarchy" and "coming to power illegally."

Police with truncheons and tear gas grenades break up political meetings. National leaders and their opponents campaign at through elections were next week, although none are due for three years.

The trouble has old roots. It arises from the bitter rivalry and conflicting ambitions of Premier Adnan Menderes and his Democrats, and the People's Republican party lead by ex-president Ismet Inonu.

It has been fed by the Menderes regime's attempts to develop Turkey industrially, its building spending and its generally authoritarian government. It thrives on the Republicans' charges that the regime is bankrupting the country and stifling its liberty.

Economic difficulties are at the centre of the battle. Last August Turkey announced her allies were giving her new financial aid of $359,000,000 with the United States contributing $234,000,000—much in the format of normal defence support, postponement of loan payments and crop surplus.

The announcement came when Turkey's economy was nearly stalled. Shortages were critical. The value of the Turkish lira was sinking.

Since summer there has been improvement. But the government has had to take unpopular steps to get the economy in harness. It has restricted bank credit effectively. If not officially, devalued the currency. Prices have continued upward, pulled by the change in the currency.

The opposition has increased its bitter anti-Menderes campaign. The premier has replied with speeches warning against anarchy or, by implication, revolt.

There has been talk of a possible parliamentary revolt against Menderes from within his own party. But it would be difficult to force the government's fall. Menderes handpicked most of the Democratic candidates for parliament. They are his men, and their fate is tied with his.

Air Force Veteran Enjoys Work as Superintendent on Largest Indian Reserve

CARDSTON, Alta. (CP) — A quiet Vancouver - born airforce veteran, known in Western Canada by such names as Chief Rainbow and Crow Eagle, does a good deal more than sit back and complain about the plight of Indians.

Ken Brown, 39, seriously takes on the task of teaching some of Canada's Indians how to grow potatoes and grain and spends many hours guiding them in economic administration of their reserves.

Married and the father of two children, Mr. Brown for nearly two years has been federal superintendent at Canada's largest Indian reserve—the rich 253,000 - acre Blood reserve stretching from this town 40 miles northeast to Lethbridge.

VARIED FRIENDS

"It's all interesting and the problems are varied," he says.

"I really enjoy the administrative work connected with an agency as large and as diversified as the Blood."

To show their appreciation of his work the Saanich Indians of Vancouver Island named him Chief Rainbow and the Bloods have already given him the names Raisy Chief and Crow Eagle.

Of reserve problems he has been concerned with four aspects; education of the children; their placement after graduation; laws connected with integration in the white man's world; and farming, forestry and industry.

Mr. Brown is a graduate in agriculture of the University of British Columbia. He spent three years in the RCAF.

From September, 1945, when he was discharged from the air force until November, 1950, he was a seed feed and fertilizer inspector with the federal department of agriculture. Then he became a grain quality supervisor with the Indian affairs branch in British Columbia.

The Indian included advising Indians on potato and grain growing. He acted in the capacity of field agent and acting superintendent on numerous B.C. reserves.

Now he lives in this southern Alberta town with his family. He became superintendent of the Blood reserve in 1957, following a national Indian affairs competition.

Shy and cautious, Mr. Brown is happy in his work. He acts as secretary at meetings of the band council of the 2,700-member tribe. He has also been very instructive and he seldom interferes with the wishes of the Indian council except to give direction and suggestion.

The council decides on the disposition of the tribe's collective fund which has swollen at times to more than $1,000,000 as the result of petroleum and agricultural royalties.

"All possible of the band's business and funds are handled by the council," Mr. Brown says. "The funds may appear large, but the $300 per capita wealth is compared with members of other tribes, the Blood's largest population makes per capita wealth smaller."

The superintendent has been faced with another problem.

Many Indians have taken advantage of cocktail bars built at Cardston, Magrath, 18 miles south and across the border from Cardston. The problem is serious and drunken Canadian Indians have not been a credit to the reserve.

Now he lives in this southern Alberta town with his family. He became superintendent of the Blood reserve in 1957, following a national Indian affairs competition.

Shy and cautious, Mr. Brown is happy in his work. He acts as secretary at meetings of the band council of the 2,700-member tribe. He has also been very instructive and he seldom interferes with the wishes of the Indian council except to give direction and suggestion.

West Strategists Brush Off Khrushchev's Offer of Funds For Dam as Pure Propaganda

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There is a strong temptation among Western strategists to brush off Nikita Khrushchev's offer of funds for President Nasser's Nile power project as a propaganda stunt.

The Russians have never been backward in exploiting the possibilities of improving their public relations in the Middle East. And the proposal to give Nasser a hand with his long - delayed scheme to build a high-level dam at Aswan will win widespread approval in the Arab world and elsewhere.

But the question immediately arises why it has taken Khrushchev more than two years to cash in on an obvious opportunity if he was not prepared to follow it up with action.

The dam project has mouldered on the engineers' drawing boards ever since July, 1956, when the United States, Britain and the World Bank, in rapid succession, withdrew the offer of a total of $270,000,000 toward the financing of the Aswan development scheme.

The immediate Russian reaction was a statement by Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov that the Soviet Union did not regard financing of the dam as a "urgent problem." Communist arms shipments to Egypt, their worsening relations with the West, continued to take priority over economic assistance.

Considerable water has flown over the Aswan dam site since Shepilov's original pronouncement and the foreign minister himself has been quietly shelved in one of Khrushchev's puppets. But the Russians, while refraining friendly to Nasser, showed no haste to bail out his pet project.

Nasser, inviting the Western powers to "choke with rage," first seized the Suez Canal and announced that its revenues would pay for the dam.

The military intervention of Britain, France and Israel followed and Nasser himself contributed to the delay by plugging the canal with sunken blockships. Months passed before the United Nations organized necessary repairs to the waterway.

Then Nasser ran into additional economic difficulties when he absorbed Syria into his new United Arab Republic. Eventually he admitted that the Aswan project would require substantial assistance from foreign capital.

Now Khrushchev has stepped in with his offer of $1,750,000,000 toward the first stage of construction and a government

More than 1,200 crowded Convocation Hall last night to see Dr. Bissell exchange his academic costume for the official cap and gown of the president.

He pledged loyalty to Toronto's academic traditions and forecast a co-ordinated plan will be ready by 1961 to cope with the thousands of new undergraduates expected in Ontario in the next 10 years.

Proposes Giving Teachers Year's Training Free

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer has proposed a year's free training at Ontario College of Education to boost the province's supply of qualified elementary school teachers.

"My thought is that the prospective teacher would be given one year's training at the expense of the province—including travel and living allowances," he said in a 15-minute CBC Provincial Affairs broadcast Friday night.

The Liberal leader repeated his recent suggestion for periodically paid teachers' salaries. It would lessen the province's contribution to education to 85 per cent in each 40 per cent and reduce the property taxes by one-third.

Barmaid Bare From Waist up Causes Squabble

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Is it legal for a barmaid or a woman in New Orleans to wear nothing above her waist in public?

The district attorney's office says no, unless there is a lewd performance.

The city attorney's office disagrees and says a city ordinance prohibits "indecent or lewd public personal exposure of the female breast." The city ordinance also makes it an offence to view in public anything like that.

The question arose after police arrested a barmaid Constance Marie Lamb working while nude from the waist up. Her employer also was arrested.

Film History of Canadian Army on TV Program

A film history of the Canadian Army as seen through American eyes will be given its premiere showing October 28 on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's national network at 2:30 p.m. (CKWS-TV).

Produced by the United States Army Pictorial Centre, New York City, the film will be released later on 385 American television stations in the U.S. Army series known as "The Big Picture". Purpose of the film is to show the American people the history of the Canadian Army and something of the co-operation which exists between the armies of Canada and the United States.

Work on the film began a little over a year ago when Mr. Warren Kiefer, scrip writer, was assigned to the project. Mr. Kiefer visited Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec City where he did research in preparation for writing the script. An American novelist, he is a veteran of the Korean War.

The film history covers from the battle of the Plains of Abraham through the First and Second World Wars, Korea and up to the present. A highlight of the story is the film sequences of Second World War battles including Dieppe, Ortoca, the Normandy Landings and the Falaise Gap.

The Army's overseas commitments are shown in scenes photographed in the Middle East and Germany.

CANADIANS

for Nova Scotia's Digby-Annapolis-Kings riding, told Mayor Gilroy he was "shocked and grieved" at the news from Springhill.

CO-ORDINATE RELIEF

George I. Smith, Nova Scotia's acting premier, announced the provincial government had set up a relief co-ordinating centre at the Springhill armories.

In Toronto, businessmen launched a round the clock Springhill Disaster Fund in co-operation with the Canadian Quo Vadis Foundation. They opened an emergency switchboard to take phoned donation pledges day or night.

Toronto radio stations said they would repeatedly broadcast appeals for contributions. Downtown business firms will be canvassed. Boy scouts and other youth groups were singled out to man collection centres at today's Big Four football league game between the Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts. Another centre will open tonight at Maple Leaf Gardens.

F. Hayes of Toronto, Quo Vadis national secretary, said groups in Quebec City, Montreal and Vancouver have been urged to set up Springhill disaster funds.

FUND WELL-ORGANIZED

By Saturday noon, more than $10,000 already had been collected in Toronto.

At Boston, John L. Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers Union, said in an interview that "the Nova Scotia disaster symphasizes the urgent need for vigilance in mining coal the world over."

"The bereavement and tragedy of the people involved," he added, "is hard to believe."

St. John Ambulance national headquarters at Ottawa announced at least four units—from Saint John and Moncton, N.B., and Amherst and Halifax, Nova Scotia—have gone to Springhill to do what they could.

NEXT AT THE BELLE — Cameron Mitchell and Joanne Woodward, play husband and wife in "No Down Payment", opening Monday at the Belle Theatre. They are co-starred with Sheree North, Tom Randall, Jeffrey Hunter, Patricia Owens, Barbara Rush and Pat Hingle, in the Jerry Wald CinemaScope production for Twentieth Century-Fox.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Coach Murphy Chamberlain of the Windsor Bulldogs finally won his point. Or did he?

What Chamberlain did was force the Frank Bathgate issue to the point where it was left to the OHA subcommittee to decide what was what and that august body promptly passed thumbs down on the request of Bathgate and Bellefeuille for his release to the Allan Cup champions.

But what did Chamberlain gain? Nothing more than a personal victory, for if Bathgate means what he says, and he has repeated the statement more than once, he will not play for either the Windsor or the Sudbury clubs this winter.

Chamberlain swapped Bathgate to Sudbury for a defenceman, and both Chamberlain and the Sudbury coach, "Peanuts" O'Flaherty, kept the wires hot between their respective cities and Belleville in an effort to get Bathgate to report to the Wolves.

Under ordinary circumstances it is understandable why Chamberlain, O'Flaherty and the OHA clamped down on Bathgate for not reporting to Windsor, if it is true he was under contract.

But with the McFarlands going overseas to defend Canada's world hockey championship, it seems to this sportsman that all three parties involved could have stretched the point. As matters stand neither Windsor nor Sudbury stand to gain anything by refusing to be a party to Bathgate's release, if when the player says he resigns, and will not play for either club.

The Macs, like the Whitby Dunlops of last year, are learning the price of glory. They will be the targets for the intangible barbs of criticism on their performances, and more pointed, the tangible threats of foemen's hockey sticks on the ice.

Manager Drury Denyes has been operating a more or less lone hand in securing what he deems to the necessary reinforcement for his club. He remained help of the OHA as the OHA has not yet put in an appearance, in fact many of his moves have been thwarted.

While early-season player setbacks are disappointing, to say the least, this corner feels sure the Macs will be represented by a club that is worthy in all phases to carry the banner of Canada into the world hockey tournament at Prague and emerge with its escutcheon unblemished and the victory pennant fluttering from its staff.

The Winnipeg Tribune yesterday broke the story that the McFarlands would be asked to loan the Kitchena Packers a complete forward line to strengthen their offence for the Russian junket. If the Macs refused the papet said, there Winnipeg Juniors would make the trip.

This was known here three weeks ago, but Manager Denyes would not assent to the request of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association unless it did something about the retirement of certain professional players.

It is true the McFarlands need strengthening before they take off for Europe. The club's management doesn't have to be told that, or reminded of it by every two-bit critic in the country.

They won six of their exhibition tilts, lost one and tied one. Surely did not look very impressive on two or three of these occasions, but the night they played Whitby they flashed the greater part of their potential and they could have beaten any senior club in the country.

And not a little criticism has been forthcoming right here at home.

Some fans apparently are forgetting that on the shoulders of the Macs rests the hockey honor of Canada. They will carry the torch handed down to them by the Whitby Dunlops. They are not retain the country's place at the top of the hockey world.

And it should not be forgotten that Manager Drury Denyes had the fan faithful in mind when he drew up the club's schedule. It was he who insisted that the Macs play a full schedule in the Eastern Senior league, instead of travelling all over Ontario and the United States in a prolonged series of exhibition games.

And every game the Macs undertake against their league rivals from Hull-Ottawa, Kingston, Cornwall and Whitby will be for figurative "blood." They will go all out to win, even as will their opposition.

Wanted, Players Who Can Pot Puck-Apply Leafs

Reay Forwards Have Scored Only 10 Goals in Five Tilts; Entertain Red Wings Tonight

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs, who practically hold a lease on the National Hockey League cellar, have to find some scoring power fast if they are to improve their position.

Leaf forwards have produced only 10 goals in the first five games and have not been able to muster more than three in any one appearance. Their only win so far is a 3-2 decision over Boston Bruins.

This weekend, Leafs meet the two clubs with the second-most goals total in the league. Detroit Red Wings, who have lumped to second place on 14 goals in six games, visit Toronto tonight and Sunday the Leafs go to New York for their first meeting with Rangers, who stand fifth with a goals-for record identical to Detroit's.

In other NHL action tonight Bruins visit Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks are in New York. Sunday night Canadiens meet the Wings in Detroit.

A couple of days ago Toronto coach Billy Reay announced he was in the market for a good right winger, "the sooner the better." Reay, looking for the kind of scoring that would bolster Leaf scoring, said he would be willing to give up a good defenceman for a suitable trade. He admitted, however, the prospects aren't very good.

One of the ironic notes has been the performance of forward Ted Sloan, dealt by Leafs to Chicago Black Hawks in an off-season deal. Sloan produced 13 goals in 59 games last season and Toronto wasn't too happy about it.

Ted has been a whirlwind with a 9-1 drubbing Thursday night.

Doug Harvey, burly Montreal defenceman who has been sidelined two weeks with an ankle injury, hopes to dress tonight.

Harvey also defenceman had a cast removed Friday and examination showed the ankle in good condition.

New York Rangers will be seeking their first win of the season. They're salvaged four ties out of six games.

Wet, Windy Weather Mars Moose Hunt

COCHRANE (CP) — Wet and windy weather has dashed hopes for a record moose-hunting season in Northern Ontario, veteran guides complained.

Although some take this month off, Ben Nigh, 51, may be 20 percent under last year's record of 5,000 animals shot.

Most of the moose shot in this region are bulls brought to the hunters' guns by expert callers. But in poor weather and high winds the mate-seeking bulls do not respond to the grunting moan of the birchbark horns.

Veteran outfitter Les Hughes reports that 46 hunters have put into the bush north of here came out with 38 moose. Biggest was one called by Jim Couchie of North Bay's Missing reserve. It had an antler spread of 63 inches, just six inches under the record established by Hughes a year ago by a bull shot near Temagami.

Moose hunting here have been senzned by the number of wolves seen this season. They are reported that hunters are getting daylight shots at them, normally unheard of.

Five Wolves Still Holdouts, Bulldogs Edge Maroons 5-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A game that wasn't played was in the spotlight in Ontario Senior Hockey Association circles.

Sudbury Wolves of the Ontario Hockey Association-Northern Ontario Hockey Association interlocking league had to call off their home game against Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds because of a player dispute.

In the southern section of the league, Chatham Maroons held on grimly against the undefeated comeback by Windsor Bulldogs to gain a 5-4 decision, first official league victory of the season.

A win may be registered in the paralyzed Sudbury game, too, if the league supports an appeal by Greyhounds. The Soo club is claiming victory by default because of Sudbury's inability to ice a team. A meeting of the NOHA executive is expected within a couple of weeks.

KINGSTON WINS

The powerful Senior A action in the province centred at Belleville where Kingston Merchants downed the Bellevile McFarlands 6-4 in the second game of the Eastern OHA schedule. Kingston and Hull Canadiens own the only two wins.

The Sudbury-Sault Ste. Marie game a few days ago when all but seven players left the ice during their contracts, saying they expected bonuses and jobs. Wolves' executive said they wouldn't break league regulations by paying bonuses and couldn't do much about jobs because of the International Nickel Company of Canada, Sudbury's only major employer.

Sudbury Coach John (Peanuts) O'Flaherty said Friday night the problem was quickly being ironed out and Wolves would ice a team next Wednesday at Sault Ste. Marie. He said 11 players had signed contracts with only five still holdouts.

WON'T BREAK RULES

O'Flaherty said the club wouldn't budge on its stand against bonus payments. He said other players would be brought in to fill out the lineup. Still holding out are forwards Hank Marczuk and Frank O'Grady and defenceman Norm Guimond, Andy Veyko and Gus Gustavson. Gustavson is currently sidelined by an injury.

At Chatham the Maroons had a 5-2 lead midway through the third period when Bulldogs came roaring back with two goals and threatened to tie it up. But the home club held them off.

Fred Pletsch, Jim Connelly, Gerry Allen, Dick and Copper Leyte scored for Chatham. Bulldog scorers were Len Speck, Bob Brown, Murray Costello and Lou Bendo.

Goalies Don Head of Chatham and Dan Olesevich of Windsor each had a shutout. Chatham drew 11 of the game's 19 penalties.

BUILD EARLY LEAD

Kingston struck fast, against Belleville to lead 4-0 before McFarlands caught fire in the third period to push home three. The Merchants pushed ahead with two more and a late McFarland surge could produce only one.

Lynn Davis was spectacular in the Merchants' goal with Belleville pushooting the visitors 31-22.

Kingston scorers were Joe Levandoski, Jim Maxwell, Moe Savard, Roy Partridge, Don Bellringer and Billie Corrin. McFarland goals were by Bart Bradley, Moe Benoit, Paul Payette and Davey Jones.

Rug Pulled Out From Under Sports Promoter

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The rug has been pulled out from under the United States promoter who offered fabulous professional contracts to Australia's ace netter, Herb Elliott, and the record-smashing Konrads kids.

The promoter, Lew Leavitt, was fired by his boss, Fred Spiess, secretary - treasurer of western promotions of San Francisco. The dismissal is effective Nov. 30.

"Leavitt has not been fired and greatly overstepped his authority," Spiess said in a press conference here. Leavitt offered Elliott the world's richest offer, $250,000 to turn professional, reportedly made a $125,000 offer to Alex Olmedo, Los Angeles boy who won many of the world's swimming records.

After Elliott turned down Leavitt's offer, the promoter attacked amateur officials as "a bunch of slobs" and threatened to make Australia's amateur rule fall for Elliott's amateur career.

Western promotions sponsors the tour of a group of Negro professional basketball players in Australia.

TOKYO AP)—St. Louis Cardinals slaughtered three pitchers with 13 hits today to win their second exhibition game in Japan by a stars 8 to 2 in a rainswept baseball game called after six innings.

Stan (The Man) Musial got a three-bagger and a single among the four tries. He scored one run and batted in another.

A four - run uprising in the fourth chased Japan's second-string pitcher Kazuo Hano, hero of Japanese ball, from the mound and gave Vinegar Bend Mizone the showers.

Winning pitcher Larry Jackson, pounded in one run, Don Blasingame single in another, Musial's single produced a third and Joe Cunningham doubled around the forth.

Petes Swamp Biltmores 16-2

GUELPH (CP) — Peterborough Petes won their first game of the season Friday night when they trounced Junior A season Friday night when they trounced Junior A Biltmores 16-2. The Petes were in command all the way as they fired 16 shots at goalie Gary Darling in the first, six in the second and five in the third.

Wayne Beddy and Pat Casey had two each with the others going to Tom Murdry, Dave Brown, Bill Mahoney and George Montague. Guelph goals were scored by Bob Brain and Bob Ertel.

From the opening whistle, Petes monopolized play, backed in on Guelph goalie Don Rich at will. Fortunately Rich looked to be on many shots that beat him, the loss wouldn't be charged to him entirely as his defence gave him little support. He stopped 46 shots.

The loss was one of the worst suffered by a Guelph team in many years. Besides playing loose defensively, the passing combinations were away off form.

'Feudin' Fussin Adds Color To Park-Packing NFL Games

By DON WEISS

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League's pass-packing operation even on a quiet week-end is "feudin' and fussin' this time around—to the jingle of the coin boxes from coast to coast.

If stadium overflows are permitted anywhere in the land Baltimore and San Francisco, they'll have them Sunday when Washington Redskins play the Colts at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium and the Chicago Bears meet the 49ers at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco.

These four are feudin' and fussin'—the Colts with the Redskins because of remarks Washington owner George Preston Marshall made about Baltimore's quarterback, and the 49ers and the Bears because of comments Coach Buck Shaw's coals occasionally took the other way for Papa Bear George Halas.

COMMONUS WORDS

"Wait 'til we get you Sunday," said the Colts' reply after Marshall took outspoken exception to a Colt player's quip that the Redskins didn't give him train fare home when he was cut from the team four or three years back.

"Wait 'til we get you back home," was coach Frankie Albert's answer to the Bears' 28-6 victory over the Lions in Chicago two weeks ago.

Sunday's the day.

There is a good deal at stake in each game, which is par for the NFL Sunday program. In the others, Cleveland throws a test for Los Angeles Rams and against the Cards at Chicago, the Irish Lions meet the Lions in Los Angeles, Pittsburgh Steelers challenge the Giants at New York, and Philadelphia Eagles meet the Packers in Green Bay.

The Colts are 7½-point favorites over Washington and the Bears are 6½ over the Lions in Chicago.

The Cardinals (1-2) are steadily improving under coach Pop Ivy's spectacular "triple wing" offence but the Browns, 4-0 and rolling toward another eastern conference title, are still 6½ choices. No one has yet conducted Cleveland's one-two punch of Jimmy Brown and rookie Bobby Mitchell. They've rushed for close to 1,100 yards rushing so far.

Aggressor Is Favored for Cambridgeshire

LONDON (AP) — Bookmakers have retained Aggressor as the 11-to-2 favorite for the 136th running of the Cambridgeshire Handicap next Wednesday.

Odds against the three-year-old colt have remained unchanged all week. But bookies said they screened their offer against the second choice, Baboo, from 7-to-1 to 13-to-2.

Liston Wins Over Whitehurst

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Charles (Sonny) Liston scored a unanimous 10-round decision Friday night over Bert Whitehurst, shocking the crowd out of the ring in the final seconds of the last round. Whitehurst was trying to climb back into the ring when the fight ended.

Liston took control of the fight from the start, working consistently on Whitehurst with his razor-like left.

Liston's weight of 212½ pounds —2½ more than his opponent— began to tell heavily on Whitehurst in the seventh. Whitehurst appeared tired when he came out for the eighth. It was Liston's first victory in 11 fights.

It was the 14th straight victory for Whitehurst and the second this year over Whitehurst, the only man who has been able to go the distance against him this year.

Liston, formerly of St. Louis but now fighting out of Philadelphia, caught his Baltimore opponent with a sharp left hook early in the ninth and had Whitehurst in serious trouble.

In the 10th Liston was in again midway in the round with his left. He caught Whitehurst on the chin. In a wild flurry of lefts and rights, Liston sent Whitehurst reeling through the ropes. Whitehurst lay on the apron as referee Harry Kessler began his count.

Eight Major College Teams Are Unbeaten

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — A paltry eight major college football teams remained undefeated and untied as the season arrived at the halfway point today.

Among the unbeatens, the doubtfulness of being the most likely to fall went to Northwestern, the sophomore-studded Wildcats from the big 10, Iowa, today's opponent, appeared too strong. The Hawkeyes have done sights set on the Rose Bowl. They are undefeated, but tied.

Ohio State, the defending champion and the big stumbling block in both Iowa's and Northwestern's big 10 title hopes, will have no easy task against Wisconsin.

Notre Dame and Navy, both favorites, had infirmary lists that were calculated to give coaches sleepless nights.

The Irish were just a one-point pick over Purdue but Navy was not expected to have problems against Penn.

UNBEATEN SQUADS

In addition to Army, Ohio State and Northwestern, the other unbeaten-untied squads are Texas, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Colorado and Rutgers.

Of these, Texas appeared to have the most difficult assignment. The Longhorns were more than a touchdown favorite over Rice in a night game.

Louisiana State was at home to Florida, Mississippi went against Arkansas, Colorado took on Kansas and Rutgers played Lehigh. All were heavy favorites.

George Washington upset William and Mary 7-0 in the only top game Friday night.

McFarlands Drop Opener To Kingston In 6-4 Thriller

Rally in Third Period Fails To Overcome Four-Goal Lead In Brawl-Speckled Battle

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Kingston's Brabin-Gagnon senior combine spread their New Deal hockey deck on Belleville ice last night—and it paid off.

They led with an ace, Lyn Davis, between the pipes and dealt an assorted offence and defence that handed the McFarlands an inaugural 6-4 defeat.

They smashed home four goals, one of them a fluke, in the first two periods of brawl-spattered battle, then held off a desperate third-period drive by the Macs to skate off with the victory.

Referee Ned Vitarelli had his hands full as the clubs came up with a typical Belleville-Kingston get-together. He assessed 91 penalties, eleven to the McFarlands, for a variety of misconducts, a game misconduct, three majors and five minors while the Merchants suffered seven minors and three majors.

The McFarlands dealt a last-minute player blow by the various powers-that-be were minus the services of Al Dewsbury, reported sold to Three Rivers; Frank Bathgate, refused his release by the OHA, and Flori Gegoan. "Wiener" Brown was lost to them after eight minutes of the second period when he was given two misconducts and an automatic game misconduct for arguing with the referee.

The league opening here was marked by ceremonies with OHA president Lorne Cooke, Mayor H.J. McFarland of Picton and Mayor Gerald Hyde of Belleville taking part. Further ceremony saw the Belleville Boosters Club present a cheque for $1,500 to club through manager Drury Denyes and Booster president Armand Duffy, for its overseas fund.

The game was delayed some twenty minutes when repairs had to be made to the nets after one was dislocated by Bus Gagnon's driving skates.

The Merchants scored two goals in each of the first and second periods for a comfortable six-goal lead. Lyn Davis was practically invincible in the nets until the opening of the third period when the Macs caught fire and slammed home three goals in eleven minutes.

Kingston got two of them back before the period end with the Macs fighting hard scoring another before the siren sounded. The McFarlands outshot the Merchants 31-22 on the night's play.

Bellringer, Colvin, Levandoski, Maxwell, Savard and Partridge were the Kingston marksmen with Bradley, Benoit, Jones and Payette scoring for the Macs.

Bellringer put the Merchants one up after four minutes of the game, seconds after Benoit returned from the hoosegow. Bellringer, Crawford and MacDonald were waved off in succession and the clock read 19.59 when Gagnon set up Colvin on the edge of the crease to give the Merchants a 2-0 lead.

The lid came off in the second period with tempers flaring and sticks waving. Thirteen of the game's 21 penalties were handed out in this frame with the boys trading out all over the ice. Seven minutes had gone when the puck came from nowhere, hit [illegible] and while a dozen surprised players looked on.

Then MacDonald got the gate and "Wiener" drew his trio of misconducts for over - argument. Bukacheskik was heaved and Davis was tops, kicking out the Macs' defence. MacDonald and McNiff tangled, the latter drawing a minor and major and MacDonald a major for fighting and Gendron roughed matters and each drew a minor and major. Maxwell spearheaded a Savard, Fildes drive to put the Merchants four goals up before Savard was given the gate.

The Macs ripped into action starting the third period and Bart Bradley broke the scoring ice on a play by Benoit and Jones. Moe made it 4-2 17 seconds later and the crowd came to life. The Macs surged to the attack and outshot the Merchants 8-3 in the period. They added the third goal when Paul Fayette lipped in Crawford's slapshot.

McNiff drew two minors but the stubborn Merchants' defence and Davis held off the Macs' payoff drives. Savard reduced the margin to 5-3 at 13.23 and Partridge clinched the victory two minutes later. Davis' boys slammed home the fourth Mac goal with two minutes to go.

Al Dewsbury Reinstated; Joins Macs

Al Dewsbury; former National Hockey League, and a bone of contention between pros and amateurs, became the property of the Belleville McFarlands today. He will line up with the Macs against the Whitby Dunlops tonight.

Manager Drury Denyes announced the reinstatement this morning after talking with National Hockey League officials.

The Three Rivers team of the Quebec Senior League, who picked up Dewsbury's waiver, relinquished their claim today, and the big defenceman was reinstated as an amateur.

Dewsbury, who stacked he was through with professional hockey, was owned by the Hershey Bears.

When they put him on waiver, the Three Rivers team picked it up but Dewsbury said he would not play for the club.

Last night in the dressing room big Al said "Three Rivers called me and asked me if I was going to report to them.

"I said I might — for $10,000.

"They hung up on me," laughed Al.

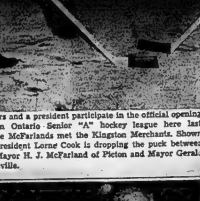
Will Decide Junior's Fate

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The Ontario Hockey Association will meet in Toronto Sunday to decide whether Don Gresso of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., will play his junior A hockey this season with Guelph Biltmores or St. Catharines Teepees.

Gresso played with St. Catharines in the 1946-47 season. Early last season Teepee coach Roxy Plaus agreed to send him to Guelph for $100 for the season and $500 if Guelph wanted to keep him for the remainder of his junior career.

Plaus said this money had to be delivered no later than Jan. 1, 1948. The agreement was not offered until August when Plaus refused the $500.

The deal was made between Plaus, now coach of Chicago Black Hawks but still general manager of the junior club, and Guelph manager Roy Mason, now no longer with the club.



Warriors Sign Three Players

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League have announced the signing of defenceman Ed. Zemrau and forwards Ray Brunel and Gerry Brisson to their first professional hockey contracts.

Crackups Mar Bike Classic

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two crackup marred the opening of the international bicycle race championships Friday night.

Coming out of a turn, Harvey Phillips, a Canadian riding for the British Empire team, tangled wheels with Tino Orlani of Italy and Theo Intra of Germany. Phillips suffered a shoulder injury and was taken to a hospital. Orlani had a badly bruised face and Intra sustained a gash on his forehead.

The other spill involved Pat Murphy of Toronto, Erwin Pesek of Chicago and Herb Weinrich of the German team. They were shaken up but continued riding.

The international team of John Tressider of Australia, Ward Vande Velde of Belgium and Heinz Wellrouti, former German junior champ now living in Chicago, took a one-lap lead.

The championships end Nov. 1 after 11 sessions.

Search for New Adaptable Birds

The age-old economic law of supply and demand applies to upland shooting just as much as it does to any other business. That's right — game management and the maintenance of adequate game supplies in the covers of the nation already has achieved the status of big business, in the multi-million-dollar class.

Our native game species find themselves hard pressed to produce safe shootable surpluses under present-day conditions. Clean farming, over-grazing, drainage, power equipment, insecticides, urbanization, declining soil fertility, etc, all have taken their toll. Thus, new species able to adapt themselves to these changing conditions, are presently much in demand.

Realizing the urgency of increasing habitat productivity, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, through its subsidiary, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, constantly is in search of new adaptable species, other words, what we need, and need badly, are game birds that can flourish and reproduce under our present-day radically changed conditions.

So a Foreign Game Introduction Program has been set up. Constantly foreign species are being studied and placed under experimentation. You are familiar with some of the imports—the ringnecked pheasant, the Hungarian partridge, the chukar partridge, and so on. There have, of course, been dozens of experimental introductions which have not been successful or satisfactory. And still the search goes on.

Currently in progress are studies of the red-legged partridges of England, France and Spain, other partridges from India and the Middle East as well as some little-known species of pheasants from Iran and Afghanistan. The one bird, however, which shows great promise for adaptation to our denuded countryside is the Spanish red-legged partridge.

SEEK AVAILABLE INFORMATION

Exact information on this bird is not easily come by. Each year about three million of them are shot in Spain, yet exact data is not available. Tales and accounts from farmers, sportsmen, etc, can not be depended upon. The reliable information so far collected would not fill three printed pages.

Thus, investigators must start from scratch, both on the breeding grounds in Spain. This has been done and the results are interesting. The birds seem to prefer open, cultivated farm land, avoiding dense cover and forests and preferring the fast, low flyers and their erratic flight tests the skill of the gunner.

At the present, the bird seems to be more likely to establish itself satisfactorily in the flat lands of the middle west, but it is hoped that some of our eastern farm lands may prove to be to its liking.

The Foreign Game Introduction Program, is to our way of thinking, a highly commendable project. There is no possibility of haphazard introductions that have been done in the past by well-meaning but unqualified individuals. Instead, each bird is studied thoroughly and the biologists know, well in advance, what the eventful outcome of any stockings will be.

Again, our congratulations to Fish and Wildlife. As usual, they are doing a swell job.

"But, Howard! If I mentioned your golf scores number while calling signals, it was only a coincidence!"

RESCUE WORKERS

The earlier fund is still distributing $500,000 collected for the relief of families of the 30 dead miners.

Draegermen came from the fields of Picou County and Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, to help the rescue work and voluntarily accepting the dangerous assignments without extra pay, they probe the hazardous recesses of disaster-struck collieries to pave the way for bare-faced miners with their picks and shovels.

Twenty draegermen entered the mine a few hours after the bump. Day and night they worked in the man crews, spelled every two hours by teammates with fresh air in the tanks strapped to their backs.

GORDON IN COMMAND

Early, Friday, tough and hard-some Harold Gordon arrived to direct rescue operations from inside the pit. He works cooly and efficiently, armed with the respect of men who know him as an executive who can lead almost to do a job he hasn't done himself.

At his first press conference Friday, his eyes were filled with tears as he told reporters:

"Gentlemen, I regret very much . . . that I consider there is no hope for any of the men." He later clarified his statement to say there was a slim hope for men in the 13,000-foot area "only because no-one has not seen them." Early today, when asked if there had been any indication of life from the missing miners, he replied "none." His hope for those at 13,000 feet was based on conditions he said were better than in other areas where men are believed trapped.

INSTALL NEW FANS

Everything was being done to speed the rescue work. But progress was slow. New fans were being installed to flush the air and improve ventilation.

Late Friday night half the 70 miners working below shafts formed a kneeling bucket brigade. They passed pails of debris from hand to hand. The last man dumped the dirt where it would not hinder or obstruct the pick-and-shovel teams.

Jim Spence, one of the rescued miners, told a press conference gas was coming from the 13,000-foot level. "So there must be air coming in," he said. And the waiting women grasped another straw.

ENGINEERS' CHOICE

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP) — Lt. Col. C. R. Wilkins of West Vancouver has been elected president of the Military Engineers Association of Canada.

WINDSOR (CP)—The general manager of the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals told Friday of his battle against inhumane treatment of animals in Northern Ontario.

Robert Friend, giving his report to the Ontario SPAC's convention, said he drove 35,000 miles in the north to seek out and prevent cruelty to horses in logging camps.

"I found horses tied to trees—left to die by their owners at the end of the season," he said. Others had been beaten to death.

"We found another animal which had been dragged to death behind a jeep by his master because he kept trying to get back in the stable when he was not wanted.

"We went ahead and prosecuted this one and the man got a year's hard labor."

GETS BA AT 66

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Cathleen Pearce, who will be 67 next month, and who is as proud and charming as many other coeds 40 years her junior, received her bachelor of arts degree at the University of Western Ontario's fall convocation Friday. She was one of 180 who received degrees.

Labor Federation Not Happy With Judge's Report

TORONTO (CP) — The executive of the 400,000-member Ontario Federation of Labor has criticized Mr. Justice W. D. Roach's report dealing with the teamsters' union and said some of its conclusions were based on "bad errors of judgment."

The judge conducted a one-man royal commission inquiry into the activities of the union. Independent truckers and gravel pit owners during disputes in the Toronto area in 1956 and 1957. In his report Mr. Justice Roach found the Teamsters guilty of "coercion and intimidation" in efforts to get drivers to join the union.

The OFL executive said in a statement "the real cause of his particular trouble was the outright exploitation of the truckers by the gravel pit owners.

The federation said Mr. Justice Roach in his conclusions had ignored two points set out in the body of the report: That the unions were called in after the strike took place and that union representatives had called on the truckers to end the strike and return to work.

Garden Notes

Garden Shrubs Have Many Uses

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Every garden needs shrubs. Plant them for color, to define boundaries, to tie the house to the ground in foundation plantings, for a screen or a windbreak. There are many shrubs which will perform two or more of these functions at the same time. For instance a border or foundation planting can provide a lot of fine color and a variety of interesting texture, size, and shapes.

A thick hedge will break the wind and modify the temperature as much as 10 to 20 degrees. It will screen dust and noise and afford privacy.

Fall planting can be carried on from September through November.

Before making definite plans to buy any shrubs consult your local nurseryman. He will advise you on what is available, what grows well under local conditions and give special planting instructions.

He will be able to tell you which evergreens do well and which will not tolerate dust or smoky conditions. Some shrubs are quite happy in semi or fairly dense shade while others demand full sun to produce satisfactory color, bloom and good symmetry.

One of the most important questions is the ultimate height and spread which the shrub will attain. Tall growing shrubs cannot be controlled down to three or four feet by severe pruning. You will only succeed in a mangling and destroy the beauty of the plant. Better to buy a type which will maintain the height and size you desire. The full beauty of shrub can only be realized when it is given sufficient room to develop its natural habit. Then the leaves, bloom, fruit and the fall coloring will be at their best. If you wish a thick planting at once plant the shrubs close and this as they grow and fill out.

PREPARE SOIL WELL

Careful preparation of the soil before planting will do more to insure good growth for your shrubs than twice the amount of work after they are planted. Take off the top 18 inches of soil and put it aside. If the lower soil is heavy clay replace it with top soil, mix in a good quantity of humus such as ground corn cobs, sawdust, leaf mold or peat moss add a pint of bone meal and mix well. If the lower soil is sandy mix in humus and bonemeal. Fill in around shrub with soil mixed with humus and bone meal. Bone meal is especially useful in fall fertilizing. It has a slow action which will not leach out readily during the winter and can be used for establishing shrubs and in fall bulb planting.

If you need a tall hedge Douglas fir or Colorado spruce are good in the evergreens. Other good hedge material are the lilacs, privet, mock orange, (small leaf, lemoin or erectus), European beech, Japanese green, or redleaf barberry, alpine currant, Japanese yew and Siberian pea, and Korean box.

Critically Hurt Man May Know Cause Of Blast

Ottawa Janitor Rescued From Building's Rubble

OTTAWA (CP) — Solution to the mystery surrounding a terrific explosion that carved millions of dollars in damage out of downtown Ottawa Saturday may hinge on the evidence of one man.

William Anderson, 45, who lies critically burned in an Ottawa hospital today, was found in the rubble at the centre of the blast.

Miraculously, no one was killed. Anderson was janitor in the Addressograph-Multigraph of Canada Limited shop where the explosion is say the last workman left.

Police told a special meeting of City Council's standing arrangements committee they got "valuable information" from Anderson when he regained consciousness Sunday morning.

His testimony may be the nucleus of investigations being conducted by police, fire and gas company officials in trying to pin down the explosion's source.

CRITICAL CONDITION

With burns covering most of his body, Anderson continued in critical condition today, although the hospital said he "is a little better."

The explosion rattled Ottawa at 8:17 a.m., EDT Saturday, at a time when the streets in the central business area are usually deserted.

Only five persons were admitted to hospital. Anderson was the only one in critical condition. Thirty-four others were treated at hospital and released after receiving first-aid on the scene.

Damage was estimated at between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Apartments in the area were evacuated as an estimated 300 persons. Interiors of most of these were a shambles.

Three two-storey buildings were levelled, including the business section of Elm in which the blast appeared to have been centred. Another three-storey building was wrecked and leaned over precariously.

Directly across the street from these, the interior of the federal government's Skyline Garden Building was wrecked, apparently by a tremendous vacuum. Almost every window was shattered. Partition walls were blown down and many offices, including those of Health Minister Monteith and several commission chief A. D. P. Heeney, were wrecked.

On a week-day, some 1,500 civil servants work in the building. Public Works Minister Fournier, deputy works minister, said it would take $200,000 to repair the damage since months to make repairs. Employees are being assigned to other government buildings.

The blast was heard many kilometres away. Parliament

Reds Will Spare Docks, Airstrips From Shelling

TAIPEI (AP) — Communist guns fired only sporadically at the Quemoys today in Red China's new every-other-day war.

This was the first odd-numbered or shelling day since the Communists announced they would exempt airstrips, beaches and docking areas so that supplies could be brought in.

Nationalist defence headquarters reported sporadic shelling this morning on tiny Tatan Island in the Quemoy complex and light, scattered shelling elsewhere in the group.

But the volume of fire fell far short of the old days when the Communists unloaded thousands of shells on the Nationalist-held islands every day.

REDS BUSY

Nationalist headquarters reported new Communist military preparations along the mainland coast facing Quemoy and opposite Matsu, 150 miles to the north.

The Nationalists said there are seventeen counted some 1,500 soldiers constructing ground fortifications opposite Quemoy in the last three days. Nationalist defenders on Quemoy reported the Communists building groundworks on the Pechiao Peninsula nearby.

Gunboats and landing craft were reported active in Amoy harbor, facing Quemoy, but there were no reports of any clashes.

The Nationalist ambassador to the United States, George Yeh, described as groundless reports that Taipei would reduce its 100,000-man garrison on the Quemoys at the present time.

However, he did not rule out a gradual reduction after the firepower on the islands is increased through new and better weapons.

Despite the slackening of Red shelling, rough seas in the Formosa Strait prevented the sending of supply convoys to Quemoy Sunday or today.

No Reason Given For Sawing off Both His Legs

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)—Stanley E. Severo, 32, a fruit picker deliberately sawed off both his legs below the knee with a hand rip saw, sheriff's investigator Ed Bates reported Saturday.

Why?

Bates said Severo was too weakened by loss of blood to explain.

Bates and Charles Erickser, a fellow investigator, gave this report:

John Severo, 66, found his son, lying bleeding inside a shed at their Modesto home Friday. The father screamed for help.

Rushing from next door, neighbor Lewis Hatton quickly twisted tourniquets on both legs to stop the bleeding.

Hatton's quick work probably saved him from dying," Bates said.

In the shed officers found Severo had used a steak knife to cut away the flesh just below the knees. Then he had sawed through the bones.

Today's Chuckle

One great obstacle to marriage these days is the increasing difficulty in supporting the government and a wife on one income.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A low pressure trough will move very slowly northward across New England, causing a large area of cloudiness and scattered showers from the lower Great Lakes eastward across northeastern United States to Nova Scotia. Snow is recorded at some of the higher stations in the Appalachian Mountains. A high pressure area, over northwestern Ontario, will continue bringing sunny skies to the northern regions of the province today and Tuesday.

Queen Unveils Memorial for Unknown Graves

BROCKWOOD, England (CP)—The Queen unveiled a big white stone memorial Saturday to 2,500 soldiers who died in the Second World War and have no known graves.

It bears the names of 199 Canadians, most of them victims of the 1942 Dieppe raid.

The Brockwood memorial, circular, colonnaded, with 18 name-bearing pillars, stands on a green hillside overlooking a boy scout camp of more than 7,000 Commonwealth servicemen who died in both world wars. Nearby are the graves of 2,407 Canadians.

Cleaning up Rubbish in Tenement, New York Caretaker Finds $65,300

NEW YORK (AP)—Late Friday afternoon a tenant of an apartment house on Pike street complained that rubbish was scattered about the dark rear of the corridor. Ben Troger, caretaker, hurried to clean it up before dark.

It included orange peels, apple cores, torn paper, 68 $1,000 bills, 24 $500 and 23 $100 bills.

Troger, who is over 80 years old, has lived all his days as a devout orthodox Jew.

It wasn't until after sundown Saturday night that the old man showed up at the nearest police station with the money. Capt. Stephen Luckas counted it.

"Sixty-five thousand three hundred dollars" he gasped.

"Did you bring it in person?" Luckas asked.

"It was the Sabbath," Troger replied.

One of the first persons questioned by police about the money —a tiny little lady believed by neighbors to be no poor that they fed her—claimed she had thrown it away by mistake.

Mrs. Ahlin Kidansky, 65, who sleeps on the floor of a tenement apartment, $25-a-month apartment in Troger's house, said she and her sister used to have a dress shop but went out of business nine years ago.

TIGHTER FEDERAL CONTROL URGED OVER GAS, OIL

Commission Urges National Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Tighter federal control over Canada's huge gas and oil industry was urged by the Borden energy commission in a 30,000-word report which proposed no pipeline officials for reaping huge paper profits on stock deals.

The six-man body, headed by Toronto lawyer Henry Borden, called for the creation of a national energy board with powers to set up and control pipelines to regulate the industry.

It urged also that the board's transport commissioners be forced to regulate interprovincial pipeline tolls and gas and oil selling prices.

At the same time it agreed that Alberta—the main supply centre —had heavy reserves of gas and oil and that exports should be allowed, under regulation. The United States was shaping up as a tremendous market for Canadian natural gas.

MEMO AGREEMENT

But it suggested that a gas export licence to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited be held up until it gets Alberta's agreement to take out more gas and U.S. agreement to allow exports into that market. Meanwhile, a previous Liberal government commitment to allow the company an export licence should be rescinded.

As for the most controversial issue of all the question of whether the government should encourage construction of an Alberta-to-Montreal oil pipeline, the commission indicated this was too tough a problem for immediate decision.

It said it would deal with it in a later report—how much later was not made clear—and in the meantime nothing in the interim report was to be construed as indicating what the final recommendations would be.

Plane Stolen From Kingston Crashes at Syracuse, 2 Die

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Two teen-aged Canadian Army recruits were killed near here on Sunday in the crash of an airplane they had stolen.

Ronald Matthews, 17, of Ottawa, and Robert R. Dodge, also 17, of Anoka, Minn., were the victims.

They took a single-engined plane from a hangar at the flying field in Kingston, Ont. Their destination was not known. Neither had had any formal pilot training.

The plane apparently ran out of fuel over this central New York area.

Major Political Row Brews Over Monty's NATO Criticism

LONDON (AP)—A major political row appeared brewing today over Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery's testy attack on the Western world's defence ideas.

It could force some hard thinking for politicians in the United States and Britain, the two senior partners in the power North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Montgomery has charged in effect that the West's defence machinery is out of date and bogged in bureaucracy.

The British Labor party served notice it will make Montgomery's charges of NATO inefficiency a ballot at the new session of Parliament which opens this week. The Montgomery line is likely to win warm response in France but may cause upsets among smaller NATO nations which insist on the right to be consulted on NATO decisions.

Montgomery retired last month after seven years as NATO's deputy supreme commander. Now he is record calling NATO's strategic thinking dumbfounded and its political control system—with more than 100 committees—too cumbersome for getting things done.

He said that as a result the West could not cope with Communist subversion and economic infiltration aimed at winning African and the non-Communist part of Asia.

He suggested a smaller British-American military command with a Frenchman as boss.

Montgomery's views are known to line up with those of many senior officers at NATO's Paris headquarters. But they have been irked by NATO's political machinery, with its endless and sometimes futile consultations on any major move.

He has a powerful supporter, too, in Premier de Gaulle of France. De Gaulle argues that the United States, Britain and France have a special place in the West and should be able to override smaller powers on quick defence decisions.

Defence Minister George Brown made clear his party will try to use Montgomery's criticisms to score over Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservative government.

The Labor pitch is this:

Montgomery was Britain's senior representative at NATO. He gave his views to the British government know of any defects they did so. Why did the government do nothing to remove them?

CARDINALS FAIL TO ELECT POPE ON 8TH BALLOT

Two False Alarms Seen on Sunday.

VATICAN CITY (CP) — The princes of the Roman Catholic Church failed today apparently on their eighth ballot in two days, to elect a new pope.

Black smoke curled from a chimney of the Sistine Chapel for the second time today and the fourth in two days. It meant the 51 cardinals closed in secret meeting could reach no agreement on the man who, in their estimation, would be the best teacher and pastor for 500,000,000 Catholics.

The Vatican Radio still did not commit itself definitely, but described the smoke of each obvious blackness that one might assume there was a unanimous decision.

Twenty minutes after the first puff, black smoke still issued from the Sistine chimney pipe and enough time had passed to have brought any newly-elected pope to the balcony.

Thus it was evident the cardinals had failed again.

CROWD DISAPPOINTED

The crowd, which had grown to about 100,000 in a relatively few minutes, turned away once more in disappointment. The radio went off the air still without making its announcement definite. But there could be little doubt about the result.

The cardinals evidently had taken steps to make the bus of the smoke definite.

Five successive waves of black smoke poured out of the chimney of the Sistine Chapel.

The smoke maintained its dense blackness, confirming to observers that the seventh and eighth ballots also had been inconclusive, and that the cardinals had failed to achieve the required majority.

Voting was then suspended until Tuesday morning.

Puffs of smoke earlier this morning also were black.

The seventh and sixth ballots in the cardinals' secret

Springhill Mine Yields Its Dead With Reluctance

Two More Bodies Added To 6 Recovered Sunday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada is opening its heart and its purse to the disaster-struck coal mining town of Springhill, N.S.

The most ambitious plan of assistance is proposed by a Toronto group. A. G. Sampson, a native of L'Ardoise, N.S., who has already made a personal contribution of $2,000 to Springhill relief, heads a group which plans to organize the most spectacular television program ever seen in Canada. The aim is to raise $1,000,000 in a few nights.

Britain's London Sunday Express suggested assistance from the British government.

Nucleus of the campaign is the newly-constituted Springhill Disaster Relief Fund, 1958. It is conduit for the fund set up in 1956 to aid families of 39 miners killed by an explosion. Contributions can be sent to the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Springhill.

PREMIER'S APPEAL

The Toronto fund was created after Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia wired that all possible help was needed to keep Springhill alive. He said James Kerfills of Toronto, organizer of the television program, "offers his responsibility is to keep Springhill alive."

Rosemary Dudley, director of public service for the Canadian Red Cross Society, will make an on-the-spot survey for the committee on Springhill disaster's needs. If more money is collected than is needed for immediate relief, it will be used to establish school and college scholarships.

The Toronto Kinsmen Club said it was being given to presenting the program next Sunday night. The Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters and the Canadian Corporation Women's League announced action-wide financial drives.

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Relays of mine rescue men today continued their grim job of digging out the dead in the depths of the Cumberland No. 2 coal mine.

They brought out six bodies on Sunday and two today. This brought the number recovered from the rock-filled underground tunnels to 18.

At least another 30 bodies are known to lie on a seam 3,000 to 13,400 feet from the mine portal and perhaps a few more at the 13,800-foot level.

The dead brought out during the weekend came from these areas.

Meanwhile, Charles MacKenzie of Thorburn, N.S., rescue crew leader, said "it may take days or weeks" to reach 20 or 26 men trapped on the 13,000-foot level.

Company officials say they must be presumed dead. If they are, the toll in the Thursday night "bump" or rock burst will reach 93, the worst Canadian colliery disaster in 46 years.

When the violent earth tremor shattered the mine 174 men were caught underground.

At last report rescuers were still more than 2,000 feet from the 13,000-foot level.

Progress was agonizingly slow. One miner back on the surface said it took four hours to clear only five feet of rock to reach one body.

Below ground a cold rain fell on Springhill, adding to the gloom that grips the community.

It was known that no one is alive in the two lowest levels of the mine. Even on the 13,000-foot level, from which there has been no word, all must be presumed dead.

Harold Gordon, coal company vice-president and rescue director, said, "there is only a very slight hope that anyone is still alive."

The last of 88 survivors reached the surface late Friday. Since then no living men have been brought out.

The town prepared today to hold funeral services for more of the dead. Two victims of the earth-shredding bump were buried Sunday.

The body of Harry Halliday, first to be recovered, was claimed on a windswept hill near the graves of many of 39 men killed in a 1956 explosion in the now closed No. 4 colliery. His right hand clutched a rosary and there in a final farewell to her son, brought tears to the eyes of the hard-bitten rescuers.

A few hours before the sealed coffin, the flag-draped and lined mining community abandoned their private grief and proceeded to churches. Rev. Desmond McConnell, United Church minister, said "all of us realize this week we realize how mortal and weak we are."

Meanwhile hardened rescue workers stemmed in and out of the No. 2 mine, seeking the missing men. Rescuers were reported within 2,000 feet of the 13,000-foot level Sunday morning.

Charlie MacKenzie, Thorburn, N.S., mine rescue crew and leader of a dragerman crew, said he saw

Research Team Discovers Tension Is Main Cause of Heart Disease

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Men who fight deadlines constantly and hard-driving executives in competitive business world are the most likely candidates for heart disease, a medical research team reported Sunday.

This finding came from a study of a group of men engaged in high-tension jobs, compared with a similar group whose daily routine lacked the pressure of competition.

The study indicated that also hot consumption, cigaret smoking, strenuous exercise and overweight did little or nothing to do with the inclination toward heart disease, according to the big item.

In the group which showed the greatest tendency toward heart trouble were city and managing editors of San Francisco Bay area newspapers, television officials, advertising firm executives, representatives of engineering firms and high officers of business corporations. There were 83 subjects.

To match these the researchers picked 83 men of similar age from non-competitive fields. They included city employees, embalmers, bookkeepers and others engaged usually in routine jobs. They were supposed to represent the easy-going, relatively carefree element in the population.

All were tested for signs of heart disease, blood fat levels, and blood clotting time. All were asked to keep track of their intake of alcohol, food fat content and cigaret smoking one week.

Dr. Meyer Friedman and Dr. Ray H. Rosenman, of San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital, reported the results of the experiments to the American Heart Association.

There were no important differences in there groups as fa food, exercise, fat, alcohol consumption and smoking, the investigators said. But the tests of the high-tension group showed the slight times as much clinical heart disease as in the easy-going element.

Twenty-three in the tension group had heart disease, as against only four in the non-tension division, the researchers said.

Algerian Rebels Reject French Peace Proposal

CAIRO (Reuters) — The "free Algerian government" Saturday rejected French Premier de Gaulle's call for talks on an Algerian cease-fire and branded it "a request for unconditional surrender."

A communique from the provisional republic, however, left the door open for negotiations on new bases. It said the Algerian people in its entirety.

De Gaulle last Thursday offered safe conduct to representatives of the insurgent National Liberation Front (FLN) to go to Paris for talks to end the four years of fighting in Algeria.

The communique issued after a cabinet meeting said: "De Gaulle's statement constituted a refusal to negotiate."

Commercial Jet Sets New Record Across U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—A new commercial jet plane landed across the United States Saturday in four hours and 43 minutes, clipping an hour and 57 minutes off the record set for transcontinental flight by a piston-driven one.

The landed record for transatlantic operations by Pan American Airlines, brought 39 passengers, mostly company representatives, and a crew of five. It left Los Angeles at 8:56 a.m. EST and arrived here at 1:41 p.m.

The new jet could have been timed its time if bad weather hadn't delayed its landing about 15 minutes.

Cardinal's Body Is Flown Home

ROME (AP)—The body of Edmund Cardinal Dalton was flown back to the United States Sunday night.

The 76-year-old archbishop of Detroit died at the North American College Thursday just an hour before he was to have gone into retreat with other cardinals to elect a new pope.

Sunday night, as the cardinals were still locked in their secret meeting, the American prelate's body was put aboard an airliner for the flight to New York. From there, the body will be put aboard another plane for Detroit.

MRS. FLORENCE YOUNG PALMER

Another native daughter of Prince Edward County passed away on October 23rd when Mrs. Florence Young Palmer succumbed to a heart attack following admittance to hospital in Belleville on Thursday night in her 87th year she had been enjoying her customary good health and the pleasure of rounding out her life on the parental farm.

Three Juveniles Attempt Holdup With Arrows

City police thought they had heard everything but when they received a telephone call Saturday evening reporting an attempted holdup with bow and arrow they really pricked up their ears.

Investigation revealed that three East Hill juveniles knocked at a door and when it was answered by the lady of the house one of the trio with drawn bow pointed an arrow at the woman and demanded $5.

"Give us five dollars or we'll let you have it," the woman reported one of the juveniles saying.

But the attempted holdup was thwarted as the woman slammed the door in the boys' faces and her husband called police.

Officers rounded up the boys and took them to the police station. The boys' bow and arrows were confiscated by the law.

Police to Stage Hockey Game For Charity

TRENTON — Crippled children, Brownies and Cubs from Trenton and Hillcrest Park will be the special guests next Saturday night when Trenton Police meet the Belleville Provincial Police in a hockey contest at the Community Centre.

All children under the age of 12 and accompanied by their parents or parent will be admitted free of charge.

Besides the three periods of hockey there will be other forms of entertainment. Constable Isabel Adams and her skating pupils from Trenton will put on a display in figure skating and it is expected Miss Barbara Thrasher from Belleville will also be in attendance.

A band will be on hand to supply the music and at present negotiations are underway to engage one for the evening a door prize will be drawn for and the winner will go home with an 8 mm movie camera.

Tickets are 50 cents and may be purchased from any police man in advance or may be bought at the Community Centre on the night of the game. Last year the Trenton Police played the Trenton Firemen.

Proceeds will be used for benevolent purposes and part of it will be used for the Christmas basket for distribution by the Salvation Army to needy families.

Lineups for the hockey game are not known as yet, but it is expected Trenton policemen will be adding Constable Tom Guy of the Brighton detachment of the OPP and Cpl. Archie Kellar of the Campbellford OPP to enable them to have three lines.

Liberal Leader To Be Speaker At Legion Supper

TRENTON — Advance ticket sales indicate that this year's Trenton Legion Remembrance Day Banquet will see the largest turnout of the spacious Trenton Legion Memorial Hall.

Guest speaker on the occasion will be the Hon. John J. Wintermeyer, Q.C., M.P., Leader of the Official Opposition in the Ontario Legislature and recognized as one of the finest public speakers in the Province of Ontario.

An interesting program is planned and, following the conclusion of the formal portion of the evening, the committee in charge has provided some pleasant entertainment.

A sumptuous turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, will be served by the Branch Ladies' Auxiliary, who have long been noted for the excellence and abundance of their repasts.

A complete program will appear in this newspaper next week and in view of current sales, citizens are urged to acquire their tickets for the banquet as soon as possible, as the event will, in all probability, be a complete sell-out.

Poppy Day Funds Will Be Used for Welfare

TRENTON — Saturday, November 8th, will be a very important day to many veterans and their dependents in the Trenton district.

The annual Trenton Legion Poppy Day will be held on that date and the amount of assistance which may be provided to deserving and unfortunate veterans and their families in the coming year depends upon the success of the campaign.

The importance and necessity of a financially successful day is emphasized by the fact that, for the first nine months of 1958 alone, approximately $400 was paid out in welfare to veterans and their dependents in the Trenton area that was realized by Branch No. 110 last November.

This year the committee headed by the Branch Chaplain, Flight Lieutenant the Reverend Ian Wilson, has planned many of a generous response to the appeal. Individuals and citizens are that this will be the most successful campaign on record.

Organization members of the Branch Ladies' Auxiliary and Legion Juniorettes are assisting in this essential and estimable campaign are urged to report to the Legion Branch at the Legion Hall at 8:45 a.m. on the morning of Saturday, November 8th.

Notices Will Be Mailed Out End of Month

TRENTON — On October 31, the assessment notices for the tax year of 1959 will be mailed out to ratepayers, Mayor Wallace Chisholm announced.

Every attempt has been made to make as many ownership changes as possible. In accordance with policies adopted by larger municipalities a few months ago changes were made this year in the method of printing the roll and assessment notices, the Trenton assessment department reports.

It was not the policy in the past to inform ratepayers anything concerning their tenants. There has been a departure from this policy and in fact many landlords are being sent individual notices on each tenant, but owing to staff changes and consequent shortage of time it has been impossible to give a breakdown of assessment allocated to individual tenants.

It will be the practice in 1959 to send each landlord individual notices and it should be a benefit to down of assessment values for each tenant.

The assessed values of property on the 1959 roll do not reveal any change in policy from previous years since the assessment in 1958 was found that most of his time has by necessity been required in re-organization of records which are so essential to the department.

SPRINGHILL MINE

no chance of anyone being alive. Rescue crews, wearing oxygen masks, were running into pockets of poisonous gas which impeded progress.

Hal Marsh, president of United Mine Workers of America "Local 2 District 26, said the condition of the mine is unbelievable unless it is seen. One dragerman said the bump buckled the tunnels so badly that where there was a 10-foot space between floor and roof there now is less than 10 inches.

If the death toll reaches 90, it will be the worst coal mining disaster since 126 men died at Hillcrest, Alta., in 1914. It came two days after the Dominion Coal Company's chief mining engineer tested the mine and found it to be safe. Louis Frost said boring for heat which had been conducted bumps before proved negative. He said that because of varying conditions a test bore elsewhere might have brought out the hard rock.

Maynooth Lions Return Pumper To Lindsay

LINDSAY (CP) — The Lions Club of Maynooth returned its recently-purchased 30-year-old pumper to Lindsay Friday and town officials promptly sent it back again.

The Lions of Maynooth, about 70 miles northeast of here, had a mouth agreed to pay Lindsay $300 for the pumper, which Lindsay had replaced with a new one. The Lions overlooked one important item: Maynooth has no piped water supply.

The Lions immediately stopped the cheque issued to Lindsay.

A deputation from Maynooth then visited Lindsay and the council if it would consider taking the pumper back. The request was turned down.

Nevertheless the pumper arrived here Friday. Lindsay, transported by trailer-truck at a cost to the Lions of $340.

Girl Jockeys Proposed by Race Official

DONCASTER, Eng. (Reuters)—A campaign for girl jockeys on English racetracks has been launched in this horse-racing centre.

Albert Cammidge, chairman of the Doncaster race committee, is behind the move.

"I don't see this as a part of racing yet but as a novelty," he said today. "I think it would add interest, possibly as an extra race on a day's program."

Role Played by Home in Field Of Education Outlined by H and S Association Pres.

How parents, through the home and through their participation in Home and School organizations, can help their children get the most out of education was outlined to some 100 home and school members attending the regional conference held Saturday by the Home and School Association, by Ontario Provincial President Mrs. T. M. Weatherhead.

Mrs. Weatherhead of Toronto was the main speaker at the afternoon session of the conference held Saturday at Quinte Secondary School under the chairmanship of Mrs. L. Courtice, vice-president of the Ontario Federation.

In a lengthy and informative address, Mrs. Weatherhead emphasized the important role played by the home in the field of education.

She urged parents to become informed, not only as individuals but as members of Home and Association members, regarding the needs and growth of their children, and to help them to strive to provide a wholesome, happy environment. "It is important to show interest in their children and encourage the development of individual pursuits.

"It is the responsibility of parents to see that their children's interest in the world around them . . . to help them discover their interests, and encourage them —whether they be a hobby, musical appreciation, crafts, or citizenship study for example," she stated.

She said parents should set up goals for their children because "children need goals to follow." They should encourage them to strive for education "to produce the type of citizen you want your child to become" and to stress the value of a higher education and intellectual development.

"Teach your children not to be afraid of being thought an intellectual or 'egghead' because of scholastic achievement," she said.

Mrs. Weatherhead used a quote by the president of the Canadian Conference on Education held last February in Ottawa, who stated: "Providing of intellectuals is not only legitimate but dangerous," to emphasize her remark.

ROLE OF HOME

The speaker attended this conference on Education and participating in a workshop on "The Role of the Home" and the many quotes she promised conference officials as basis for discussion.

She informed her audience the findings of the workshop emphasized that because of the present "shift in values", the home has a greater role than ever to love, affection and stability, and to avoid pressures, stress, exploitation (expecting more than a child is capable of), over-protection, lack of parental rejection, as dangerous attitudes which can "block learning."

"We should check ourselves as parents regarding our own attitudes," she cautioned and warned.

Discussing the importance of a good relationship between teacher and child, Mrs. Weatherhead asked the question of whether or not parents are particularly interested in their children in the eyes of their children.

She said a good teacher, in addition to knowledge and personality, should have love for his job and the children under his responsibility, and should be able to encourage his studenis.

The speaker disclosed one of the findings of the workshop was that both parents and teachers should have respect, not just tolerance, for differences in children.

"They must expect to have differences and face them creatively", she said.

In discussing the work of the Home and School organizations Mrs. Weatherhead suggested that there should be a link between parents and teachers could be effected by holding meetings of small groups representing various races, creeds and economic levels and by instituting regular parent-teacher interviews.

"Regular parent-teacher interviews are far more effective than waiting for the annual holds Open House, or when a child's daughter receives 'Xmarks', the speaker asserted, in noting such a system is in operation in Trenton Hill, Gravenhurst and Welland schools. "This is something to strive for in future", she suggested.

She also urged Home and School associations to assist in providing bursaries and scholarships from funds collected from association projects. She mentioned that Preston H-S Association conducted a scholarship blitz" and raised $10,000.

In drawing a parallel between the conclusions drawn at the Canadian Conference on Education and the objectives of Home and School Associations, the Federation president noted: "The $40 delegates at Ottawa conference were concerned with the same things we are at this conference."

OUTLINES OBJECTIVES

Mrs. Weatherhead paid tribute to the many hours of hard work and study that had been spent on the various articles dealing with this subject. She outlined some suggested Home and School organizations should exploit this interest.

Mrs. Weatherhead also briefly described the organization of the first Home and School Association in Toronto in 1916 when seven mothers' clubs and two arts groups affiliated. She said there are now 1,500 provincial Home and School units, which co-operate and are in direct contact with over 300 citizens' organizations.

Mrs. Weatherhead was introduced by Mrs. L. Raper, president of the Peterborough council and thanked by the chairman, Mrs. L. Courtice, vice-president of the Ontario Federation, for coming to Belleville to speak to the conference. Mrs. Courtice also thanked the Home and School Conference Mrs. sand the workers.

Main speaker for the morning session was Major Wm. Wood, administrator of the Belleville Children's Aid Society, with a thought-provoking address on the Ontario school system.

In his address Mr. Wood pointed out the problems facing the school system in bring it up-to-date with school systems in operation in Switzerland, Russia and Canada and in other countries of the world.

This plan centred around the formulation of a School for Young Adolescents, comprising grades 7 to 9, which would be better equipped to meet the special problems encountered by the 12-to-15 year old group.

While not necessary to our educational system, the "intermediate school" for young adolescents is "most desirable," he stated.

Mr. Kells noted that Ontario's school system is the only one where there is a break between elementary and secondary education at grade 8. This division also extends to separate inspectors for elementary high schools, separate legislative grants and separate training for elementary and high school teachers.

THREE DIVISIONS

In the more modern system there are three divisions: elementary schools comprising kindergarten to grade 6 inclusive; school for young adolescents, comprising grades 7 to 9 inclusive, and senior high school comprising grades 11 to 13 inclusive, he said.

Mr. Kells explained the advantages of this in the development of a School for Young Adolescents, with the evolution of atmosphere, facilities, and opportunity for these students to try out and for developing qualities and abilities in their own right and not in competition that recognizes their tendency to accept things at one moment and to revert to the need for help and guidance the next.

"The Royal Commission on Education in Ontario, 1950, has given recognition of the need of a special program for young adolescents," he said.

This "Hope" Commission suggested that the "Real Young Adolescents was to be a four-year program following grade 6. Among the specific aims of the program was the provision of a well-rounded general education together with limited specialization in a vocational field. The student planning on leaving school at age 16, and the introduction of short explorative subjects to meet the varying capabilities and needs of the students.

The speaker explained in this plan students wishing to leave school at the "legal age of retirement" could feel they have completed their education, and those wishing to go on to senior high school would have had exploratory period in which to make decisions regarding future studies.

Mr. Kells stated although the program received official approval from the Department of Education, it only went "part of the way" in carrying these proposals. As yet no schools for adolescents have been organized on provincial basis and no changes in teacher training or financial provisions have been made.

In an interview afterwards Mr. Kells disclosed that school boards all over the province are acting on these proposals on "their own initiative," and hence the programs are varied.

REGISTRATION DOWN

"Kingston school board is working toward this program, while Hamilton, Ottawa, and North York have completed the organization of a senior public school system."

"The setting up of a Board of Education to administer this system is necessary," he explained. "Where the school system is operated by separate public and high school boards, it (the development of a School for Young Adolescents) can't be instituted."

Mr. Kells said that since Belleville operates with both a Public School Board and a District High School Board, there is no possibility in the foreseeable future of reorganizing the school system, to allow for this program.

The public schools inspector was introduced by Mrs. J. Winskaley.

The conference itself got underway at 9 a.m. Saturday and because of the inclement weather the registration was considerably smaller than anticipated.

The theme of the conference was set by Mayor V. Greenwood, of the Salvation Army Citadel, who gave the Invocation and Devotional. His invocation prayer Mayor Greenwood called attention to the basic things in life with God as the firm foundation on which to build home, family, and school life.

The Home and School association members, representing some 28 schools in area 5, were welcomed on behalf of the Belleville Home and School Council by the president, Mrs. R. Jones.

A brief address was given by the conference chairman, Mrs. L. Courtice, Ontario Federation vice-president. Mrs. Courtice welcomed the members that November has been set aside as "Home and School Month," and urged them to do everything possible to publicize the work of H.-S. associations. She said she hoped the schools they represented will benefit from the information that they take to their local associations.

Greetings were extended by Mrs. L. Raper, of the Peterborough Council; Mrs. J. Gaskell, of the Lindsay Council and Mrs. E. Hull, of the recently formed Pickering Council.

FILM SHOWN

Following Mr. Kells' address a film, entitled "Are People Sheep," was shown by Mr. H. R. Anderson, district representative of the Ontario Film Board. Mr. Anderson was introduced by Mrs. Harold Clark, past president of the Belleville Council.

The films, dealing with teenage and adult conformity to group patterns, sparked off the afternoon conference members on "individualism vs. conformity."

Mrs. R. B. Gaslowsy, of Toronto, publicity director for Ontario Canadian Federation, gave an address on the publications available to Home and School associations.

The speakers were thanked by Mrs. R. Savage of Belleville, and the morning session was adjourned.

The conference delegates and special guests then met in the school cafeteria for a lovely turkey dinner, prepared and served by Mrs. Sherwood and her assistants.

Following the dinner a delightful musical program was presented in the auditorium by the Quinte Secondary School band, under the direction of Mr. Schroader, school music teacher.

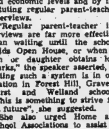
At the start of the afternoon session civic greetings were extended by Mayor Gerald H. Hyde. Mayor Hyde warmly welcomed the regional conference delegates and expressed his hope the conference would be rewarding to those attending. He stated this city is always ready on a busy basis in the various conferences and conventions held here annually and made reference to the fact that Belleville is known as the "Friendly City" and currently as the "Home of the Allan Cup."

The roll call was read by Mrs. B. Stenson, recording secretary of the Quinte Council and a brief address on Home and School unit organization was given by Mrs. Donald.

QUESTION BOX SESSION

The "question box" was conducted by Mrs. L. Courtice who attempted to answer questions submitted by the delegates. Some of the questions concerned the introduction of French in elementary schools, and what is being done to bring it to ensure safety for children in the setting of Home and School.

A panel discussion on the theme, "Citizens of Tomorrow," was held with members of the Belleville council. Mrs. B. F. Bowerman, the citizenship conference defence chairman, was the moderator. Panelists were: Miss Ruth Emmerson, a teacher at Queen Alexandra School; Rev. Keith Daniel, minister of Victoria Ave. Baptist Church; Mr. Bruce Kerr, director of the Belleville Children's Aid Society; Mr. F. Buckley, teacher at BCI, who substituted for Mr. Arthur Meagher of the Quinte Boy Scouts Association.



An excellent summing up of the entire conference was given by Quinte Secondary School principal, Mr. Leslie Reid, who commended Mrs. Courtice for her excellent job of conducting the conference.

Speakers for the afternoon session were thanked by Mrs. A. W. Stephenson, district organizer for Area C.

SHOULD THIS MINE BE CLOSED?

"I only hope after this they close the mine for good — even if it means the end of Springhill."

That was how 19-year-old Gary Embree reacted when he learned that his father was missing following the "bump" which trapped 172 Springhill coal miners in No. 2 colliery.

His feelings are understandable, particularly when we remember that this was the second mine disaster at Springhill within less than two years. Thirty-nine died in another colliery after an explosion caused by firedamp, or gas, on November 1, 1956.

This earlier disaster, together with the fact that six major upheavals or "bumps" were recorded in No. 2 colliery between mid-March and the end of August this year, may lead some to suggest that the mine ought to have been closed before this latest tragedy. Almost certainly, though, such a move would have brought vigorous protests from the miners themselves. They would have pointed out that no lives had been lost in the six "bumps" this past spring and summer. They would have argued that their livelihood, and that of their families, depends upon the mine. A miner on the coal face makes "good money," perhaps as much as $25 a day if he is a good producer. Unskilled in any other kind of work, where else could these men provide their loved ones with such a good living?

It may well be that many of the survivors of the latest disaster will not return to mining, even if work is available for them at Springhill. But if they do not, the decision to quit will in many cases be made by their wives, and not by themselves. Some of the miners have already said as much. In other cases, the men plan to return underground over the protests of their families.

In the midst of tragedy we here have heart-warming evidence of love and affection - - of men willing to risk their lives in order to provide for their families, and of families eager to accept a lower standard of living in order to safeguard the man of the house.

The lot of coal miners today is much better than it was some decades ago, but seldom does one hear anybody begrudging them their relatively high standard of pay. Most of us are convinced that they earn every cent they get.

NO REASON TO BLUSH

Christian George Hanna will be deported. The Canadian Press reports that he will "leave behind some blushes in prominent cheeks."

Hanna has been without a country, arrived in Canada in December of 1956, after spending 17 months aboard a Norwegian freighter on which he had stowed away at Beirut, Lebanon, in July of 1955. Under Canadian immigration laws he was inadmissible. Hon. J. W. Pickersgill, then minister of immigration in the Liberal government, was all for sending him back aboard ship, to continue his wanderings around the world. But many people protested. They maintained Canada should show him compassion. Among them were the member for Prince Albert, now Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, and the member for Kamloops, now Justice Minister Davie Fulton. Their protests, and those of thousands of other Canadians, bore fruit. Hanna was allowed to remain in Canada.

Since then he has appeared in court on three charges. Two of them were for intoxication in a public place; the third was more serious, involving an indecent act. So now Hanna is to be deported. We have no quarrel with that decision. We do quarrel, though, with the suggestion that those who advocated his admission to Canada should feel embarrassed by his record. There will be no blush on our cheeks when he leaves, and the Ontario Intelligencer was among the newspapers which espoused his cause. We see no reason why Mr. Diefenbaker, Mr. Fulton or any of the other individuals who spoke on his behalf should blush. Hanna has not proven worthy of the chance given him, but that is a reflection on him alone and not on those who urged he be given that chance. Their only reason for shame would have been if they had urged that he be denied a fair opportunity.

There is all the difference in the world between deporting a man because he has no nationality and deporting a man because he is a law breaker.

FALL

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Cold are the days and the dead leaves are falling,
Slowly and sadly they flutter to earth;
Frosts come at night, and the boys now are hauling
Logs that will crackle and blaze on the hearth.
Bronzed by the sun are the cheeks of the lassez;
Dropping the asters out there by the wall;
Old age has weakened the plants and the grasses;
Soon will the snow come and bury them all!

Avel it is autumn; the birds have departed;
Southward they hurry to warm summer skies;
Smoke from the chimneys shows fires newly started;
Yellow the pumpkins for Thanksgiving pies.
Stooped are the hollyhocks, sunflowers are dying,
Dashed by the wind and the rain as they fall;
Sadly the breezes above them are sighing,
Soon will the snow come and bury them all.

The Art of Compliments

Montreal Gazette

In 1906 Edward Marsh learned that he was to be private secretary to young Winston Churchill in the Colonial Office.

He held at that time a comfortable post in another department of the civil service and looked with displeasure on the change. Not long before, at a Christmas party in Whitehall, he had met Churchill; and though he had thought him quite a genial but brilliant person he had ever come across, distinctly "rather conceited and overbearing".

Marsh poured out his misgivings to Lady Lytton, who was a friend of them both. "Her answer," he says, "was one of the nicest things that can have been said of anybody: 'The first time you meet Winston you see all his faults, and the rest of your life you spend in discovering his virtues.' And so it proved."

It was one of the nicest of compliments because it admitted the defects, as well as stating the larger virtues.

The paying of compliments is an art, and a delicate one. When Hannah More praised Dr. Samuel Johnson without restraint, she was told severely by the great old man, before you flatter a man so grossly to his face you should consider whether your flattery is worth his having." That was harsh censure, but not undeserved.

Perhaps the most pleasing compliments are those of sincere quality. They are not praise or flattery, but the product of observance and consideration, so that the person complimented is made to feel significant.

The artist, W. Graham Robertson, says that he was, a "most undistinguished youth," when he first met Dante Gabriel Rossetti in Hyde Park Corner. The rain was beating down in torrents, Rossetti seemed to have vanished from the face of the earth.

Suddenly an umbrella was held over his head, and a rather loud voice boomed: "Hi!"

"You'll be soaked. Come under mine. He [Rossetti] was walking through the London rain with Robert Browning.

"You're a young home!" Browning inquired. "Well, that's my way. Come in, sir, come in. Come under my coat. We'll go together."

Young Robertson was gratefully into step. "But how do you know where I live?" he asked.

"Never you mind, you yourself," said Browning. "Owe evening at the Lehmanns'. Don't you remember?"

Of course, Robertson remembered. But he was overwhelmed by the compliment of Browning's courteous invitation.

A compliment is marred if it has a touch of condescension. It may still be acceptable, but something of its quality will remain. When the condescension involves deception, the compliment is destroyed.

John Morley never forgot the qualities of character which Gladstone court paid him, when he was still a young man. Having been chosen to write the biography of Gladstone, Harcourt had sometimes closely questioned and doubted whether Morley had sufficient qualifications for the task.

"So you're going to write Mr. G's Life?" Harcourt had said to Morley. "An excellent choice! There's no man better qualified than you, except, of course, on the religious question — you don't understand Church matters, or his ancial policy — you don't understand Finance, or Ireland — you've got a bee in your bonnet about Ireland."

By the time these restrictions to the original compliment had been enumerated, that was complimentary was left.

On the other hand, the person who pays a compliment must not offend against good taste too greatly. If he does, the compliment may become almost meaningless.

Princess Louise, the daughter of Queen Victoria, once paid such a meaningless compliment about her talents as an artist. This was to Lady Dufferin, Irish and her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, were in Government House ...

Ottawa. In the drawing-room hung a large oil painting she had done of Quebec, showing to advantage the Citadel and the port.

A guest at Government House was the late Sir Charles G. Arthur, the president of the Unlisted Stated. His compliment Princess Louise on her work. In his opinion it was a very fine painting. Later, he was a connoisseur of art. Then he added: "But, you know, I am no judge of such things."

It may be that few compliments are more disarming than those that take a person unawares. This may be the compliment that is not only unexpected, but which is paid in the face of harshness and criticism. Sir Richard Burton (then Captain Burton) the British traveller and writer in the Orient, had a special aversion to women of advancing years who insisted on trying to look young. On meeting one such woman, he marked:

"Good gracious, you haven't changed since I saw you 40 years ago. There is hard to find a Sikh flag that has braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze."

The woman's resentment was cleverly complimented. "Captain Burton," she said, "how could you with that musical — but lavish vocabulary of such unpleasant remarks."

It is hard to believe that Captain Burton's heart was not at least a little softened by a compliment that had been so very much uninvited.

'Tailgating' Dangerous

Oshawa Times-Gazette

Many driving habits are kept under wraps. They remain the private property of the owner, seldom exposed to others. In fact, many dangerous habits are unknown even to the man who has them.

Tailgating, also known as hounding, or crowding, is a matter of different class. It is a bad habit that is unfortunately becoming a neon light. The man who likes it "sits" just behind another fast moving vehicle, and remains there for and wide. He holds the lines inviolate, and constantly annoys it, so long as he chooses to endanger himself and all around.

There is another feature of this habit. It is unfortunate. There is no advantage to be gained, but people seem to get the idea that it is to their benefit to do it. On a busy highway Car A is doing 50 mph. Car B is tailgating Car B roars up and stops four feet from the back bumper of A, who thinks: "Now, you won't, until he is asked politely by the driver of B. Then, with idiocy spreads, Carr C, D, E, etc, get into the act, until the line behind each one adding to the nervous tension. Just one brief, after another, and the line of cars is a chain of danger. At 50 m.p.h., to travel 50 feet before a driver can get his foot from gas pedal to brake is an emergency. Tailgaters prepare to bumper the following driver hardly by the time they think of avoiding a crash if the man ahead jams at his brakes. And there are a lot of things that can lead to a sudden application of brakes — a dog, a child, a bee sting, scuffling children in the rear seat, a blow-out, or a tire in the road. From 6 to even an uncontrollable wave of anger at the driver tailgating behind.

A single incident can turn a string of speeding cars into a scene of mass destruction. The Ontario Safety League asks all drivers to remember that many accidents can be traced, or prevented — by example. If you like to tailgate, you may have always got it up to now. But you may have helped to teach the habit to a boy who ended his driving career suddenly, half-way through a shattered windshield.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

To the table at which I was sitting in a restaurant came a mother and child to share it. The mother would be in mid-thirties, I figured, and the little girl around five or eight.

After they got settled, they began to chat. The mother spoke in a language unintelligible to me, and the child replied in perfect English. It was the most fantastic conversation I have ever listened to. It was quick, lively and obviously untudied. The little girl's chatter was all about a meal they had been buying her, and the mother's questions and comments must have been on the same subject.

Noticing my astonishment, they smiled at me, and we got into conversation.

"I am Spanish," explained the mother, "my husband Canadian. We are most anxious that our children speak both English and Spanish, so we follow the practise of my speaking Spanish, all the ways, and he English to them. The children attend public school, and of course would soon lose their Spanish if we did not keep up this game. They love it. I love it."

And sitting there beside them at lunch, I loved it too.

"Can you speak it," I asked.

So the child chattered in Spanish, and then back to English.

I think they both might have had a slight accent.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

25 YEARS AGO

October 27th., 1933

We don't have much trouble now. From our file copy at this time in 1908, the comfortable reports that since April 3rd. of this year to the present date, he has impounded 365 head of cattle, 140 geese, 36 horses and six pigs making a total of 546. The impounded stock were distributed in the four pounds in the different parts of the city. From the above it will be seen that the residents in the city formed his duties in a creditable manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pyne and Miss Doris Pyne of Picton spent the weekend in town with Mr. and Mrs. Anson Jordan, Metcalfe Street.

Mrs. and Mrs. R. Naylor of Colborne and Mr. and Mrs. Denison of Toronto were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Anderson, Bridge Street.

The following nurses from this city attended the annual meeting of District No. 2 of Registered Nurses' Association which was held at Wick's Hospital in Peterborough on Monday evening. Misses R. Thompson, H. Collins, S. Byers, M. J. Youmans, Helen Fitzgerald, Rita Fitzgerald, Florence Fitzgerald, N. Brown, A. Wright, M. Bonter, M. Hulton, Smith, E. Peacock and M. Beaumont.

30 YEARS AGO

October 27th., 1928

The thermometer dropped to four degrees below zero last night, however today is warm, the temperature being 44 degrees above at noon.

The sum of $12,000.00 was subscribed during the YMCA drive during the past week. The objective is $14,000.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon of Syracuse, N.Y. is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. Campbell, Catherine Street.

Chief of Police Alex. Kidd is in Toronto on business.

Mr. W. S. Gordon of Tweed was in town today.

From our file copy at this time in 1898 the first snowstorm of the season arrived today. Also Friday, November 4th. will be observed as Thanksgiving Day.

40 YEARS AGO

October 27th., 1918

Mr. E. T. Thompson has arrived safely in Saskatchewan where he spent several months.

More help needed. Only fifty per cent of the families in this city who are canvassed, owing to the influenza epidemic can be given assistance by the limited number of volunteer workers available. A cook stove and coal are needed for one family. A number of motor cars are required at the YMCA tomorrow morning.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"HOT FLASHES" DENOTE DECREASE IN PRODUCTION OF HORMONES

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there anything one can do for hot flashes? Would being overweight (95 pounds) cause some of my trouble? — A. H."

Some women have hot flashes and some don't. For those who do, the important factors are (1) a judicious use of hormones, since the flashes are a result of sudden decrease in natural production of hormones; (2) the realization that this is temporary and that the body will adjust itself if the patient is willing to give it a chance. Don't insist on being over-stimulated with hormones, because then the body doesn't have the opportunity or motive to adjust naturally. As to being overweight — I can't give any reason why it should cause hot flashes, but it is my impression that this trouble is moderately more frequently seen in the heavier women. I might be wrong about this, because certain slim women also have the trouble sometimes.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What caused a lump to form in the lower part of my abdomen. I can notice it when I lie down. It is flesh. There is also a slight pain there every so often. — M.C."

It may be difficult to say something that I try assiduously to make clear. There isn't any way to tell what the lump is from such a description. It could be a rupture, cyst, tumor, enlarged gland, or several other things. "Lower abdomen" takes in quite a bit of territory. It is impossible, from the description, that this is a cancer — but there are several things that it could be. A doctor's examination could narrow the possibilities down to a very few within a matter of minutes.

While I take a great pleasure in telling readers what things they can do for themselves, I consider it of even greater importance to know when not to guess or try to help yourself, but to go to your doctor.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have had a running ear since I was a small childhood. I am 40 and it keeps discharging. It plagues me, so the cancer sign is sore that does not heal. — Mrs. R.L.S."

A running ear means infection and irritation. This sort of condition has little relation to cancer all the same. I have personally said that a running ear should have attention, but I am not sure also threat to the hearing. Even if this does not occur, any chronic infection, whether of ears, tonsils or a sore toe, is a constant, even if sometimes mild, strain on the system. And as to cancer, the chance of the infection spreading into cancer is very unimportant. It gets into the mastoid area, for example, but it becomes very difficult to confirm or to even be sure that the infection spreading into some other area is even cancer. If it gets into the mastoid area, for example, it becomes very difficult to clear away the infection later without surgery.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Since following instructions in your pamphlet on 'Leg Pains and Foot Cramps' I haven't had a pain in a million thanks to you. Now I'd like your pamphlet on 'Lost Secret of Swallowing.' — G. B."

Thank you for letting me know. A.B.C.: Eczema must be the result of the lung illness having lost their elasticity. The lungs do not expel the air fully enough, and thus not as much fresh air can enter them. Asthma is a different matter — a congestion and spasm of the bronchial passages. Both cause a shortage of breath.

Want to lose weight? It can be done if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "The Doctor's Quick Reducing." For a copy, write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a 10-cent, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 5c in coin to cover handling.

Modern Style Gandy Dancers

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Oh for those good old days — but only when it comes to laying railway tracks.

In order to reach Dawson Creek by C.N.R. next year the Pacific Great Eastern Railway pushed through 260 miles of steel from George to the northern B.C. city of Dawson Creek in 15 days. The last spike was driven at a steel gang hooping to lay 90 rails a day. The previous record was established by the south to connect at Dawson City with the Northern Alberta Railway line from Edmonton.

Organization and mechanization were the big factors in the speed-up in rail work, officials say.

The modern gandy dancers handled 90 rails apiece and a half miles of track a day on the race to Dawson City. The PGE crews were duplicated, however, in the south to connect at Dawson City with the Northern Alberta Railway line from Edmonton.

Organization and mechanization were the big factors in the speed-up in rail work, officials say.

The modern gandy dancers handled six miles ahead of a crew which laid the rails and bolts to the rail joints.

Several miles in the rear ballast trains and cranes around the bare steel with power tampers and other mechanical devices.

The backbreaking labor that characterized railroading in the past was absent. So are the injuries that haunted every crew.

No one was killed on the job, although the line was laid through some of the roughest country in northern B.C.

Those good old days — oh yes, but I'll never "on back in these good old days."

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IT WILL COME SOME DAY

Why do we go on calling Communism a form of government? It is a criminal conspiracy which is able to dominate nations because it has secured control of the agencies of force, namely the armies and navies of the country in the world has Communism ever been voted upon by the popular suffrage. It has been forced on people unable to do anything but submit to the struggle to open conflict. Propaganda kicks back, in that it forces the nations to swallow their own words, even to the point where they have to make a pretense of believing it.

poor countries now afflicted with Communism can just hold out for a decade, or perhaps a generation, Communism will be on the way of dying from its own inner corruption. The people will get fed up with it, continually giving up food for more and bigger armaments. Russian people even learn about our supermarkets the while they starve at home. In a short time they can just awake to the fact that capitalism curses us with plenty, and Communism blesses them with starvation, they will do something about it and end the situation they have to endure.

But the situation will never be right so long as Saxon democracy work. They would have to have some variety of democracy at the time—but benevolent, not criminal,

Congressional Election Campaign in Last Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The final full week of the U.S. congressional election campaign began today with President Eisenhower primed for more hammer-and-tongs assaults on the Democrats.

Democratic leaders were prepared to punch home more criticisms of the Eisenhower administration in their efforts to repel the Republican drive to regain control of Congress.

Eisenhower was headed for an airport talk at Charleston, W.Va., before flying to Pittsburgh for a speech tonight.

The president's vigorous campaign technique, used in California last week, has heartened Republican leaders. A number of them said during the weekend it had rejuvenated Republicans everywhere and brightened the party's prospects.

INFLUENCE DOUBTFUL

However, it was questionable whether these oratorical fireworks—or those by other leading Republican and Democratic campaigners—were having much effect on the voters they were intended to sway.

A check by The Associated Press uncovered no signs of any sizable switches in sentiment as a result of this late-stage political cannonading.

"In state after state," an AP analysis said, "the momentum still appears to be largely toward the Democrats although it may have slowed down a bit in the last month."

One of the most optimistic of the Republican campaigners is Vice-President Richard Nixon, who was set to carry his stump-ing into Michigan today.

During a Sunday respite in Minneapolis, Nixon said that in the last 10 days "there has been a dramatic upsurge in Republican strength and a sharp recession in Democratic strength."

RAPS REUTHER

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell criticized the political activities of Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers. Mitchell said in a TV interview that "unfortunately, Walter is tied up with the Democratic party to render the best service to his people."

The New York Times said Republican Nelson Rockefeller apparently leads Democratic incumbent Averell Harriman in their battle for the New York governorship.

Ontario, Quebec Account for Most Of 35 Fatalities

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thirty-five persons were killed in weekend accidents across the country, a Canadian Press survey showed today. Twenty-eight of them died in traffic accidents.

All but five of the deaths were in Ontario and Quebec, traditional leaders in the grim accounting. The survey began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Totals by province, with traffic deaths bracketed: Quebec 18 (14) Ontario 12 (11), New Brunswick 2 (2), Manitoba 2 (1), Nova Scotia 1.

The Ontario dead:

Stanley Pokrywa, 19; his wife, 18, and George Linsham, 21, of Sudbury, who perished in an auto collision 15 miles west of there Friday night.

Jean Paul Savage, 26, killed near North Bay Saturday when his car went out of control and rolled over in a ditch.

Charles Kelley, 60, whose body was found Sunday in the ruins of a greenhouse at St. Thomas after a fire.

Mrs. William Clark, 21, of Keswick, killed Saturday night when her car went out of control and plunged over an embankment near the village. The accident was not discovered until 12 hours later.

Arthur Cock and Robert Davis, both of Windsor, killed two miles from Thamesville Friday night when their car was one of three in a collision.

Mrs. Rodney Vardy and her six-months-old child, killed Friday night when the Vardy automobile rammed a stalled truck 27 miles north of Belleville.

Mrs. Mildred Wilson, 66, of Napanee, who died in the wreck of her husband's truck and his car on Highway 12.

Earle Dribnitzer, 22, thrown from a car and killed 43 miles south of North Bay Friday night.

The unsmiling faces of draegermen as they leave the pithead in Springhill, N.S., tells its own story. There was still no news on the fate of the scores of miners trapped deep underground. (CP Wirephoto.)

Church Council Opens Meeting At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG — Fifteen different Canadian Christian communions, with different backgrounds, varying beliefs but one common goal, are represented in an important, religious gathering opening in Winnipeg today for five days of discussion, inspiration and fellowship.

It is the 10th meeting of the Canadian Council of Churches. It will meet in Knox United Church, with a Baptist, Rev. D. Emlyn Davies, of Toronto, presiding. A United Churchman, Rev. Dr. W. J. Gallagher, as general secretary, with Anglican, Disciples, United Brethren, Presbyterians, Quakers, Salvationists and others participating.

They will talk about a Christian program for university students. All communions agree something more should be done, but there are varying ideas what should be done.

Chaplaincy services to prisoners, and the armed forces will be discussed by the delegates. In these areas there is general unity among the churches.

Overseas relief and the new kind of missionary services needed abroad will come into focus as the discussions proceed. The churches are co-operating extensively in these fields.

The Canadian Council of Churches will have something to say about broadcasting in Canada, religious liberty, social relations, ecumenical affairs and Christian stewardship.

The YMCA, YWCA, SCM, the Greek Orthodox Church, the Reformed Episcopal Church and the Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church are also in the Council.

The United Lutheran Church is "in friendly association."

Bible Convention Of Witnesses Held at Picton

Mr. Ralph Wickerson, speaking for the seventy local Witnesses of Jehovah who returned late Sunday evening from a three-day Bible convention in Picton, declared this to be the most successful convention Jehovah's Witnesses have ever held in this area.

The widely advertised discourse, "The Watch Tower Society in God's Purpose," drew an attendance of 620.

Mr. Robert Joy, one of the Belleville delegates, spoke to the assembled Witnesses on Saturday evening on the subject "How to Conduct Home Bible Studies."

The principal speaker, Mr. A. F. Danley, in a statement made to the convention of the assembly said that "The co-operation of the local officials, businessmen and inhabitants has been commendable and the convention unanimously supported a vote of thanks to all who have so willingly obliged."

By an extensive public preaching campaign, the Witnesses took invitations to the everyone in Picton to attend their meeting.

Fourteen convention departments were staffed by volunteer workers. One of the busiest departments was the cafeteria which served 918 hot, full-course meals to the delegates between sessions.

The ordination of 15 new Witness ministers took place on Saturday afternoon and in the evening all were counselled to expand their ministry by conducting more and better home Bible studies.

Sweetheart Goes On Trial on Murder Count

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Killer Charles Starkweather's former sweetheart, 19-year-old Carol Ann Fugate, goes on trial here today on the identical murder charges which brought a death penalty conviction to her boy friend.

A photogenic brunette, she'll be tried for her life in the same Lancaster County courtroom where Starkweather last May heard himself pronounced guilty of one of 11 slayings attributed to him.

The state will need to convince a jury that Carl aided and abetted her bow-legged companion in the slaying of Bennet, Neb., schoolboy Robert Jensen to qualify her for a first-degree conviction and one of two penalties—life imprisonment or death in the electric chair.

Carol accompanied Starkweather last January on a three-day flight from authorities, marked by the discovery of bodies of six slaying victims in Lincoln, three at nearby Bennet, and a parting-shot killing in Wyoming where the couple were captured.

Starkweather's conviction is being reviewed by the state supreme court. This could delay his electrocution, originally scheduled for Dec. 17.

While Starkweather admitted his involvement in the blood letting, Carol at a press conference last week insisted she is innocent.

She said Starkweather was crazy, that she was coerced into accompanying him on his bloody outing and she no longer loves him.

CARDINALS FAIL

conclave. Voting began Sunday. Two more ballots will be conducted this afternoon.

A two-thirds-plus-one majority of the 51 cardinals in conclave is needed and they will go on voting at the rate of four ballots a day until a new leader of the world's 500,000,000 Roman Catholics is found.

After this morning's smoke had belched out thick and dense for six minutes, Vatican radio said: "Unhappily it is only too evident that the signal is negative." The signal lasted 14 minutes.

TWO FALSE ALARMS

There were two false alarms Sunday when white smoke—the signal that a new pope had been elected—came out of the chimney. Urgent messages were sent into the sealed-off conclave.

Though in past centuries some conclaves have lasted for long periods, the last one have been completed in less than four days. The last one, in 1939, took 20 hours and named Pius XII on the third ballot.

The cardinals in the present conclave face one of the most open elections in the modern history of the church. It has been made additionally difficult by the fact that for the first time the Italian cardinals are outnumbered, 2 to 1, in a conclave-there are 26 non-Italians to 17 Italians.

The Vatican radio commentator, apologizing today for the confusion caused Sunday by two announcements that white smoke streaming from the chimney above the Sistine Chapel meant that the new pope was elected, said: "We can assure our listeners that we shall not announce the election of the holy father until we have had definite confirmation, or by means that it is not necessary to disclose."

There were persistent rumors in the Vatican that Nicola Cardinal Canali, 64 who holds the title of grand penitentiary, was seriously ill and was about to be brought out of the conclave.

Cardinal Canali, suffering from a heart ailment, was unwell when the conclave began Saturday night.

Co... Convocation Catholic Bishop

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — An Italian appeals court Saturday night reversed the slander conviction of the Roman Catholic bishop of Prato—a conviction which had grieved Pope XII.

A lower court last March found the bishop, Most Rev. Pietro Fiordelli, defamed an atheist and his wife by calling them "public sinners" for refusing to be married in a religious ceremony after their civil marriage.

The case shook church-state relations in Italy.

The 42-year-old bishop had been ordered by the lower court to pay the atheist, groce Mauro Bellandi, and his family $672 damages. The court, made up of Catholic judges, also decreed a fine of $64, but suspended the fine.

Kingston Presbyterial North-W. Sectional Rally Meets in Foxboro

Foxboro Presbyterian Church was the setting for a most interesting and inspiring recent sectional rally.

Included in this north-western section of the Kingston Presbyterial are the Women's Missionary Societies of Tweed, Madoc, Burnbrae, West Huntingdon, Stirling and Foxboro.

For this service many beautiful flowers adorned the church.

The morning session opened with Mrs. John Craig presiding. After the call to worship, the Burnbrae Auxiliary led the meeting in devotions. Mrs. Hutcheon read the Scripture lesson and meditation. Mrs. Hart sang an appropriate solo and Mrs. Craighead led in prayer.

Mrs. T. Johnston of Foxboro, extended a sincere welcome to all who were present for this first sectional rally to be held in this Presbyterial.

Mrs. Vernon Wetz, of Belleville, a sectional vice-president, introduced Miss Mary Walker, regional vice-president for the Synod of Toronto and Kingston.

Mrs. Johnston, of Foxboro, gave leadership and help in introducing the 1958-59 Mission Study program, W.M.S. newsmagazine Edition. For this Miss Walker used a map of Canada, posters, books and flash-card pictures — a quiz box, workshop a panel and discussion groups.

After a hymn and prayer by Mr. Thompson, of Foxboro, this service adjourned.

During the noon hour, when all partook of box lunches and a cup of tea served by the Foxboro ladies, a happy time was spent in fellowship.

The afternoon meeting resumed with Mrs. Vernon Weir presiding. After singing a hymn with Mrs. Everett Lyons, presiding at the organ, Mrs. J. C. Sills and the Rev. Alan Donnor, of West Huntingdon Auxiliary led in devotions.

Mrs. Provost, accompanied by Mrs. Morton of Tweed, sang a beautiful solo. The offering, which was received by Mrs. Blakely and Mrs. Brown, was dedicated by Miss A. Vankluk of Madoc.

Mrs. Wright of Tweed, gave a splendid reading on "The Power of Love in the Life of Jesus".

When the secretary for the day called the roll it was found that every auxiliary was represented at this first rally.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. W.H.V. Walker, of Stirling, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Lily Simpson, B.H., who is superintendent of nursing in the Jobat Hospital on the Bhil field in India. Miss Simpson, while here on furlough, told of her work in this land of many and varied opportunities.

Some of their problems are shortage of hospital space, and leper hospital staff. The first Indian doctor to join their staff is Dr. Pushpa Moti Lall, daughter of Pastor Moti Lall, who visited many congregations in Canada last year. There was great rejoicing in the hospital when Dr. Lall came to them.

The patients, though very poor, are anxious to pay for their medicines and drugs. Penicillin, in India, has truly been the miracle drug. Although many of the sick do not come for help until it is almost too late, yet by means of these wonder drugs, Christian love, care and cleanliness, many are cured and able to return to their homes again.

ASKS PRAYERS

Miss Simpson pleaded for the prayers of the members for the work and the workers as it is the necessary essential in the success of their labor of love.

After Miss Simpson's inspired address, Mrs. W. H. V. Walker, on behalf of the women's Missionary Societies of Tweed, Madoc, Burnbrae, West Huntingdon, Stirling and Foxboro.

To Owners of Oil Burning Furnaces and Boilers

When deposits of soot and sludge are allowed to accumulate in oil furnaces, filters, screens and nozzles, the furnace cannot produce heat efficiently. Now a new formula for fuel oils dissolves gummy oil sludge before it can clog filters, lines and nozzles. Known as XZIT-IZED fuel oil, this formula cleans as it burns by burning away greasy soot deposits while the furnace is operating. Layers of soot that prevent heat from transferring to the heating system are eliminated. Only XZIT-IZED fuel oil detergent oil additive and dispersant with sludge formations stopped and soot build-up eliminated you get more heat for every fuel oil dollar. Clean fuel tanks and lines reduce the service calls caused by plugged burner nozzles and screens. Our customers are now being supplied with fully XZIT-IZED fuel oil as part of our service. Fewer Girls Go on to University

HAMILTON (CP)—Girls reach higher standard of work than boys in high school, but fewer girls go on to university, says Mrs. Russell H. Irvine, president of the Federation of Women Teachers Associations of Ontario.

"It is important to encourage girls to continue studies so that they may take responsible positions as leaders in professions," she said. "More girls matriculate with first-class honors than do boys, but far fewer of them enter university."

She urges better guidance and a better student aid program, "to make higher education as freely available to our youth as secondary school education now is."

More to Being Air Stewardess Than Wearing Smart Uniform

By EDNA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—There's more to being an air stewardess than wearing a smart uniform and a pleasant smile, says Mrs. Ann Woods of Toronto, who has switched from riding the air routes to running a school.

You must watch your diet, know your job and a whole lot more besides.

Mrs. Woods is teaching would - be stewardesses — and stewards — at the air carrier school which she founded with another stewardess, Mrs. Marline Kewin, a few months ago.

"Making passengers comfortable and serving meals on board an aircraft is the smallest part of the job of being a stewardess," says Mrs. Woods.

"You must also be able to answer passengers' questions, and this involves knowing the history of aviation, the function of the department of transport and airline associations, world airlines, aeronautical associations, airline departments, aircraft identification, a little geography and meteorology, some astronomy and a little navigation."

One of the school's classrooms is downtown Toronto is filled with a full-size model of an aircraft passenger cabin and galley; in it, pupils learn how to serve 30 trays of food in 10 minutes—which no competent air hostess considers especially fast work.

Girls also learn first aid, regulations about uniform, good grooming and elocution.

Airline requirements for stewardesses are rigid. They must be between five feet two inches and five feet eight inches tall; not weigh more than 140 pounds (scaled down according to height) and must have at least a grade 11 education.

Not all the girls at the school are would-be air hostesses. Some attend to learn office procedures.

Mrs. Woods, who comes from Kirkland Lake, Ont., was trained as a nurse at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, and spent six years as a stewardess with Trans-Canada Air Lines, eventually becoming a stewardess instructor. She has a 15-months-old daughter, Diane.

Mrs. Kewin is from Winnipeg, where she became a nurse at Grace Hospital. She joined TCA in 1947, and was a senior stewardess.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The last meeting of the Women of the Moose for October was held in the Moose Hall on Victoria Avenue with Senior Regent Gladys Ritch presiding.

Plans were made for the pie social and euchre to be held later in October.

Gladys Ritch spoke on the convention in Toronto. Members were asked to serve the lunch for the men's meeting on Sunday.

The meeting was brought to a close with an auction sale with Audrey Donnelly as auctioneer. The draw of a lovely cup and saucer donated by Annie Young was won by Bernice Prindle.

Refreshments were served.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

HOW CAN FRIENDS COMFORT IN THIS HEART-BREAKING SORROW?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sister's baby died a few hours after birth. My sister received some Sympathy Cards, and some friends made personal calls on her, bringing her gifts of fruit and so forth. She and I have discussed together just what t h e proper procedure should be in a circumstance like hers, and we would like your point of view about these questions.

1. Do you think that Sympathy Cards were in order, since a b a never saw the baby?

2. Do you agree that personal gifts to the mother were proper rather than visits of condolence? Since gifts would have been given to the baby, had it lived, we felt that perhaps personal gifts to the baby's mother, who was in the hospital, were more thoughtful and appropriate.

3. What is the proper thing for one to say to the mother, when meeting her or visiting her? Some people she knew, who met her on the street, just greeted her and passed by, saying nothing, realizing of course that she was feeling sad because of losing her baby.

— Sister

When such a severe and heart-breaking sorrow comes to a friend, it is not easy for her friends to do and say just t h e things they would like to do and say to bring some measure of comfort to her, to show their understanding. And I am sure your sister was deeply touched by the gestures of those devoted to her.

1. Those who sent Sympathy Cards naturally had most kind thoughts, and hoped the words would be of real comfort to your sister in her sorrow. The words of sympathy were even more "in order," I should say, since she never saw the baby.

2. It was indeed kind and appropriate and most generous for friends to send gifts to your sister in the hospital, gifts they hoped would express their loving thought of her. But whether or not she wished to receive visitors would, of course, have depended on circumstances and her own inclination.

3. I am sure that those who just greeted your sister and did not say anything to her felt that they should not "step over the threshold of her sorrow," thinking, and doubtless rightly, that it would not be easy for her to speak with them. This was a "proper" thing for them to do. Also a proper thing to do in this circumstance is to say briefly and warmly or press the hand of the person in sorrow, hoping that t h i s brief but significant gesture will express the human sympathy of the heart.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Joseph K. — They tease me about my romance.

Mrs. F. K. — He is very young and irresponsible for his age.

Joseph K. — I am 17 and have been going steady with a girl a year younger for the past several months. We are really in love, but we realize that we won't be ready for marriage for three or four years.

I think I'm being very fair and reasonable. My parents ought to respect my maturity, but they try to make a fool out of me. They raise a rumpus every time I get on the telephone. They laughed at my girl because she wears braces on her teeth. My kid sister drew a mustache on my girl's picture and my parents just laughed. They encourage her to act up every time I go out.

Things have gotten so bad that I'm completely disgusted with my family and I hate going home. Weren't they ever in love when they were young?

Mrs. F. K. — Joe has been simply impossible during the past few months. He flares up at the least word that is said to him and has talked back to me and his father. He smacks his kid sister — something he never did before.

The worst of it has been the telephone conversations. He ties up the telephone by the hour, cooing little nothings to his girl. None of us gets a chance at the telephone unless he is out on a date.

We realize that Joe is a high school senior already, but in many ways he is very young for his age and this puppy love is just ridiculous. Joe is so irresponsible that he would never get to school on time if I didn't keep after him every minute, handing him his clothes and books.

The Council: The F. K.'s are confusing too many issues and are not giving Joe an even chance to grow emotionally and to develop a normal adult sense of responsibility.

Joe has a right to get respect for his very natural feelings. It is unfair to tease him for these feelings and use them as a springboard to needle him for other things.

Instinctively Joe realizes that he has a right to his personal feelings, but he is forced to fight for them in a childish way — such as monopolizing the telephone.

The F. K.'s have every right to complain about the telephone issue and to insist upon limited telephone privileges for him, but it should be made clear that this has nothing to do with his romance. They should let him know that he cannot walk all over their rights just because he happens to be wrapped up in some strong feelings of his own. If they show respect for him they will be on much sounder ground when they demand respect and a sense of responsibility from him.

Teasing adolescents about their puppy love is not a trivial matter. Parents can inflict some very deep scars this way. Even worse, they often force the adolescent to lock himself up in a shell. He will not come to his parents with his problems and they will not be able to have any influence on him if serious difficulties arise. A great deal of bitterness in parent-child relations has often taken root in teasing about puppy love.

Black Diamond Cheese Served To Dairy Queen

LONDON (CP)—"It's a good thing I like cheese," said Jeanette Lockman as a waiter came round for the fifth or sixth time. "They seem to eat a lot of it here."

There was cheese all over the place, and hefty jugs of milk to go with it, when J. S. P. Armstrong, Ontario's agent-general in London, threw a reception for Miss Lockman, the province's dairy Queen from St. George.

About six council members came along with just about every type of English cheese in the book. There was Leicester cheese, Cheddar, Caerphilly and Sidton. There were others, too, including a round of Black Diamond from Belleville.

MET QUEEN

"I am having a wonderful time," said 20 - year old Miss Lockman as she sipped her glass of milk, "yesterday I met the Queen at the dairy show and it was a thrilling experience. We had quite a chat about the Ontario dairy industry."

Since her arrival last weekend in Brantford school teacher has been visiting dairies, schools and farms besides attending rounds of receptions. Her father, Horace Lockman, is travelling with her.

Miss Lockman's trip, sponsored by the council, will last for another two weeks and she will travel through most of England, Scotland and Northern Ireland in that time.

Hallowe'en Happyface-Gingerboys

by Mary Moore

Naturally the mothers of public school children become more deeply involved in Hallowe'en activities than any other group, even the public school teachers.

My young people are grown up and away but my Sunday School teenagers enroll me in their Hallowe'en party and I love it. The married couples club at our church are having a party this week. Maybe you are too so something for big and small parties follows.

Happyface Gingerboys are adaptable to streamline serving to fifty or one hundred or to a family party of six to nine people. They are economical too and you do not have to be artistic. You just need your own two hands and the will to celebrate.

HAPPY GINGERBOYS THE GINGERBREAD:

To serve 9 make up this recipe: One-half cup shortening or margarine or chicken fat at room temperature, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, ¼ cup molasses, 1 cup sour or buttermilk, 2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon each soda, ginger, cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt. In mixing cel best together thoroughly the shortening, sugar and egg, then stir in the molasses and sour milk. Sift together the dry ingredients, then stir them in beating until smooth. Pour into greased 9 x 9-inch pan, bottom of which has been paper-lined, and bake at 325 deg. F. 45 to 50 minutes. Allow to cool slightly then cut into 3-inch squares in pan. Turn if not gingerbread and bake in pans twice as big, and make as many panels as your crowd requires.)

If you want to extend the party air make

HALLOWE'EN HATS:

Make a large 9 or 12-inch high cone that fits the head from stiff paper, or lightweight cardboard. Secure edge with Scotch tape. For brim cut a large circle 3 inches wider than base of cone, place cone on this circle, squeeze slightly to make it oval like a head. Trace around with pencil, and cut oval piece out of brim. Cover cone and brim with aluminum foil, securing with Scotch tape. Fit cone into brim and secure with staples or tape or adhesive. To make it witchlike decorate with stars or moons or ghosts cut from black paper.

THE FACES:

Drain 9 choice canned peach halves and to make the "happyfaces" place one half, cut side down, on each cream-covered piece of gingerbread. Seal it with a raisin for each eye, a quarter maraschino cherry for the nose, oval piece out of brim. Cover cone

Business Recession in U.S. Regarded as Key Political Factor in State of Michigan

NEW YORK (CP) — The 1958 business recession in the United States is regarded as a key political factor in the Nov. 4 U.S. elections — and particularly in heavily industrialized Michigan, where the automobile industry has been one of the chief sufferers.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, one of the more widely known of the state governors whose offices are at stake this fall, is bidding for his sixth consecutive term with the emphasis of his campaign on the Republican party's responsibility for the slump.

Democrat Williams, up to now the greatest vote-getter in Michigan's history, is more than confident of victory again. His hope is that the Republicans also will be soundly knocked down in representation in the federal House of Representatives and Senate on the issue of industrial unemployment.

THE RESPONSIBLE

All this year he has hammered at the theme that the hundreds of thousands of American industrial workers laid off during the period owe their trouble to President Eisenhower and his Republican policymakers in Washington.

This talking point is aimed primarily at the automobile workers in the Detroit area, for whom 1958 was the blackest post - war year. And in this Williams has his long-term supporter, Walter P. Reuther, head of the big United Auto Workers union.

Williams, politically youthful — he's 47—heir to a lotteries fortune, has been conducting a whirlwind personal campaign at factory gates, union halls, shopping centres and such assorted kinds of mass meeting places. He exudes the confidence born of his state party organization's belief that the Democratic machine in Michigan is hitting on all cylinders — particularly those sparked by the car factory men.

Williams' Republican opponent is Paul D. Bagwell, a 45-year-old university speech professor who quit his $17,000- a -year teaching job to take up a candidacy despaired of by prominent Republicans.

TIRELESS WORKER

But Bagwell has worked with tireless zeal in the face- to -face manner of rival Williams, and has infused some measure of hope—and at least cohesion — in Michigan's battered Republican ranks.

In the other major Michigan contest in the Nov. 4 voting, U.S. Senator Charles Potter, long-time proponent on the American side for the St. Lawrence Seaway, is trying for another six-year term against Williams' Lieutenant-Governor Philip Hart.

Potter is personally popular in Michigan, but fears are being expressed that he may lose out in the Senate race if the Democrats sweep the state in line with the governor's predictions.

Hart, who has not been too active in this campaign, was a law-school classmate of Williams' and also is part owner of the Detroit Tigers baseball club.

Michigan's major contests are marked, as in the case of Williams and Bagwell, by the youth of the key candidates. Potter is 41 and Hart 45.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Eastern senior "A" league is giving promise of pre-season prediction that, to use one prophet's expression, it will be a "rat-race" with all five clubs in a bunch-of-grapes setting.

After the first flurry of opening games the Whitby Dunlops rule the roost with two wins and no defeats. Kingston and Hull have a 1-1 record while the Macs and Cornwall have bowed twice and won once.

The Macs bowed before the Dunnies on Saturday night by a 5-1 score but roared back on Sunday down Hull way with a 5-4 first-win over the speedy Ottawa Canadiens. If was their best effort since that exhibition game with the Dunnies in Trenton, coming from behind a 4-3 second period deficit to score two unanswered third-frame goals to snatch the win.

"They are not in shape yet," said Coach Ike Hildebrand after Sunday's victory. "Last night Whitby played outstanding hockey to beat us, but today the boys showed signs of their potential."

Penalties slowed down the Macs' offensive in the second period, but they held off the speedy Canadiens and went on to win in the third.

Gordie Bell came up with another of his outstanding performances, especially when the fast-skating Canadiens were in on his doorstep. Moe Benoit and Lou Smrke shone offensively, each scoring a brace while Floyd Crawford got the other.

The defeated Canadiens apparently took some solace from the fact they outshot the McFarlands. The unofficial count in the press box was, Canadiens 34, Belleville 33. Officially the Hull scorer had it 41-18. Apparently he had the better marks into the sanctuaries of the professional puck-chasers.

The likeable big cat who now tips the scales at 210 pounds and stands six-foot two in his pinkies, played his minor hockey in his native Goderich where the Toronto Maple Leafs' scouts tabbed him for the Queen City junior "A" club.

Professional bird dogs were then, as now, looking for big husky defencemen, and at the tender age of 19 it made the big hop into the moneyed ranks.

He played his first pro hockey with the Omaha club of the United States League in the 1945-46 season, and the next season saw him with Indianapolis. He played his first National League hockey with the Detroit Red Wings in 1946-47, but spent the next five seasons with Omaha and Indianapolis, going back to the Red Wings in 1949-50.

The Chicago Black Hawks acquired him the next year, and Al played the following four full seasons with that club. He went to the Montreal Royals of the Quebec League the next season, then back to Chicago, leaving the NHL club in the 1955-56 season.

The next two seasons saw him with Buffalo and Buffalo-Newsboy, and last year he spent with the Bears playing 60 games and compiling a scoring record of seven goals and 31 assists.

At the close of the season last year he decided he was finished with professional hockey but apparently the powers-that-be decided not to take him at his word. Harold Ballard of the Maple Leafs of fame and kind-ness for his services. He was invited to try out with the Macs—and made an instant hit with his team-mates and the fans.

However, the professional brass was loath to let Al go and he became a bone of contraversy between the monied boys and the amateur ranks.

Eventually the Hershey Bears who owned him decided to put him on waivers, and the McFarland hopes ran high. But the Three Rivers club of the Quebec league picked up the waiver and Al was ordered to report to their organization. He reiterated his earlier statement that he was through with pro hockey, and jokingly told the Three Rivers brass he would resort for "10,000."

"When I told them that over the long-distance telephone," laughed big Al, "they hung up on me."

However Manager Drury Denyes kept the wires humming and on Saturday morning he was notified that Three Rivers had relinquished their waivers and Al was cleared with his reinstatement. He played his first game with the Macs against Whitby on Saturday night —and again against Hull-Ottawa Canadiens yesterday afternoon.

Blues Defeat Golden Gaels Redmen Fall Before Western

By THE-CANADIAN PRESS

The unbeaten University of Toronto Blues can win the Intercollegiate senior football crown next Saturday. All they have to do is defeat last - place Queen's, the University of Western Ontario Mustangs.

On the other hand, Western can force a playoff by beating the Blues in the title-jinxed and last meeting of the clubs. Toronto won the two contests.

Toronto trimmed Queen's University Golden Gaels 23-6 at Kingston Saturday, the Blues' fifth victory, in as many starts this season.

Meanwhile, Western trounced McGill University Redmen 35-6 at London, consolidating its hold on second place with its third win in five starts.

Queen's and McGill have won only one game each.

GAELS FADE

The Gaels put up a gallant battle against Toronto in the first half, were clobbered in the final half as the Blues struck to a touchdown attack led by fullback Pete Joyce. Toronto led 7-3 at half-time.

Jocko Thompson scored the Gaels' only points, booting a field goal from 25 yards out early in the second quarter.

Joyce and Tim Reid scored two touchdowns apiece. Brian Aston scored the other Toronto touchdown and converted one. Wally Adams also kicked a convert.

Al Lis-Sak, Jim Mattango scored in every quarter and were never under pressure.

The Western touchdowns were scored by Bob Miller, Frank Cosentino, Mero Politziani and Bob Pearson. Mitchell converted three times and produced a single with a long kickoff.

For Toronto scored McGill's only touchdown late in the game.

Leaf "Loafers" Come To Life In Weekend Win, Defeat

Account for Five Markers In Wing Victory, Blues Loss; Habs Split, Rangers Take 2

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A few days ago George Imlach, assistant general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, was in his humor watching the Intercollegiate Hockey League team in practice. He muttered about "loafers" and said Frank Mahovlich was one he'd like to demote to a farm club.

But for the league waiver rule, Imlach told reporters, he'd have Mahovlich, Dick Duff and a couple of others packed off to Rochester Americans.

Today Imlach can thank the waiver rule for all of the five goals Leafs scored during the weekend in blasting Detroit Red Wings 3-0 and losing a 2-1 squeaker to New York Rangers. The "loafers" put on quite a show.

In other weekend NHL games Montreal Canadiens lost 5-2 to Boston Bruins but defeated Detroit Red Wings 4-3 to hold onto first place and Rangers whipped Chicago Black Hawks 4-1.

MAHOVLICH TERRIFIC

Saturday night in Toronto Leafs scored two of each period, Duff, Bobby Pulford and Brian Cullen doing the honors. Mahovlich, however, was tremendous in rink-length rushes, set up the Pulford and Cullen goals.

Mahovlich passes to Ron Stewart accounted for both Leaf goals in their Sunday game in Toronto, who moved past Chicago into fourth place. Stewart, Cullen and Eddie Shack produced two Ranger goals in the second during the third period. Dean Prentice got the other for New York.

Bruins produced their giant-killing role again in coming from behind a 2-0 deficit to whip Canadiens Saturday night in Montreal. They've beaten Canadiens two out of three for this season.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Jean Beliveau got Montreal off to a fast start but Leo Boivin and Jean Gendron squared things before the end of the first period. Boston completely outhustled the home team for the rest of the game.

John Bucyk, Don McKenney and Larry Regan completed the Bruins' scoring.

LITTLE POPPY HOCKEY

Canadiens had a rough time winning in Detroit Sunday. The Rocket again banged home the first goal, the 315th of his NHL career, to put Montreal's league scoring leader with seven, but Red Wings came back with three in a row.

Rookie Charlie Burns, once told he'd never make the big league because of an accident which led to a plate in his skull, scored the first two goals for Detroit. Alex Delvecchio slapped the third one past Montreal's Jacques Plante.

The Habs tied things up in the second with goals by Andre Provost and rookie Ralph Backstrom, then sewed it up with third-period markers off the stick of Claude Provost and Beliveau.

RANGERS SHUTOUT

Rangers, who already have four ties, posted their first victory of the season against the Hawks Saturday. It was the fourth straight loss for Hawks, who were fined $100 per player by general manager Tommy Ivan following their 5-1 defeat by Montreal two nights earlier.

New York spread the scoring around with Bill Gadsby, Hank Ciesla, Jim Bartlett, Andy Hebenton, Red Sullivan and Andy Bathgate contesting. Al Arbour and Danny Lewicki scored for Chicago.

Dutchies Shade London 22-21

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen set the stage for their Thursday semi-final against London Lords with a 22-21 win over the Lords Saturday in the last game of the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior schedule.

Despite the loss London has a slight aggregate edge going into the semi-finals. The Lords won two and lost two against Dutchmen this season but were the only team in the league to defeat the first-place Kitchener Golden Bears.

London scored 182 points in the season and held its opponents to 193. Dutchmen allowed 281 points while scoring 210.

Jim Brown Leads Browns To 38-24 Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown is mortal. But not by much.

The sensational Cleveland fullback, threatening to send opposing linemen to their nearest psychoanalyst, is well on his way to establishing a host of new National Football League offensive records. And he could place his name alongside the immortals of the professional game.

Equally proficient at racing outside or banging away inside, Brown scored four touchdowns Sunday as the Browns outlasted Chicago Cardinals 38-24. The Browns lead the eastern division with a 5-0 record.

While the 22-year-old Brown was making defensive lines cower at Baltimore's Johnny Unitas was doing the same with the second-string. He tossed two touchdown passes as the Colts, only other undefeated team, remained in front in the Western conference with a 5-0 record, whipping Washington 35-10.

Chicago Bears remained in contention in the West with a 4-1 mark as they defeated San Francisco 28-14. New York moved into second place in the East with a 2-3 triumph over Pittsburgh; defending champs Detroit won its first game of the season, 41-24 over Los Angeles and Green Bay outlasted Philadelphia 38-35.

HALES HIT HARD

The Bears won a rough game from the 49ers in which Bear coach George Halas was pained. Thrown at him by a fan, Willie Galimore, the Bears' flashy halfback.

New York brought its record to 3-3 by recovering three Pittsburgh fumbles, then Tracy and converting two into scores.

Detroit's Tobin Rote connected for three scoring passes to lead the Lions to their first victory.

Bart Starr, quarterback for the Green Bay quarterbacking from Bart Starr and clicked on touchdown passes of 34, 14, 10 and 25 yards as the Packers also notched their initial victory. Paul Hornung's field goal was the margin of victory.

Whitby Wins Second in Row Chevies Defeat Kingston 4-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Belleville McFarlands, Canada's representatives in the world hockey tournament next spring, can't seem to get started this season.

They've lost two of their first three games in the Ontario Hockey Association's eastern division senior series, scored only 10 goals against 15 by their opponents.

Their first win came Sunday night when they downed Hull Canadiens 5-4 on two last-period goals by Joe Smrke.

WHITBY ON TOP

Whitby Dunlops, last year's world champions, outskated and outshuttled Macs for a 5-1 victory Saturday night. In their first game Belleville bowed 6-4 to Kingston Merchants.

Whitby defeated Cornwall Chevies 6-4 Sunday to take first place in the eastern division. Chevies handed Kingston a 4-0 defeat Saturday.

In the OHA-NOHA interlocking schedule Chatham Maroons and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen are tied for first with two victories each after weekend victories. Maroons defeated Dutchmen 3-2 Saturday and Dutchmen headed Windsor Bulldogs 7-3 Sunday afternoon.

TOPS NORTH BAY

Sagit Ste. Marie Greyhounds exploited a weak North Bay defence for a 5-4 victory over Trappers Saturday in the only other weekend game.

McFarlands were tied 3-2 in the first period and trailed 4-3 at the end of the second stanza of Friday game. Benoit and Lou Smrke had two goals each and Floyd Crawford a single.

Bob Boucher scored a pair for Hull and singles went to Claude Richard and Norm Doyle.

Saturday, McFarlands' only scorer was Barton Brasley. Fred Eicher, Gord Myles, Bob Attersley, Whitey Youngberg and Pete Leyte were Whitby's marksmen.

THREE FOR SMITH

Sid Smith scored three goals for Whitby in their victory over Cornwall. Myles, Youngberg and Attersley had the others. Cornwall scorers were Barton Brasley, Gus Nehrl, Ray Laplante and Neil Burke.

McLay netted two goals in Cornwall's Saturday win while Guy Henri and Ray Laplante had singles. Roy Partridge and Billy Colvin scored for Kingston.

Four newcomers got five of Kitchener's goals against Windsor. They were centre Bob McKnight with two and Ralph Mazzussi, Bill Saunderson and Larry Musselman. Holdovers Ted Maki and Billy Flick had the other two.

Wally Pawlyszton, Murray Costello and Joe Klubney scored for the winless Windsor squad.

EXCITING FINISH

Against Kingston Dutchmen tied the score with three minutes left in the game, but Fred Pletsch bagged the tie-breaker for Chatham a few seconds later. Copper Leyte and Jim Connolly were the other Chatham scorers. Tom Micaleff and Bill Wylie got Dutchmen's goals.

At North Bay Trappers had only three defensive regulars in front of goalie Ross Brooker.

Don McLean led Sault Ste. Marie with two goals and Jim McBurney, John Lumley and John Offdani scored the others. North Bay marksmen were Ken Gribbons, Tony Poeta and Bernie Cote.

Turk Broda, former all-star N.H.L. goalkeeper is raving about the new compact protection he's found for his car. Macs Defeat Hull, Lose To Whitby Over Weekend

Score 2 Third-Period Goals To Shade Speedy Canadiens; Dunlops Take 5-1 Decision

A scoreless tie-and-a-half weary McFarlands not yet in the best of shape, salvaged their first win in three Eastern League starts Sunday shading the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens 3-2 in Hull after dropping a 5-1 decision to the Whitby Dunlops in Whitby Saturday night.

Outplayed in Whitby for their second loss in as many starts, the Macs flashed some of their potential in Hull, and pulled out the Victory over the young, fast-skating Canadiens with two third-period goals by Moe Sentes.

Penalties caused the Macs to get their offensive power in the second period when they drew all four sentences assessed. However, they held the storming Canadiens to two goals, answering with one, then bagged home the right combination of goals in the third, while holding the Pollock youngsters at bay.

The Hull-Ottawa Canadiens are guests of the Macs here tomorrow night in a scheduled game while the Kingston Mechanics until the be guests of the Macs on Thursday night.

WHITBY (Staff) — The Dunlops built a 3-0 lead in the first period on Saturday night before a full house and topped the score by 5-1 early in the middle stanzas before the Macs finally put paydirt with their lone goal.

The third period was scoreless and riddled with penalties as elbows and sticks came high, both sides playing the man rather than the puck.

Topping the Whitby attack was the line of Pete Belanger, Sandy Air and Gordie Myles. Myles and Belanger each scored a goal and picked up an assist while Air earned helpers on three goals. Other marksmen were Attersley, Eicher and Youngberg. Singly assists were divided among Harry Sinden, George Samolenko, Tom O'Connor and Al Long.

Centre Barton Bradley registered the lone Belleville goal with Lionel Bolley and Ike Hildebrand assisting.

The Dunlops received nine of the 17 minor penalties handed out by Referee Jack Edmondshire but the McFarlands had a couple of 10-minute sentences added to their total.

Tempers ran high all night but things came to a point in the third when nine penalties were assessed. The big blow here came at 15.25 when Alf Treen and Harr Bradley went off together. Jack Stone and Tom O'Connor, both of Whitby, went with tripping sentences at 17.25 and Dave Jones followed at 17.44. The Macs' Johnny McLellan was called for holding at 18.12 and goalie Gord Bell drew a misconduct for arguing the call. McLellan also voiced his displeasure and was tagged with a game misconduct.

Both netminders were tested early in the game with their teammates aiding them. Whitby had two off at one time but while still a man shy, Freddy Eicher drilled home Air's quick pass in front at 5.55 of the six-minute limit. Gord Myles made it 2-0, banging in Sinden's pass off Bell's stick two minutes later. Attersley closed the period scoring at 16.37 of a rebound.

Whitby's solid defence appeared frozen more than ever as Treen, Ted O'Connor and newcomer John Chaszeyeski hammered the Macs at every opportunity. Long John Henderson was the one when the Macs did get in close while Gordie Bell at the other end did not show too form. He did his mates.

Youngberg made it 4-0 early in the second, poking home a rebound with Bell down. Babando banged another home off the back of Bell's leg during a scramble at 6.05.

Bradley broke the ice at 12.38, Hildebrand passed to Bolley at the blueline and Bradley, standing at the corner of the net, tipped in Bolley's low blast from the point.

Aston Villa Trims Bolton

LONDON (Reuters) — Aston Villa emerged from the cellar of the English Soccer League's First Division Saturday with a 2-1 home win over Bolton Wanderers, who have been challenging for the league leadership.

Aston Villa's victory, which delighted a 35,000 crowd at Villa Park, was the only home victory Saturday for the First Division's underdogs.

Leeds, which was in next to last place, travelled to Tottenham and beat the former club 3-2 after trailing 3-1 at halftime. Everton, battered 10-1 by Tottenham two weeks ago, tied Blackpool 1-1 although Blackpool was the strongest team in the return of veteran ace Stanley Matthews.

Another surprise result was Arsenal's 4-2 defeat at Blackburn. Despite the reverse, Arsenal stayed at the top of the First Division on goal average. Arsenal Wolverhampton Wanderers, which ran all were tied in points—each with 14.

In the Second Division, once-beaten Fulham surged back with a 3-0 victory at Middlesbrough. Graham Leggat, Scottish international right-winger, scored twice into the lead with three first-half goals.

Sheffield Wednesday faded to a 3-2 defeat at Liverpool after leading 2-0 at halftime. It still leads the Second Division.

Ivy Hemmerdinger published its four-point lead in the Third Division, crushing Notts county 3-0 at home York, Fawcett, Stubbs and Wilson shut out at home 3-0 by Exeter. Scottish center-forward Hemmerdinger by Hearts' 5-1 victory over Partick Thistle in the League Cup final at Hampden Park, Glasgow. Hearts got on top with a goal after four minutes and never looked back.

On the Tracks

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — First Landing and Eddie Arcaro smashed home in a driving finish storm Saturday to defeat Tommy Lee by a head in the world's richest harness race—the $287,250 Garden State Stakes. The winner's purse was a whopping $173,- 000-plus.

The handsome bay colt not only set a new biggest money-winning two-year-old in history with $296,562, but wrapped up the 2-year-old juvenile crown and established himself as the colt to beat in the $1 Kentucky Futurity and other three-year-old classics next season.

Tommy Lee, Canada's Horse Shoemaker up, finished two lengths ahead of Sweet Dancer. It was another three lengths back to the fourth horse, Rico Tesio.

First Landing's time for mile and one sixteenth in 1:46 2-5 on a sloppy track and, paid $5, $2.20 and $2.60.

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Kelch from the Hasty House Farms of Toledo, Ohio was the driver of Adios Vic, champion harness pacer of the United States honors Saturday as the winner of Canada's richest horse race.

The winner, an eight-year-old, five-year-old raised as Ireland's best middle-distance runner last year, beat out eight others in a close, thrilling stretch duel at New Woodbine Park to win the mile, five-furlong classic in 2:46.2, three seconds off the Canadian record for the distance.

Andrew Alan, owned by Mrs. Hirsch Lewis of Detroit, two lengths behind Mahan, and Bell Hop, owned by Jack Schiff of New York City, edged Ekaba in a photo-finish for fourth.

Kelch won his first Queen's Plate with a U.S. horse has taken the top money in the classic. Adios Vic earned $35,000, Mahan $12,- 500, Andrew Alan $7,500 and Bell Hop $5,000.

CANADIANS BLANKED

Four Canadian entries finished well out of the money. The best showing was by Grey Monarch, Ottawa Valley Farms colt now owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, which finished seventh.

Adios Vic, 1957 winner owned by Louis Rowan of Los Angeles, took an early lead and for a time looked good for a repeat victory. But the Kelch driven pulled over three furlongs from home. Spinney finished eighth.

Kelch, veteran driver, made consolation in the co-featured $10,- 000 Queen's Plate won by Anita's Son, a Lanson Farms of Toronto entry.

Four Major College Teams Are Unbeaten

NEW YORK (AP)—Only four major college football teams remained in the undefeated-untied category circle today and at least one of them must be expelled this week.

Louisiana State and Mississippi, both boasting 6-0 records, meet Saturday night, with not only their spotless reputations, but probably the Southern Conference championship as well as stake.

The team that wins this one should go on to the championship and the host spot in the Sugar Bowl.

The other two unbeaten-untieds are Rutgers and Colorado.

Rutgers, which beat Delaware Saturday, has won five in a row and if the colts pull this right could emerge as the only major unbeaten-untied team in the nation.

He is forced to lie flat on his back, with weights keeping him rigid.

Jackson, who went through seven NHL seasons without serious injury, won the NHL scoring championship in 1931-32.

He has been employed in recent years as a salesman. Premarital life has had a number of upsets and he and his wife, separated some months ago, now are reconciled.

Red Hot Argos Trim Ottawa, Larks Trounce Tiger-Cats

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A final major obstacle — the Montreal Alouettes—stands in the way of one of the greatest comeback drives in Canadian football.

Toronto Argonauts, fired by the sensational performances of Quarterback Ronnie Knox and halfback Dick Shatto, meet Alouettes in a home-and-home series opening Saturday in Toronto which will wind up the Big Four season and decide the two clubs' playoff fortunes.

Saturday, the red - hot Argos lopsided victory, smashing Ottawa Rough Riders 42-24. The one-two punch of Knox and Shatto again knocked the opposition stiff.

ALS NOW SECOND

The loss bounced Ottawa out of second place, taken over by the Argos, who have been practically out of the three-team playoffs only a month ago on their dismal record of one win and eight straight losses, must win both games against the Als to reach the semi-finals.

Rough Riders and Alouettes need only a tie to make the grade.

A tie in points would be decided by the scoring spread in season games between the teams involved. If Argos, for instance, end up tied for third with Riders, the playoff berth goes to Ottawa because of Riders' 113-108 advantage in five season games. Ottawa also holds the edge over Montreal 83-53 in four clashes. A Toronto-Montreal tie is not possible.

PASSERS POTENT

On the basis of Saturday's games, the crucial series shaping up between Argos and Als could be one of the greatest quarterback duels in Big Four annals. Knox, on the 10 from Chicago Bears of the National Football League, and Sparky Rk's Sam Etcheverry were razzle-sharp.

Toronto fans had their hearts in their mouths in the first half when the Argo steam - roller which had crushed Riders 41-0 a week earlier, bogged down briefly. The Riders built up a 12-6 lead then tended fast as Argos smashed back in the second half.

The 23 - year - old Knox, who joined Toronto a month ago, completed 20 of 29 pass attempts to run his three-game total to an incredible 61 out of 88. Shatto scored three touchdowns for a three-game total of eight.

Knox dropped touchdown passes into the hands of Shatto, Dave Mann, Boyd Carter and Pete O'Gero and twice sent Shatto on touchdown plungers.

Vic Kristopaitis, a kicking stand out for Argos all year, booted five converts. Mann picked up a single when he fumbled over the Ottawa goalline and Bobby Simpson kicked the ball into the crowd.

Riders scored their first touchdown at the five-minute mark following their only pass interception of the game. Halfback Dave Thelen grabbed the ball at the [illegible] and Russ Jackson, mobile Canadian quarterback, shied off a march on the fourth play with a one - yard plunge.

Jackson, who guided the Ottawa attack throughout and kept Argo linemen baffled by his fine ball handling, added another touchdown early in the fourth quarter. Don Pinney and Simpson scored the others.

Riders outplayed Argos on the ground, moving 238 yards to Toronto's 106. But they were outdistanced 332 yards to 216 in the afternoon's dazzling aerial display.

Etcheverry set the pace for Alouettes in the first quarter with a 47-yard pass that Dick Manley grabbed for a touchdown that opened the scoring. Als never looked back.

The Royals downed the last-place Chicoutimi Saguenays 8-2 while the Aces shaded the third-place Trois-Rivieres Lions 3-2.

Jack Hill Scores 23 Points In Stamps-Sasky Stalemate

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A 23 - point performance by Roughrider Jack Hill topped Saturday night's Calgary-Saskatchewan tilt for a playoff spot in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The game at Calgary ended in a 29-29 deadlock but the Roughriders were trailing 29-20 with the first half before Hill began to prove his claim to the WIFU 1958 scoring championships and the league's all-time scoring record.

Hill took a 15-yard touchdown pass from Frank Tripucka. Then he skirted two yards around end for another TD, and picked up a third on a 91-yard pass and run play with Tripucka. Never late, all three TDs himself, Hill kicked a single and converted a touchdown by Harry Lunn.

LAST-DITCH EFFORT

Trailing 29-02 with three minutes left, Stampeders were saved from elimination when Nobby Kirkwood intercepted to Ron Clinkscale, who passed to end Jack Gotta for a 40-yard touchdown which Doug Brown converted for the tie. Stamps' other touchdowns were scored by Jim Bakhtiar, Chuck Holoway and Gene Filipski. Doug Brown added four converts and a single.

Edmonton Eskimos were assured a second-place finish by whipping B.C. Lions 23-3 Saturday night.

Riders still have a one-point margin over Calgary, and each team has one scheduled game left—Calgary versus Winnipeg tonight, Saskatchewan against Edmonton Saturday.

CAN SET RECORD

For Hill, Saturday's game with Edmonton is a chance to set a WIFU scoring record. His season's total is 129 points two below, the WIFU record of 131 set last year by Bombers' Jerry James.

Another record will be sought in the same game. Johnny Bright, who crashed for 115 yards and two touchdowns against B.C., now is within 77 yards of passing the 1,579-yard WIFU rushing record he set last season.

His running mate, Normie Kwong, scored the other touchdown. Quarterback Jackie Parker punted for two singles, kicked two converts and a field goal. Ted Hunt got the B.C. points on a 17-yard field goal.

Astrological Forecast

— CARROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, October 28

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — While you may feel that you can acquire anything you desire with money alone, it is best you use all existing situations today. High strength of principles mainly. Let this slogan day be productive by increased value of real estate, etc.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)— You are severely tempted to lavish a household member today, which could really start the fur flying. Curb this and resolve all matters in a philosophical, kindly fashion, thus saving wear and tear on nervous system.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)— A private worry could cause you to drop everything today and run off somewhere. Since you would only be taking your trouble with you, it is wisest you face the situation squarely and adjust it to best of your ability, which is considerable.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — You had planned today to talk squarely to some friend and express what you have disliked about his or her actions for some time, but it would be better instead to reflect this through inspirational example yourself.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — It is important you are most careful with words and actions today, or your prestige and credit will suffer seriously thereby. Live the Golden Rule in all activities and success will be as sure as that you are living and breathing.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — It is a very fine thing to long for a better life and reach out for the things that bring precious living closer to you, but be sure today you do not neglect some very important obligations you have made. Complete, then plan.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — An authority on a certain subject either is too preoccupied or is of the opinion that you should be more self - sufficient. Stick to work most diligently, especially in civic matters. Don't make mistakes.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)— Any fixed hatred toward some individual is bad for both parties concerned. All straightens itself out in the long run, so simply have salient points in mind that will cement better relations. Compromise. Pay your bills.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You are desirous of forgetting important labors for the day to run off to some new activity, interesting acquaintance. Be sure to do your work first and there will be sufficient time later to do so. Be wise.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Being extravagant with regard to entertainment today could seriously jeopardize your position with those who have power over your financial, personal affairs. Impress them with good sense and economy instead.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — This is not the day to discuss or hope for support from partners in matters of progressive ideas for yourself in the future. They are too preoccupied with own activities and would want to take more than credits to take more time to consider yours.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Put aside humdrum occupations today and get out to shop for what you have needed for some time. Impress those with you and others with good business sense, taste and poise. Be particularly careful while driving, too.

It your child is born today ... The fine child born today will have one failing in particular that it becomes your duty to correct as early as possible. He or she will want to deliberate about a thing so long that by the time the mind is made up to go ahead, they have already missed the race. Once firm and quick decisions are taught, however, then the horoscope is fine for banking, real estate, investigation professions.

CRITICALLY HURT

Hill, four blocks away, it broke windows in the West Block of the Parliament Buildings and knocked books from the shelves of the Parliamentary Library.

THEATRE WRECKED

An iron wrecker used the Odeon Theatre, its rear wall and stage were demolished. Damage was estimated at $500,000.

Mal.-Det. G. S. Hatton, federal deputy co-ordinator of civil defence, said the blast would have caused 500 to 600 casualties in a leading city had it happened on a week-day.

Board of control under Mayor George Nelms was to set up a committee, including federal and Ontario experts, to investigate the explosion and make a report of it.

Jack McCay of Toronto, spokesman for Ontario Gas' parent, Consumers' Gas Company, said natural gas was not the cause, since company lines were definitely tampered with inside one of the wrecked buildings.

TIGHTEN FEDERAL

lic Saturday, indicated the cabinet planned fast action on some of the recommendations.

He emphasized to reporters the government was not committed to accept any of the proposals, but the cabinet planned to consider legislation should be made ready for the next session of Parliament, expected to open in mid-January.

"So on recommendations, I think, would demand early action."

Yet up the royal commission a year ago to suggest the kind of legislation the government ought to pursue to protect Canadian gas and oil consumers.

The commission said special action was required to safeguard consumers from the Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited, cross-country gas carrier, but it emphasized that greater future demand of the entire industry was necessary to provide consumers with "the best reasonable" prices.

Otherwise, it said, Trans-Canada would be in a position to make "inordinate" profits.

CRITICISE OFFICIALS

High officials both of Trans-Canada and Westcoast Transmission Company Limited, which pipes gas into British Columbia and northwestern United States, were sharply criticized for making large paper profits on stock.

Among those cited were Trans-Canada president Nathan Tanner, former Liberal cabinet minister; vice-president Charles Coates of Toronto and Houston, Texas; and Westcoast Transmission president Frank McMahon.

The commission said the former Liberal administration had failed adequately to preclude reaping heavy profits, particularly when the government showed itself ready to put up a maximum $80,000,000 to build the Northern Ontario leg of the Alberta-to-Montreal line.

Mr. Fleming was cited particularly for having accepted, in addition to some 55,000 shares at $1 each—the current price is about $36.50—some 10,000 shares at $1 which he turned over at this level of these latter shares to his wife.

As for Westcoast's commission, company backers received "potential-capital profits beyond any amount which . . . could be considered as reasonable or adequate compensation for the risks involved."

Before the public could get a look at the shares, 624,950 were issued to the backers at the nominal par value of a dollar and five cents each. Mr. McMahon, the president, was among those getting large chunks.

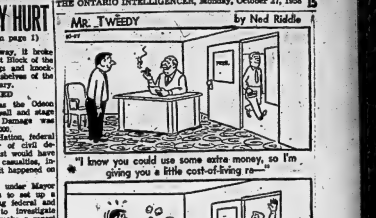
HUGE RESERVES

The commission estimated that Western Canada — mainly Alberta—would eventually have reserves of some 200 trillion cubic feet, far more than Canada would need.

While Canada would, for some time, have to struggle to get an expanding share of the American market for this surplus, the potential market in the U.S. was so great that trying to supply it all could jeopardize supplies for Canadians.

So there had to be regulation and control of exports. Licences had been granted for periods not exceeding 25 years. As for the Trans-Canada export request, this should be treated on its merits.

Running through the report was a pattern of emphasis that Canadians, generally should not have to shoulder too large a burden of pipeline transport costs, especially where Canadian gas and oil were also being moved into the U.S.



B.C. distributors complained they had to pay Westcoast nearly 50 per cent more for gas than and did an American company taking expanding share of the Montreal market for this surplus, the potential market in the U.S. was so great that trying to supply it all could jeopardize supplies for Canadians.

B.C. distributors complained they had to pay Westcoast nearly 50 per cent more for gas than and reasonable."

Mrs. Clark's class won the attendance banner with 14 points for the evening.

The group enjoyed a film entitled "Who Will Teach Your Child?" followed by a panel discussion with the following on the panel: Mr. W. Rothwell, principal; Mrs. Don Holmes, Mrs. Betty Peake, Mrs. Bill Donald and Mr. Hector Macmillan Mrs. Holmes began the discussion with a poem entitled "Education."

Following the discussion, Mrs. Betty Peake read a poem entitled "A Prayer for Teachers," which had been presented to her by Mr. A. Whitfield.

After the meeting adjourned, lunch was served. The next meeting will be held in the new Kent Street school on Nov. 11th.

Borden Highlights

OTTAWA (CP) — Highlights of the Borden energy commission's interim report on Canada's oil and gas industry:

A national energy board should be set up with wide licensing powers to control development of oil and gas exploration companies, pipelines and the flow of oil and gas across the border.

The board of transport commissioners should be empowered and forced to regulate tolls charged by pipelines. These rates should be "just and reasonable" and should be reviewed at least once every two years.

Natural gas exports to the U.S. should be allowed. Shipments should be controlled by licences and export permits should be for no more than 25 years.

Gas export commitments given by the previous Liberal government to Trans - Canada Pipe Lines Limited should be ignored and Trans-Canada's export request treated on its merits.

The question of an Alberta-to-Montreal oil pipeline would be dealt with in a later report.

No special measures were needed for Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited to safeguard interests of Canadian gas producers and consumers.

Nathan Tanner, Trans - Canada president, and Charles Coates, Trans - Canada executive vice-president, were criticized for reaping huge stock profits when public funds were used to develop the cross-country pipeline.

Original backers of Westcoast Transmission Company Limited enjoyed stock privileges providing unreasonable potential profits.

British Columbia gas customers of Westcoast Transmission should not have to pay more for gas than American customers, as now was the case.

The board of transport commissioners should keep current Westcoast U.S.-favoring prices in mind in regulating contract prices on future exports by this company.

Oil and gas prices, generally, should be kept at a reasonable level in Canada.

In permitting gas exports, sale of by-products such as sulphur to these customers should be provided for.

Enlarging the six-man board of transport commissioners should be considered in relation to commission recommendations for added regulatory powers.

Major oil companies appeared to have effective control over interprovincial pipelines and tolls and a huge share of proven oil reserves.

Ottawa Prepared To Share Costs Of Winter Work

Will Meet Half Payroll On Municipal Projects

REGINA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker has announced a new federal offer to combat winter unemployment.

He told delegates at the opening of a Progressive Conservative provincial convention here Monday that the federal government is ready to share costs of special winter work in municipalities of any province where the provincial government approves.

He said the federal government tentatively proposes to pay half the payroll cost of such projects. The federal air will be given first to projects not normally carried out in winter months and will be available from December to April inclusive.

The offer highlighted the first day of the two-day convention, attended by more than 1,000 Conservatives who tonight will choose a Saskatchewan provincial leader.

TREMMED BY PREMIERS

The offer was generally welcomed by provincial premiers although some suggested broadening of the program's provisions and lengthening of the time involved.

Stuff Roblin, Progressive Conservative premier of Manitoba, said his government is delighted by the plan.

CCF Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan said he was somewhat late for municipalities to make use of the offer but he was certain many could adjust their programs.

"I am hopeful that it will be possible to persuade the government of Canada to broaden this period December to April to cover all works undertaken as long as unemployment is present in any community," Mr. Douglas said.

Social Credit Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia said: "I am glad to see Diefenbaker saying his government "will cooperate fully in this regard." He asked that provisions be extended to include labor employed on hospital and public school construction.

Conservative Premiers Hugh John Flemming of New Brunswick and Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia welcomed the offer.

Figures released last week showed there are 5.2 per cent or 296,000 unemployed persons in the country now. This is down compared with 197,000 unemployed at the same date a year ago.

Earl Alexander In Hospital With Heart Attack

OTTAWA (CP) — Earl Alexander of Vaudreuil, 66-year-old former Governor-General of Canada and wartime field marshal, is in "serious but not critical" condition in hospital here after suffering a heart attack, a medical bulletin said today.

A bulletin issued shortly before noon today by the Ottawa Civic Hospital Lord Alexander entered on Monday said he spent a "restful night."

The bulletin said:

"Field Marshal, the Rt. Hon. Earl Alexander of Tunis was admitted to the Ottawa Civic Hospital on Monday suffering from an acute coronary thrombosis. His condition this morning is serious but not critical after a restful night.

"He is under the care of Dr. F. H. B. Hilton, chief of the department of medicine, and Dr. C. B. Pinch who has his physician during his period as Canada's Governor-General. Further bulletins will be issued from the hospital.

Lord and Lady Alexander have been staying in Ottawa as guests of Mal.-Gen. Harry Letson, who served on Lord Alexander's staff, while he was Governor-General of Canada.

Gen. Letson said Lord Alexander was unaware of the attack at the time. He said he was in pain during the last few days in Ottawa.

Lord and Lady Alexander have been in Canada for 10 days prior to coming to Ottawa on Sunday, they visited Montreal and Quebec City.

Lord Alexander's family in England has been informed. His son, Shane—Lord Rideau — is working in Montreal but has not yet arrived in Ottawa.

FROST REPORTS NINE OF TEN IN HOSPITAL PLAN

Hospitals Will Get Grant of $150 a Bed

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's campaign to sign up residents in the provincial hospital insurance plan is an outstanding success, the Ontario Hospital Association was told Monday. The plan takes effect Jan. 1.

Premier Frost announced at the association's convention that better than 90 per cent of Ontario residents are now enrolled by the Ontario Hospital Services Commission. The latest figure was 2,898,000 out of the province's 3,050,000 population.

"These figures are in excess of what anyone considered possible at the inception of this plan," he said. "Enrolment is continuing at a rapid rate.

Mr. Frost spoke to the open ing of the four-day OHA meeting being attended by 3,000 representatives of 250 hospitals.

OBSOLESCENCE GRANT

He also announced a depreciation or obsolescence grant of $150 a bed to all Ontario hospitals during the first year of the hospital insurance plan. It would compensate for the federal government's exclusion of depreciation from hospital costs.

The provincial grant for out-patients attending clinics was to be increased to $1.50 a visit from 50 cents.

Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor, consultant to the Hospital Services Commission, said it has been impossible to determine closely how many beds will be needed under the new hospital plan.

"Perhaps there is no limit to the amount of hospital care people can use if they think it is free."

$66 PER YEAR

Dr. Taylor, a University of Toronto professor doing research into the hospital plan's problems, said Ontario will need 800 new active treatment beds every year until 1970 to keep up the present ratio of hospital beds to population.

He said it is a formidable challenge to hospitals and municipalities across the province.

Dr. Taylor said Ontario is providing more hospital beds for its residents than most American states.

"When we hear complaints about the lack of hospital beds while we must look first to see if it is an area if which a genuine shortage exists."

Stelco Strike In 11th Week

TORONTO (CP) — The latest series of talks to end the 11-week-old strike at Steel Company of Canada's Hamilton plant moved into its seventh day today.

No announcement was made at the end of Monday's meetings between the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and the 16,000 men in the offices of the Ontario labor department. Conciliation officers were reported to have entered discussions near the end—of last Saturday.

About 7,500 workers at Stelco plants walked out in support of increased wage demands.

Three Russian Scientists, Briton Awarded Nobel Physics Prizes

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—Three Russian atomic scientists today are awarded the Nobel physics prize by the Swedish Academy of Science for their work on the properties of matter at extremely low energetic particles through matter.

They are Dr. P. A. Cherenkov, Prof. I. M. Frank and Igor Tamm. All work at the physics institute of the Russian Academy of Sciences in Moscow.

The chemistry prize was awarded to a British scientist, Dr. Frederick Sanger, for his research into the molecular structure of proteins.

The citation to the Russians said they were honored "for the discovery and interpretation of Cherenkov effect."

Their award follows the success of another Russian, Boris Pasternak, winner of this year's Nobel prize for literature, though Soviet authorities have repudiated Pasternak's award on the grounds

Soviet Rejects Year's Ban On Nuclear Weapons Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) Western diplomats at the UN grew increasingly fearful today that the Soviet Union plans to scuttle Big Three negotiations for an inspection system to enforce a ban on nuclear weapons tests. The apprehension resulted from Russia's flat rejection of the U.S.-Britain call for a one-year suspension of nuclear weapons tests, beginning with the opening of new Big Three talks in Geneva Friday.

Valerian Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, told the UN's 81-nation political committee Monday night that Russia is prepared to contribute "in every possible way" to success of the talks. He made plain, however, that the Kremlin is sticking to the insistence on an unconditional agreement to suspend tests "immediately and for all time."

The Western nuclear powers demand an inspection system to detect violations before agreeing to any permanent suspension.

Zorin served notice once again that Soviet bomb tests keep on with its nuclear weapons tests until their number equals the total the United States and Britain have set off since last March 31. He said that Russia announced it was suspending tests, then resumed them Sept. 30.

U.S. delegate James W. Barco declared the Russian reply appears to justify "every fear that has been expressed in this committee concerning the Soviet Union's real intentions."

Allan Noble, British minister of state, asserted Russia is repeating "in a position of extreme rigidity that is hardly calculated to bring about an agreed solution."

A source close to the U.S. delegation said the Russians are building up a case for torpedoing the Geneva talks.

Commission May Turn Down Importation Plan for Gas

WASHINGTON (CP)—The federal power commission is expected this week to say whether it is prepared to allow Alberta gas to be imported from the Trans-Canada pipeline and sold in the United States.

A month ago, the betting was that the commission would okay the importation of Canadian gas to serve consumers in the hard-hungry communities in North Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

Today, the issue is by no means certain. Some of the commission's members have indicated they want down the importation plan.

What prompted the switch in odds was a public hearing two weeks ago at which the five-man commission heard arguments on a plan by Minnesota Pipe Line Company, a U.S. pipeline, to import 204,000,000 cubic feet of Canadian gas per day next March in the four-state upper midwest area.

Up to that point, the Midwestern case seemed to be favored by the commission's staff and study by the commission.

But the public hearing produced a strongly-buttressed attack on the importation by Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb., which is the commission's own legal staff, who argued that Trans-Canada is not an "single cubic foot" of gas available for export to the United States through under contract even for its own Canadian needs.

Aftermath supported this argument with figures from a report issued by the Alberta gas conservation board.

The commission, which indicated it would render a decision by Nov. 1, called the hearing to consider the merits of the Midwestern plan and those of two competing U.S. pipelines—Northern Natural Gas Company and Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Company—which seek to serve the same market area with American gas.

It became conceded that the Midwestern project is sounder than the two rival plans because of the defect lies in two words: "No gas."

Albrecht said the Alberta board's report placed Trans-Canada's 1958 export license at 4,300,000,000,000 cubic feet, approximately enough for what it needs for its own Canadian markets on a 20-year basis. But Trans-Canada shot by 1,500,000,000,000 cubic feet of that amount with contracts with contractible future requirements.

Henry Welch of Houston, Tex. counsel for Trans-Canada, argued that the Alberta board's report recently had contributed heavily to Trans-Canada's financial problems and said the Canadian firm expected to fulfil all its contracts including that with Midwestern.

Harry Littman, counsel for Midwestern, said Trans-Canada has "a firm, adequate supply of gas."

Should Midwestern obtain an import permit from the commission, it still needs a permit from Canada to get an export permit from the Canadian government. The Borden royal commission on energy resources in its interim report in 1957 favored the recommended export be allowed "under firm" and that the Trans-Canada application "be considered on its merits."

72 MINERS STILL ON MISSING LIST AT SPRINGHILL

21 Bodies Recovered And Identified

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—The search for bodies in fresh-drilled gas holes 2 colliery continued at an agonizingly slow pace today. A great barrier of rock still entombed 72 miners missing in the depths.

Progress through rock and debris left by Thursday night's thunderous underground upheaval was so slow there was—no definite indication when the main group of men might be reached. Occasionally bare-faced miners stopped their diggings to the bodies of dead workers from the clogged tunnels.

Twenty - one bodies have been recovered and identified. Aboard 46 of missing men have believed behind rock 13,000 feet from the pithead. Of the 174 men trapped in North America's deepest colliery, 102 have been rescued, including 15 injured.

TOLL MAY BE 80

There was every indication the death toll will reach 93, making the second mining disaster here in 11 years the worst Canadian coal pit tragedy since 1914.

No hope was held for any of the 72 miners trapped. Searchers said death was in the air underground. Rock has been burrowed through the rock and timber there was great danger of suffocation.

The first bodies were brought up from the 13,000-foot level Monday night. Among that of Charlie Bruton, 31 of 80 men to be rescued from the adjoining No. 4 colliery in 1936 when a November explosion killed 39 miners.

Efforts to hack a hole into the main 13,000 - foot working area failed early today. The early breakthrough hoped for by Harold Gordon, coal chief with the Department Steel and Coal Corporation, did not materialize.

HAZARDOUS DIGGING

The burrowing miners worked under hazardous conditions. In some places they were forced to crawl toward the ceiling, leaving only inches to spare.

"There's no room down there," said miner Stan Pashkowt. "We have to break our shovel handles. I only wish they would let me go underground and help out mine. I think the world should know what it's like down there."

Rescue workers in the encircling miners were "beyond praise."

Premier Robert Stanfield of Springhill buried more of its dead. Six funerals were held Monday. Four were scheduled today. Two miners were buried Sunday.

Killed at Crossing

STRATFORD (CP) — Herbert Harrison, 62, of St. Pauls, died in hospital Monday night 13 hours after the car he was driving collided with a Canadian National Railways freight at a level crossing here.

Mr. Harrison was thrown out by the impact which demolished his vehicle.

PROTESTANTS MEET

WINNIPEG (CP) — Delegates representing 40 Protestant and Eastern church groups are attending the biennial convention of the Canadian Council of Churches here.

Macklin Says Canada Sinks Into Status of U.S. Colony

OTTAWA (CP)—Mal.-Gen. W. S. Macklin, former adjutant-general of the Canadian army, ended eight years of political protest attack yet on Canada's defence policy.

Gen. Macklin said that in the realm of defence Canada is heading "deeper and deeper every day into the status of a satellite, or colony" of the United States.

He said the RCAF as now organized and equipped has "no significant role" and no major significance whatever when considered from the point of view of Canadian defence.

"The RCAF now is a defensive tactical handmaiden of the U.S. Strategic Air Force, and it is only there as an other electrically-charged particle that moves in a medium which is more powerful than that of light in the medium, that the "effect" was initiated by the researches of Cherenkov, and carried on by the theories of Frank and Tamm.

The effect is important for all problems concerning the motion of high-energy particles through matter, while the theoretical ideas of Frank and Tamm were applied to the theory of the stopping of such particles.

The Cherenkov Effect recently has been used for the detection of charged high-energy particles and the measurement of their velocity.

Operators Will Need Protection From Powerful Space-Age Radar

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Powerful new radars anticipated for the space age will require special and necessary extra precautions for protecting radar operators from the deadly heat of their beams.

This was related today by Col. George A. Gerhart, Public Health Service at the U.S. Air Force missile test centre in Cape Canaveral, Fla.

But Knauf said the hazard from existing radars has already been observed and has become a cause for public concern un precautions.

He told the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association in a prepared report that present - day radar equipment "poses no great threat to personnel other than those engaged in operating or maintaining the equipment."

But he said with the introduction of equipment now on the drawing board for the era of space projects, special safety precautions will have to be developed.

He explained that these new powerful radars would not constitute a hazard to civilians. He said the air force has studied the biological effects of radar energy and its action appears to be one of "tissue heating." The crystaline lens of the eye seems to be the most susceptible element, he said.

Pontiff Chosen On 12th Ballot, Named John 23rd

Son of Farmhand, Most Popular Prelate in Italy

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Angelo Cardinal Roncalli was elected Pope today.

The new Pope, patriarch of Venice, is 77 years old.

Immediately after election in secret conclave by the Roman Catholic Church's College of Cardinals, the new pontiff chose the name John XXIII.

He succeeds Pope Pius XII who died just 18 days ago after a reign of 19 years and seven months, one of the longest in the 2,000-year history of the church.

VARIED TITLES

The pontiff's titles, as officially listed by the church are:

"Bishop of Rome, vicar of Jesus Christ, successor of the Prince of the Apostoles, supreme pontiff of the universal church, patriarch of the west, primate of Italy, Archbishop and bishop of the province of Rome and sovereign of the state of Vatican City."

As the chief pastor of the Roman Catholic church, he holds a spiritual influence unparalleled on earth. He also is the supreme legislator, judge, teacher, judge and administrator.

SELLS RING OUT

The bells of St. Peter's Basilica rang joyfully, led by its giant master bell.

The throng in the square cheered hoarsely and madly, waving handkerchiefs widely.

The new Pope has been one of the most popular prelates in Italy. He also has many friends abroad, particularly in France where he spent eight years as papal nuncio.

He has a sturdy health and is an ungainly worker.

SON OF FARMHAND

He was born the son of a farmhand in a small village in the province of Bergamo.

After graduating from the Roman Pontifical Seminary in 1904, he became personal secretary to the Bishop of Bergamo, Magr. Giacomo Radini-Tedeschi.

In this post, which he held until the bishop's death in 1914, he acquired an early knowledge of the administration of church affairs and also devoted himself to historical studies.

During the First World War, he served first as a sergeant in the medical corps, and later became army chaplain. A three-year term as a lecturer in theology followed, and in the province of Bergamo followed.

ROME POST IN 1921

In 1921, Pope Benedict XI called him to Rome and entrusted him with the task of reorganizing the missionary work in the Congregation Propaganda Fide (for the propagation of faith).

His diplomatic career began in 1925 when he was sent to Bulgaria as apostolic visitator, Early in 1935 he was named to the apostolic delegate for Turkey and Greece. Late in the year he became

Indians Want Hula Hoops as Fur Stretchers

TORONTO (CP) — What next for hula hoops?

The Ontario lands and forests department reports an Indian came up with a practical suggestion.

When a department plane carrying a hula hoop landed at the Marme Lake tree planting camp in the Gogama area of Northern Ontario, the Indian was asked if he could work "one of these things."

He replied that the hoops would make good bearer skin stretchers to replace the wilow hoops now used.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker set off on his 30 on his much-heralded world trip aimed at strengthening Commonwealth ties and building friendship for Canada in 15 countries.

Members of the diplomatic corps and a 50-man RCAF guard of honor were to see him off.

The prime minister, flying with about 34,000 miles of travel ahead, was scheduled to leave at noon.

Mr. Diefenbaker's first stop will be New York where he speaks tonight at the Pilgrims Dinner, an event organized by the Anglo-American Friendship Organization.

Wednesday he heads across the Atlantic on his 56-day tour of the United Kingdom, Western Europe, South Asia, Australia and New Zealand.

FORSEE SECOND TOUR

Already there have been leaks in the thoughts by government officials about another major tour by the prime minister in the 1960 election year. But no firm planning has been done for it.

The prime minister has said: "The present tour is based on the desire to get to know at first hand better" Nations could become friends if they merely stayed home and did not visit each other.

He has emphasized the need of building on "the present understanding" between the West and Asia.

Three weeks of his tour will be spent visiting Pakistan, India, Ceylon and Singapore.

The prime minister has given little indication of any definite objective beyond his desire to act up an international food bank and to explore ways of getting food to needy peoples.

Other subjects which may crop up are Canada's free trade speak European defence, Colombo Plan aid in south Asia, Commonwealth and the difficult question of diplomatic recognition of Communist China.

Three Million Pounds of 1957 Cheese Exported

The Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board announced today that, in addition to regular domestic sales, 3,000,000 pounds of cheese were exported to Great Britain during the last few weeks some 3,000,000 pounds over the 1957 cheese stocks. Besides these export sales of 1957 cheese, they have also sold to the British importer 2,000,000 pounds of 1958 Government-graded cheese, to be exported before the close of navigation.

The supply position of cheese on the British market is becoming acute and prices are advancing rapidly, with only small arrivals in sight. In a recent report from a London importer it was stated that the market was almost bare. Another cable states for the first nine months of 1958 imports of cheese into the United Kingdom are about 18,000,000 pounds less than a year ago. These circumstances make the English market exceptionally firm for Canadian cheddars.

With the keen demand for cheese on the United Kingdom market and their preference for Canadians, it would appear that the Agricultural Stabilization Board will have an export market for at least 10,000,000 pounds.

Mayor Gerald B. Hyde Pledges Aid In Letter to Mayor of Springhill

Following is the text of a letter which Mayor Gerald B. Hyde of Belleville, has sent to Mayor Ralph Gilroy of Springhill, N.S.

October 27, 1958.

His Worship Mayor Ralph Gilroy,
Springhill, Nova Scotia.

Dear Mayor Gilroy:

On behalf of the 27,000 citizens of this city, may I extend our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to you and through you to the people of Springhill on the occasion of the most recent disaster that has come to your community.

Your statement that has appeared in the press to the effect that "Springhill will carry on" is indicative of the hardy spirit of the people of the Maritimes and in particular, of the town of Springhill, to overcome obstacles in their way of progress. To have suffered three disasters in the way of progress. To have suffered three disasters in a period of not more than two years places a great strain on the will to survive of the people of Springhill and as a small measure of our sympathy I have established a fund here in this city which will be conducted on a purely voluntary basis and to which the people of this community may contribute,to the relief of those who have suffered grievous losses.

In due course I shall be sending to you the money raised in this campaign.

Please accept the condolences of the people of Belleville in these trying days.

Yours very truly,
Gerald B. Hyde, Mayor.

Follies of Human Behavior Cause of High Insurance Premiums Rotarians Told

People who grumble about the increasingly high cost of insurance premiums should remember that they are merely compensating for the "follies of human behavior," Rotarians in Belleville were told at their weekly meeting Monday at the Hotel Quinte, when they had as their guest speaker, Mr. R. W. Harris, of Toronto, Public Relations representative for the All-Canada Insurance Federation.

"If you can do the follies of human behavior, premiums will go down — but until you do, you will all have to pay a tremendous amount of compensation," Mr. Harris stated.

A native of Toronto, and an engineering graduate of the University of Toronto, Mr. Harris has done a good deal of travel during the long career. He has travelled from coast to coast, first as a civil engineer, and during the past six years for All Canada Insurance Federation. In World War II, he served in the Royal Canadian Navy, and was for a time on the staff of the Naval Board and Trade Board, during the Second World War.

The speaker informed his audience a total of $515,000,000 in insurance claims was paid out by Canadian insurance companies last year.

Of this total, $450,000,000 or 90 per cent, could be attributed to people's foibles, he said.

Mr. Harris disclosed automobile insurance has had the largest premiums since 1952. The reason is that traffic accidents claim more than three thousand people yearly and injure 65,000, he said.

"It would take the combined populations of Belleville and Peterborough to equal the number of Canadians killed annually," he remarked.

He said the provincial accident record for 1956 showed a total of 11,390 injuries and 28,626 injured, of which only 9,500 were drivers. Settlements amounted to approximately $23,644,000.

"That money expended (in settlement costs) is just waste," he said, in suggesting it could be put to better use in building schools, hospitals and other public institutions.

RATIO DOUBLED

Mr. Harris noted the ratio of reported accidents per 1,000 vehicle registration had more than doubled within a seven-year period.

"In 1949 there were 50.2 reported accidents per 1,000 vehicle registration, in 1953 there were 70.2 and in 1956 there were 101," he disclosed.

"The ratio got worse every year and in this rate, it is conceivable that seven of you in this group today will be involved in traffic accidents this year," he said.

Mr. Harris said a study of drivers involved in reported accidents showed that 96 out of every cent have had one year or more driving experience, and 70 to 78 per cent are between the ages of 25 and 64.

"Primary causes of automobile accidents are caused by drivers' follies—stupidity, carelessness, recklessness, irresponsibility, and disregard for the lives of others," the speaker asserted.

He said excessive speed, impaired driving, failure to give right-of-way, and willingness to take chances, were the most common examples of "drivers' follies."

Regarding the vagueness of wording in the impaired driving charge, the speaker told of a Vancouver woman, who had her case dismissed when she proved to the court she had no driving ability to impair.

"And another more, she still holds her driver's licence," he said with a chuckle.

The speaker then went on to explain that on November 1 the provincial government, in an attempt to reduce the increasing-ly high number of traffic accidents, will put the "Point System" in operation.

"This system is being introduced in Ontario as a result of the combined efforts of safety councils, insurance companies, police and interested citizens.

"Similar systems are being used in other provinces with a high degree of success Manitoba, which has had the system in operation the longest, has been very successful in reducing the traffic accident toll," he said.

SHOULD HIT POCKETS

In expressing his hope for the success of the system, Mr. Harris said, "there is an urgent need for all responsible citizens to help hinder, law enforcement officers in enforcing this system."

"Only when people recognize that driving is a privilege, not a right, will there be a reduction in the appalling accident toll," he concluded.

The speaker was introduced by Ernie Burnham, and thanked by Fred Yealland. He was presented with a token of the club's appreciation by vice-president Fred Wilson, who took over for president Jim Bray when the latter had to leave early.

During the business portion of the meeting President Yeavor suggested Rotarians support the Health League. All those wishing to do so should pay their $2 membership to the club treasurer, he said.

Long distance Rotarian for this week was Alec Wylie, from Wetaskiwin, Alta. Another visitor was Mr. J. S. Whyte, of Shawinigan, Quebec, father-in-law and guest of new Rotarian John Goudy.

History Branch UEL Association Holds Meeting

Under the chairmanship of Capt. J.A.C. Rogers, members of the historical committee of the Bay of Quinte Branch United Empire Loyalists' Association recently met at Trenton for reviewing, suggesting and discussing plans to stimulate and develop greater interest in the history and traditions of the Loyalists and to commemorate memorable homes and livelihoods 174 years ago to establish new homes along the Bay of Quinte.

"Do you know," asked Capt. Rogers, "that many of the family and community history exists largely in the gravestones in our deplorably neglected district burial grounds? Even these records are very rapidly becoming obliterated by the elements. These spots are eyesores in every community, whereas they should be sacred beauty spots, such as are found here and there. So much can be done at so small a cost, by little expenditure efforts; in many instances local authorities could be interested to having old cemeteries restored. Each member of this committee has undertaken to exert every influence in his or her community to show our respect to the memory of the pioneers last resting places."

It long has been the objective of the U.E.L. Assoc. to have the graves of Loyalist pioneers suitably marked, the late Mr. Rogers pointed out that until the burial ground has been identified into the original, or as nearly as possible condition, the marking of graves should be deferred.

Plans for development of the U.E.L. Memorial Park at Adolphustown, in co-operation with the Ontario — St. Lawrence Development Commission under whose administration the park exists, were discussed at length. Naturally the foremost item was the project of a museum which functions under a committee headed by Miss Kaye Rose of Toronto. "Our museum plans is being made," said Miss Mc-Farland, "and the museum committee completes its plans we shall be able to announce more."

NOW LOYALIST SHRINE

The U.E.L. Memorial Park at Adolphustown is being developed as a Loyalist Shrine, due to the beautiful restoration of the first known place of worship in district which was carried out by an interested group from the Toronto Branch, U.E.L., in 1956. With the erection of more extensive plans for the park in district there should be many more visitors to the historic spots along the Bay of Quinte, such as U.E.L. Memorial Park, Prince Edward County and other facilities; the Hay Bay Methodist Church erected in 1792, first in Upper Canada; St. Alban's Memorial Anglican Church, Adolphustown; the Fairfield White House, Collins Bay; home of the first Anglican Bishop of Ontario, John Langhorn, at Bath, Lake-on-the Mountain at Ameliasburg, Christ Church erected in 1809 on High Shore east of Picton; and others.

Other items included in the committee plans are the issue and publication of a brochure of the Bay of Quinte district history and points of interest; compilation of a U.E.L. bibliography of books in public libraries which deal with pioneer life in the district; and publication of a book of all the proceedings of our Branch.

A special meeting of the branch executive has been called for evening October 30th in the officers' mess at Picton Armouries to deal with some of these recommendations, as well as others.

Rail Trainmen Ask Council To Seek Change in CNR Plan Altering Freights' Terminal

Intervention of city council to counteract a move by the Canadian National Railways, which plan it was stated could lead to the eventual elimination of Belleville as a CNR terminal point, has been asked by a representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Mr. C. R. Ashman, representing the labor union told city council Monday evening there was no reason on the part of the CNR to change the terminal for manifest freight trains from Belleville to Mimico.

This would necessitate Belleville crews "deadheading" to Mimico causing considerable inconvenience and extra time travelling to and from their jobs for which they would receive no pay.

AFFECTS 16 MEN

At the present time, Mr. Ashman said, the move would affect only 16 men, but it would result in "the thin edge of the wedge" which would ultimately see the entire terminal operations of the CNR moved from Belleville.

The railroad at Belleville now is approximately $5,000,000 per year.

At the present time there are 25 freight crews who have their own caboose, and 3 crews at Belleville. The suggested move would result in caboose's being taken from freight crews and Belleville crewmen "deadheading" to Mimico to get their jobs would have no accommodation while they were on the train.

THIN EDGE OF WEDGE

At the moment the proposed move on the part of the CNR would only affect freight crews, but it was suggested that eventually the gas station in the area were checked for damage and the public was cleared away, all traffic had been kept out. Some 50 small businesses along Bank and Slater streets stayed closed Monday.

It was impossible accurately to estimate damage, but guesses ranged from $2,000,000 to 5,000,000.

The Ontario fuel board, the Ontario fire marshal's office and the City of Ottawa all planned investigations.

CAUSE IN DOUBT

No official announcement as to the cause of the blast had yet been made.

Fire Chief Maynard Dolman said investigation of the cause had been concentrated on an unused gas inlet pipe in the basement of a building at the centre of the blast.

But all investigating authorities were cautious about making any definite statements as to the cause, evidently keeping in mind the possibility of negligence being also a factor.

No one was killed in the blast. All persons were admitted to hospital.

CARETAKER'S REPORT

The only employee critically hurt was William Anderson, 65-year-old caretaker in the business section of the city, who was treated at the centre of the shattered area.

He reported to arriving the explosion occurred as he turned on a light in investigation of a leak in the basement of the business machines building. He was thrown across the room and burned.

Fire Chief Dolman told a reporter gas was found escaping from an uncapped gas inlet pipe in the basement of the building after the blast. He had not yet been questioned, he said, whether the gas had been escaping before the explosion.

Street Rehabilitation Bill Only Difference Between Lakeland Gas Co. and City

Payment of a bill amounting to approximately $23,000 for street rehabilitation done by the gas department is expected to await about the only matter of difference between the city of Belleville and Lakeland Gas Company following discussions at city council meeting held Monday night regarding re-instatement of streets.

Discussion was also held between council and Mr. C. Wade McCoy, general manager of Lakeland Natural Gas who attended at the invitation of council to discuss matters regarding reinstatement of streets had been aired by City Engineer Malcolm Campbell and by city engineer.

The complaint was that the gas company had failed to have contractor the Donovan Construction Company, was not replacing streets following installation of the city engineer following their completion.

Last night at a closed committee meeting of council Mr. McCoy was told that within seven suitable working days the streets following the installation of mains would be completed. Following this his firm city engineer would make a survey of the entire city and report to the effect if the street not satisfactorily re - instated.

To turn his firm would hold back on final payments to their contractor until the re - instatement work was satisfactorily completed.

COURT, DID WORK

During the summer when reinstatement work was felt not being carried out speedily enough, the city public works department did this work on his own and the city has submitted the bill to the gas company.

Mr. McCoy said his firm felt this account was too high, but would still work was completed it was prepared to go over the account item by item.

Mayor Gerald Hyde today said if any recommendation was made concerning payment less than $23,000 council "would want to know why".

Mr. McCoy said that his firm would not agree to any bill submitted by the city for loss of life of its streets as result of use by heavy reactivation equipment.

He said if any such bill was presented by the city his firm would decline payment. Interested, however, that his firm wished to continue on a good public relations standing with the city.

No bill has been submitted to Lakeland Gas for loss of life of city streets.

A fourth point under discussion was the method of installing gas laterals when domestic services are being installed. Custom has been to bore under the streets rather than to dig up as across roadways was required.

City Engineer Turnbull claimed this was not entirely satisfactory and it was hoped the problem could be worked out on a basis similar to that under which the Public Utilities Commission has with the city.

NO FURTHER DETAILS

The inference by Mr. McCoy was that Lakeland Gas would like to discuss the matter further on the problem.

Council intended to be an open committee session of council meeting was turned into a closed affair when Donovan Bateman, local solicitor, appeared on what was termed a "watching brief" for Donovan Construction.

Council members felt their discussion was with Lakeland Gas and not Donovan Construction and ruled the meeting closed to the public.

MORE POLIO CASES

DETROIT (AP) — Eight new cases were reported Monday in the Detroit area, a polio epidemic bringing the total so far this year to 810. Another polio death, the first in the city and the third in the area this year, was added.

Area Shattered By Blast Opened To Traffic

OTTAWA (CP)—Most of the Central Ottawa area shattered by Saturday's explosion was to be opened to normal traffic today. But it would be months before business got back to normal.

All gas mains in the area were checked for damage and the public was cleared away, all traffic had been kept out. Some 50 small businesses along Bank and Slater streets stayed closed Monday.

It was impossible accurately to estimate damage, but guesses ranged from $2,000,000 to 5,000,000.

The Ontario fuel board, the Ontario fire marshal's office and the City of Ottawa all planned investigations.

Miss B. Meagher First of Sex As Ambassador

JERUSALEM (Reuter)—Canada's first woman ambassador presented her credentials today to Israel President Ben Zvi and to only female foreign minister.

And the credentials presented by Miss Margaret Aileen Meagher, 47, of Halifax were signed by another woman—Queen Elizabeth.

It is believed this is the first time a female envoy has signed such documents for a woman.

Foreign Minister Golda Meir was the first to shake Miss Meagher's hand after the presentation memorized her letters of credence to President Yitzhak Ben-Zvi at his residence here.

Miss Meagher, first of her sex to be accredited as ambassador to Israel, told reporters:

"This is the most important occasion for me. I entered the foreign service. There's only one first time such as this."

Women members of Israel's armed services provided the guard of honor for Miss Meagher, who arrived at the ceremony in her presidential limousine.

She wore a smart, dark grey suit with a collar of Canadian mink. Her bell-shaped blue hat sported a white feather.

R. Williams Jumps From Car As It Plunges Into Trent

TRENTON — Ron Williams, 33 of Heber Street in Trenton narrowly escaped death by drowning early yesterday morning when the car which he was driving went out of control, plunged into the Trent River near 401 Bridge, and sank in 20 feet of water.

The vehicle was hauled out of the river yesterday afternoon by Williams had told police he was coming off the approach of Bridge 401 and after hearing 33 when his brakes failed. He was unable to stop the car or turn it and it plunged over the steep 15 foot embankment and into the river.

He said he had managed to get the door of the car open and jumped free of the vehicle just as it reached the water. Mr. Williams managed to swim to shore which was only a few feet away.

He dragged himself, wet and muddy, up the bank and managed to flag down Trenton and report the incident to the Trenton Police Department, which informed Constable Martin of the Brighton Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

It was the general opinion that if Mr. Williams had not managed to leap free of the car as it plunged into the river he would have been drowned before he or the car would have been located. There was apparently no one who witnessed the accident and the deep hole in which the car sank completely hid it from view. The only evidence of his whereabouts was a glob of oil coming to the surface from time to time and this would have been easily missed by passing motorists.

The rescue operations yesterday afternoon drew hundreds of people to the scene and cars lined up on the side of Highway 33 with crowds as far as a considerable distance. Many also watched from the 401 bridge when the car was hauled to the river bank.

Ferguson Motors of Glen Miller sent two tow trucks to the scene and also engaged the services of Roy E. Miller, professional skin diver, to swim down to the underwater automobile to attach the tow line. After the line had been secured to the tow truck but when they had almost dragged the car from the water the front end of the vehicle tore loose and the rest of the car sank to the bottom again, leaving the front bumper, radiator and one crossmember on the end of the tow line.

It was then necessary for Mr. Miller to again go under the cold water and fasten the tow line to the rest of the auto. This time it was placed around the middle of the vehicle and it was dragged free of the river.

The car was believed to have been a complete write - off as it had been badly damaged during its cold plunge into the river.

Assisting from a boat was Constable Tim Guy of the Brighton Detachment of the OPP.

When brought from the river the car was on its wheels but was facing in the opposite direction it had been travelling when going over the bank. The roof was badly dented which would indicate the car had rolled over before coming to rest on the bottom of the river.

The deep hole in the river bed is apparently been made during the construction of the 401 bridge and only about 10 yards down the river the water is shallow and the rocks on the bottom can be seen.

Minus radiator and with the bumper tearing loose, the above car sinks back into the Trent River near the 401 bridge where it had just been rescued. The pull of the powerful winches on the two tow trucks had been too much and the front end of the car had broken away letting the rest slip back. It was necessary for Constable Roy E. Miller, professional skin diver and a member of the Trenton police force, to make a second dive to fasten on a tow line in the smaller photo as he prepares to submerge. (Photos by Georgeson.)

Town Briefs

TRENTON — Work has begun again on the demolition of the ruins of the fire-destroyed Titus Block on Dundas Street West. Legal discussions on the ownership of the property had tied up the work for some time. Yesterday crews began work again but instead of working on the front of the building, where they may interfere with the already congested traffic, they have knocked out a considerable portion of the buildings facing Market Square and are hauling the rubble away through this "door-way."

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Damage to the amount of $125 was caused following a collision of two cars at the Scott and Crown Street intersections when they were reported to have skidded on the wet road surface. The mishap was investigated by Constable Sid Vickers of the Trenton Police Department. One of the vehicles was operated by Stanley Galloway of 50 Hood Street, Trenton, and the other by Donald Empey of Kitchener, Ontario.

MAKES WRONG GUESS

A wrong guess by a motorist driving along Front Street behind another vehicle resulted in a rearend collision and $115 in damages. Charles Hazelwood of St. Jean, Quebec, said he was proceeding north on Front Street behind a car being operated by Gerard Thebeault of Welland, Ont., when he saw the first car veer off the travelled portion of the highway and onto the shoulder. He said he thought the car was going to park and when he attempted to pass it, the car suddenly came out onto the road again and he had hit it. Constable George French of the Trenton police, investigated.

LIGHTS MAY STAY

Indications that the traffic lights, which have been newly placed at the corner of Dundas West and Division, are there to stay were noted recently when town crews put a permanent curbing around the base of the pole holding the lights. On the northwest corner of the intersection the lights had only been protected by a few sand bags but the installing of the curbing will keep vehicles from making short sharp turns and thus damaging the pole. The lights have proven to be a great asset in controlling traffic in this area and previously it had been most difficult for south and south bound traffic to get into the line of through traffic on Dundas Street West.

APPEAL DISMISSED

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Court of Appeal Monday dismissed an appeal by Pat Ross Hamilton, 48, of Toronto, Ont., against a conviction of murder. Salamon was sentenced last month to be hanged Nov. 26 for the murder of Joyce Alexander, 31.

Trenton Team Drops Close 7-5 Exhibition Tilt

TRENTON — In a fast preseason hockey tilt in the Trenton Community Gardens Saturday night the local Intermediate OHA entry dropped a close 7-5 exhibition game to the speedy Port - Hope - Cobourg Combines.

The Trenton team showed plenty of drive and passing combination during the first two periods when they enjoyed a 5-minute 4-1 lead but entered the final stanza. Six third period tallies by the visitors gave them the well earned verdict.

Trenton scorers were Len Gladder, Joe Scott, Bill Foster with a goal and an assist apiece while Larry Riley and Len Tenlah knotched the other two tallies. Hustling Orville Gravel set up two goals and Austin Scott did likewise. Ray Clements, C. Rowbotham picked up an assist each.

Coach Cal Yorke was pleased with the performance the locals gave and predicted the boys would be heard from when they find their skating legs.

"Some of the kids have never played or practised together before," said Coach Yorke, "once they get organized we'll be all right."

The opening Eastern Ontario Intermediate "A" league game will be played at Trenton Monday night November 3 when Trenton team journey to play the Ontario champions, Napanee. Then on Wednesday November 5 Bowmanville-Oshawa Combines will open their schedule in Trenton.

Teller Wanted After $250,000 In Cash Gone

OTTAWA (CP) — A widespread police search is under way today for a bank teller wanted in connection with the disappearance of a reported $250,000 in cash from a bank here.

Supt. Bob Cavan of Ottawa police said R. L. Johnston, 25, failed to report for work on Monday at the Sparks Street branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada. A clerk of the bank vault revealed the loss.

Manager W. W. Pegg said that he presumed the $250,000 loss was a correct estimate. "We are still investigating."

Johnston, who is married, was a senior clerk at the bank and is described by his fellow-and-slack as a quiet man.

Police have been unable to locate him or his yellow-and-black 1956 model car.

Hydraulic Crane, Two Cars, Garage Burn in $60,000 Fire

Property damage amounting to an estimated $60,000 resulted Monday afternoon when a mysterious explosion touched off a blaze at Hedger's Garage on West College St., which destroyed a $28,000 hydraulic crane, a car and a panel truck, and completely destroyed the building.

Nothing was saved from the frame garage after the fire started and nothing could be done to save the building at the time firemen arrived.

Ray Hedger, garage owner, said he was preparing to install a new switch on the $28,000 hydraulic crane owned by the Wilson Concrete Products of Belleville, when the sudden explosion rocked the building.

"I thought the whole building would come down," he told firemen.

Mr. Hedger was not hurt in the explosion but the fire spread so rapidly that nothing could be saved from the garage.

Firemen on hose from North Front St. fire hydrants in fighting the blaze, but despite their efforts the Hedger house and the garage owned by next door neighbor, Ed Pike, were damaged by the flames.

Cause of the explosion is a mystery, according to deputy Fire Chief Gerald O'Brien. He said a new oil furnace had recently been installed and there was no natural gas in the garage.

Wilson Concrete officials said that the hydraulic crane had been in for repairs at the time of the fire. The valuable machine was fully insured and a replacement is expected to be secured in a few days' time.

Reaction Mixed To First Report Of Borden Group

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Borden commission's first report on the state and future of Canada's oil and gas industry has drawn mixed reaction from company executives and government officials.

The 50,000-word report, released Saturday in Ottawa, was formulated to the oil and gas industry on Monday.

The Canadian Petroleum Association, spokesman for a large section of the oil industry, has criticized the report for revealing "few immediate benefits to the petroleum industry in western Canada."

It welcomed, however, "the report's recognition of the heavy investment already made and its recommendations of the need for access to the United States market for our natural gas in order to keep the Canadian petroleum industry in a buoyant and progressive state."

Frank McMahon, president of Western Decalta Petroleum Company Limited, said in a statement released in Winnipeg that the company welcomed the commission's finding that Canadian natural gas reserves justify export on a reasonable basis to the U.S.

"This is the first time the formulation of a clear and workable gas policy which is in the best interests of continued development of Canada's natural gas industry."

Hazen Argue, CCF leader in the House of Commons, said in Edmonton that references to the profits by officials of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited and Westcoast Transmission Company Limited convinced him that the main gas transmission lines running across provincial boundaries should be nationally owned."

CAPITAL GAINS TAX

Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the Canadian Temperance and evangelism and social service, said in Winnipeg the report made "what we have already knew about the hearings," that some men controlled the gas industry and reaped heavy profits.

He said the United Church will favor a capital gains tax because some large business executives are in fact receiving profits in capital stock, tax free.

W. P. Mulloney, president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, said he was not surprised the commission took exception to the disappearance of natural gas but declined comment on the recommendations for assurances by the former liberal government to the effect that it be allowed to export gas to the U.S. at Emerson, Man., should be ignored.

The Borden report criticized Mr. Mulloney's charter Costello, Trans-Canada vice-president, for reaping huge stock profits while public funds were provided to develop the cross-country pipeline.

In Ottawa Canada spokesman said the company is reviewing the report and will make a statement later in the week.

Six Arrested For Bombings

DETROIT (AP) — A months-long investigation of eight mysterious bombings in Detroit business places resulted Monday in the arrest of six men, including Detroit Detroit Purple Gang leader.

Three owners of Detroit dry cleaning shops were among those seized.

Held for questioning was several parolee Louis Fletsher, 32, one of three notorious hoodlum brothers.

Police said Fletsher was named wife pleading as lookout for ex-convict Joseph Aniolak, who was to dump gasoline through a hole cut in the roof of a cut rate east side cleaning store.

Fire was caught on the ground, officers said, Aniolak, 36, was captured after a rooftop chase.

nuncio to the Fourth French Republic.

He stayed in Paris for eight years.

In 1952, Pope Pius XII made him a member of the College of Cardinals.

Two months later, a procession of cardinals called him through the Grand Canal to St. Marcus of Venice where he assumed his patriarchate.

Thousands and thousands had filed into St. Peter's Scare on word that white smoke had come from the Sistine Chapel, indicating the cardinals had elected a pope on what appeared to be the second ballot of a conclave that started on Saturday.

The president of the College of Cardinals, Nicola Cardinal Canali appeared with the traditional announcement to the masses.

Emotion was so intense that he had difficulty in clearly enunciating in Latin the traditional phrases:

"I announce to you tidings of great joy. We have a Pope.

"Let your roar, louder than ever. The Pope's name, I shall announce again:

"Viva Il Papa! Viva Il Papa!

"Long live the pope!"

The cry became a continuous roar.

The pontiff's voice in the blessing came out clear and strong over the hushed multitude. There was a tremendous response to "Amen."

POLICE SHOULD BE MARKSMEN

A news item in the Globe and Mail states that Metro police officers will now be required to fire at least twelve rounds of ammunition each year to test their marksmanship and check their revolvers' condition. We do not know, nor did the news item state, how many rounds the Metro Police Commission would allow a man to use in the course of bettering his marksmanship. We hope the number is unlimited because it takes much practice to bring a man's "shooting sense" to the point where he can handle his handgun effectively in almost any situation. From personal experience as a former peace officer we know that it takes at least three hundred rounds spent at the target range to bring one's ability and judgment to the point where one is confident that no bullets would go astray if called upon to use a gun in the street. It also takes about sixty rounds a week in order to maintain this proficiency.

From personal experience we also know that few indeed are the police forces which will underwrite the expense of an officer acquiring such proficiency. We feel most strongly, however, that no officer should be required to make a personal expenditure to acquire this skill. When a community puts a gun into the hands of an officer who is expected to uphold the laws of the realm and to protect the property and lives of the citizens from any and all danger, it becomes the moment obligation of that community to provide the officer with all adequate training and equipment pertinent to his line of duty. It is the moral obligation of the officer to utilize this training and equipment to the best of his ability.

Besides the moral side there is also the practical. A policeman should, of necessity, be a better marksman than any criminal he is likely to engage. This is vital for his own protection. It is also quite important because no citizen in the vicinity of a disturbance should be wounded or killed by stray bullets due to an officer's inadequate familiarity with his weapon.

There have been too many instances of innocent bystanders being shot by policemen who have been trying to shoot at an armed criminal. True, under the Criminal Code, the revolver is automatically responsible for any deaths occasioned by his criminal act providing he was armed. But this does not insure the safety of a citizen at the scene of the crime or in the street if a gun battle should ensue. The criminal is interested only in his personal safety and, if frightened or desperate, is not too likely to concentrate as to where he is shooting at. It is in this situation that a police officer must make his shots count surely and accurately.

Granted this situation might arise in our community only once in a "blue moon," but we must have the assurance that if such should occur any one of our police officers has a fair chance of coping with the incident. Our own Chief Probert has described an officer's firearms as being "insurance," and this is as excellent a description as we have ever heard. But we, as members of this community, should ensure that the "policy" covers every possible eventuality to the highest possible degree.

TV AIDS TRAFFIC CONTROL

In Durham, England, policemen can see around corners.

This is not done with mirrors, but with TV cameras. Traffic control in Durham's market square posed a real problem until somebody had the inspiration which led to the installation of small industrial TV cameras on high poles overlooking the bridges near the market centre. The cameras transmit pictures to receivers in the market square control box. There a policeman can judge the number and type of vehicles approaching and can operate the traffic lights accordingly.

Perhaps the day will come when a policeman at Bridge and Front will be able to keep tabs on the traffic stretches south of Bridge on Pinnacle Street and what's around the curve on Highland Avenue at the top of Bridge Street West hill. And, of course, views of Pinnacle Street, Station Street and North Front Street would assist a policeman working the lights at the Upper Bridge.

Unfortunately the source of our information on Durham's TV traffic control did not say anything about costs. They are probably high.

KEEP TO THE RIGHT

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

Keep to the right, is the rule of the road;
Keep to the right as you travel along.
Men, for safety, your progress is slowed,
This is the rule for the weak or the strong.
Driving or walking, this law all observe,
And it's adopted for aerial flight;
It just as far as you can or deserve,
But always remember to keep to the right.

Make this the rule of your life every day,
Follow it out in all things that you say,
Guide of your tongue in all things that you say,
Guide to the goals that you seek and pursue.
Let it come first, though you win or you lose,
Conquer or fall in the thick of the fight;
This be the motto that daily you use;
This is sufficient just "Keep to the Right."

Letter To The Editor

Hallowe'en Appeal For Unicef Planned

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

The last of the golden days of October will soon be here, and the familiar cries of Spooks and Goblins, "Trick or Treat", will be heard once more. Last year the city in East Belleville will be "Shell out for Unicef and all the world's children".

Last year we had a similar Unicef Hallowe'en program when 63 children took part, and they were able to send a cheque for $91 to U.N. headquarters in Toronto. This sum with all the other gleanings collected across Canada amounted to $75,000. The children cared enough to share their fun with others less privileged.

"You gave so much but last year we know that you will be pleased to hear that nearly double that number took part in the program this year, the pupils of Sir Winston Churchill and Queen Elizabeth public schools. The Unicef Hallowe'en program now has the full support of the principals and staffs of these schools.

We are sure that by helping our children to know of the need of others less privileged, now, in other parts of the world, we are establishing friendship and understanding, and the foundations of a lasting peace.

Th- enclosed cheque is the result of the Home and School Association of the two schools and working hard to help the children in this campaign of sharing with the blessings of our great Canadian harvest. May the warm glow from our golden pumpkins here in Belleville bring comfort to a few of the 600 million children in the world who are hungry and diseased.

Yours sincerely,
Barbara A. Watson,

Need Free Education

Chatelaine
Editorial

Few of us would care to trade places with a Russian housewife. Often her whole family is crammed into one small room. Under conditions that would send most of us scurrying off to the welfare services.

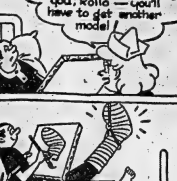
But in one respect a Russian woman's lot is decidedly better than ours. Whatever her financial state, she knows her children will be sent to a university if they can meet the academic requirements. Students in Russia are regarded as a prime resource, especially of future scientists and engineers.

It took Sputnik to snap us out of our complacent assumption that Western Europe has a comfortable superiority in scientific achievement, and most astounding than Sputnik itself was the sudden realization that Russia is ahead in front of us in another, more important field — education — and building up a formidable reservoir of brain power. In Russia ten per cent of the national income is spent on education. In Canada a little more than four per cent of the national income goes to education. In Russia students are actually paid while they attend university. In Canada there are only a few excellent scholarships available but not nearly enough to take care of any but the very top students.

To illustrate just how difficult it can be for an outstanding student in Canada, take the case of Joyce Hemlow, Joyce Hemlow, a Nova Scotian, recently wrote a widely acclaimed biography of Fanny Burney. Another brilliant scholar, she nevertheless had to work her way through university by teaching school. After thirteen years of this kind of admirable but slow toil, she finally got started on her career. She was accepted as a lecturer at McGill and wrote her fine biography.

The Joyce Hemlows in Canada are rare. Most of our high school students, faced with the long years of this kind of struggle, would accept the easy way out: take a convenient job and forget about university. According to a recent survey put out of five students in the upper third of ability in our high schools do just that — and their failure to finish their secondary education.

We are aware of the way we have wasted our skill and squandered our forest resources. The evidence is plain in miles of bald land and blighted slopes. But we are a long time waking to the fact that we are throwing away our greatest national resource of all — our native-born ability.



We need a system of state scholarships for education in the future, but now — today. A country rich in natural resources, we sparsely populated, can afford to make education free. Indeed, we can't afford to continue as we have in the past.

Further returns in the Dominion election give Mr. Will Ferrie and the Liberal party a majority of 62. The majority in West Hastings for E. Guss Porter, Conservative, was 1,000. Actually, Liberals as far as heard from, is 1,178. The majority for D. B. Morrison, Conservative, over J. R. McCargar, Liberal, is 1,000.

Will the return to the ward system by-law carry in the next municipal election? Most people seem to look at it this way: if it is the best way to get aldermen to suit us, will it be easier to get it?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In one of the small villages of the summer resort district, I stopped for an hour to have my brake linings looked at. It is a hamlet rather than a village, with only twenty assorted houses, two stores, a hotel and several boat houses. The tourist season being ended, the community has reverted to its normal nine months' peace and quiet. The stores have taken the tourist bait out of their windows and filled them w i t h what you might call consumer goods — potatoes, potatoes, winter underwear and cough mixture.

The boat houses are now full of h oisted boats; the garage has several boat up looking cars in being taken apart and overhauled.

The young men who worked in the garage, boat houses, stores, have gone out to the big towns. Not many people were about.

An elderly man with a ruddy face in need of a shave, his hands in his pants pockets, his sweater coat open, paused for conversation with me.

"Yep," he said, "my t w o brothers live in the city. They left here ages ago, I guess. Kinda quiet. But good. My brothers live in the city. Always on the hunt to pay their bills, always in debt. Kids grown up and a big expense. Have to keep up a front all the time. Sorry for them. But they can't hurry any money from me. You see, there ain't no bank in this village. So I don't have any bills."

He went into the store.

The garage man looked up from my car's hub.

"But he's got mighty good cred it," he said. "He owns this garage and half the village. He's my old man."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SIMPLICITY, SIMPLICITY, SIMPLICITY

Thoreau used three words to explain why it was that he went to the woods and built a cabin where he lived for two years, measuring out the meal, meat and drink by what Thoreau was forever emphasizing. In a "sense he was a recluse. He refused to pay his poll tax because he did not like the way the government was being conducted! He was put in jail, but a friend paid the fine and he went back to his cabin and that has enriched all mankind.

Thoreau was a lover of Nature. Simplicity suited h i m and so he urged his fellow citizens to adopt it. Some did, and have, but Thoreau wanted people to make it a rule of life to live naturally and simply. It would be a good thing for the human race if it followed his suggestion, but too many people prefer success to happiness, not realizing that happiness is success!

Thoreau wrote a book at the small cabin of his, which is known the world over as "Walden." You may not agree with all he has to suggests, but you will be stimulated and enriched in mind. Thoreau says that little cabin himself as a cost of $28.12½, and it was built of small pine boards known as Walden Pond. Here Thoreau lived and wrote his books. He did not He wrote "Walden" there and took notes of what have increased and polished for a dozen or more books that really make up a literary classic. Here he also looked upon this box of treasures at the J. P. Morgan great library in New York.

All great writing should be simply and clearly written. Shakespeare and the Bible are our finest examples of simple, beautifully worded writing. Simplicity is the key to all great poetry and prose. It is the easiest to read and remember. It is the language of the heart!

Wrong Reason For Exams

Trenton Daily Times

It would seem, from a resolution forwarded to the department of education from Lindsay, Ont., that a certain element of public thinking has made a complete circle. In recent years the trend has been away from examinations as the sole measure of a student's responsibility and towards appreciation of personality, common sense and social adjustment; away from limiting higher education to the few academic minds and towards providing as much training as the individual is able and willing to absorb.

Now the Lindsay high school board has proposed a return of the high school entrance examination, which was abolished in 1960 after barely surviving seven and general criticism for most of its 73 years of existence. The board should Lindsay's high school board suddenly suggest a revival of this discarded test to the below-average student? The resolution speaks for itself:

Whereas our secondary schools are overcrowded with Grade 9 pupils; and

"Whereas it is increasingly difficult to provide adequate education and staff for these schools; and

"Whereas many of our public schools have adequate facilities to receive academic study for admission to Grade 9 is not consistent with the ability of Grade 8 pupils;

"Therefore be it resolved that the minister of education be petitioned to again establish high school entrance examinations prerequisite to admission for admission to Grade 9.

In other words, because the high school board is unable to cope with the public school board in the matter of the number of pupils per student, and because the high school board is tired of building schools, it is easier to limit the number by a device that will be found to believe the worst: the test. Or, as we would put it, a boy.

Or, if your husband has any courage, ask him to take this sporting chance.

Will you bet him three of you (you, your husband, and the little boy) will show whether the boy might or might not be bright?

If your husband has the courage of his convictions he will bet you up on this. If the test shows the boy could not be bright then you agree to admit that you did wrong.

But if the test shows the boy could be his, then your husband must agree to accept that as the answer. The boy is his.

That's the best that science can do.

Will your husband agree to put his suspicion to the test?

As for the boy, if you have not been true, you are taking a chance of being found out. But if you have been true, then you can be serenely sure that the test will support you.

I'd very much like to know how this will appear to you. Whether your husband will have the cuts to take you up on the show-down.

Thin People Taste Best

Cleveland Plain Dealer

Do mosquitos seek you out to nibble, while others go scot free? How come they always fly away at exactly the right time when they try to swat them? Are they driven away by the odor of insect repellents?

Researchers at Western University have come up with some answers to these questions, according to the New York Times.

First, your mosquito appeal depends upon the concentrations of lactic acid in your exhaled breath and the warmth your body emits. And, naturally, mosquitos usually have a higher metabolic rate than fat people they produce fore heat, hence are prime targets for mosquitos which apparently, like it.

A mosquito has a heat-detection system in his front legs which enables him to find the manner of radar, and leads him to your warm body, not your head. That's why you get bitten — because you're thin, warm and lean.

The reason you can't swat your tormentor successfully is because his eyes cover a far larger area than that of a human. He sees you make a pass at — and he takes off. And the fact that he can't smell, also drives him away — It irritates his feet and in the words of the Times, "plays a sort of entomological hot foot."

Manhattan Overloaded

Ottawa Citizen

Is Manhattan Island slowly sinking under the weight of its skyscrapers, as some reports suggest? Water mains are said to be sinking and a study during recent decades as a subsidence of about a foot has been noted. The building boom continuing, a foot may soon become feet, and then yards. Who knows? Who knows?

A steel unit weighing more than 40 tons was gently lowered 700 feet below street level yesterday. The New York Times opens its account of the event with the words: Underneath the Chase Manhattan Bank. There will be 40 of these units in a two-and-a-half acre foundation. More than 50,000 tons of structural steel will be used including some of the heaviest supporting columns ever fabricated.

The bank will rise 50 storeys and 742 feet into the sky, pushing the Woolworth Building out of sixth place among the world's tallest. Its upper floors will offer by the First National City Bank of New York will have only 41 storeys.

The weight of steel and concrete piles up on Manhattan, until even that solid rock begins to feel the strain. In the end, Hudson River may be flowing through the streets of the new East River lapping at store windows. But American ingenuity will find a way to stop disaster. New York will be advertised as the Venice of the New World — fabulous Gotham in-the-sea; take the Wall Street plunge on a motor-boat; visit sunken lights of the Great White Way. Or, in fishing at Untied Nations headquarters; get into the Fifth Avenue swim; or go moonlight on Central Park Lake!

Strength for The Day

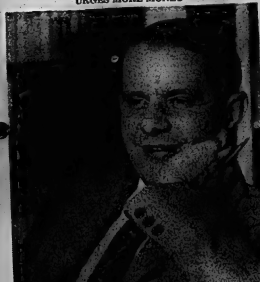
ARE WE CRAZY?

I have a friend who talks with the angels.

When I mentioned this recently to a young lady, she replied, "Of course you are jesting." And my reply was that I was speaking in the most sober and sincere terms. That a man has a right to distinguished artist whose works are so eagerly sought after that his income each year is far beyond that of any artist with whom I have ever been associated, is not the queer Bohemian type. On the contrary, quite the level headed.

But he believes that he talks with the angels and certainly I am the last man in the world to contradict him. For I believe that now and again there is a person now born into this world. That is, some of him is in this world but the greater part of his being is from which we all came. Where is that? Jesus called it heaven or the slightest idea. But certainly we came from somewhere. My artist friend will — in my opinion — has one foot back in that realm and the other in this community.



You no doubt recall that Walter Scott, English poet, was this type of man, and that Mrs. Blake often said to callers, "Let me speak quietly. Mr. Blake is talking with the angels." And Dante wrote lots of us who are just crazy enough to believe he was.

Pearson States Chiang Should Evacuate Isles

MEDFORD, Mass. (CP) — Chinese Nationalists now entrenched on Quemoy and Matsu should withdraw to Formosa because defence of these offshore islands does not involve defence of principle, Canadian Opposition Leader L.B. Pearson said Monday night.

The shelling of the Formosa Strait, Pearson said, constitutes a Chinese civil war which does not, in his view, beg interference from Canada.

Only a "calculated transfer" of one-third of Chiang Kai - shek's forces has made defence of the islands important and it was "bad diplomacy" which allowed that to happen," the Liberal party leader said.

IN SEMINAR TODAY

Pearson spoke in a lecture at the Fletcher school of law and diplomacy, part of Tufts University. He will take part in private seminar discussions today.

Tension in the Formosa Strait, Pearson said, may simmer down with a display of U.S. military power in the area.

Indicating he believes Canada would view Communist aggression against Formosa as a much more serious matter, Pearson said "Formosa is not necessarily part of Nationalist China."

Criticizing the U.S. stand of question, Pearson said "even on the most extreme assumption of the necessity of standing firm against any use or threat of force" the world power, surely a better position, strategic and political, would have been found."

ANGLO-SAXON TRAIT

The offshore island question, he maintained, illustrates "the unfortunate Anglo - Saxon tendency to make a moral issue of every political problem.

"It is foolish to give the impression that every position must take, or have been manoeuvred into, taking, against a Communist government is one basic moral principles from which there can be no retreat or on which there can be no compromise."

Earlier, Pearson told reporters that Canadian public opinion is moving closer to support of recognizing the Communist Chinese regime.

Napanee Mayor Charges Beaver With Sabotage

TORONTO (CP) — The beaver, Canada's symbol for industry and the enterprise, was criticized Monday for interfering with water supplies.

Mayor A. D. Alkenbrack of Napanee told a provincial conference of conservation authorities beaver dams are holding back too much water in some river valley areas.

Noting that beaver are protected by provincial law, he said the government should finance removal of the dams since they create conflict with man-made attempts at water conservation.

Chamber Will Not Sponsor Santa Parade

PICTON — Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce will not sponsor Santa Claus parade this year, it was decided at a meeting of directors presided over by president Donald A. Taylor. Instead, it was decided to investigate the possibility of a children's Saturday in Picton early in December when Santa would be on hand to greet his friends. The possibility of securing the local theatre for free shows that day is to be investigated.

Secretary W. D. McArthur reported that a questionnaire had been sent to merchants and organizations asking for entries for a parade, but that results had been disappointing. Due to lack of interest he thought that a parade would not be wise.

SUPPORTS BRIDGE

Prince Edward County Chamber of Commerce will end its support to the proposal that the Hastings County and Prince Edward be connected by a causeway or bridge at Green Point and Desoronto: A majority of directors voted in favor of this action, though it resulted in the resignation of M. G. Blakely who had been chairman of the bridge committee.

Mr. Blakely strongly protested the Chamber's decision, stating that efforts for several years past had been to get a bridge to connect Prince Edward and Lennox at Adolphustown and Glenora, and he deplored the Chamber's lack of consistency.

He felt estimates of eleven million dollars for a bridge at Glenora were too high and that if there is continued united effort a bridge at that point is practicable.

However, a motion by Harold Cleave and Bernard Hepburn that the Chamber support the Desoronto link was carried, and Mr. Blakely left the meeting, following motion, by Hepburn and Wright, stated that "in view of increasing the construction of a causeway between Prince Edward County and Glenora, the Chamber in no way has lessened its opinion that construction of a bridge between Glenora and Adolphustown is economically essential."

President Taylor stated that, at a recent banquet given by Mayor H. J. McFarland, that representatives of most municipalities in Prince Edward and Hastings had voted in favor of the Desoronto causeway and that industrial development east of Picton is dependent on a bridge in that area.

Angry Steer On Rampage In Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP)—An angry 1,400-pound steer went on a two-mile rampage through the city's north end Monday, injuring bystanders, knocked down a policeman and damaged a police car.

Finally was roped and shot.

Constable Gordon Taylor drove the steer from the home of the charging steer and two children on the sidewalk at one point in the chase. The bellowing shorthorn smashed one fender of the cruiser.

Six police cars took part in the chase before Essex Packers manager Frederick Jack Watson, riding in one car, dropped a rope over the steer's head. It was shot by a detective as scores of spectators crowded around.

The steer broke out of a stock corral at Essex Packers. Several startled motorists interrupted by the oncoming steer abandoned their cars in the street.

Scholarships Really Needed For Nurses

TORONTO (CP) — Bursaries and scholarships totalling $1,000 are urgently needed if hospitals are to complete successfully with business for the available labor force, Mrs. A. H. Lyon of Windsor said today.

Public relations director of the Ontario Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario, she told about 200 delegates to the annual meeting:

"Girls want to be nurses as much as they ever before, but there is a long time when they can be trained for other work for a few months, not even enough to be independent and to help their families."

SERVICE IMPORTANT

Service is just as important as filling cash, Mrs. W. C. Vaughan of St. Catharines told the convention.

She said she had travelled 3,000 miles to visit auxiliaries as president of the association. "I have observed the many ways in which our auxiliaries raise money and the service they render to hospitals. Raising money is most important, but giving oneself for service is equally important."

B. G. H. Nurses Sponsor Most Attractive 4th Annual Bazaar

Many friendships were renewed when the nurses recently held their 4th annual tea and bazaar in Bridge St. United Church hall.

A beautiful fall day made it possible for many to come a considerable distance to be united with their classmates, and recall many happy hours spent in training at Belleville General Hospital.

On tables at either side of the stage, decorated with the traditional Florence Nightingale candles, were displayed articles, bounded by black banded aprons, representing schools of nursing across Canada, United States, and many European countries.

Women from many Canadian provinces, and in fact, from all parts of the world, in charge of nursing lectures again at the commentator, Mrs. V. Fleming, and assisted by student nurse, Miss M. GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

SHOULD SEND INVITATIONS, NOT ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married soon. I have many relatives and friends still in Scotland, and I know they would like to have an invitation as a souvenir even though they cannot possibly come to the wedding. But I don't want them to feel that they must send a gift because they were sent an invitation. So I thought I might send them each an invitation after the ceremony (perhaps with a small box of wedding cake). My mother says this is all wrong, that either invitations must arrive a few weeks before the date of the wedding, or only announcements should be sent after the wedding. What do you advise me to do?—Scotty".

Please send wedding invitations to your relatives and friends in Scotland, mailing them four or five weeks before the wedding date. These will promptly carry to them the personal message that you and your prospective bridegroom would so much like to have them with you on this important day, if this were at all possible. Of course they will want to receive invitations, to tell them the news of the date and hour and place, and to cherish as souvenirs. Think only that you want to send those invitations . . . don't think about the gift-idea. Just leave it to them to do as they wish. Don't send them announcements, which are really too impersonal. If you have time, and if there wouldn't be too many notes to write, it would be a wonderful plan for you to write each family a warmhearted little note telling them the plans for your wedding, and assuring them "Bob and I wish, very much we wish, that you could be with us on Our Day . . . and we hope good fortune may bring this about!"

THIS HOSTESS NOW WILL SERVE NON-ALCOHOLIC ALTERNATIVE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Several times lately you have mentioned that it is a "must" that the hostess, whenever drinks are being served, should provide a non-alcoholic alternative for the non-drinkers. I'm ashamed to admit that until you made such a definite point about it, I have been thoughtless and inconsiderate about this. But now I promise I'll mend my ways. So will you please tell me what is the usual alternative for the non-alcoholic drink?—G.S.

Salutations to you for your promise to "mend your ways" and to serve a non-alcoholic alternative. This is extremely important these days, when many people, for one reason or another, prefer not to drink alcoholic drink. Tomato juice or a tomato juice cocktail is a usual first choice. Sometimes both tomato juice and a fruit juice are offered. And of course you may offer a soft drink, for example, gingerale or a cola drink.

INVITATIONS USUALLY WRITTEN INSIDE INFORMALS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Today I received an invitation to a tea, written on the front page of an informal (the page with the name and address), just as a tea-invitation might be written on the front page of a visiting-card. I have never seen this done before. I thought the invitation should be written on the inside page or pages of Informals. Is the front-page form correct?

— D. R.

Yes . . . it is correct, but not the usual procedure. Most people prefer to leave the front page clear, with only the name and address to be noted; then to write the invitation-details or the note of invitation on the inside pages. The latter form seems more consistent with Informals, with their space more ample than visiting-card space.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two seniors. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Lillian R. — He must fire his secretary.

Robert R. — Lillian has no right to complain.

Lillian R. — My husband and I have been married for 30 years and have four children, ranging from 18 to 28. I have been very busy bringing them up and didn't give much thought to myself or my husband in all these years.

I realize it was a big mistake. My husband has gotten accustomed to doing without me. He always goes alone to conventions and other affairs, while most of his business associates bring their wives. Sometimes his secretary is my stand-in.

Some family came to my cars recently indicating that this secretary has been my stand-in for more than one. My husband denies all, but refuses to fire her. I think it is his duty to do this, even if it is a big sacrifice from the business point of view. He says she is indispensable.

Robert R. — The woman in question is several years older than I am and a person with a great deal of dignity and good sense. I really felt quite safe from vicious gossip when I went with her to various functions. She was very helpful to me in making contacts and gathering information on these affairs.

I don't feel that Lillian has a right to complain in view of the fact that she never wanted to go to such functions when I tried to take her. The few times she did go, she was miserable. She worried about the children and didn't seem to know how to behave with either men or women. She did not wear the right clothes and was uncomfortable about it all evening.

The awful truth seems to be that she has not kept up with me over the years.

Kitty Carlisle Enjoys Work On Quiz Show

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Pretty Kitty Carlisle is one actress who has found the ideal solution to the problem of how to juggle her duties as wife, mother, homemaker and breadliner.

"A half hour once a week on television keeps my professional pride in working order," says she, "and the rest of the time I can spend at home."

Kitty is married to playwright-producer-director Moss Hart and has two children, Chris, 19, and Cathy, 15. The Hart family lives in a swank duplex apartment in New York and spend weekends at a beach house in New Jersey. Says Kitty:

"When I married Moss I decided he was a full-time job. But an actress does like to keep her hand in. After our marriage I appeared in a broadway play he directed, called Anniversary Waltz —my last play.

"Having my husband directing me in a play seemed just like home. He told me what to do and I did it, just as I always do."

Kitty is one of the panel of the TV show, To Tell the Truth, an arrangement that suits her perfectly, since it requires no rehearsal and depends on the native wit and general knowledge of the panel. Besides—

"When you're on television you reach millions of people all over the country instead of only a few hundred in a theatre. It's so efficient."

Super Pumpkin Pie

by Mary Moore

My sisters were invited to my house for a Sunday dinner when eleven of us sat down. When I was planning the menu Peggy said, "Would you like to make . . ." but before she could finish the sentence I said "Yes, I sure do — certainly I do" — if she had had a chance she was going to add ". . . dessert — pumpkin pie for instance!"

Dinner Menus

Homemade Cream of Tomato Soup; Casserole of Ham and Veal and Noodles; Mixed Bowl Salad with 1000 Island Dressing; Rice Custard Pudding; Coffee.

It turned out to be two pumpkin pies — superior little numbers which were what I expected — but what I did not expect was that Doris, my new cooking sister made the luscious fillings.

So since it is pumpkin season and since pumpkin is an economical pie filling, here are the results of a successful dessert operation.

NUTTY PUMPKIN PIE

(This amount makes two 9-inchers) Three and one-half cups pumpkin (1 28-oz. can), 1 cup sugar, 1½ teaspoon salt, 3-4 teaspoon each nutmeg and ginger, 1-2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1-4 cup honey, 6 eggs, 1 1-3 cups milk, 2 cups evaporated milk, 2-3 cups chopped toasted walnuts (see toasting directions below). Prepare pastry shells. Make filled—edges and before chilling brush surface of pastry with 1-2 teaspoon melted butter. Chill. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add sugar. Combine with pumpkin and honey. Beat eggs, add milk and evaporated milk. Combine thoroughly with pumpkin mixture. Pour into chilled unbaked pie shells. Place in very hot oven 450 deg. Fahr. and immediately turn temperature to 350 deg. Fahr. Bake until when knife is inserted it comes out clean, approximately 70 minutes. But 10 minutes before the time is up, sprinkle the top evenly with chopped toasted nuts. This way the filling is set enough to support them and they do not sink into it. The evaporated milk makes a smooth-textured, rich filling.

Note: To toast nuts, saute gently in frying pan in 1 tablespoon each of butter and brown sugar until they absorb the butter — stir them all the time for 7 or 3 minutes.

We served this with generous dollops of unsweetened whipped cream. While that adds to the end charm — it sure added to the cost, the calories and the waistlines too!

Canadian Silver Will Be Exhibited

TORONTO — Canadian silver — contemporary domestic ceremonial and jewelled —, values at more than $75,000, will be on view for two weeks in a small exhibition of contemporary silver at The Art Gallery of Toronto. It will be open to the public from October 31 to November 12.

The work of three artists in silver will be shown: Douglas Boyd and Harold Stacey, who are both Toronto silver designers, and Gabriel Lucas, a Montreal craftsman who creates personal jewellery from precious metals and gems. The religious, presentation and jewellery pieces have all been privately commissioned and are comparable to the finest work of the great houses abroad.

Among the churches lending silver are Trinity College Chapel and St. Cyprian's, Toronto, and St. George's Church, Windsor; private individuals and organizations have loaned trophies and household pieces.

Trade, Good Will Are His Mission Says Diefenbaker

SASKATOON (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker says the world trip on which he is embarking Wednesday is essentially a trade and good will mission.

"There has never been a time," he said Sunday in an interview, "when it has been more necessary for Canada, in order to discharge her responsibilities within the Commonwealth and the free world, to be known and understood."

He said he hoped to achieve "as full an understanding as possible" with Prime Minister Macmillan, General de Gaulle of France, Chancellor Conrad Adenauer of West Germany and Prime Minister Fanfani of Italy.

Canada's economic future depends in large measure on increasing her markets abroad. His trip comes at a time when the climate for expanding trade in an expanding world is good.

The prime minister was here for quiet family celebrations of his mother's 86th birthday. Mr. Diefenbaker, his wife Olive, and his brother Elmer spent a good part of the day at University Hospital with the elder Mrs. Diefenbaker, and enjoyed a quiet birthday dinner with her.

OTTAWA-HULL TONIGHT

The Ottawa-Hull Canadiens are here tonight, and if you want to see a lighting-fast aggregation of young pocchesers who can not only skate but know what to do with their pucks, sticks and blades, don't miss this show.

Monsieur Samuel Pollock, farm system boss of the Montreal Canadiens, manager of the Rochester Americans, and the brain behind the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, has wrapped himself a neat package of puck meat, which won't be hamburged by any club in the Eastern senior "A" circuit this season.

This will be their first "away" game of the season. On their home ice with the cries and hozzas of the French-Canadian faithful ringing in their ears sixty minutes of any game, and rocking the rafters when they score, they are a byy of hard-checking, speed-skating players who never quit trying, and don't know when they are beaten.

There is no reason to believe they will be any different on foreign ice fields.

They will miss the homage of the faithful home-towners.

That goes for one of their players in particular, one Claude Richard, younger brother of the illustrious Rocket and the sensational Pocket of the same name.

In the Hull Arena, whenever Claude makes a move, it is the signal for an outburst of applause. If he scores, which is fairly often, the rafters do a mambo. If he is penalized, the beautiful new building rocks with the hoots and boos of the clientele. A full page in the local hockey program is devoted to the exploits of this youngster, who in this season's opinion, has a long way to go before he can match the ability of his older brothers.

In fact, after watching him play Sunday, we would not hesitate in selecting one of any other five members of the Canadiens if we had to make a choice. Not that young Richard is not a good hockey player. Simply that the other five are as good if not better.

He scored one of the Canadiens' four goals on Sunday after taking a pass in front of the net and driving home a partially screened shot to beat Gerdie Bell. Bob Boucher, Gilles Tremblay and Bob Rousseau were far more effective than Richard, but it was the younger third of the hockey-playing family who drew the thunderous applause.

And if you want additional color, pry your optics loose from the action on the ice occasionally, and take a glance at the young, good-looking man, who strides behind the Canadiens' players' bench like a Coldstream Guard with red hot coals in his pants.

That is, if he is here. Master Pollock may turn up in person, but if he doesn't, Lou Passador, who mentored the Canadian crew Sunday, will be in full stride— and voice.

Lou flopped his lid, so to speak, so many times Sunday afternoon he did not recover it until the broom gang had finished with the final ice ablutions.

Lou lined his verbal guns, and most of the time rightly so, at the antics of the referee, one Gordie Brenchaley, of Ottawa. When his tonsilar effects failed to harass any effect, he slammed the players' bench door so hard, several times, it sounded like the drums' overture to a military march.

Late in the third period, something of what was going on behind the Canadiens' players' bench must have slitted through to the official ears. For boo-man Brenchaley tacked a bench penalty on the Canadiens, and young M'sieu Drolet was elected to serve sentence.

This was the straw on the camel's back and M'sieu Lou, his tonsils badly frazzled, went into action. He acted a sweni towel from a nearby player's neck and heaved it like a Mills' bomb in the general direction of the referee. Whether by design or accident he cleared the face-wiping missile white His Nibs had his back to him.

The towel missed its target, but opportunist Al Dewsbury of the Macs, who saw the wind-up and the pitch, figured it was a foul ball and as such merited punishment. He drew the attention of the referee to the coaching culprit, but all His Nibs said was, "I didn't see him throw it."

Somebody conned Ragg Ragtan's handsome schnozzle for a four-stitch beauty treatment, and Ragg had to look cross-eyed down at his dimmer. It wasn't much of a hemstitching performance, and the big defenceman may have to have a local repeat job. Coach Ike Hildebrand sported a beautiful right optic shiner held together by six stitches which didn't quench his fire nor slow his speed.

Bombers Cancel Stamps In Western Grid Decider

Roll Over Stampeders 37-10 To Wash Out the Oil Kings; Saskys, Eskies Left in Race

WINNIPEG (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders and Edmonton Eskimos will meet Saturday Nov. 8 in the first game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union's two-game, total - point semi-final series.

That was decided Monday night when the first - place Winnipeg Blue Bombers rolled over Calgary Stampeders 37-10 in a game that wiped out Stamps' last chance to overtake the Riders for the third and final playoff spot.

Calgary finished one point behind Saskatchewan. Edmonton already had clinched second place. The schedule ends Saturday when Winnipeg plays British Columbia Lions at Vancouver and Edmonton tangles with Saskatchewan at Regina.

THREE TDs FOR LEWIS

Leo Lewis scored three touchdowns for Winnipeg and end Ernie Pitts grabbed a record-breaking touchdown pass from Bomber quarterback Jim Van Pelt. Hometrever fullback Tony Kehrer counted the other Bomber touchdown. Van Pelt converted all three and kicked a single. Charlie Shepard also booted a single.

Barry Cox took a nine - yard pass from quarterback Nobby Wirkowski in the last quarter for the only Calgary touchdown. Doug Brown converted, adding to his first-quarter field goal.

Stampeders, tired from their 29-29 tie with Saskatchewan Saturday, never were in serious contention. Bombers held quarterbacks of 23, 36-3 and 65-4 and capitalizing on Calgary fumbles for touchdowns.

Calgary halfback Ron Clinkscale was carried from the field early in the third quarter but doctors said after the game his injuries, while severe, was not serious. He was hurt when a Bomber player landed on his back after a tackle.

Edmonton has its choice of location for the first of the two semi-final games.

WANTS NIGHT GAMES

But it may be influenced from Edmonton Monday night that city alderman W. J. Connelly, also a club director, has lawyers studying the WIFU constitution in efforts to prevent the Eskimos from playing afternoon home games in the playoffs, as called for by the league.

Connelly said he opposes afternoon games because many fans have to work and would be unable to attend. Eskimos have not had an afternoon game at home since entering the league in 1949.

Champ Returns To Famous London Arena

LONDON (AP) — Henry Armstrong, Max Bauer and Gus Lesnevich, all former world champions, arrived Monday for boxing's last round at London's Harringay Arena.

The world famous stadium, scene of about 600 fights since it was built 22 years ago, will be come a grocer's warehouse at the end of tonight's boxing. The arena's owners found it economically impossible to carry on.

The sentimental parade of champions will take place before a special fight program featuring three 10-rounders. The show was to about six weeks ago.

The fight card is topped by a 10-rounder between British lightweight champion Dave Charnley and Carlos Ortiz of New York. Both are standing in line for a shot at Joe Brown's title.

In other bouts, heavyweight Gerrie Sonnie of Cincinnati meets Dick Richardson of Britain in 10 rounds, and Dai Dower, British bantamweight, tackles Canada's Pat Supple in another 10-rounder.

The three ex-world champions from the United States will take a bow along with a score of lesser known British fighters.

Tiger Fans Rap Big Cats After Defeat

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats, runaway winners in the Big Four football league this season, are being criticized by some fans for a lacklustre showing in Saturday's 28-18 loss to Montreal Alouettes.

Ticats, who haven't heard many complaints from their followers in two seasons of winning football, were under the gun by sportswriters and commentators as well.

The team was given a day off Monday by coach Jim Trimble despite the critical comments. They return to the practice field tonight.

Thinks Swede Could Dethrone Heavy Champion

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight Bert Whiteburst, who has trained with both, firmly believes Sweden's undefeated Ingemar Johansson will dethrone world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson if they ever meet.

"Don't let anyone underrate that Johansson," said Whiteburst after he saw him knock out Eddie Machen in the first round. It was no fluke, either. I predicted Johansson will beat him, and I think he could beat him 10 out of 10 times.

"Johansson is a very good fighter. He has a good left jab, a murder left cross, powerful right hand and an excellent left hook. And he can take a good punch, too, if you hit him. But he's hard to hit square."

HIM TESTED

"I can attest to that," said George Gainford, manager of the Baltimore boxer and sometime trainer of middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson. "I know that Johansson can take it because I tested him."

"Well Whiteburst was working as a sparring partner for the Swedish son in Sweden when Ingemar was getting ready for Machen," recalled Gainford. "In addition Bert, they had a big guy from Sweden there, a Finn named Haltonen and a German, Hans Friedrich. Johansson knocked out both of them. I told them to try to hurt him. But I told them if they did to follow it up with all they had.

"Bert nailed him with a good right. Although Johansson is not easy to hit, The Swede took that punch and came back fighting like a tiger. I can assure you he is no kid-goodie.

"I predicted he would beat Machen," said Gainford. "He'll beat Patterson the fight of his life, too. Johansson has a way of getting that left hand where he has to at times. He does that to such a an opponent. Then he lets go with that right. It could knock you head off. And if he misses with the right he follows up with a left hook that sometimes is even more powerful than his right."

Johansson, 26, has won all 21 of his pro fights, 13 by knockouts. Machen had been unbeaten in 34 fights, including a draw with Zora Folley, when he was finished by Ingemar at Goteborg, Sept. 14.

Rocket, Pocket and Boom-Boom Tied for Tops in Points Race

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League's newest scoring phenomenon, the leased today, starts out like the club roster of Montreal Canadiens.

The five biggest siege guns of the high-powered league-leaders are the property of the Habs' man top, although he shares point total honors with two teammates, no less than five-year-old Maurice (Rocket) Richard.

The Rocket has scored seven goals—tops in the league—and has collected four assists. He also has collected seven points, tested five points on three goals and two assists.

BROTHER COMBINES

Tied with him at 11 points are Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard. Making the scoring business a brotherly monopoly, the little Rocket currently is the best feeder in the league with 10 assists.

Henri collected three assists last week, but he has scored only one goal in his team's nine games and ranks behind Geoffrion. The Boomer had no goals last week but harvested four assists and now has a 9-4 mark.

Close behind the 11-point trio are Jean Beliveau and Dickie Moore, NHL scoring champion last season. Beliveau helped himself to four goals and one assist for his week's work and now has 10 points. Moore got one goal and three assists and follows with nine points, tied with Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers and Eddie Litzenberger of Chicago Black Hawks.

Moore's record now is 5-4. It raises him above Bathgate's 3-6 and Litzenberger's 4-5. Bathgate mustered two points on a goal and assist while Litzenberger could come up with only an assist last week and was toppled out of a tie for the scoring leadership.

EIGHT ASSISTS

Norm Johnson of Boston Bruins has yet to score a goal this season but has boosted his assist total to eight. Johnson's lack of sco are two teammates, Jerry Toppazzini and Vic Stasiuk, along with Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings and Red Sullivan of New York Rangers.

Toppazzini scored his first assist last week to go with his two goals he has previously counted. Stasiuk didn't get a point. Howe had only one assist while Sullivan had three.

Alex Delvecchio of Detroit and Tod Sloan of Chicago, each with five goals and one assist, head the group of players who have scored six points.

On the week's play, the team with the best record was New York Rangers. The Rangers, previously without a win but figuring in four ties, won both of their two starts and joined Detroit and Boston in a tie for second place with eight points each.

Canadiens, leading the standing with 13 points, had the next best record with two wins and one loss in three outings.

Petes Star Leads Junior Scoring Pace

TORONTO (CP)—Wayne Connelly of Peterborough Petes leads the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring race on the basis of a single-game outburst.

The six goals and an assist he picked up in Petes' 16-2 thrashing of Guelph Biltmores last Friday night have put him a tie at the top. Teammate Bill Mahoney, Bruce Draper of Toronto St. Michael's and Stan Mikita of St. Catharines Teepee also have seven points.

Two members of the undefeated Petes trail next with six points. Chico Maki has five goals and an assist, Ted Wright three goals and three assists.

Tied at five points are Jack Costello of St. Michael's, Bob Corupe of Teepees and three Petes. Flyers forwards — Ray Dupuis, Marcel Tessier and Dale Rolfe.

In the goaltending statistics Jim Cannon of Toronto Marlboros and Norm Defelice of Barrie each have a goals-per-game average of 2.00. Defelice also owns the only two shutouts in the league so far.

Bower Blasts Ranger Coach Phil Watson

NEW YORK (AP) — Goalie Johnny Bower of Toronto Maple Leafs threw a verbal bombshell at Phil Watson Monday. He claimed the coach of the New York Rangers "lost his temper and did not give me a real chance to play" during the National Hockey League's.

"You know the way Watson flares up," said Bower. "Well in training camp three years ago he flared up at me.

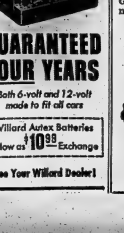
"And do you know what his reason was? He said I was trying to look behind me when a goal is scored. Where else am I going to look? I'm not going to look next? I thought I was as good as Gump Worsley but they kept Gump and 'en sent down to the minors."

Bower is getting his second chance in the NHL. He was the outstanding netminder in the American League with Cleveland last season and was drafted by Toronto last summer.

"I'm not a 'What's my hockey age'?, joined the Rangers in 1953 and I played regularly in the AHL. He turned in a fine campaign in his rookie year, allowing only 182 goals in 70 games for a 2.60 average. But he was the property of Cleveland in the next season.

In 1956 he was ordered to report to the Rangers' training camp in Saskatoon. That's where the bad differences with Watson.

In seven games with the Leafs this year, Bower has allowed 20 goals for a 2.86 average.



Cardinals Win Third in Japan

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals bombarded four Japanese pitchers for 10 hits, including a three-run home run by first baseman Joe Cunningham, and defeated the Japan All-Stars 9-1 today.

Starting pitcher Bob Blaylock gave up only two hits, one a homer, in seven innings. Wilmer Mizell finished up, allowing one hit.

The Cardinals have won three and lost one so far in their tour. Tonight in Kagashima, suburb of Yomiui Giants, hit an inside-the-park homer in the seventh inning.

Promoter May Shift Fight From Montreal to Toronto

MONTREAL (CP) — Promoter Eddie Quinn, his eye on a bigger slice of the Yankee dollar, threatened to move the Archambault world lightheavyweight championship fight 350 miles west of Montreal.

Quinn announced Monday that promoter Frank Tunney of Toronto would be quite happy to have world champion Archie Moore and challenger Yvon Durelle, the Moncton Mauler, in the Dec. 10 in Toronto, instead of here.

The reason for the switch, Quinn said, is that Montreal Athletic Commission is too eager for a slice of the gate proceeds. In a five per cent tax on the proceeds of the fight and is "trying now to get a cut of television."

In Ontario the tax is only two per cent, he said. Tunney, who arrived here with Ontario Athletic Commissioner Harry McKinnie, said he is eager to confirm the deal.

He said he'd give Quinn 10 per cent of the receipts for the permission to stage the fight in Toronto, where Moore is best-remembered for taking apart Canadian Jack Hamas in 1956 in eight artistically and financially successful but didn't do much to excite sport fans.

Moore and Parker drew $160,000 in Toronto, Tunney said. "This one could draw $160,000 like it or $110 if either is a stronger fight."

He said he didn't think the fighters would object, so long as they make more money.

McKenzie said he just came along to make clear his commission's position on taxes and licences.

Quinte Saints Whip Trenton 25-0 To Clinch at Least 1st Place Tie

By ROGER WALTERS

Quinte Secondary grid squads wound up their regular C.O.S.S.A. Junior and Senior "A" schedule yesterday in Trenton with a pair of victories over Trenton High school. The Quinte juniors romped on the home team 25-0 while the Juniors edged their opponents 3-1 in a closely fought contest.

Quinte set the pace early in the senior game with fullback Mickey Locke and Jack Stewart moving the ball persistently down the field. Locke drove to the one yard line and Ron McBride grew first blood on a quarterback sneak. Ron Hall converted giving the Saints a seven-point advantage. Midway through the second quarter Quinte drove to Trenton's 30 after some timely gains on McBride's passing. "Whitey" Walts sprinted the final 30 yards increasing the visitors' lead to 13 points.

As the second half opened Quinte again took the initiative pushing Trenton deep into their own territory. Earl Hill Green grabbed a pass from McBride gaining 20 yards in advancing to Trenton's six. Hall drove through the middle line to the one yard line from where he brought his way across for Quinte's third major. Minutes later Don Wilson pulled down a Trenton aerial and raced down the sideline to complete the scoring at 25-0.

Trenton's Serge Soucisse and Ron Kerr were Quinte's major threats, with the effective combination accounting for a large part of Trenton's yardage. The Saints's Dave Boddar and Earl Green came up with some well executed tackles, however, holding the home team scoreless. The win gave Quinte five wins and one tie for the season, and provided that B.C.I. seniors defeat Picton Thursday, the two inevitably rivals will meet on Monday next to decide the winner of the Bay of Quinte district.

The two junior teams played a closely contested game until the final minutes. Quinte's Steve Wilson turned in a great game on both defence and offence, although he failed to cross Trenton's goal line. Trenton's one point lead came on a rouge midway through the second quarter, a lead which was preserved until Quinte's Bob Follwell booted a single, ending the first half with the score one point apiece.

Quinte's Bernie Ladouceur and Stan McMullen combined with a strong line to hold Trenton scoreless throughout the final half. Follwell kicked the deciding point in the third quarter giving Quinte the 2-1 edge in scoring.

Argos Win, Pool Ripples In Complaint

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Hamp Pool studied movies of Toronto Argonauts' victory over the Toronto Rough Riders Saturday and says he isn't happy with the Argo showing.

Argos won the game, their third straight football triumph in a row, 42-24.

"Mentally I weren't ready," said Pool. "Our reactions were too slow. If we're in the same mental frame of mind next Saturday Etcheverry will take us apart."

He was referring to Toronto's date with Montreal Alouettes. Argos have to win two from Als to finish in a playoff spot.

Pool said the backfield defence wasn't up to par Saturday.

Dick Shatto, Argo halfback here who has scored eight touchdowns in the last three games, will pass up most of the practices this week because of a pulled groin muscle. But he'll be in the lineup against Montreal.

SIGN MOSES

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Redlegs have signed Wade Moses, one of manager Mayo Smith's former aides with Philadelphia Phillies, as a coach. Moses, 48, a player from 1935 through 1951, will serve as a batting instructor and first base coach with the Reds.

Two Unbeaten Colleges Meet Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Three teams in the top 10 of the Associated Press weekly college football ratings are unbeaten and untied, but at least one will have its record smeared Saturday.

Louisiana State, which displaced Army as top ent, a team that won, Mississippi, no. 9, at Baton Rouge. Saturday night, and one of them—such a case of a tie—will have the first blemish on its record when the smoke gun sounds.

Colorado is the only other team in the select circle with a spotless record, and it is in dire peril. The mighty, surging no. 8, meet Oklahoma at Boulder.

The sleepers, no. 7 and with a one-point defeat apiece, Texas Christian and Texas A&M, meet at College Station. The Aggies, who have won only most on their record, have been rated as favorites and said a victory over Bud Wilkinson's team could not be raised an upset. The Horned Frogs, who are the leader this week as the Cadets played a 14-14 tie with Pittsburgh, with a penchant for knocking off previously unbeaten teams, defeated Southern Methodist last Saturday and moved from seventh place to seventh. The Mustangs previously had handed Wisconsin its only defeat.

Army dropped to third place. Auburn moved up from fifth to fourth, and Texas, no. 5 a week ago, dropped to fifth as a result of its tie with Wisconsin.

The remainder of the 10 teams as selected by the sportswriters and sportscasters taking part in the poll were, in order: Mississippi, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Colorado and Purdue.

Tried to Tell Favorite for Cambridgeshire

LONDON (AP) — Sir Harold Wernher stands a great chance of winning Wednesday's £16,000 Cambridgeshire handicap before horse race handicap. And he could do it with Aggressor, which he didn't want to own.

Wernher tried to sell Aggressor two years ago at the Dublin yearling sales. He thought the colt looked good, but unlucky. He found no buyers. So he kept Aggressor.

"And it was one of the best things I ever did," he said Monday.

Aggressor has proved himself worthy of the name. He won three races out of six as a two-year-old. This season he won the 1,000-guinea trial stakes at Kempton.

Aggressor's jockey will be Jimmy Lindley, 22, who has fought rising weight to reclaim positions as one of the country's top riders.

Aggressor, a three-year-old colt by Combat out of Phantonia, appears favorably weighted in the nine-furlong handicap over Newmarket's turf course. He is to carry 120 pounds. Top-weighted London Cry a 4-year-old has 131 pounds.

BLTS SOLSTER TEAM

GUELPH (CP) — Guelph Bulmoores have acquired three players from the Toronto Marlboro organization in an attempt to bolster the club that has gained only a tie in four starts in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series. Dino Marcuse, a defenceman who played with Weston Dukes last year, Silva Billmann from the Toronto Maple Leaf organization in recent days and Dave Chambers, who plays with Toronto St. Michael's. Guelph also purchased Jacques Caron, a goalkeeper who was loaned to Peterborough last year and previously played for Marlboros, and defenceman Mike Donaldson.

OTTAWA FINDS KNOX AND SHATTO UNBEATABLE, BUT WILL ALOUETTES?

While he was outshone by the fabulous passing of Argos' Ronnie Knox, Ottawa's rookie Canadian quarterback, Russ Jackson was a hero in his team's 42-24 defeat by Argos. Here the fleet pivotman is nabbed by Argos' Fred Robinson after running for a big gain which set up Rough Riders' first TD in first quarter. Jackson's running and deception gave Ottawa a 12-0 lead early in the game but the Knox-inspired Scullers caught up to win the key game.

Argo Shatto Takes Over Scoring Lead

TORONTO (CP)—Dick Shatto, possibly the hottest professional football player in the country, has taken over the scoring lead in the Big Four union with 94 points on nine touchdowns.

Shatto, 22-year-old import from the University of Kentucky, rocketed to the top with a four-touchdown performance Saturday when Toronto Argonauts trailed Ottawa Rough Riders 42-24. Shatto, who scored one touchdown in Toronto's first nine games, crossed the enemy line eight times in Argonauts' last three outings to give him the most remarkable record of any player in the league.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Shatto two points up on team-mate Vic Ketchum, field goal and converts kicking specialist who has scored 92 points. He has made 30 converts, kicked seven field goals and one single.

In third place with 48 points on eight touchdowns is Canadian halfback Jim Worrell of Hamilton Tiger - Cats. He is one up on Gerry McDougall, also of Hamilton.

Jim Smith of Sarnia Golden Bears is the Ontario Rugby Football Union scoring champion with 84 points; four more than teammate Don Loney.

Tim Reid of the unbeaten University of Toronto Blues leads first-place tie in the college scoring with Lionel Conacher of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs. Reid scored two touchdowns in Blues' 6-0 victory over Queen's Golden Gaels to bring his point-total to 42.

Conacher, who didn't play as Mustangs defeated McGill Redmen 29-6, shares the No. 2 position with Peter Joyce of Toronto, each with 30 points.

George Chuvalo Claims TKO's Out of Date!

Says Kwong Prefers Lions Next Season

VANCOUVER (CP) — Denny Boyd of the Vancouver Sun says in a telined story Edmonton Eskimos' Normie Kwong is "downright anxious" to play for B.C. Lions next season.

In an interview in Edmonton Saturday night Kwong told Boyd:

"Sure, I'd love to play out there next season if I can get my release from the Eskimos' club and I had an agreement with Eskimos at the beginning of the year so that I could get my release at the end of the season but now they're trying to keep me.

"It would be a shot in the arm for me to play for a new team. I'm getting tired of this town; it just seems that no one cares anymore."

In Edmonton, president Cec Ross of the Eskimos said:

"That's just so much hogwash as far as we're concerned. There is no agreement whatsoever to release Kwong."

Ross said Kwong has made suggestions in "a joking sort of a way" for the last two years that he might like his release to play for various teams.

Bobo Olson Returns to Ring

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Carl (Bobo) Olson, a boxing has-been at 30, finds out tonight whether his chin has turned to china.

Don Grant, an unknown from Los Angeles, is the tester.

Olson, a former middleweight champ and admittedly on the comeback trail after drawing gates of more than $2,000,000, insists he can take a punch on the whiskers despite past performance.

Light heavyweight champ Archie Moore in 1955 knocked him out in three. Middleweight champ Sugar Ray Robinson did it in two later in the year to get back the championship, the next year fastened Bobo in four.

In his last fight, Aug. 17, 1957, Pat McMurtry, now a promising heavy, put Bobo to sleep in two. Olson freely admits the soft life caused his downfall. The soft living plus enough marital troubles for several champions accounted for the disappearance of Bobo.

"I had it and blew it," he says. "My last four fights as a middleweight drew almost $1,500,000. And I don't have a dime."

Big Shots, Small Spuds

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Amateur Basketball Association upset a basketball doubleheader Monday night when it kept a Toronto men's team from facing a touring side of women professionals.

In the main match Harlem Globetrotters clowned before 4,500 fans and beat Philadelphia Sphas 75-64.

Andy's Athletic Club of Toronto was to face the Texas Cowgirls in the preliminary game. The OABA told the team it would jeopardize its amateur standing if it took the floor against the pros. So the girls played an intersquad match.

The Cowgirls always play against local men's teams and had never before had an amateur basketball group refuse permission.

Pete Runnels Wins Comeback Crown of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Pistol Pete Runnels of Boston Red Sox moved up from a .320 batting average to shoot a near bull's-eye in the direction of the batting title, made the American League comeback player in 1958.

This was the majority opinion of the 103 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America who participated in the annual Associated Press poll. The results were announced today.

Runnels collected 61 votes. Bob Cerv of Kansas City was next with 20 followed by Cal McLish of Cincinnati with 12. Arnie Portocarrero of Baltimore eight, Yogi Berra of New York two and Jack Harshman and Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore and Mickey Vernon of Cleveland, one each.

Runnels, with a .322 batting mark, finished second to teammate Ted Williams in a torrid race that was not decided until the season's final day. Williams wound up with .328.

In 134 games with Washington in 1957, Runnels collected only 109 hits and had his poorest of seven years in the majors. He was traded to Boston last Jan. 23 for Albie Pearson and Norm Zauchin.

Runnels, 30, won the Red Sox' regular first base job from Dick Gernert in spring training. He also played second base during the regular campaign and compiled 183 hits while participating in 150 games at the two infield posts.

McLish, a journeyman right-handed pitcher, was the ace of the Indians' staff. He won 16 games and lost nine. Portocarrero with an earned-run-average of 2.99.

Portocarrero was another in the long line of Paul Richards' retreads. His mark was 15-11.

On the Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—The Albertans had their day at New Woodbine Monday as Jim Bell's Sterwell, owned by Clarence Dick of Edmonton, won the $15,000 Canadian Derby race after Norman Fletcher, of Airdrie, Alta., had won the Canadian Oaks with Miss Bend.

Right Service, ridden by Dick Armstrong, defeated a field of three-year-olds which are eligible for Saturday's $27,000 Canadian Sweepstakes. Unfortunately, Dick neglected to nominate Right Service for the rich Cup and Saucer.

Right Service, winner of the Winnipeg Futurity Sept. 22, plodded seven furlongs in 1.30 1-5 over a very heavy track to defeat the well weighted Theo Geo by three-quarters of a length. Bold Schedule was third.

Ken Voglesang Track Star At Ryerson

Ken Voglesang, starry track and field athlete with BCIVS for the past few years, is continuing his fine running this season at Toronto's Ryerson School of Technology.

Voglesang broke three records in the intermediate track meet held at London, Ont., recently, helping his school to a fourth place finish. He topped all contestants at the meet with 16 points, more than half of Ryerson's total of 32.

The 19-year-old sprinter from Belleville came away from the Ontario - Quebec intercollegiate track meet with the triple sprint crown.

Voglesang broke the former intermediate record for the 100-yard dash by covering the distance in ten seconds flat. The former record was 10.1. Time in the same senior event was 10.4.

He topped the field by five yards in the 220-yard dash, turning in the record time of 22.4 seconds. The former record was 22.7. He again topped the senior time of 22.5.

Ken completed the sweep in the 440 by ripping off the distance in 51.5 seconds. The former record was 52.2.

To top the day's activity Voglesang ran for his team in the mile relay and deposited the 440 share of the course in very fast time.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A glittering orange baseball, designed for greater visibility than the standard white baseball, will be introduced this week in Japan. Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals who are touring in Japan, agreed to introduce the ball in a game with the Japanese all-stars. Ray Dumont president of the National Baseball Congress, invented the ball.

DIVORCE
– a social calamity

How big a problem has it become in the United States? Are our laws too strict . . . too lenient? What is the unspoken name behind most American divorces? Is the upswing in our divorce rate (3330,000 predicted this year) threatening our social setup?

Famed prime-ruling reporter John Bartlow Martin went after the answers to these vital questions, searching out the facts and figures on this fast-growing problem from coast to coast; listening to divorce lawyers, judges and the victims themselves—and in this week's Saturday Evening Post, you'll read his findings.

You'll be right in court as hear scandalous case histories . . . spend a dramatic day with a divorce judge! You'll explore divorce in difficult New York City, easy Las Vegas, Hollywood and rural Indiana!

And you'll separate the facts from the rumors about the true nature of divorce and its threat to our way of life. Read "Divorce" by John Bartlow Martin.

Sport Snapshots

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Phil Watson, when he posed for a picture with goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley at New York Rangers' training camp last month, could have used this quotation from a 19th - century English poet:

"He that is thy friend indeed, he will help thee in thy need."

Watson however wasn't thinking about the poet (Richard Barnfield). He was figuring that a few kind words about his goaltender might produce some better results than those when Worsley was a whipping-boy during the last two National Hockey League seasons.

At least that's the impression one got from training camp and during the first two weeks of the 1958-59 season.

No longer was Watson calling Worsley "beer-belly" or some such names. All seemed happy and peaceful between the two men.

NO UNKIND WORD

More amazing was the fact that, although Rangers didn't win one of their first six games, Watson didn't say one unkind word about Gump. In fact Watson said he had praised Worsley.

"I told Gump what a fine job he did when we tied Chicago Black Hawks 1-1 in our first game," Watson said. "He was marvelous all through training and I told him so, too."

In other seasons when Rangers lost, it was usually Worsley's fault. At least Watson kept saying that the end of last season Watson told the public that Worsley would finish the season with Rangers but that the job of goaltending would be wide open in training camp.

Worsley did some campaigning of his own. Before he reported to Niagara Falls, he told some newspapermen that he'd be in shape when Rangers opened the season.

"And you can tell Watson that, too," he snapped.

Midway through the training grind Watson announced that Worsley would start the season with Rangers.

"He's proven that he belongs in the big-time and I think he'll be better than ever."

NEXT INSTALLMENT?

Not all are convinced that the Watson-Worsley differences are completely healed. Some think that Watson may just be waiting until both hockey pots pushed aside in the sports pages by Grey Cup football to get space with a new blast. But if and when he does blow up at Worsley, Watson might be embarrassed.

A photographer took a picture of the two in front of a sign which read: Honeymoon Cabins.

Watson said he wanted a copy of the picture.

"We still after we use it," the photographer said. "And we'll print it the first time you blow your stack at Gump."

SUNSHINE HAZARD

There have been all kinds of reasons for hockey games being held up but here's a new one.

During Vancouver Canucks first Western Hockey League game at Vancouver Forum two players ago the Canuck players huddled with officials. Then the public announcer told the customers:

"There will be a slight delay while the windows are blocked off. The sun is shining in the players' eyes."

Willie Mays Nears Record Of Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Veterans Ted Williams of Boston and Stan Musial of St. Louis still boast the highest lifetime batting averages among active major league baseball players. But Willie Mays of San Francisco made the largest gain as a result of his 1958 performance.

Williams' .338 mark which topped the American League last season remains his lifetime percentage from .350 to .340. That placed him in a fourth place tie with Frank (Lefty) O'Doul among the all-time leaders.

Musial, slightly lower, with at least 10 seasons in the majors, to compile lifetime averages that Williams and O'Doul were Ty Cobb (.367), Rogers Hornsby (.358) and Joe Jackson (.356).

Musial is tops among active players in the National League. He batted .337 in 1958, but his lifetime mark remained at .340. The slight drop increased his total of hits to 3,116.

Mays' lifetime mark jumped seven points to .318 — good for second place in the senior circuit. The Giants' outfielder hit .347 in 1958.

'The Naked City' Series Filmed on Location in N. Y.

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Naked City is an excellent series in which, among other things, the television cameras have a love affair with the city of New York.

Filmed on location in Manhattan, the series visible on ABC-TV Tuesday's (9:30 p.m. EST) bases its action on the experiences of a 30-year man on the New York police force (played by John McIntire) who is breaking in a rookie detective (played by James Franciscus).

But it's not just another cops-and-robbers thriller. The reasons for its success can best be explained by its talented writer, Stirling Silliphant, who said the other day:

"The secret of a successful half-hour television show is that it should serve practically no plot."

Silliphant is one of those writers, of whom there are many distinguished examples, who finds his ideas stimulated by a place or locale.

Rains Deplores Current Humorless Crop of Boogiemen

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the earliest of the movie monsters deplores the current humorless crop of boogiemen.

The speaker is Claude Rains, back in Hollywood after a seven-year absence, suave Englishborn actor wasn't a monster, really. Matter of fact, you don't even see him. He played The Invisible Man.

Comparing The Invisible Man to the pre - day horror films, the actor unwinds:

"These new monsters have no sense of humor. They're just out for gore. Right, and I think they miss a trick."

A FORMER STAGE FACTOR

Rains recalled vividly how he was chosen for the unique role. A longtime stage actor, he had been tested for a film contract, but did a couple of scenes instead, plays in his stage style.

"When I saw the test, I was horrified, I stank. I knew immediately that I hadn't the slightest chance for a film career."

For felt the same way. But at the time, Universal was searching everywhere for an actor to play The Invisible Man. Rains' test was among those reviewed by the studio. Said director James Whale: "I don't care what you look like; that's the voice I want."

I have long wondered exactly how much work he did in the picture. He explains that he did all the scenes which showed him clothed. He was seen for a brief flash at the end when he died and materialized.

The invisible stuff was done by the movie trick makers, and it received some fantastic pleasing.

"The footprints in the snow were a production in themselves," Rains said. "They cut out holes in the stage the size of footprints. A wood was replaced and fastened with wires which led out of camera range. Then the whole set was covered with corn flakes or gypsum or whatever they used for snow in those days. When the camera rolled, the wires were pulled one-by-one and the footsteps appeared."

Nephew of Franz Lehar Trying to Keep Name Alive

SWEETSBURG, Que. (CP)—In a 150-year-old farmhouse near this Eastern Townships town the nephew of Hungarian composer Franz Lehar is working to keep his uncle's name and works alive.

"This article was originally printed in business," said Francis Lehar in an interview. "He always liked to make money for his own needs. Consequently his copyrights and manuscripts got into disorder.

Known as "The Waltz King," Franz Lehar was born in Hungary in 1870 and died in 1948. During his born years, from 1902 to 1910, he composed more than a dozen operettas, the most famous being his gay Merry Widow.

TOOK LEHAR NAME

When he died, at his request his sister's son, Francis Paphaway, took the Lehar name. With it came the heaviness headaches which occupy a great part of Francis Lehar's days.

"I find that most of my time is being taken up by my uncle's affairs," he said Mr. Lehar. "I am trying to keep his music alive and stimulate interest in it.

"I have formed a company and work from my home seeing that all sales are made, while also hiring out music and scores to producers.

Francis Lehar and his mother who lives in Switzerland are the composer's sole heirs. The mother receives royalties from all countries, except those of France and North America which go to Francis.

EMIGRATED IN 1948

Mr. Lehar came to North America with his wife in 1948. He had been secretary of the Hungarian legation at Vichy during the Second World War and decided not to return home after the Communist regime in Hungary.

They lived in New York for a time, then bought the 20-room house where they live with their 11 children, ranging in age from 2 months to 20 months.

Mr. Lehar raises chicken, pigs and sheep and cultivates the land around Sweetsburg. Next year he hopes to begin raising cattle.

He recalled that his uncle was absorbed in his work and used to keep one house where he could write and compose. He was devoted to his wife but couldn't work with anyone around.

"He used to say that a true waltz holds all the component love of a man and a girl. It is a simple love-poem in music. Each note must be inevitable."

Ontario Highway Fatalities Down By 13 Per Cent

TORONTO (CP)—Highway fatalities in Ontario declined 13 per cent in the first nine months of this year compared with the same period last year, provincial police report today.

Supt. C. Comeau, deputy attorney-general, credited the drop to "greater effort by the OPP and public awareness of highway traffic safety.

In the period Jan. 1 to Sept. 30 this year there were 939 fatalities compared with 1,078 fatalities in the nine-month period were 19,934 compared with 20,344 last year, down almost six per cent.

James Bartlett, OPP deputy commissioner, said 88,342 charges were laid under the traffic act in the January-September period.

President Mirza Hands Pakistan Power to Ayub

KARACHI (AP)—Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan ruled Pakistan today in name as well as in fact. President Iskander Mirza resigned Monday night and handed over all his powers to Ayub, the former army commander-in-chief with whom he had joined Oct. 7 in a peaceful military revolution.

Earlier Monday Ayub had been sworn in as premier, heading a cabinet made up of army, military men and eight civilians. He will have power to govern by decree for a year.

Mirza said he stepped aside to give Ayub a free hand in revitalizing Pakistan's governmental machinery. He said he took "unfortunate impression" at home and abroad that the country "may not always act in unison."

POLICIES THE SAME

Ayub said Mirza's quitting "will in no way affect my policies."

"Let no one resolve to face the tasks ahead of us as a nation and turn down to solid and hard work without indulging in any speculation," he said.

earlier, although it was down 39,000 from a month earlier.

Officials say the seasonal downswing is less than last winter when the peak 980,000 was reached in March, it was not bad.

But Labor Minister Starr and Mr. Gordon have promised everything in the central government's power will be done to avoid another winter of record unemployment.

OTTAWA ACTION

Other steps taken by the federal government to alleviate the situation include:

1. Sharing 50-50 with provinces the cost of helping unemployed or unemployable persons not covered by unemployment insurance. The federal treasury paid out $15,000,000 in such aid in the last fiscal year.

2. Calling of a national conference on unemployment last July from which the federal government announced supplementary aid coming with the situation. Mr. Diefenbaker's 10-point conference remedies are now arisen partly from this conference.

3. Asked the National Employment Service to increase its staff by 150 to help unemployed persons find work.

4. Last season extended the period for which unemployment benefits are paid by the Unemployment Insurance Commission from March 31 to June 30. This step could be repeated if unemployment is high this winter.

5. Took several steps to increase employment on federal projects this winter, notably on the Trans-Canada highway, by increased federal expenditures.

End Arms Race New Pope's Plea To World Leaders

Pontiff's Coronation Will Be Held November 4

BULLETIN

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The coronation of Pope John XXIII today was fixed for Tuesday, November 4.

VATICAN CITY (CP) — Pope John XXIII today made an appeal for world peace in which the entire "human family can live freely, flower and prosper."

Making his first address as the new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, the 76-year-old former patriarch of Venice spoke into two silver microphones from the throne in the Sistine Chapel.

He appealed to world leaders to abandon the "monstrous instruments of war" and lead their peoples to a peace based on "the legitimate rights of every individual."

Later, the pontiff gave his first open audience. With a broad smile, he said: "I am sorry I won't see a little bit better, but you know, it is the first time."

NAMES ESTABLISHMENT

Meantime, the Vatican announced the Pope has named Msgr. Domenico Tardini, as his pro-secretary of state. Tardini, 70, will be appointed secretary of state as soon as a new consistory is held for the creation of cardinals.

The plump white-robed Pope, a peasant's son, made a surprise release in the red-walled Vatican antechamber as he entered. Spreading his arms expansively, he said: "You know I am a simple soul and will express myself as me."

As he took the throne before his speech, the cardinals who elected him Tuesday knelt one by one before him to kiss his papal ring.

The new pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, broadcasting from the Sistine Chapel less than 20 hours after his election, urged that weapons of destruction be converted into tools of progress.

His appeal was taken as a firm sign that he intends to continue the fight for peace that made Pius XII known as the "pope of peace."

Pope John — Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, patriarch of Venice until his election Tuesday by the College of Cardinals — prayed for the strength and courage in his new tasks. He called especially upon the Virgin Mary for assistance.

The 76-year-old Pope spoke in Latin for 20 minutes in a firm and powerful voice. Before the address, he received the 18 new cardinals gathered in the chapel.

As one of the first acts of his pontificate, Pope John elevated Msgr. Alberto Di Jorio to the rank of cardinal. Msgr. di Jorio, 74, had served as secretary of the papal consistory, and traditionally that the prelate who fills such duties is named a cardinal at the conclusion.

The jewelled, three-tiered tiara of the papacy, the golden orb and cross, perhaps will be placed upon his head Sunday, Nov. 9, in the climax at St.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Low pressure off the New England coast continues to bring rain in most parts of Maritime and New York states, and also to part of Eastern Ontario and the Niagara Peninsula. Skies are cloudy over Central Ontario and clear in the southwestern Ontario. Clear and occasional light snow prevail over most of Northern Ontario.

The weather picture remains static throughout most of Canada and the United States and there is little evidence that any significant break in the pattern will occur today.

CANADIAN-U.S. RELATIONSHIPS MUCH IMPROVED

Tremendous Changes Seen by Diefenbaker

NEW YORK (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker says there have been "tremendous changes" for the good in Canadian-United States relationships during the last year.

The Canadian leader, in a speech Tuesday night to the Pilgrims Society dinner, said that with the existing unity between the two countries, Canadian-American problems "will never be insoluble."

He referred to his speech 14 months ago at Dartmouth college, in New Hampshire, in which he had detailed a list of Canadian grievances over U.S. trade and economic policy.

"Tonight I feel reassured that beneficial changes have taken place."

DULLES CONCURS

U.S. State Secretary Dulles, also addressing the dinner, took the same optimistic view.

"If our two nations have their differences, let us not aggravate them or exaggerate them," Dulles said. "Let us keep them insignificant in comparison with what unites us.

The prime minister, who spoke only a few hours after embarking on his journey as a 54 - day world trip, also called for a new international effort to overcome poverty and bring new hope to hungry peoples.

He said that the stomachs of those who stand against communism by calling them about the need for parliamentary democracy, without doing something to meet their material needs.

Today the prime minister was to meet with President Eisenhower in Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold before leaving by air for London at 2:15 p.m. (Est).

Say Condition Of Alexander Still Serious

OTTAWA (CP) — Earl Alexander of Tunis, victim of an acute heart attack Sunday, spent a comfortable night and was resting easily at pain, a medical bulletin said today.

The bulletin may still be considered serious but not critical," it said. The bulletin from Dr. Jaws Civic Hospital where the former Canadian governor-general was admitted Sunday suffering from pain which struck at the start of the Thanksgiving trip.

The bulletin noted — for the first time — that his "fever remains elevated."

Lord Alexander, 66, thus spent his second consecutive night in a row, His wife, Lady Alexander, was making a brief visit of two or three minutes to him this morning with another short call scheduled this evening.

Dr. C. G. Petrie, physician to the warrior-statesman during his tenure as governor-general from 1946 to 1952, said Tuesday Lord Alexander will have to spend several weeks in bed.

Lord and Lady Alexander came to Ottawa from Ireland for the conference of the English-Speaking Union of the Commonwealth.

The conference is believed to have struck Sunday after Lord Alexander went ill. Tuesday with Maj.-Gen. Harry Letson, member of the earl's staff while he was governor-general.

News of Elevation Brings Joy To Home Hamlet of New Pontiff

SOTTO IL MONTE, Italy (AP) Joyful news flashed through the valley of confusion—swept this North Italian hamlet Tuesday night when the news arrived that a native son had been elected pope.

Giuseppe Roncalli, who will be known as Pope John XXIII, was born in Sotto il Monte Nov. 25, 1881. He had four brothers and five sisters. Five are dead but Mgr. Giovanni and a sister still live in this village in the shadow of the Alps. The name Sotto il Monte means under the mountain.

The town of 1,773 came alive Tuesday night. Bonfires blazed everywhere—on the main square, in courtyards and side streets. Children danced and played around the fires.

Bonfires also burst out on the hills around the town and fireworks lighted through the sky. Hundreds of peasants from surrounding countryside thronged into the village.

There was a scene of confusion reigned in a factory, where two of the Pope's brothers work, and at the homes of the brothers and sisters.

The two brothers are Zaverio, 76, Alfredo, 69, and Giuseppe, 66. The sister is Assunta, 72.

Also living here are 40 nieces, nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews of the new pontiff.

Giuseppe, father of 10 and the youngest brother of the Pope, recalled:

"My father certainly was not a rich man and we did not always have plenty of food. . . but

Little Hope for Agreement On Disarmament Moves Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials saw little hope today for any early agreement between Russia and the Western powers at the start on disarmament in the nuclear age.

Some feared the darkening prospect of evidence that the Soviet Union is following a generally tougher line in its relations with the West.

State Secretary Dulles says this may be due in some degree to a possible realization among Soviet leaders that despite remarkable scientific achievements Russia is still "a behind in the nuclear weapons race.

Top negotiations are imminent.

On Friday the United States, Britain and Russia will open diplomatic talks at Geneva on a possible ban on nuclear weapons testing, to be backed up by a worldwide international inspection system to prevent violations.

Ten days later panels of Communist and Western experts will start discussions on the technical problem involved in preventing

PRINCE PHILIP FLIES TO OTTAWA IN RECORD TIME

Gives Key Speech To English Union

OTTAWA (CP)—Prince Philip delivers the key-note address at Canada's conference today after a record-breaking flight from London.

He was at the Queen's side at the opening of Britain's Parliament Tuesday.

Today, he takes the chair at a four-nation symposium on the role of English-speaking peoples in a changing world.

In itself, his 4½-hour, jet-propelled journey—the fastest commercial westbound flight across the Atlantic—illustrated the way the world is changing.

It was the first overseas flight by a member of the Royal Family in a Comet IV airliner.

The high and dry atmosphere of British Overseas Airways Corporation was delayed 90 minutes in London by fog that held up the fuel supply mechanism.

MAKES UP TWO DELAY

But it made up lost time, streaking the 3,500-odd miles from London to Ottawa at an average speed of 416 miles an hour.

It landed at suburban Uplands airport about an hour ahead of schedule. Prince Philip, relaxed and bareheaded and unescorted to be greeted by Governor - General Massey, viscount of Vaudreuil, for three days, and Acting Prime Minister Fleming.

Moving with something of the pace that marked his transatlantic trip, he was whisked by police hands quickly with members of the O t t a w a diplomatic corps, pausing only for a special chat with Countess Alexander, wife of Canada's High Joint deputy chairman of the English-Speaking Union, of which Philip is president. She is here with her husband, Lord Alexander, who suffered a heart attack Monday and now is in hospital.

The symposium over which Philip presides is being sponsored by the ESU as part of its third post - war conference of Commonwealth branches, the second last Sunday and ends Friday.

TAKING STRIKE VOTE

Meanwhile, the non - operating employees are polling their members in a strike vote, with returns due by Nov. 1. Undoubtedly, the vote will authorize top officials to call a strike unless the railways meet the wage increase of 15 cents an hour.

The high officers—the negotiating committee of the 100-man general conference committee of non-operating unions—are in Montreal Nov. 8.

This broad group of the big committee has been authorized by the larger body to call a strike unless the railways meet the union demands by the time of the meeting.

Urges Women To Contest House Seats

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — The president of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association of Canada has urged more women to seek seats in British Columbia's 52-seat legislature.

"The time has come in Canada," said Elizabeth Janzen of Kitchener, Ont., head of the movement back to the two-party system in provincial politics.

"Consequently the party's prospects in B.C. have improved. Not only is there a possibility of a substantial impact at the next election, but also at the 1962 poll. If you can find more women to represent you in the legislature."

She made the remarks here Tuesday after earlier talks in Penticton and Kelowna.

There now are two women in the B.C. legislature.

Strike Possible Before Railway Rates Decision

Board Ruling Unlikely Before Vote Is Tallied

OTTAWA (CP)—Decision of the board of transport commissioners on a $60,000,000-a-year freight rate increase application likely will not be delivered before mid-November.

There also is a probability that the non-operating rail unions will issue a strike call in the meantime unless the railways come to terms with the representatives of 130,000 workers in the big group.

Races against time are going on among those involved in this dispute. Canadian labor disputes, which could conceivably bring on the second Great of both transcontinental railways in Canada's history.

The transport board has before it an application from the railways for a 19-per-cent rate increase designed to cover the cost of wage boosts and stalling off a strike by the non-operating workers who tied up the trains for 11 days in the summer of 1950.

ASK FAST DECISION

Although the railways asked urgently for a fast decision in the hope that ended about three weeks ago, the commissioners do not act against the clock but are coming out with one.

While observers believe it is a foregone conclusion the board will authorize a rate boost, the commissioners apparently have not yet agreed on its extent and form.

The railways previously filed with board announcements calling off indefinitely a series of general increases scheduled by various members of the five-man freight rate group for different parts of the country up to mid-November. The explanation given each case was the necessity of dealing with the general rate case.

RAF Marshal Doubts Soviet Russia Will Turn Small War Into Big One

OTTAWA (CP)—Sir John Slessor, RAF air marshal, doubts the chances of Russia turning a local conflict into total war are "very remote."

The Soviet know as well as the West that all-out war would be "suicidal lunacy," Britain's former chief of staff said.

Sir John, a marshal of the RAF, was guest speaker at a symposium at the English - Speaking Union conference. Other speakers were Dr. Malcolm MacKay, president of Carleton University, Ottawa; Dr. J. Whitney Griswold, president of Yale University; and Dr. S. Venkatachar, high commissioner for India in Canada.

Texts of their speeches were issued to the press before delivery.

Sir John said he thinks the existence of the nuclear deterrent has ruled out total war. He used to think abolition of total war would make minor conflicts more likely, but now he wasn't so sure.

He said the West is not greatly superior" to the West in nuclear striking power is without knowledge.

It was "well within our capacity" to overtake the Russians in "certain techniques" where they were now temporarily ahead.

Campers, Smokers Cause of 49 Fires

The fire record of the Tweed district of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests reveals a total of 104 fires with Bancroft chief ranger division having 30, Dacre 31 and Tweed 43.

Campers and smokers are generally the two most important causes of fire in the forest and this year, there has been no departure from this rule, which caused 49 of these fires. Lightning started 22, miscellaneous 9, incendiary 4, railways 7, settlers next with 4, road construction 2 and 1 resulted from a logging operation.

The total area burned of 784 acres speaks well for the promptness and efficiency with which the fires were handled, both by regular forest rangers and fire wardens of the organized townships who have been doing a grand job ever since the present arrangement of co-operation between the townships and the department went into force. 50 of the 102 fires and 814 acres burned in the months of April and May, which indicates that this period was somewhat above the average from point of fire danger.

In spite of a very good year officials say there is no cause for complacency. At least two-thirds of these fires which started this year could have been prevented if more care had been exercised by campers, smokers and others.

Hunters and travellers in the bush can assist considerably in preventing fires by being careful. Only the utmost care exercised can prevent serious fires form starting. When in the woods hunters are asked to refrain from lighting open fires for any purpose other than to obtain cooure or the ground is covered with snow.

BCI Key Club In Charge of Kiwanis Meeting

Tuesday's weekly noon meeting of the Kiwanis Club was given over to the members of the Key Club of BCIVS. Ron Weese, president of the Key Club, was the chairman of this annual Kiwanis-Key Club joint meeting. The main speaker for the occasion was Cecil Rose, S. Fairman, who gave a brief history of Key Clubs in North America.

The first Key Club was started by the Sacramento, California, Kiwanis Club whose members felt that although many service clubs were interested in youth none of them was training the youth in Sacramento for leadership. With leadership training as its cornerstone the first Key Club was formed in 1938 under the sponsorship of local Kiwanians. Students in high school were eligible only if their scholastic average was 85 per cent or better.

The first Canadian Key Club was formed in Belleville, Ont. and in October of 1947 the BCIVS Key Club was initiated with Jack Kuntze as president. The Key Club is not a junior Kiwanis Club but rather is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club membership. Bill-Col. Preston introduced by Louis Yeoles and thanked by Colin Box.

Following a final of the Key Club's activities for the past year, and a short business session in which a few of the members' projects, which partially included the donation of a mini bicycle for the school cafeteria, sponsoring the Key Club trophy for the all-round boy at BCIVS, which was awarded to Dick Fuke in 1958, cleaning the grounds at the Ontario Home for Mentally Retarded Infants at Trainfield and helping the Macs' Booster Club raise funds on their tag day.

DO YARDEN CHORES

The Key Club members also participate in various school chores, such as assisting in removing the chairs and tables required at examination time and are presently planning a sheet drive for making cancer pads for the near future.

Musical entertainment was also provided for the occasion by Dick Vick, Bob Fleming and Dock Trill, Key Club members.

Some of the Kiwanians managed to get in a few words re a few of their projects during the program. Bill Ross announced that 794 travelogue tickets had been sold, which just fourteen short of last year's number. Kiwanis president Charlie Lusk announced that the annual Christmas toy project has already been started under the direction of Eric Cooper. The annual ladies' night will be held on November 24th at Deseronto Inn.

Also participating in the program were Dick Price, who gave the blessing, Dave Blakely, who introduced the guests, and Don Rose, who made a few concluding remarks.

Foremen's Club Enjoys Meeting At Batawa

The Quinte District Foremen's Club held its monthly dinner meeting in the Bata Shoe Company's dining hall at Batawa yesterday evening, Stanley Stone of the Bata plant, by the club members in the afternoon. Speaking to the 130 -odd members and guests was Mr. J. F. Stevenson of Toronto, who gave a lively address on how to get along with people.

Appreciation of the other fellow and his point of view is the main theme of Mr. Stevenson's pleasant relationship with other persons. Following the theory that small things can mean a lot, the speaker, illustrated his theme with various examples which those present were quite able to recognize from everyday life. He then suggested that there were two ways in which the situation could be handled—one way leaves hard feelings on each side—the other leaves both persons involved with the feeling that the situation will be resumed at the earliest convenience of each.

"Just inject humor into the job", advised Mr. Stevenson. Making things as pleasant and as informative as possible for your workers can pay off with increased interest in the job, better morale, and increased production. With many more pieces of information the speaker gave those present a very practical evening indeed.

VARIED PROGRAM

The program was also highlighted by the entertainment provided by Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo ventriloquist, and his cast of characters. Mr. Jim Reynolds provided piano entertainment as well.

The assemblage was welcomed to Batawa by Mr. Kozobule, production manager for Bata Shoes, who complimented the foremen's Club for the cultivation of fellowship among the members of their companies. Thirteen Men Killed After Being Trapped

SUMMERSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) Thirteen men died Tuesday in a coal-mining disaster in which four others escaped after being trapped underground.

Only the day before, 22 men were killed in an explosion at the Bishop, Va., mine of the Pocahontas Fuel Company on the Virginia-West Virginia border.

Tuesday's blast centred 1½ miles deep in the Burton mine of the Ogleby-Norton Company.

Fifty-four men were at work underground but 37 were working on the surface-side of the explosion and scurried to safety without injury.

State Mines Director Crawford T. Wilson said evidence indicated a gas ignition. What ignited the gas remained to be determined.

Residents Make Champlain Hts. Park Proposals

TRENTON — Several recommendations were presented to the Parks Board, at its regular meeting last night, by Howard Axis, president of the Champlain Heights Association, and Carl Wese, chairman of the Parks committee for the same group.

The proposals concerned the two new parks in the town-owned housing development and are as follows:

PARK NO. 1 (on King Street)

Park to be graded level in two levels, one to consist of the area fronting on King St. and running back the depth of the lots (approx. 110 feet deep), this area to be a park with a walk up the centre and flower beds and benches on each side, the slope at the back to be a rock garden.

The upper level consisting of the rest of the park to be a playground with a baseball diamond in the northwest corner, this whole area to be covered with grass except the banks along Second Ave. which might have some bushes. The south side of the park facing along Second Ave. should have a fence ultimately to prevent children from running out on to the road.

There would be three paved entrances to the park — one from Third St., one from Second Ave. and one from King St. Trees should be planted around the perimeter with benches underneath.

PARK No. 2 (Third Avenue)

This park to be a junior playground with swings, slides, sandboxes, etc. This area is not large enough for a full size baseball diamond, football field, etc., and would be intended for use of children up to approximately seven years old. The only entrance is from Third Ave. As it is seen up the whole length of Third Avenue it should be a beauty spot extending back about 50 feet containing rest taps and a walk and rock gardens on both sides. The rock garden should extend back 18 feet from the road with a wooded area behind this. Trees should be planted around the perimeter of the park and benches placed underneath.

The boulevards fronting on the parks should be sodded. There should be sufficient valves in the parks for watering purposes. At least one of these in each park should be an anti-freeze type that can be used in the winter to flood a skating rink.

The question of naming these parks to be studied further.

Town Briefs

TRENTON — A report yesterday afternoon that an aircraft had crashed in flames just west of the Trenton town line proved to be false. It was reported that two women had told the Provincial Police at Brighton that they had seen what appeared to be an aircraft crashing in flames. On checking with the RCAF the OPP were informed that no planes were missing and that what it might have been was an Anson aircraft which was dropping smoke indicators during training exercises yesterday afternoon.

BRIDGE OPEN AGAIN

Perhaps the busiest phone in town this morning was at the local police station when hundreds of calls came in asking if the town bridge was open to traffic this morning. The bridge had been closed down to all vehicles yesterday at noon and had remained so until this morning at 8 a.m. Construction crews poured the strip of cement on the deck and because this strip was the trickiest specifics of the special cement being used it was necessary to keep traffic from interfering with the pouring. The bridge will be opened until further notice.

SKATES TO PERFORM

Jane and Peggy McCutchen, outstanding young figure skaters from Belleville, will be performing at the Community Centre on Saturday night between periods of the hockey game when will see the Trenton Police team in action against the Belleville Detachment of the OPP. Along with the youngsters and also performing will be comic skater Jack Dickens. Miss Sydney Pinkerton and Miss Frances Dickens with the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club on hand to assist the Trenton Police have possibilities or other forms of entertainment lined up but will not be certain until Saturday. Game time is at 8:15 p.m. Saturday. According to ticket sales, the police are anticipating a full house.

FLIES TO FUNERAL

Cpl. Lyle of the Brighton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, flew to New York by airplane Thursday of his brother-in-law, Harold Kelly, of Friday. Mrs. Kelly, a sister of Cpl. Lyle, had called him by phone at the time of the death of her husband and the Corporal had left right after. Arrangements were held at the Cooke Funeral Home in New York. Mr. Kelly had died of cancer of the liver.

PROVIDE PROTECTION

Police and firemen both kept vehicles across the river last night due to the closing of the town bridge. Car 2 was stationed on the east side and a policeman in the car carried out their normal patrols and checking during the night. The fire department stationed a truck at the town abeds in charge of Capt. Bo Mills. Thus residents of the east side of the river had both police and fire protection while the bridge was closed. This system will be carried out when the bridge closes the next time for pouring cement.

Three Deer Check Points To Be Operated

Three deer checking stations will be operated in the Tweed district of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests again this year to obtain vital statistics on the deer population and to determine the effects of the hunt.

The three check points will be located at the following points:

Arnprior on Highway No. 7, Kaladar on Highway No. 41, and Eldorado on Highway No. 62.

The latter check station was previously located at Millbridge, but because of traffic hazards, etc., it was decided to relocate at the cheese factory at Eldorado, after first obtaining permission from the company manager.

All hunters returning home from the hunt on either week-end should make it a point to stop in at any one of the check points to have their deer aged and to give information required to assist department personnel with their deer management program.

Plan Training For Volunteers In Fire Dept.

TRENTON — Under the direction of the new chief of the Trenton Fire Department, Cecil Ellis, all volunteers will be given special courses from time to time on the efficient handling of the various equipment used in fighting fires.

Many new volunteers have been taken on by the fire department and because these men are mostly new to the game the courses will be carried out until the chief is satisfied they are capable of doing a good job at any fire in the future.

The men are being taught by the members of the permanent staff of the department and the courses will consist of working with the Scott Air Pack and the resuscitator, the operation of the pumpers, artificial respiration, the first aid and working with the aerial ladder truck after it arrives.

The first of these courses was held on Monday night and other meetings will be called at the discretion of the fire chief.

On Monday the volunteer firemen broke up into groups and each group went from one instructor to the next. Older volunteers were also required to attend the course.

Lieut. Gerald Lewis instructed in the spilling of artificial respiration and the use of the resuscitator. Lieut. Gord Coughlin instructed the handling of the pumps on the Dodge; Engineer Milo Mills demonstrated the proper handling of the Scott Air Pack and Engineer Elmer Sloan instructed on the more complicated handling of the Bickle pumper truck.

The courses are a part of the new training program which has been set down by the Fire Department Chief, Cecil Ellis and will continue for most of the winter months. They will assure the property owners in Trenton of continued first class fire protection.

EINSTEIN WRONG SAYS PHYSICIST

Refuting Einstein's theories of light and matter, Austrian physicist Karl Nowak, 48, says that the speed of light is not the fastest possible and that a photon, not an electron, is the smallest of entities. He says his beliefs are not new, since in 1942 evidence was submitted to disprove Einstein's theory of relativity, but he says he now has proof of his theories which have been substantiated by U. S. and Japanese physicists. He hopes to confirm his theories in a laboratory to be established in Vienna by the International Atomic authority.

CAR WINDOWS STOLEN

A strange theft occurred last night outside the main gate of No. 6 Repair Depot when unknown culprits stole the two rear windows out of a convertible car owned by Lionel Martin of 224 Front St. Mr. Martin reported that he had left his car parked outside the depot and when he had returned the windows were missing. He reported the theft to the Belleville Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, which is investigating.

200 CHILDREN IN AREA

There are over 200 children in the 135 homes of Quinte Heights, it was reported at the meeting of the Park Board last night when the matter of developing playgrounds in that area was brought up. This includes 4th Avenue, and Howard Axis, president of the newly-formed Champlain Heights Citizens Association, said that 66 children were noted playing in the small park off 3rd Avenue recently.

BROCKVILLE PUBLISHER DIES

The publisher of the Brockville Recorder and Times died last Friday.

This might be of interest only to residents of Brockville and district, and to a comparatively small circle of associates in the field of journalism, were it not for the fact that the publisher of the Brockville Recorder and Times was a woman, that she died at the age of 43 and that during the dozen years she had controlled the paper the Recorder and Times had enhanced its already enviable reputation. She was one of the very few women publishers of a daily newspaper in Canada.

Mrs. F. R. Maclean died of cancer. The fact that her newspaper should state this plainly bluntly is perhaps a measure of her attitude towards journalism. In her obituary in her own newspaper no facts are hidden — nor is the story of her life embellished.

In many ways she walked with tragedy. She was two years old when her father was killed in action in France during the First Great War. Six years after her first marriage, her husband, Malcolm S. Grant, lost his life while serving at sea with the Royal Canadian Navy off the coast of France. A dozen years after her second marriage, to Findlay Barnes Maclean, editor and a member of a well-known Toronto newspaper family, she lost a year-long battle with cancer.

A granddaughter of Senator George P. Graham, publisher of the Recorder and Times from 1895 to 1943, she assisted her grandmother when she assumed control of the paper on Senator Graham's death on Jan 19, 1943. When her grandmother died in 1946, Mrs. Maclean became publisher of the Recorder and Times. One of her three children, Perry, is now a student in journalism at Carleton University, Ottawa, so that it appears that residents of Brockville and district can draw comfort, at this time, from the thought that a fourth generation of the family will soon be ready to serve them on the paper which has become an integral part of the life of the city and the surrounding countryside.

GERMAN PHYSICIST TALKS SENSE

Prof. Carl Friedrich von Weizsaecker, a West German nuclear physicist, does not want his nation to acquire nuclear weapons.

No disloyalty to his own country is implied in this stand; rather it springs from a greater loyalty, to mankind as a whole.

Dr. Weizsaecker says that practically all smaller countries could have atom bombs within ten or fifteen years because plutonium from which such bombs can be made will be available to them from nuclear reactors used for non-military purposes.

Dr. Weizsaecker finds this prospect frightening.

He is confident that a catastrophic war can be averted as long as only two great powers possess nuclear arms, as today. (For the purpose of his argument, he groups Britain with the U.S. in one camp, with Russia in the other). But, he adds, the great powers should realise that if they cannot agree on the control of nuclear weapons, when only they possess them, such an agreement would be impossible when many sovereign countries were so armed.

Dr. Weizsaecker's argument makes good sense. But his opposition to West Germany acquiring such weapons will be of no avail unless the great powers act to outlaw the A-bomb before other nations besides West Germany equip themselves with it.

INVASION DEVICES IN ATOMIC AGE

Very often methods devised under the stress of necessity in times of war later prove valuable in peacetime endeavors.

Few, though, would have supposed that the ingenious "Mulberry Harbor" technique in which concrete pillars were built, floated across the English Channel and sunk to provide landing facilities at the Normandy beachhead, would have had any application in peacetime.

This application, though, has been found — to cool an atomic power station. This station, at Hinkley Point in West England, will require 35,000,000 gallons of water an hour. So the intake structure is being built in dry dock as a concrete "island" which will be floated a third of a mile out into the Bristol Channel.

HOME

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Of yonder where the hills are high,
Beyond the mountain there, they say
That men will find, if they but try,
The splendid glories of today;
That in the distance there wait fame
And honors for the men who roam,
The world's applause and glad acclaim,
But I get all of this at home.

Comes one to bid me journey far,
And tread the narrow path that leads
Out yonder, where those glories are
And men await to cheer my deeds.

But here I have the wife I love
And children who are dear to me,
Where love is mine. Why should I fare
With you so very far away?
No greater gift awaits me there."

Of yonder where the hills are high,
Beyond the mountain, so they say,
Life's glories are, and bid me try
To reach that valley far away.
But I have not the wish to go,
In search of joys no need to roam,
For all the joys of life I know
Are here within my reach at home.

HISTORIC BELLEVILLE

(Article 43 contributed by the Hastings County Historical Society.)

A STUDENT'S HISTORY OF FOXBORO.

As this column starts its second year of publication it is my pleasant duty to present a history of the neighboring community of Foxboro.

This sketch was written by Miss Enid Ashley, 13, a grade 8 student at Quinte Secondary School in Belleville.

Miss Ashley's interest in the history of her village was inspired by her grandfather, John Ashley, a shoemaker-shop. Shoes were handmade in the early days by a man who became known locally.

There were also churches and a school.

In 1850 there were about 150 people in Foxboro.

Most of the years went by, other businesses were started. One was the finest cheese factories ever built by Harford Ashley, and now is owned by the farmers. A large shop was built, and was operated for several owners, the last being Silas Thurston.

After the two Methodist churches at Foxboro united, the north church was converted into a fine public school, and in part it is now a large co-operative.

At present we have two churches, the Anglican and the Presbyterian, a resident United Church of the Air, a Women's room public school, an Orange lodge, a general store, a boot and shoe repair shop, a butcher service, a barber shop, a doctor and dentist, several carpenters and a plumber.

But the largest concern of all is the Quinte Manufacturing Co.

The village has electric lights and telephones. The cheese factory was paved by the provincial government, which also put in a sewer system, to prevent the floods each spring.

Foxboro once had many business places, but now many disappeared, such as blacksmiths' shops, a tin shop, a tile plant, hotels, and the Ashley Carriage Factory. Only a few domestic buildings and families still live in the village.

Now Foxboro is growing slowly, but substantially.

The YMCA drive to raise the sum of $5,000.00 which was launched this week still requires the sum of slightly over $1600.00 to meet the amount required. There are still many cards out and it is expected that the objective will yet be obtained.

Profitable To Be Fired

Milwaukee Journal

Jesse J. Simon, for some years the head of the giant R. H. Macy department store, made a point of hours of the store to make sure that everything was shipshape. Writes Margaret Case Harriman in the New Price Is Right".

Every time he came upon a stock boy playing with the electric trains in the toy department, Simon fired him on the spot. Those were working hours and Mr. Simon was most particular.

"You are a stock boy, are you not?" he demanded, eyeing the unfortunate youth over again. The youth wore.

"Yes sir," murmured the boy.

"How much do you make a week?"

"Eighteen dollars, sir."

"Mr. Straus took $18 in cash from his pocket, plus $80 more as two weeks' severance pay, and handed it to the lad. 'You', he informed him jelly, 'are fired!'

"Thank you, sir," said the boy, forcing the words over the wood back to playing with the trains.

"What's the matter with you? Why don't you go to look for another Mr. Simon.

"I don't have I should have told you, sir', said the boy. 'I'm a stock boy at Gimbels.'"

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WORDS

What a wrangling of magic there is in words that we use each day of our lives! What a blessing words are to us all! Words are the ones that Lincoln selected in the Gettysburg address become immortal!

What is more fascinating and absorbing than to listen to the talk of books by those who love books. I have so many happy memories of people who handle words as though they were precious treasures, to them they are. I recall many a happy hour or evening with the late Robert (Bob) Davis. Few have had the art of arranging words as he did.

One of our finest writers, who it seemed to have an affection for words, was Lafcadio Hearn. In his book "Kotto" I came across an example of his wizardry with words. In his essay entitled "A Drop of Dew" he said: "They will play in opalescent music: — they will whiten in frost and hail and snow; — they will reflect again the forms and the colors of the microcosm, they will throb to the ruby pulsing of hearts that are like yet unlike our own. They will moist sunshine again with countless kindred drops by the melting of other drops — drops of dew and rain and sea, of blood and sweat and tears."

I wonder if Mr. Churchill might have been a reader of Hearn, although those last few words quoted were written over a century ago. Those words, to me, have glorified words, and sent me to the dictionary to find the thousands of human beings all using the same words.

Even the silent word, in books and among other words, in one form or another, each and all, have great influence, if written in the heart, and then sent to complete their selected errands. Words are full of comfort when expressed in sorrow, or words of hope and assurance to others who need them.

DON'T BECOME TOO SELF-CONSCIOUS OVER PHYSICAL DEFECTS

There are times when you have to speak up like a Dutch uncle and I think today is one of them. Here's the letter that makes me so, anumalar:

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am in good health but my problem was caused when a baby. I did not receive necessary Vitamin D which resulted in a defective sternum (breast bone). I am in my early 20's, 5 feet, inches tall, weigh 125, have a good complexion and am considered attractive.

"Friends of mine do not know of my problem as I dress so it is not evident. But they cannot understand why I have not married. I have had several proposals. I did not accept because of the above problem. What should one do to lead a normal life? Shall I marry and have a family? — Miss K.W."

In a word, the way to have a happy, normal life under such circumstances, is to get married and have a family.

I gather from the "defective sternum" is probably a slight deformity of the breast bone which the breast bone protrudes. Or a depression — called "funnel breast." However, I see many other odd shapes that can be caused by rickets in childhood.

Anyway, the chest cage is somewhat out of shape. Well, if it can affect the heart, I am saying "so it is not evident," then it isn't extreme enough to worry about.

There are hundreds of possible defects. Beak noses and pug noses, floppy ears, big feet, flat noses, large arches, flat chests, flat heads, long legs, short legs and take your choice.

K. N. must have personality and charm and a good disposition, or she wouldn't have had those proposals. So the only one thing ag'in her. She frets about a physical deformity that nobody else worries about.

WE ANALYZE OURSELVES

That's the worst thing about physical defects. We become too self-conscious about 'em. We analyze ourselves, find a defect, and worry about it. But so we see other defects, just as great, in others! Funny.

There are two kinds of people. Those who analyze themselves, and those who criticize others. K.N. is one of the former. She has a defect, and is picking flaws in other people as she does in herself, she couldn't find anyone worth marrying. Everybody has faults. Love overlooks 'em and helps you get married.

K. N., my girl, say "yes" to the next man who proposes, if only he has one or two human defects. A man is human, after all, human.

P.S.: A defective sternum isn't hereditary, either. Quit fussing over your particular fault. Everybody has faults. Love people for what they are, and don't tell 'em short for awful defects. This applies to you, as well as to everyone else.)

"Dear Dr. Molner: What measures should be taken to break a two - year - old boy who still wets his thumb at night? — P.D."

So many children thumb-suck and grow out of it naturally. I would ignore it completely at that age. . . .

"Note to B.L. All I can say is that I have a leaking tank and then collecting of fluid) and the swelling due to mumps are entirely different entities, except that in both cases there is swelling. Careful measurements may be not just one look, but possibly two or three . . . will be enough to decide which is which. By a doctor, that is. But if you have a hydrocele, don't try to kid yourself. Treat it as such. Don't try to fool yourself into thinking you 'had mumps and it will go away.' It won't.

Do you have a problem with old people? If so, write to me in care of this newspaper, requesting a copy of my pamphlet, — "Old Age Without Infirmity Fetish" enclosing a large, self - addressed, stamped envelope and ten cents in coin (not handling).

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received he can't give personal answers to individual letters. Readers' questions are usually answered in his column whenever possible.

Prescription For Parking

Edmonton Journal

Normal waits in doctors' and dentists' offices being what they are, many motorists with cars have complained that it is almost impossible to find a parking ticket on a one - hour meter. To meet the difficulty, Saskatoon is trying a new experiment.

If a motorist receives a parking ticket while visiting a doctor or dentist he may have the latter sign the ticket and write a letter, stating that the motorist actually was a patient at the time the ticket was issued. The fine is then waived by the police.

The idea has merit but is open to abuse. Doctors and dentists are also busy men and it seems a shame to waste their time giving papers in order that their patients to escape a trivial fine.

Should Watch Own Faults

Ottawa Journal

Not too long ago through the traffic hazards encountered on the Grand Manaan, island fishermen have been.

They have been alighting nearly every day, narrow. From the Southern States came magazine articles, books and the songs of Stephen Foster. South Africa was a far distant country where our fathers had fought a not-too-satisfactory war, and while we could bound Algeria on the east, and Morocco on the south, we knew little else about it. Nor did we particularly care.

Then the age of Outer Space we find Canadian students knowing about their fellows the world over, concerned with segregation in the South, unrest in South Africa and the position of Algerians studying at universities in France.

Last week 100 of them, representing 60,000 students in 36 Canadian colleges, came to Ottawa for a five-day work conference. They discussed second annual meeting of the National Federation of Canadian University Students. They discussed scholarships and awards, discussed a bill which sets many of the matters of importance to Canadian students, linked them and then in pride of place and awareness, they turned to other matters and showed they were willing to be their brother's keeper.

For among things "they did was authorize a fund-raising campaign for Algerian students, send a resolution to the South African government protesting racial segregation in education in that country, and joined with the United States National Student Association in protesting segregation in some U.S. universities.

This suggests that the youth of our universities have come a good distance in the last few decades. Perhaps they will not have the "fun" of the old days in that the assumption of being "with it" is not so much taken for granted simply as well a high sense of awareness of the mores in one's own area. It will be all the more fitting for Canadians to send messages of goodwill around the world if they see to it first that their own houses are in good order. It is the fortune of circumstance that spares us from some of the "ills" we are protesting to in other countries, but we have some of our own.

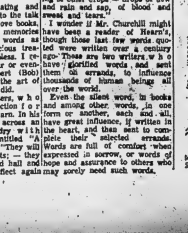
THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Some things happen to me that cannot possibly happen to any but an extremely few others. You know these little nickel plated containers on restaurant and quick lunch table which contain 1 h of paper napkins?

About twenty years ago, it occurred to me that I had never, in my previous experience, encountered one of these paper napkin dispensers that was partly full, half full, nearly full. They were always tight full. So full that, in order to get a paper napkin out of them, I had to twitch, twiddle and coax at them. And as a rule, the napkin I got was torn in the process.

From that time on, I began to be conscious of paper napkin dispensers. I started to watch for a partly full one. And as the years passed, and as I ate in restaurants and quick lunches all over the United States, Europe and Ireland, I never found a single one that was not so full of fluff that it was next to impossible to extract a serviette.



But, not for the fortune of civilization that spares us from some of the "ills" we are protesting to in other countries, but we have some of our own.

But, and I do not so far.

This leads me to suspect that personal experience is a very narrow and specialized thing, not to be admitted at all in serious debate.

THE WHEELBARROW

A man once bet a large sum of money that he could walk a tightrope across the Niagara River above the Falls. He was ridiculed, but he went through with the matter and made good. Then he took a wheelbarrow and, balancing it on the rope before him, made the trip back across the river.

"So you believe in me now, do you?" he asked the amazed spectators when the feat was accomplished. "Yes," they cried in chorus and clapped their hands as he cheered. "Very well" said t h e tightrope walker. "Now one of you get in the wheelbarrow and I'll take you across."

First they doubted. Then they acknowledged, that the tight rope walker could do it. Then they cheered, hazzed, threw their hats into the air, and clapped one another on the backs. But when the performer said, "Get into t h e wheelbarrow," their faces dropped and they began to slink away.

Belief is easy. It is hard to believe the Bible from cover to cover. Many people do not take it seriously. Christendom at one bugs gulp. This is belief. It n t faith. Its getting into the wheelbarrow. Faith is believing something and then acting on that one is willing to do something about that belief, "I believe." That is easy. "I believe and will act" That is something else again.

Soviet Author Refuses Nobel Literature Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Soviet author Boris Pasternak today refused to accept the Nobel Prize for Literature. He referred in refusal to "the society I live in."

The text of a cable to this effect was released here today by Dr. Anders Oesterling, permanent secretary of the Royal Swedish Academy, which awards the literary Nobel prizes.

It read:

"Because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in I ought to say no thanks to the undeserved prize awarded me.

"Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will."

Oesterling said that last Saturday he received a cable from Pasternak expressing his gratitude at the award.

That cable read: "Immensely thankful, touched, proud, astonished, shashed."

Pasternak is the author of the novel Doctor Zhivago, which is critical of communism, and has been under vigorous attack in the Soviet press since the award announcement was made.

Pasternak was named for the award last week and the Soviet press asserted the selection was an anti-Soviet political manoeuvre.

Pravda, the official Communist party paper, heaped abuse on Pasternak and Doctor Zhivago. It said he should reject the $41,400 gift prize if there were a spark of Soviet dignity left in him."

The Nobel prize committee awarded the prize in physics Tuesday to three Soviet scientists —P. A. Cherenkov, I. M. Frank and Igor E. Tamm.

The Soviet press today said the physics award was fitting, but of the same time it said it proved that the award for literature was dictated by "reactionary political aims."

Pope Explains His Choice of Title John

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Following is the text, issued in English by the Vatican press office, of the statement made Tuesday night in the conclave by the Pope when he explained his choice of title John:

"Venerable brothers, I shall be called John.

This name is sweet to us because it was our father's. It is dear because it was the name of the humble parish in which we received baptism:

It is the solemn name of innumerable cathedrals spread about the world and, first amongst them, of the sacrosanct Lateran basilica, our cathedral.

It is the name which in this long series of the Roman pontiffs has been most used.

Indeed, there have been 22 unquestionably legitimate supreme pontiffs named John. Nearly all had a brief pontificate.

We have preferred to shield the smallness of our own name behind this magnificent succession of Roman pontiffs.

ILLUSTRIOUS NAME

And was not Saint Mark the evangelist, the glory and protector of our most dear Venice, he whom Saint Peter, prince of the apostles and first bishop of the Roman church, loved as his own son, also called John?

But we love the name of John, so dear to us and to all the church, particularly because it was borne by two men who were most close to Christ the Lord, the Divine Redeemer of all the world and founder of the church.

John the Baptist, the precursor of our Lord; he was not indeed, light, but the witness of the light. And he was truly the undeceived witness of truth, full of liberty, in his preaching, in the baptism of repentance in the blood he shed.

And the other John: The disciple and evangelist, preferred by Christ and by his most sweet mother, who ate the Last Supper leaned on the breast of our Lord and thereby obtained that charity, this love which burned in him with the lively and apostolic flame until great old age.

SEEKS INTERVENTION

May God dispose that both these Johns shall plead in all the church for our most humble pastoral ministry which succeeds that so well conducted to its end by our lamented predecessor of venerable memory, Pius XII, and those of his predecessors, so glorious in the church;

May they proclaim to the clergy and to all the people our work by which we desire to prepare for the Lord a perfect people, cut straight the windings of every path and make rough paths into smooth roads, so that all mankind shall see the saving power of God." (Luke III, 4-6).

And may John the evangelist who, as he himself attests, took with him Mary the mother of Christ and our mother, sustain together with her this same exhortation, which concerns the full and the joy of the Catholic Church and also the peace and the prosperity of all peoples;

My children, love one another; love one another because this is the great commandment of the Lord.

Venerable brothers, may God in his mercy grant that, bearing the name of the first of this series of supreme pontiffs, we can, with the help of divine grace, have his sanctity of life and his strength of soul into the shedding of our blood, if God so wills.

Disaster Fund For Springhill Well on Way

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fund-raising methods ranging from free national television plugs to house-to-house canvassing were announced as points across Canada helped swell the national Springhill Disaster Fund to more than $300,000 today.

A. V. Roe Canada Limited made contributors' with a 100,000 donation. Its companies include Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation whose nova Scotia mine was the scene of last Thursday's disaster.

The CBC said Tuesday night agreements have been reached to carry messages by many of its television stars urging aid for the fund to assist miners' widows and orphans.

A Toronto group is working on plans for a television and radio show to raise $1,000,000.

The Canadian Quo Vadis Foundation, operating a round-the-clock receiving centre at Toronto, said cash and phoned pledges total more than $24,000.

The Anglican Church of Canada will make a nation-wide appeal for funds in its churches Sunday. It already has donated $5,000. The Presbyterian Church in Canada has donated a similar sum and will appeal to its congregations for funds.

Radio station CKAR in Huntsville said it will conduct a 40-hour campaign with an objective of $100 an hour.

Dana Wilgress Answers Monty On NATO Issue

MONTREAL (CP)—Dana Wilgress, retiring Canadian ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, arrived home Tuesday and said the record should be set straight," about Field Marshal Montgomery's attack on the 15-nation organization.

"What Monty forgets is that NATO was not formed to wage war, but to prevent it," Mr. Wilgress said on his arrival here after formally retiring from Canada's diplomatic corps following more than 30 years of service.

Montgomery, retired deputy supreme commander of NATO, had charged that NATO's military thinking is muddled and its political control system bogged in bureaucracy.

Mr. Wilgress said some of Montgomery's criticisms are justified—"but that doesn't mean he can tell us how to run NATO."

He said NATO's structure is "good," but emphasized the organization is ruled by 15 member countries and is not an army with a single commander-in-chief.

Disarmament Debate in UN Near Deadlock

By LLOYD McDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The disarmament debate in the United Nations appeared today to be as far from a solution as ever with only two days to go before the Big Three powers embark on separate talks of their own in Geneva.

Some 59 countries have made their views known in the UN's political committee; and eight resolutions, plus almost half a dozen amendments, have been put up for voting. It is doubtful, though, that these formal motions will even reach the voting stage.

Regarded today as a more likely outcome would be a lumping together of the most general views expressed in these resolutions as a mere stamp of approval by the UN committee on the Big Three talks, which will hinge on the key disarmament issue of nuclear tests. Even agreement on this "first step" principle appears now to be up to the Big Three.

Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin on Monday underlined again Russia's insistence that a nuclear test ban be a perpetual agreement and not just a one-year conditional suspension as advocated now by the United States and Britain.

Neutralist delegate Arthur Lall of India asked for a recess in the committee debate this morning to allow time for a number of middle powers to work out an acceptably-worded compromise to put the committee on record in favor of the Geneva talks. But the feeling among a number of smaller UN Western countries still was that the Big Three were undercutting the UN's role in an issue that affects all countries, great and small.

If no satisfactory voting agreement is reached here before the 15th start of the Geneva conference, the disarmament issue may well be quietly shelved at the UN for the time being.

Ont. Embarking On Huge Toll Bridge Project

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost says Ontario is embarking on a $100,000,000 toll bridge construction project and will soon begin work on a high speed bypass highway around Hamilton.

In a television address Monday night on the CBC provincial affairs series, he said three skyway toll bridges comparable to the new Burlington Bay Skyway will span the Welland Canal at St. Catharines, Welland and Port Colborne. In addition, bridges are under construction or contemplated at Cornwall, to Ogdensburg, N.Y., and across the U.S. border at Queenston and at Sault Ste. Marie.

The premier said toll bridges are also contemplated at Rainy River and Fort Frances in northwestern Ontario. He said the $100,000,000 bridge program will be financed through tolls and will not cut into the province's big highway construction program.

The Hamilton project, to be known as the Cheboke Expressway, would begin at the CNR tracks at the west of Hamilton and climb over the mountain, bypassing Ancaster.

Eight New Recipes for Girl Guides

On Friday evening the church hall at Carmel was the scene of the enrolling of eight new recruits of the Girl Guides of Guiding.

As Lady Guides of 1st Carmel and Captain M. Haig of 3rd Belleville and some of her Guides formed a horseshoe in the centre of the hall, flanked by sitting and standing mothers and friends of the Guides, the color parties approaching on each side crossed in the opening of the horseshoe with Commissioner Ulrica Settle taking the salute, thus formed the background for the traditional enrollment ceremony of the Girl Guides.

The color parties were as follows: Ten Inkan Jack, color bearer, Sherry Tomas, escorts, Sandra Stratton and Helen Chatterton; the company colors bearer, Janice Allison, escorts Marilyn Geary and Faye Robinson.

The Brownies of the Christ Church pack, under their Brown Owl, Mrs. Waldin, said farewell to three of their members and two flew up into Guides with their Brownie wings, Lynda Ashton and Susan Hall. Anne Finamore walked in with her golden wings. These Brownies enrolled into Guides, also the following: Irene MacPhee, Margaret Waller, Jean Gough, Ruth Barlow, Susan Bayley.

Captain Dorothy Howes read the enrollment prayer, following the singing of the Queen, the color parties retired.

Lynda Dawson, patrol leader of the 1st Guides, was presented with her P.L. stripes, and had pin by the Commissioner. Mrs. Luella Birch, vice-president of the Carmel Comrade Club, represented the sponsors of the company and congratulated each Guide in turn on behalf of the Comrade Club.

PRESENTATIONS

Mrs. Barbara Haynes, superintendent of St. John Ambulance, presented ten of the Guides with their First Aid badges, and St. John certificates —Janice Allison, Helen Chatten, Shirley Lucas, Linda Hanson, Barbara Horton, Faye Robinson, Sherry Tomas, Sandra Stratton, Marilyn Geary and Rita Demczycia.

The four following were presented with their 2nd Class badges by the commissioner, Sandra Hallam, Sherry Tomas, Helen Chatten and Janice Allison.

The Guides of 1st Carmel acted as a skit on "Camp Days," rewritten and produced by themselves, which proved highly amusing to all.

Remarks by Commissioner Settle followed, she praised the company for the splendid entertainment and encouraged them to strive on to greater achievements.

Following singing around a mock camp-fire this part of the evening was brought to a close by all present singing "Taps."

Refreshments were served by the Guides, the Guide mothers assisting.

During the refreshment time songs sung by Miss Ronda Badgley, accompanied by her mother, were enjoyed by all, also Misses Cynthia and Elizabeth Howes rendered a piano duet, entitled the "Boy Scout March."

National Ballet of Canada Enthralls Large Audience

By EUGENE LANG

Enchantment was the stunned impress that permeated the Collegiate Auditorium last evening as the National Ballet of Canada came again, as in past years, enthralled the large audience in attendance. The lovely and coming creation of dancers," having been formed only slightly about seven years ago, is steadily increasing in stature and accomplishment and adds new luster to its fit crown upon each performance given. Continually the public is realizing that the National Ballet is gaining that prestige that inevitably is making it one of the finest ballets in operation to-day. It is an aesthetic credit to Canadian culture, and will no doubt be spoken of in the same category as the Royal Ballet and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo in the years to come.

The "repertoire" that followed each of the three productions presented last evening attested to the versatility that the Canadian Ballet was received by those present who enjoyed every moment of the performance.

FORTY DANCERS

The organization as presented here consisted of approximately forty dancers and a symphony orchestra under the baton of five instrumentalists. There were a number of new personnel with this company and there were as smooth and poised in their interpretations as those who have for years brought detail and graceful finesse to perfection. Sterling work was done by Angela Leigh and David Adams in their duet "Les Sylphides" and also in the Adage des Amours. Pleasing was the ease of expression or expression on the part of any of those who danced this delightful piece of early 19th century Frenchman, this series of tableaux was given an enthralling performance and brought its finely wr

McQUAID — BOYLE

A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized in St. Mary's Church, Banff, Alberta, when Barbara Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Boyle, Bathurst Street, Toronto, became the bride of Mark McQuaid, son of Mrs. Joseph McQuaid, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., and the late Mr. McQuaid.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. McGuinness, formerly of Belleville.

Tall standards of yellow and bronze 'mums adorned the altar.

Wedding music was played by Mr. Darrell Fontayne and the soloist, Miss Jo-Anne Greisel sang "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, gowned in white organza over taffeta with bewelled bateau neckline, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place by a jewelled headdress in Queen Anne style. She carried a white leather prayer book crested with pink roses with white rosebud knotted streamers.

Miss Margaret Teresa McQuaid, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and wore tropical water blue organza with matching headdress, gloves and shoes and carried a cascade of yellow roses.

Mr. Donald Boyle, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, brother of the bride, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Edward Taylor and Mr. James McQuaid, of Calgary.

A reception was held at the Timberline Hotel and the bride's mother received wearing a Rene Original brocaded lace in rose-beige, sheath style, with matching cape stole, a brown feathered hat and accessories, with corsage of beige pink tea roses.

Mrs. Thomas Inverarity, sister of the bridegroom, also received, wearing cinnamon brown with Gredna brown accessories and corsage of gold 'mums.

After the reception, the guests retired to the Amber Room, where they enjoyed a few hours of dancing.

For their wedding trip through the Okanagan Valley and the western States the bride chose a two-piece grey wool suit with coral feathered hat and gloves, black shoes and bag with corsage of white orchids.

Upon their return they will reside in Calgary, Alta.

Guests were present from Montana, Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg and Belleville.

My plan today is to teach newcomers and young cooks how to make a savoury pot roast of beef so tender it yields to the slightest pressure from fork or teeth. Then I will give you a recipe for a beef casserole designed to use up the leftovers, making them taste just as good as new. And for those of you who have no leftover pot roast but do have 1 lb. ground beef in the freezer or can slip up to the store easily for it — the beef casserole is just your dish.

BARBECUED POT ROAST:

Take a 4 or 5 lb. pot roast and rub surfaces with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Brown on all sides in 2 tablespoons fat. Add to this ½ cup water, 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce, 2 medium onions that have been chopped, along with 2 cloves of finely chopped garlic. Cover and cook over low heat for 1½ hours, turning once or twice. Mix the following together: 2 tablespoons brown sugar, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ cup each of catsup, and vinegar and lemon juice, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Pour over the roast and cook for another 1½ to 2 hours or till meat is very tender. Remove roast to hot platter, skim fat off gravy and serve. This will serve 5 with enough leftover for Wednesday's.

BEEF CASSEROLE:

Chop 1 onion, 2 stalks of celery and 1 green pepper coarsely. Cut up 2 cups leftover beef into cubes or take 1 lb. ground beef and brown lightly in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, when done put into casserole. Cook pepper, onion and celery in 1 tablespoon butter until limp. Add 1 tin (10½ oz.) condensed mushroom soup, ½ cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, and mix well with the beef in casserole. Cover and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Remove cover and top casserole with 1 tin (8 oz.) chow mein noodles or tiny shell macaroni or crushed corn flakes and return to oven without cover for about 10 minutes or until golden brown.

'Our Heritage' Topic at Quinte W.I.

The October meeting of the Quinte Institute was held at the Quinte Institute Hall with a good attendance. Mrs. E. Vivian, the president, welcomed all members and visitors.

Mrs. Everett Jeffery, the secretary, dealt with all business which included $10 to be sent to the help of the blind. A discussion followed on what the Tweedsmuir history book should contain; also the requirements for rug making.

All members were happy to have a message from three members who had been ill, but now are enjoying much better health, Mrs. R. Decker, Mrs. R. Atkins, and Mrs. M. B. Weese.

The conveners for this citizenship program were Mrs. E. Sandercock, and Mrs. E. Denyes.

Mrs. George Butterill told her audience how Thanksgiving had been celebrated as a Canadian holiday for the 80th consecutive time. It is to give thanks for harvest and the year's blessing. In 1951 it marked the arrival in Canada of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, and last year it coincided with the opening of Canada's parliament by the Queen; closing her remarks by saying the United States celebrates Thanksgiving on the 4th Monday in November.

Mrs. E. Denyes spoke on the motto, "The Past Gives Us Good Heritage, the Present a Compelling Challenge, The Future a Beckoning Horizon." "Let us as citizens of this great country show at all times we are proud of Canada; proud of our heritage, and proud of our flag.

"The future of our country depends on our children. We have long ago been taught the world marches forward on the feet of little children; so, as mothers, let us realize that home comes first, and no one can take the place of mother in a home. Let us live so as to keep it so, every generation lives for the next. Homes are the warp and woof of tomorrow."

This was followed by Mrs. C. Reid leading community singing, with Mrs. J. Parrott at the piano. The song, Friends and Neighbors, and many more were enjoyed.

Mrs. E. Sandercock spoke on citizenship, telling all of the great privileges Canadians can enjoy; how every citizen should be well informed to all affairs of the day, obey the laws and aid the country; "Do we read study and understand all laws? Are we doing our best for the youth of today? Do we appreciate the powers of our government for the benefit of all," closing this fine address by reminding her listeners of the great and wonderful Four Freedoms.

All enjoyed the piano solo, "Flower Song," by Mrs. J. Parrott.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

WHEN FRIENDSHIP ENDS HOW ABOUT RETURNING THOSE EXPENSIVE GIFTS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Until about a month ago I went steady for over a year with a very fine young man of about my age (27), but now we have ended this friendship. We were never engaged, nor did we ever discuss being engaged. He w a s a most thoughtful and generous, usually sending me a corsage when we went to a dance or the theatre, and besides some small gifts (such as monogrammed handkerchiefs), he gave me a pair of real pearl earrings, and a small transistor radio. My mother thinks I should return these gifts to him, now that the friendship is over, but I'm not sure what I should do. I don't want to hurt him by returning his gifts, but on the other hand I don't want him to think I didn't return them when I should return them. — Reader

In other words, you just don't want to return these important gifts . . . right? Well, you really should return them, although of course in the first place you never should have accepted such important and expensive presents from a man to whom you were not engaged. I do wish your mother had been so wise as to advise you then that it was not proper for you to accept t h e s e gifts . . . so that there would have been no awkward situation for you to face.

However, it's to your credit that you think perhaps you really should do something about making a proper gesture . . . and so you should, as soon as possible. get in touch with your ex-friend, preferably by writing to him, telling him that since the friendship no longer exists, you feel y o u should return the gifts he so kindly gave you. Then it's up to him to decide whether or not he wants the gifts returned.

SHOULD GIRL OR HER ESCORT MAKE THE DONATION IN CHURCH?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please settle our question for us. When a girl or an unmarried young lady attends church with an escort, should she make h e r own contribution or should s h e take it for granted that her escort will contribute for both?

— We Four

She should make her own offering or donation in her church or in a church she and her escort are attending together. This is a religious occasion, not a social occasion, and naturally no o n e can make her offering or donation for her . . . she must make her own.

MOTHER TO WRITE B "WELCOME" LETTER TO SON'S FIANCE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son lives 1200 miles from where we live, and he has just written me that he has become engaged. I know that, when the engagement is announced, I should write to the girl to welcome her into our family, and should also write to her parents. If the wedding is to be soon, I know we won't have an opportunity to meet the girl before the wedding.

What does the mother of an only son say in a letter of this kind? How do you welcome into your family a person you have never seen or know nothing about? Meeting her personally would be so different. I h a v e never met her parents. I want to do the right thing. And of course I am happy that my son has met a girl he wants to be his wife. — His Mother

Since you are so joyfully able to say "I am happy that my son has met a girl he wants to be his wife," you will, I'm sure, have a fine time when you begin to write to your son's fiancee. Write soon as soon as possible . . . don't wait until, as you say, "the engagement is announced." You might write something like this:

Dear Rosemary,

I want to tell you how happy I am to have the good news from Bob that he has now met the girl he wants to be his wife, and I want to give you a warm welcome into our family. Bob has written such charming things about you, your fine character and personality, that I am most happy and proud, and I am looking forward to meeting you, very soon. It would be such a joy if you could come to visit us, and we hope this may be possible f o r you . . . so we could say "Welcome" to you even more personally than by letters.

Dearest love to you there, from all here.

Affectionately,

(If your husband is living, change "I" to "We," including him and other family members in your greetings and welcome.)

HOW TO ADDRESS LETTERS TO A WIDOW

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

How should I address a social or business letter to a friend who has recently lost her husband? My friend says it should be "Mrs. Mary Brown", but I think it should be "Mrs. Robert Brown" or simply "Mary Brown". Which form of name is right? — Thank you.

Mrs. Robert Brown is the correct name to use when you address either a social or a business letter to a widow. Correctly a widow uses the same name she used when her husband was living . . . Mrs. Robert Brown.

THE TIME TO LEAVE IS UP TO THE GIRL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a girl is invited with her date to a small, informal party at another girl's house, is it up to the girl or to her date to suggest when its time to go home—Mimg.

It's up to the girl to suggest when its time to go home.

Bucking British Retail System A Real Toughie

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP)—If the field of female athletics ever produces a great woman marathon runner, she will prove to be a British housewife.

This housewife will have viewer of iron, the stamina of a percheron horse and the determination to press grimly on when lesser competitors are dropping like flies.

She will owe it all to years of bucking the British retail system.

Follow Mrs. Benedicta Nathanson, a housewife in northwest London, on her morning rounds of the shops.

Benedicta is a tall, strikingly handsome matron in her 40s. Her hair is completely white.

Benedicta had what seemed to be a fairly simple shopping list—bread, milk, cigarets, facial tissues, meat, foil, butter, fresh fish, fresh vegetables, canned peaches, salami, cottage cheese, dog food and ice cream.

A North American supermarket could have accounted for all 12 items.

"The provision store, as we call it, does not stock a number of these things," said Benedicta. "Bread, for instance. Go to the bakery."

For fresh vegetables she had to go to a greengrocer. She bought milk at the dairy, because she likes their brand. This dairy didn't stock cottage cheese, so to another.

She travelled on for:

Cigarets at a tobacconist's.

Facial tissues at a drug store.

Meat at a butcher shop.

Salami at a delicatessen.

Ice cream at a confectioner's.

Fish from a fishmonger.

Cooking foil from an ironmonger.

Butter and canned peaches at the grocery store.

"Where," asked Benedicta, "do you suppose I will have to go for the dog food?"

To a pet shop, probably.

"You're learning," said Benedicta.

By the time she wound up her shopping she had spent one hour 55 minutes in, or walking to, 13 shops, and had covered something like 4½ miles.

Halloway Y.P. Entertained at Turkey Supper

On Wednesday evening the Halloway Young People were entertained to a turkey supper in honor of their successful ball team. The supper was held in the church basement and catered to by the Kum-Double Club. Approximately 90 sat down to supper, a third of whom were members of the Young People, filling in one of the three tables facing the head table, at which were seated the Rev. R. F. Darke and Mrs. Darke; Mr. Jack Devine, guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Devine and their two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Snider, presidents of the Kum-Double Club.

Following the supper hour, Mr. Snider congratulated the Young People for having won the cup for their fifth season. He called upon some of their most ardent fans, Mrs. Embury Hough, Coleman Townsend and Roger Thrasher, supporters urged the Young People to continue to play the game throughout life as they have been doing in their softball careers.

Mrs. Freddie Wellman introduced the guest speaker, Jack Devine, of radio station CJBQ. Mr. Devine told the highlights of the trip to Kelowna last spring, including the wonderful welcomes the Belleville McFarlands received along the way and especially at Kelowna. Mr. Devine also told of plans being made for the trip to Prague this coming spring.

Ronald Denyes, captain of the ball team, extended thanks to the club for the supper, and to all supporters of the ball team, on behalf of the ball team and Young People.

Mr. Drake spoke of his difficult position as he had two softball teams to cheer. Recalling a remark of one of the earlier speakers he said he was glad two of the players enjoyed their work so well, they had decided to continue together.

Coats for fall angle toward bulkier silhouettes and nubby fabrics. Many of them are knee length and feature away-from-the-neck collars.

In this category is the bulky barrel topper shown. Made of bayberry imported Scotch tweed, it has a very wide collar and a three-button front closing. Rustling silk taffeta is used for the matching bayberry lining.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been solved with responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. C. V. — Our son and his wife are coming to see Victor V. — I don't want to let bygones be bygones.

Mrs. C. V. — Our youngest son Victor, age 36, left college in his junior year but pray to get married. He and his wife e e e have a baby of several months.

Of course we were opposed to the marriage because we had made a lot of sacrifices to send Vic through college. We wanted him to become somebody and then have to struggle like his father. But we realized that we just couldn't fight city hall. Vic was determined and we couldn't do a thing about it.

We tried being very nice to his wife and we spent a lot of money on the baby. We want to be close to them, but both our son and his wife are now toward us. They went to live near her family and they rarely visit us. When we visit them they never seem glad to see us.

Victor V. — My parents [illegible] don't realize how much they hurt me and my wife with the attitude they took before we were married. They made Call feel like two cents. They treated her as though she had no right to come into our wonderful family. Her people are no worse than my folks, but her parents welcomed me with open arms.

Now that we are settled my parents want to be "close" to us, but it is not so easy for us to let bygones be bygones. They need us now because they are lonesome. Well, they can't have things just as they want them.

I don't like having it thrown up in my face how many sacrifices they parents made for me, etc. They did for me only what they wanted to do. I didn't ask for anything.

The Council: Now that he is a parent, Victor will soon discover that when a parent unreasonably child he is not rejecting the child. In fact, it is possibly the moment when he is showing his greatest love. It is more important to him to teach the child what is right than to curry favor with him. That's why punishment [illegible] sometimes delivered with the pronouncement, "This is going to hurt me more than you."

The child, however, invariably takes this reprimand as a rejection. He knows that his "bad" side must be vanquished if he is to find favor in the eyes of h [illegible] parents. Since he knows that his bad estate, he cannot help but feel half-hated and disowned.

As children become more mature they usually begin to understand the ways and wherefores of parental criticism and learn that their parents do love them in spite of everything. Unfortunately, many individuals do not completely advance in this direction. Like Victor, they confuse chastisement with rejection. The parent inaccurately wonders why his child resents it when he is "only trying to help."

It appears to us that Victor's resentment of his parents' criticism of his marriage has been doubled because he has more than a sneaking suspicion that they were right — that he should have finished college before starting his family life. Annoyed with his own childish error, he tries to get back at his parents with the average weapon that happens to be handy — their power of his love. That elevates him to the position of power they once held.

Until Victor comes to terms with his bad feeling about his parents, he is in a very poor position to accept his own responsibilities as head of a family.

DUKE BANS HUNTING

LONDON (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh has banned hunting on the royal estate of Sandringham for the remainder of the year, newspapers reported today. The reason, according to press reports, is that wet weather has killed off thousands of young partridge and pheasants and the duke fears birds would be killed that are needed for next year's breeding.

DEFECT TO WEST

VIENNA (Reuters)—Two Poles flying a sports plane landed in a wheat field near Wiener Neustadt, lower Austria, Saturday and asked for asylum, it was announced today. They are 32-year-old Henrik Suryck, an army reserve lieutenant and Eugenius Gotalck, 21, who told Austrian authorities he was to have been drafted into the army.

Burlington Bay Skyway Will Open Thursday

HAMILTON (CP) — Canada's longest skyway has more than three miles of sidewalks but not for pedestrians.

No pedestrians will be allowed on the new $19,000,000 Burlington Bay Skyway after it's opened Thursday by Premier Frost.

Three-foot guard rails were put on the 8,400-foot skyway because motorists are nervous about driving close to guard rails on high bridges. They tend to veer into adjacent lanes.

The skyway is more than twice as long as the 3,800-foot Ambassador Bridge at Windsor. But it can't be called Canada's longest bridge because only 1,025 feet of it pass over water.

It's probably the country's most expensive highway structure, however, and it's the first toll bridge established in Ontario under legislation approved last spring.

Passenger cars and small trucks will be charged 15 cents or $1 for 30 tickets. Heavy trucks will pay 25 cents or $4 for 24 tickets. Buses and vehicles with more than two axles will pay 45 cents or $6 for 20 tickets.

Prize Winner Expelled From Writers' Union

LONDON (Reuters) — Boris Pasternak, Russia's Nobel literary prize winner, was ousted Tuesday by the Soviet Literary Gazette of "treason in betraying the Soviet people."

The 68-year-old writer was expelled from the Soviet writers union on Monday and stripped of the title of "Soviet writer."

The Literary Gazette, the main organ for keeping Soviet writers in line said the decision to expel him was taken because of his "political and moral downfall, in people, the cause of socialism, peace and progress."

Pasternak was awarded the $40,000 Nobel prize last week by the Swedish Academy.

DOCTOR ZHIVAGO WON

He is a poet and translator and the author of the novel Doctor Zhivago, a candid study of Russia during the last 50 years.

The book is a best-seller in the West but banned by Russian authorities.

As soon as the Nobel award was announced, Soviet literary officials denounced it as a hostile political act. But the most savage attack on it appears in today's Literary Gazette, as quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass.

"Pasternak's activities are incompatible with the name of a Soviet writer, are directed against the traditions of Russian literature, against the people, against peace and socialism," the Gazette said.

PROPAGANDA INSTRUMENT

"Having once upon a time begun with a declaration on pure art, Pasternak has ended by becoming an instrument of bourgeois propaganda, a suitable object of speculation for those circles which organize the cold war, try to deceive all progressive and revolutionary movements.

"The Soviet writers union has, over a period of years, tried to help Pasternak to understand his errors, to avoid a moral downfall, but Pasternak broke off his last links with his country and people, turned his name and scribbling into a political weapon in the hands of reaction.

"Honest people in Sweden itself and other countries openly express their opinion that the Nobel prize has been awarded to Pasternak exclusively for political grounds."

One of the pewogatives of Pasternak as a member of the union was to occupy a well-furnished country home 36 miles from Moscow. He also had an apartment in Moscow.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Lowry and Mrs. Crothers of Kincardine, Ontario, were recent guests at the home of Miss Stella Orr. Over the holiday weekend Mr. and Mrs. Gary Adrien, Bill and Katherine of Port Hope; also Mrs. E. Graham of Peterborough, were entertained at the same home.

The afternoon tea and bazaar sponsored by the W.A. of Thomasburg United Church in the I.O.O.F. Hall, last Wednesday afternoon was well attended.

Ladies from various church organizations in the district were present to enjoy a friendly hour of tea."

The tables displaying home cooking, aprons, articles of crocheting, knitting and other crafts were well patronized.

The ladies are to be congratulated on the success of the affair.

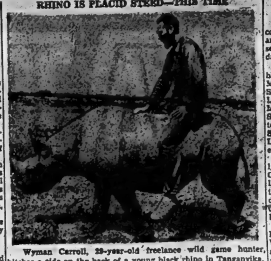
Thomasburg Teentown held its first meeting of the season on Oct. 15th, in the vestry of the United Church.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Cheney, of Ottawa, visited Mrs. Cheney's sister, Miss Emma Porter, on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Her many friends, will regret to hear Mrs. Earl Morden, is still a patient in Belleville General Hospital, following a car accident on Highway 37, a couple of weeks ago. Her condition is reported to be satisfactory, although the nature of her injury is such, that she will be in hospital for some time.

The Crescent Rebekah Lodge sponsored a successful bazaar and card party in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Saturday evening.

CAMPAIGN FAILS



TOKYO (AP)—A girl carrying a big banner reading "Traffic safety campaign" was hit and injured by a taxi Saturday night. A truck trying to get through the ensuing tangle veered into a group discussing the accident. The taxi driver and a policeman were killed.

Trailer-Dwellers for 12 yrs. Family on Power Project Now Living in Fine Home

OTTER RAPIDS, Ont. (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Webber, trailer-dwellers since their marriage 13 years ago, are having their first experience of living in a house in this remote Northern Ontario community about 60 miles south of James Bay.

Mr. Webber is mechanical superintendent on a $55,000,000 construction project of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario which is harnessing the Abitibi River rapids here for production of 180,000 horsepower by 1961. Ultimate capacity is 360,000 horsepower.

Otter Rapids, a 585-mile rail journey north from Toronto, is one of three undeveloped power sites on the Abitibi River which joins the Moose River to flow into James Bay. Other sites are Coral Rapids and Lower Nine-Mile Rapids.

Construction plans call for a dam which will wipe out the Otter Rapids and flood the river back to the Abitibi Canyon powerhouse, last race 23 miles further south.

The Webbers are living in a three - bedroom house with a modern kitchen, one of several built by the publicly-owned hydro commission to house workers on the project. Previously they lived in a trailer while Mr. Webber worked at other hydro projects around Ontario—including Niagara Falls and Kenora.

Some of the workers here live in trailers, located with the houses along wide streets carved from the bushland. A four-room school is in operation with a present enrolment of 70 pupils.

A 10-bed hospital headed by Dr. Eric Edwards, and staffed by two nurses from Great Britain and Newfoundland is rapidly rising among the trees.

A cafeteria and a modern general store are under construction. There are bunkhouses for single men and a women's staff house is under construction. The Bank of Montreal has opened a branch office.

Residents of the hydro community miss nothing in the way of civic services. They have their own organized police and fire departments. A power unit feeds electricity to street lights, dwellings and other buildings. Heat is supplied by a central steam heating unit and there is a regular garbage collection.

One of the focal points is the big dining hall, where full-course meals are available. Traditional Sunday steaks are served on Thursday and turkey on Sunday.

Arrangements have been made for a travelling school library. Plans have been formulated for bridge tournaments, ice skating and other recreation.

This winter the construction staff will comprise 280 men, with 50 men in diamond drilling and prospecting.

The job will shut down from Dec. 20 to Jan. 4 for the Christmas and New Year holidays.

For the 12 years of their married life Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wheeler, shown here with their family, lived in a trailer as Mr. Webber worked on major Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission projects in Ontario. Today they are living in their first home where they probably least expected it—In the wilderness of Northern Ontario. Their home is at Otter Rapids, 93 miles north of Cochrane on the Ontario Northland Railway. The community sprung up since hydro operations began earlier this year. (CP Photo) (Ontario Hydro.)

This is part of Otter Rapids in Northern Ontario, being harnessed for power use by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission. Site is 93 miles by rail north of Cochrane and is one of three remaining potential power sites on the Abitibi River. Plans call for a modern powerhouse with an initial capacity of 180,000 horsepower by 1961. (CP Photo) (Ontario Hydro.)

Canadiens Not Full Members Of Community

TORONTO (CP)—Prof. Michel Brunet of the University of Montreal said today that Canadiens are as solidly North American as hot dogs and installment buying but are "only part-time members of the greater community formed by all the citizens of Canada."

In a lecture given under auspices of the Gray Lectureship at University of Toronto, he said the part-time membership of Canadiens has not been a matter of free choice but "was thrust upon them by the British conquest and colonization of the territory where they had lived alone for five generations."

Text of Prof. Brunet's remarks was issued to the press prior to delivery.

NO SELF-DETERMINATION

Under domination of another nation, Canadiens lost their right, as a people, to full self-determination.

"However, because of special historical and geographical conditions they have not been completely assimilated by the Canadians who annexed them to British Canada. They are still the majority in the province of Quebec . . . their survival as an organized community has given them a certain amount of collective freedom.

"And they spontaneously want to keep this limited self-determination which enables them to act as a distinctive group in North America. Their emphasis on religion, language and so - called folk-ways has always been only a device to preserve their own identity."

Prof. Brunet, associate professor in University of Montreal's history department, added:

"The Anglo - Canadian nation must take care not to use her large political and economic power to put the French-Canadian minority under her totalitarian sway. She is tempted to do it, and has not always resisted the temptation."

CAN'T DICTATE

"On the other hand, the French-Canadian nation must know that she cannot dictate a general policy to English Canada as she has often and foolishly tried in the past under the irresponsible leadership of unrealistic leaders who were intoxicated with the belief that the Canadians alone did actually represent and defend Canada's interests. But the French-Canadians have the right to compel the English-Canadian majority to maintain our federal institutions and to respect the autonomy of the only government which is under their control.

"A continental Canadian nationalism can only be a blend of two nationalisms, a compromise between two nations who have the legitimate ambition of keeping their own identity and who have in common the task of preserving Canada's independence."

Widowed Mother Held for Murder

ACTON, Ont. (CP)—A widowed mother will appear in court Monday on charges of murdering her 10-year-old son, found dead in his bed yesterday with a bloodstained baseball bat lying nearby.

Mrs. Ethel Lingar, 44, walked up to a policeman directing traffic this morning, 10 miles northeast of Guelph and told him her son Donald was dead. Cpl. Ray Mason went to her small duplex house and found the body.

An examination revealed the boy had been dead at least 12 hours. He had not reported to his fifth grade class the previous day.

Neighbors, stunned by the news said they could think of no reason for the boy's death. Mrs. Beatrice Cunningham, who lives in the adjoining home, said Mrs. Lingard had always treated the boy well. "We could hear her getting him ready for school each morning. She was always talking to him."

Cpl. Mason said Mrs. Lingard was being held for a mental examination before her appearance in court at nearby Milton.

"The woman's husband, Fred, died four years ago.

Canada May Try to Produce Counter-Missile

OTTAWA (CP) — Possibility was raised Tuesday that Canada may try to develop and produce a counter-missile.

A union delegation met with Acting Prime Minister Green, Defence Minister Pearkes and Defence Minister Starr.

Afterwards, a member of the delegation quoted Mr. Pearkes as saying that the government is investigating the possible development of the production of a missile which would be employed to destroy in flight intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Official commented later that he doubted seriously whether Canada could afford alone a counter-missile system but that it could develop and produce a part of the parts for it.

The defence research board for nearly three years has been conducting basic research into a counter-missile system.

The 11-member union delegation was headed by Claude Jodoin, president of the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress, and George P. Bedlie of Montreal, general - vice-president of the International Association of Machinists (CLC) representing 30,000 Canadian aircraft workers. Mr. Bedlie quoted Mr. Pearkes as saying that the government is investigating a long-term development program of a missile—from development stage through to production—to counteract the intercontinental ballistic missile.

Queen Mother's Appeal Keeps Stud in Britain

PHILADELPHIA (AP), — A crafty worded appeal from Britain's Queen Mother cost Philadelphian John McShain $100,000 and the race horse Ballymoss for the English stud.

McShain, building contractor and one of the many successful Americans ever to race in England, told today how Queen Mother Elizabeth spoke for her daughter, Queen Elizabeth II.

He met the Queen Mother when she presented him with a golden trophy after his four-year-old filly Lynosa, England's leading money horse, won the King George VI-Queen Elizabeth Stakes last July 30.

"The Queen would be so pleased if you could keep Ballymoss in England," she said, according to his principles by himself.

"We must keep our best here."

McShain, whose family came to the United States from Northern Ireland, was swayed by the Queen Mother's words and his sentimental attachment for England.

"I turned down an American offer of $1,250,000 for Ballymoss," he said, "and sold him for $700,000 to a syndicate which includes Sir Victor Sassoon and William Hill. I kept $5 per cent of Ballymoss for myself."

Ballymoss goes into stud in 1959.

Chatham Man Dies of Wounds

CHATHAM (CP) — Charles Travis, 34, died in hospital three hours after he was wounded in the head during a shooting incident at his home near here.

Ethel Grace Kramer, 41, a woman who had been living with him, was reported in good condition with a wound in her foot.

Police said Travis's dog was found dead at the home in North Buxton, seven miles south of here and was believed shot in the same incident.

SPREAD FALSE RUMORS

VIENNA (Reuters) — Georg Auer, editor in charge of the Austrian Communist party newspaper Volksstimme, was sentenced Tuesday to 14 days imprisonment for spreading false rumors damaging Austria's reputation abroad. The sentence was suspended for three years. The state prosecutor said Volksstimme, in connection with the Hungarian revolt in 1956, had published misleading articles.

Hospitals Warned to Police Themselves Against Abuses When New Act in Effect

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario hospitals have been warned to police themselves if they want to avoid provincial interference.

At the Ontario Hospital Association annual convention Tuesday, three speakers urged that special committees be set up on administrative and discharge if they want to avoid abuses when Ontario's hospital insurance scheme comes into effect Jan. 1.

Sister Janet, superintendent of St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto, told the conference:

"Protect to preserve our individuality and spirit. This is only possible if we police ourselves—apply our own controls and apply our own penalties to those who are guilty of infractions."

She recommended a committee with power to examine records, physicians doctor and set up disciplinary methods. Ideally each committee should admit patients who absolutely need hospital care.

"But no matter how ethical or conscientious a doctor may be, he is not perfect and needs adherence to his principles by himself, said Sister Janet, who added medical attack and courageously act according to your better judgment."

Dr. Ian Cameron of Oshawa, president - elect of the Ontario Medical Association, urged adoption of a proposal that an admission discharge committee be set up in each hospital.

Commonly-used drugs are to be left under the physician's control and hospitals would have to use common sense in administering drugs to avoid addiction, action by the government.

He advised doctors in Ontario fully support the hospital plan "but believe that what is good for the public is good for the doctors."

In a panel discussion A. F. Fuerth of Riverside warned of a "tremendous" shortage of skilled and higher wages from hospital workers.

"I have felt for some time it is unfair to ask employees of hospitals to do a job as 'part-time workers,' he said. "In effect, what we have been asking for is subsidized personnel work at substormal wages."

Fred Dabell, chairman of Kingston hospital board, said trustees must be given a voice in forward third-party position in labor negotiations with their employees because they didn't know what the government would allow to come under wage freeze.

Rev. James Ferguson of Bracebridge elected president for the coming year, succeeding H. M. Jackson of Simcoe. Other officers: president - elect, A. Fuerth; vice - presidents, Sister Janet, F. E. Sharpe and M. B. Wallace, all of Toronto.

The conference, which drew 2,000 delegates, ends today.

CANADIAN LETTERS VIA U. S. MAIL

When a citizen of the Yukon community of Old Crow mails a letter, it goes out with a United States postage stamp — bearing a Canadian cancellation—and is carried by the U. S. mails through Fairbanks, Alaska.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker heard about this on the Sept. 25-27 visit to the Yukon and was told the entity had been tolerated as an "economy measure."

Now the Canadian post office is making inquiries and Old Crow may yet be able to send its mail — bearing Canadian stamps — through the air mail service part of Alaska's to the Northwest Territories.

Old Crow was settled by Indians who moved there when the Alaska - Yukon border was drawn in 1906. The village is 30 miles east of the Alaska border and 100 miles south of the Arctic Ocean. (CP Newsmap).

Stories Differ About Shelling

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Communist artillery shelled Quemoy again today but there was a noticeable easing of tension over the offshore island crisis.

Reports conflicted on the intensity of the bombardment. .

"Starting about midnight it was a constant boom-boom-boom kept us awake for a long time, . . . I'd say it was thousands of rounds. . . . In my opinion it was the heaviest in some time," a Nationalist officer said.

In Taipei, however, the defence ministry's official shell count said only 461 rounds hit the island from 9 a.m. Tuesday to 6 a.m. today, followed by a 24-hour lull, then a 181-round bombardment from 8:30 a.m. until noon.

Rescue Workers Take 8 Hours To Move 12 Feet

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—The 26th body was taken from the Cumberland coal mine's shattered depths today. Miners continued digging for 69 other men sealed behind tons of rock and timber.

The latest victim was found buried under debris at the 13,000-foot level of No. 2 colliery. He was not identified. There is no hope the other miners survived the great upheaval that wrecked the mine last Thursday night.

About 55 miners were believed entombed near the spot where the body was found this morning. The exact location of other bodies was not known. One body was taken out Tuesday night.

Rescue work is slow. Miners said it took them eight hours to move the two Tuesday, the best progress so far. The average eight-hour shift had taken rescuers about 12 feet along the 13,000-foot level.

The rockfall was believed to have covered 80 feet along the tunnel which a mule group of miners were working when the upheaval tore the pit apart. Officials were unable to estimate when the miners would reach the trapped men.

The Canadian Press learned that the No. 2 mine and the nearby No. 4 colliery here, where 39 men died in a 1956 explosion, will reopen.

MAY NEVER REOPEN

A reliable source who asked not to be identified said work on the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, operators of the mines, is decided to close No. 2 and keep the adjoining pit sealed. No. 2 employed 900 men.

Crawford Gordon Jr., president of the parent A.V. Roe (Canada) Limited, said "the company has not definitely decided to shut down coal operations here. When the missing have been located and the mines cleared we will examine the damage and make our decision," he said.

The later Dosco statement said the "official" position of the company has not changed.

". . . No decision will be made to close or open the mines here until after all the men are brought above surface."

WINS DAMAGE SUIT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) —A Superior Court jury Tuesday awarded a policeman $35,000 in his $250,000 damage suit against former Romanian princess Elena and her son, former prince Stefan Hapsburg Ortenberg. Patrolman Richard A. Haley, 35, was directing traffic when struck by a car registered to Elena and driven by her son.

Quemoy, Matsu Problem May Slowly Fade Away

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If last week's trip to Formosa by John Foster Dulles was as successful as it appears to have been, the world may hope to see the problem of Quemoy and Matsu fade slowly away.

In three days of talks with President Chiang Kai-shek, the secretary of state came to a number of agreements.

Most important, Chiang agreed to endorse the use of force in his avowed mission of returning to mainland China.

The Quemoy and Matsu islands lost their status as being essential to the defence of Formosa. They also ceased to be viewed as the key outposts in the Nationalist Chinese plan to return to the mainland.

GUARDIAN OF HOPES

If the Communists stop shooting at the islands, Chiang apparently will be willing to pull back some of the 100,000 military men, a third of his total forces, who are tied down there.

The outcome of these agreements indicates that Chiang Dulles and President Eisenhower realize there are two Chinas even if this doesn't result in diplomatic recognition.

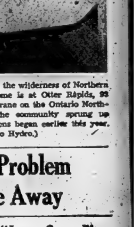
How did Dulles get Chiang to accept this new moderate stand?

Officials in the state department are said to attach great importance to a part of the joint communique issued by the two leaders that the U.S. recognizes the Nationalist regime as "the authentic spokesman for free China and of the hopes and aspirations entertained by the great mass of the Chinese people."

SUBTLE CHANGE

For its part, the Nationalist government declared its purpose to be "a worthy representative of the Chinese people" striving to preserve ancient Chinese qualities and characteristics.

Instead of invading Communist China, Chiang's mission has been greatly changed to that of sheltering and promoting Chinese culture.



The aim appears to be to encourage political and economic reforms on Formosa to make the island an example of democracy the mainland people on the chance that they will put pressure on their leaders for similar changes or possibly rise up against them.

MORAL LEVER

The hope is that all this will make Quemoy and Matsu seem less important.

The basis for Chiang's new mission is conditional on a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait, and this the Communists have not agreed to.

Dulles pictures the Communists' decision to shell Quemoy every other day as a face-saving move. Possibly they may be ready to stop shooting. But if they are not, Chiang is in a better position to command some moral support from allies of the U.S. than he could earlier.

Stelco Strike In 12th Week Near Settlement

TORONTO (CP)—A strike at Hamilton's Steel Company of Canada plant appeared near settlement today.

Union sources at Hamilton industrial Tuesday night the union negotiating committee has accepted a proposal by Ontario Labor Minister Daley to end the walkout of 8,077 members of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC). The strike is in its 12th week.

The wage-rate gap between union and management in government-sponsored talks here was reported to be less than two cents an hour. Model for the proposal was believed to be the agreement reached between the union and the Algoma Steel Corporation at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 16.

Hamilton sources indicated Stelco and the union have agreed to a 24-cent increase spread over three years, the same as at Algoma, but the union was understood to also have asked for two cents more to bring rates at the two plants in line.

Pioneer Work on Structure Of Insulin Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Dr. Frederick Sanger, 40-year-old Cambridge University chemist, Tuesday won the Nobel prize in chemistry for pioneer work on the structure of insulin, the protein that diabetics lack.

The Nobel Foundation announced the $38,462 award, worth $41,429, for the University of Cambridge biochemist.

Sanger's research into proteins in general and insulin in particular is helping many laboratories delve into secrets of life. He broke down the giant protein molecule into fragments small and simple enough to identify and then went specifically into the breakdown of insulin with the use of acids or enzymes.

The Nobel Foundation described his efforts as having "a remarkably persevering" followup to studies of two earlier Nobel winners, A. J. P. Martin and R.L.M. Synge of Britain.

Sanger showed that the insulin molecule consisted of two long acid chains held together with sulphur atoms. He thus simplified the problem by being able to study the two chains separately. He found he could reconstruct the acid chains, like putting a puzzle together. He also managed to locate the sulphur bridges which keep the chains.

"This completed a remarkable achievement, the complete structure determination of the insulin molecule," the Swedish announcement said.

"It goes far beyond this. Insulin is a protein and thus belongs in the group of substances which are considered the carriers of the processes of life."

The implication behind this phrasing was that scientists are that much further forward in their effort to learn what life is self is.

Proteins, such as insulin, are considered in chemistry the most complicated of all substances in nature. Many hormones and all enzymes, viruses, toxins that cause disease and antibodies that give immunity against disease are in the protein family. Protein also form an essential function in all tissues of the body, in muscles, nerves and skin.

"Sanger's methods and results have opened a road to the determination of their detailed structure, and thus on of chemistry's greatest problems has found his solution in principle," the announcement said.

"Many research workers have begun to apply Sanger's methods to other proteins and important results have already been reported."

Family of Six Subsists On CD Evacuation Pack For 7 Days, Missed Bread

OTTAWA - (CP) - Bread is what a family wants most after seven days of nuclear-attack survival rations.

At least that was the experience of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. M. Smythe of Sturgeon Falls, Ont., and their four children, aged 2 to 11.

The day after the week - long experiment ended, they report in the current issue of the federal civil defence bulletin, they went to a pastry shop at Sault St. Marie, Ont., and bought "an entire meal consisting of nothing but bread in various forms."

The prescribed evacuation pack includes only items such as canned foods, evaporated milk, crackers, packaged cereals — items that can be kept ready for use quickly at any time, without spoiling. But no bread.

Eating utensils suggested are a can opener, paper cups, spoons, knives and paper plates. Two gallons of water for an adult and three for a child are recommended.

The Smythes expanded on this, taking a "sizable cooking utensil" with which to heat "survival soup" or "disaster stew." They recommended that the suggested civil defence evacuation pack in future include such a utensil.

They took along 14 gallons of water, using nine for drinking and the rest for other essential purposes. Although they bathed in a lake at their campsite and used its water to wash dishes, they substituted regular dishes for paper ones—Mr. Smythe said "drinking was kept strictly to the ration."

The CD evacuation pack is intended to provide a minimum daily average of 2,000 calories per person. Mr. Smythe said his family's health remained excellent, despite main meals such as beans, canned corned beef hash, wieners—and more beans.

"Not only was there no loss of weight—except for one pound by the father, which he could very well afford to lose — but the mother and some of the children made gains," he reported.

Least useful in the recommended pack—for the Smythes, at least—were the dry cereals. These were used mostly for snacks.

And instead of the suggested peanut butter, the Smythes took ham. "Even in the face of disaster," he said, his family felt it Ont.

Cancer Research Will Benefit By Man's Will

TORONTO - (CP) — A retired linen importer has left the bulk of his $786,000 estate for cancer treatment and research, it was learned Monday when his will was filed for probate.

His sister and a niece in Edmonton, and niece and nephew Ann L. Maguire and James Maguire, both of Kirkland Lake, receive $20,000 each.

would maintain his dislike of peanut butter.

One factor much in the Smythes' favor was the fact Mrs. Smythe is a dietitian. Now a Sturgeon Falls school teacher, she was once assistant dietitian at the General Hospital in Sudbury,

Rev. Don Whitbread, 33-year-old Anglican missionary in the Arctic, is shown with his wife, Pat, and their 14-month-old daughter, Heather, before leaving their outpost at Spence Bay, N.W.T., on one of their visits to Eskimo families. Mr. Whitbread, whose parish covers 200,000 square miles, takes his family with him on every second trip. These usually take from three days to two months. (CP Photo.)

Anglican Missionary Enjoys Travelling Across Arctic Wasteland by Dog Team

EDMONTON (CP) — Trekking with dog sled across the snow-capped Arctic wasteland is all part of a day's work for Rev. Dick Whitbread, an Anglican missionary. He would not have it otherwise.

"You've just got to live in the Arctic to appreciate it," says the missionary, in Edmonton to have dental work done. "People who haven't lived there have little idea of what it's like."

Graduating from Emmanuel Anglican Theological College, Saskatoon, eight years ago, the Englishborn missionary has covered thousands of miles of the northland with food not always two readily attainable.

FOOD PROBLEM

Food, or lack of it, is more of a problem than the cold, when temperatures drop to 50 or 60 below and Arctic gales reach 60 miles an hour, said Mr. Whitbread, whose parish includes the magnetic North Pole.

The clergyman said that when sight comes he and his Eskimo guide—he always travels with a guide—can set up an igloo in three-quarters of an hour while his wife, Pat, who hails from Glenbeer, N.S., boils snow for a cup of tea.

When they run out of food on one occasion, he said, and the dogs hadn't eaten for three days, things were a bit grim. He said one Eskimo band usually has a greasy lived in where the whole band is located, but that time the Eskimos had moved.

Mr. Whitbread and his guide decided to try to reach another band, believed to be about 50 miles farther but discovered that the Eskimos they originally sought had moved their camp only 15 miles, where it was overtaken.

The 33 - year - old missionary takes his wife and 14-month-old daughter, Heather, along with him on just about every second trip. These last anywhere from three days to two months. The baby travels in Mrs. Whitbread's parka-hood, Eskimo style.

Mr. Whitbread, who opened a mission at Spence Bay 3½ years ago, arrived here with tape recordings of messages to 15 members of his parish in the Charles Camsell Indian Hospital in Edmonton.

He spent a day in each ward visiting the patients and playing back messages in Eskimo from "the folks back home."

His wife meanwhile has preached the sermons in Spence Bay, a community of 50 about 1,200 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Mr. Whitbread was born at Bromley, Kent, and came to Canada 10 years ago. After completing his studies in Saskatchewan he was posted at Port Harrison in northern Quebec, where he built a new mission house.

About 3½ years later he built a mission house at Pond Inlet, on the northern up of Baffin Island, where he spent more than 1½ years.

BUSY VISITOR

It took the missionary more than four months by dog team to get from Pond Inlet to Spence Bay, during which time he chalked up about 1,900 miles of virtually Eskimo.

Mr. Whitbread tries to visit the 900 Eskimos in his parish—which covers 200,000 square miles—at least once a year, travelling mostly in winter by dog sled.

He does, however, make some trips by motor boat in the two-month summer.

When his wife is not with him she teaches school at the mission house.

She also grows some vegetables in pots in bits of soil gathered from the Arctic rocks, where nothing grows taller than the six-inch willow.

About 20 Eskimo children now attend classes taught by Mr. and Mrs. Whitbread, but a federal government school is scheduled to open in January. The Whitbreads then hope to get a chance to step up their missionary work.

First Time Since 20's Nudity Filmed on Hollywood Stages

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For virtually the first time since the wild 1920s, nudity is being filmed on the Hollywood movie stages.

But seekers of the sensational will be able to see the Hollywood sequences. The results are strictly for overseas consumption.

During silent picture days, it was not uncommon for bare-breasted actresses to appear in scenes depicting Roman revels or the excesses of the flapper era. Then came Will Hays. The industry's censorship code contains a section that still holds today:

"Complete nudity, in fact or silhouette, is never permitted, nor shall there be any licentious practice by characters in the film of suggested nudity."

VERSION FOR OVERSEAS

The industry leaders feel there should be only one version of Hollywood films: Those "adhering" to the code. But some independent producers are seeking a double standard, with a souped-up version for overseas audiences.

"We can't compete with the French and Italian films unless we give them more realism overseas," argues Al Zugsmith.

He's attempting it in three films he has made independently for MGM. Jody Fair appears stripped to the waist in the foreign version of High School Confidential. Robi Byrnes does the same in Night of the Quarter Moon and The Beat Generation.

"I hope some day we will be able to do the same in domestic versions," the producer said. "We are shackled here by many rules that are archaic."

Two versions were shot of a rape scene in the Paramount release, Last Train From Gun Hill, starring Kirk Douglas. In the domestic shot, Earl Holliman rips the shirt off Israeli actress Ziva Rodann but she isn't seen. The foreign version shows her shirtless.

Likewise, the Heel-Hill-Lancaster film, Cry Tough, photographed two versions of a love scene between Linda Cristal and John Saxon. In one she is nude from the waist up. In the other she is covered.

An inside source reports that the Motion Picture Export Association, which controls fore-gn distribution of major studi films, is cracking down on such exposure. The source reported:

"We feel that modesty is the best policy in the long run."

Bell Rings for Last Time In London's Famous Arena

By STERLING HAFFEY

LONDON, (AP)—The last bell for all time, has run at Harrington—Jackson Square, pride of Europe.

The last two pugilists, a pair of end-of-the-hill backers, finished their feats' work Tuesday night and like all the rest of the capacity parlor, some singing Auld Lang Syne and some in the hoarseness of them, showing a tear or two.

Waiting nearby was a fleet of trucks loaded with canned goods, boxed foods and produce. Harrington will now be a warehouse, providence as long as anyone can foresee.

In a way, it also will be a monument to a sport which is sick almost to death in the country where modern boxing began.

British sports fans, like people in a lot of other places, are shelling out increasing unwillingness to pay money to watch other people perform unless the performers are superbly good.

PREFER DO-IT-YOURSELF

The perform - yourself sports, such as golf, tennis, sailing, skiing, are the ones that are growing.

Increases in the standard of living and television watching also have hurt the fight game, with little boxing emporiums throughout England have been getting out of the business fast—just about as fast as they have been disappearing in the U.S.

Carlos Ortiz of New York won the final feature by outpointing Britisher Lightweight champion Dave Charnley in a non-title 10-rounder.

Promoter Jack Solomons now moves his base to Wembley Arena stadium, a high-class swimming hole which is floored over on fight nights.

DECENT BURIAL

Solomons is one of the world's few great showmen and Tuesday night he spent big to give Harrington a good burial.

Attending the graveside ceremony were boxing bigshot preacher Henry Armstrong, television show man Maxie Baer and public relations executive Gus Lesnevich. All came over from the United States as Solomon's guests.

Each fought at Harrington in his boxing days.

Baer recalled he used to wave at a couple of little girls every morning in Wembley Park when he was training for his 1937 Harrington fight against Tommy Farr.

"One of those little girls is now Queen of England," Maxie said.

As for the night's feature, Ortiz cut Charnley about the eye in the fifth and ninth rounds.

The victory moved Ortiz, now ranked the fourth challenger for Joe Brown's world title, a step nearer a championship fight.

Dick Richardson, 22 - year - old Welsh middleweight, outpointed Gerwin "Sawyer" of Cincinnati in a heavyweight 10-rounder.

Canadian heavyweight champion Pat Supple of Montreal outpointed Dai Dower of Wales in a bantamweight 10 rounder. The decision was booed loudly by the fans.

Supple grabbed the decision by hammering away at Dower as close range and in the clinches. He opened a cut on the left eye of Dower's nose with a series of uppercuts in the fourth round.

In the fifth, Supple sent Dower reeling with a heart-left hook, but couldn't follow it up with a knockout punch.

Finally after 21 years and 600 fights, the last twosome on the ball climbed through Harrington's ropes.

The fighters were heavyweights Nosher Powell and Basil Kew.

Once when things weren't going good, Powell turned to the crowd and shouted, "If you think you can do any better, hop in the ring."

Then he went on to win the bout and that brought down curtain on Harrington's last ball.

Would Have Ball Run Out Of End Zone

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas coach Darrell Royal says if they really want to make football more exciting and high scoring they should make everybody run the ball out of the end zone.

Royal, biter opponent of the new U.S. college rule that allows two points after a touchdown if the convert is made by a run or pass, would put in a rule that calls either for running the kick out of the end zone or putting the ball on the five-yard line. Under present rules it is an automatic touchback and the defensive team gets the ball on its 20-yard line.

"I see no reason for giving a team 20 yards for nothing," said Royal, former coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union. "The team that is receiving the ball does nothing to get the yardage off. Teams and spectators are being robbed."

Kerwin Quits Ring for While

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian welterweight boxing champion Gale Kerwin says he is hanging up his gloves for a while to fight an amateur condition.

The 23-year-old veteran of 37 professional fights said in an interview he is retiring on doctor's advice.

The Ottawa native, who has been fighting out of Valley Stream, N.Y., said: "I'm staying off—for months, maybe—until I feel how I feel."

Kerwin lost his last fight by a wide margin to Frankie Ryff in Washington on Oct. 3. That was his fifth fight night injection appearance.

THIRTY BOUTS

In his pro career he won 20 bouts, lost six and drew one.

He said he returns to the ring it won't be under New York manager Al Lake. He did not say why.

Kerwin, married with two children, is going into business here with his father, a real estate dealer.

In Rochester, N. Y., Lang brushed off the news. He told The Associated Press:

"I know what the trouble is. It's his family. They mix him up. You know? His father and his uncle—they call him and tell him what to do. I told him 'the whole trouble is in your mind.' He should have beat Ryff. He looked good in the gym. But a kid can't fight with a lot on his mind.

"If I emotionally brought him up, I know him better than he knows himself. That anaemia, that's a lot of baloney. He's mixed up, that's all. I think his father put out that news, not Gale."

Harness Racing

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP)—Ontario-owned winners dotted the Batavia Downs card Tuesday night.

Diana Hanover, property of Nova Lido and Marjorie Baillie of Stratford, won the trotting feature, a $1,500 class B event, by a head over Moe Borch.

Pamela Lee, owned by George E. Elliot and Jack Little of Clinton won the sixth, a $ pace for $1,300, topping Campaigner.

Jimmy Johnston owned and driven by Ross Johnston of Dresden won the fourth race.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Captain Shah came with a rush in the stretch Tuesday to win the $100,882 Empire Pace—the richest race in history for two-year-olds—after favored Meadow Al, driven by Canadian - born Joe O'Brien, broke stride at the start.

Captain Shah, owned by Sentel Clinics of Newark, N.J., beat Hugh Grenil's Adios Day, Bradford, Pa., by 1¼ lengths at Yonkers Raceway.

Adios Day, second choice in the betting at 5 to 1 became the greatest money winning two-year-old in the history of sulky racing by taking the second place purse of $30,795 by three-quarters of a length over Byrnol D. Keith's Night Trove, Chesterland, Ohio.

The winner, driven by Frank Darish, paid $23.80, $8.20 and $5.30.

Captain Stash was timed in 2:02 1/5 for the mile on a track labelled "good" after several days of rain.

Meadow Al, owned by the S. A.

Normie Kwong May Retire

EDMONTON (CP) Kwong said Tuesday he is considering retiring from football at the end of this season and added: "At this time I am not discussing next season with anyone."

Kwong, a star of the Western Interprovincial Football Union for 11 years, said he knows, nothing about a reported banking deal under which he would join British Columbia Lions in Vancouver next year.

He said in an interview speculation about his move to Vancouver may have been based on a remark he made recently to a person he thought was a director of the B.C. Lions.

"I was trying to be diplomatic," Kwong said. "When he asked me if I'd like to play in Vancouver I said, 'Sure I'd love to.' I wasn't trying to get a job, just trying to be polite."

Kwong also denied a statement attributed to him that he was getting "tired of this town."

Kwong, 36-year-old native of Calgary, began his career in 1946 when he helped Calgary Stampeders win the Grey Cup. He came to Edmonton in 1951.

He operates a laundry and dry-cleaning firm in Calgary.

Camp Farm, Shafter, Calif., came home sixth.

Captain Stash collected first money of $57,178.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barrie Flyers, who have been the busiest team in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series so far this season, snuffed a chance Tuesday night to go into a tie for first place.

The Flyers lost 5-4 to Peterborough Petes and remained two points behind the Hamilton St. Catharines Teepees, who have won four straight. The Flyers have played games and their five league opponents only four apiece. Barrie, however, is not just a point behind the second-place Flyers.

Barrie led 3-2 in the first period but couldn't hold on. Petes tied the score in the second frame and outscored their buds 2-1 in the final period.

Larry Babcock led Petes with two goals with George Montague, Bill Mahoney and Ian Casey getting the others. Ray Dupuis had two goals and Marcel Tentler and Randall Miller one each for Flyers.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

It came out of a blue sky.

It came suddenly, swiftly, striking like a coiled rattler.

Three goals in less than as many minutes changed in a whirling flash what looked like certain victory into a heartbreaking defeat.

The McFarlands appeared to have their second win in the bag with less than five minutes to go. It was 3-2, and the score looked big enough for two clubs. But they didn't reckon with the fighting comeback, never-say-die spirit of the youngsters wearing the Canadiens' livery.

They broke their scoring egg after fifty-five minutes of brilliant hockey—and that was enough. They roared back to the attack and in a little over a minute the count was all tied up. With defeat in the rear, the Habs, taking advantage of penalty-given extra manpower sustained their victory drive and in 42 seconds snatched victory out of what looked to be a definite defeat.

Brilliant as the Canadiens were in their desperate and successful third-period comeback, the McFarlands didn't deserve to lose, despite the fact it was a penalty that paved the way for the setback. They played the best hockey of the season in those thrilling 55 minutes and had they won, would have been worthy victors.

Collectively and individually, it was the best performances they have staged this season. From Gordie Bell out they came up with a fine performance and it was too bad the unkind fates had disappointment in store for them.

As was said before, it was penalties that paved the way for the defeat, but you can also add the superb condition of the Canadiens as one of the main factors in their thrilling win. These youngsters, and a few veterans, have been at least two weeks longer than any club in the league — and they had the advantage of the facilities of the Montreal Canadiens' training camp, and its coaches.

The fine coaching they have received stands out in the Canadiens' play both as a team and as individuals. They have some of the fastest skaters in the league and as a whole they know what to do going both ways. Don't be surprised to see this starry clan one-two in the league standing when the schedule cease-fire sounds.

The Kelowna Packers who leave for Europe in ten days to play exhibition games in Sweden and Russia are having player troubles. Now the prosper lads is hard at it to get on the west coast, and they have asked the Kitchener Dutchmen for assistance. They want Kenny Laufman and Bill Wylie.

But the Dutchies' manager, Ernie Goman, is not in the same good mood as that of earlier in the season when he offered player help to the Packers. "Now," says Ernie, "we didn't expect them to ask us for assistance up the eve of their departure. They should have requested it last summer."

Pointing out that his club is allowed to carry but 15 men this season, Goman says, "with one man injured, how can we expect to carry out our commitments in our league in the league if we let anyone else leave. Then again, what assurance have we got and what can we expect in the way of replacement help? If we can find a replacement centre, the same player should be available to Kelowna."

At Kelowna, the Packers' manager Bob Giordino said the CAHA had suggested Laufman and Wylie. The Dutchmen play school-leaghey puck-chaser Jack McKeesick, who is in Kelowna studying the Packers' strength, says they will need at least six players.

Giordino said he was interested in Windsor's Lou Bendo and Chatham's Ted Powers, "but we have heard nothing from the CAHA regarding them. However with the addition of Fred Dunsmore, Ray Manson of Winnipeg, Jack Cancien of Spokane, Tom Steczyk of Vernon and possibly Al Rollins of Calgary, we feel we have some strong replacements."

Bobby Hull Sparks Chihawks In 5-5 Tie With Habs

Scores Twice, Has 2 Assists In Brilliant Late Comeback; Murphy, Nesterenko Also Star

By KEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Don't be surprised if National Hockey League managers go on a fine-leving spree this season. It certainly works wonders for Chicago Black Hawks.

Hawks dropped a 9-1 decision to the league-leading Canadiens in Montreal last Thursday and general manager Tommy Ivan promptly fined each of his 18 players $100.

But Hawks protected their pocketbooks Tuesday night with a tremendous third - period comeback to tie Canadiens 5-5 and end a four-game losing streak. The tie boosted the Chicagoans into a four - way deadlock for second place with Toronto Maple Leafs, Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins.

HULL LINE STARS

The Hawks line of Bobby Hull, Ron Murphy and Eric Nesterenko ran away with all the game honors in a sensational finish, scoring three goals in three minutes and 16 seconds. The trio played the last six minutes without a rest.

Chicago opened with a 3-0 lead in the first period on goals by Dollard St. Laurent, who played for Montreal last season, and Hull. Canadiens struck back with three in the second period and two more in the first half of the third for a 5-2 lead.

It looked dismal for the home club before the Hull-centred line erupted.

At 14:06 Murphy perked in front of Canadiens goalie Jacques Plante and lipped in a long hard shot by Hull. Forty seconds later Murphy made it 5-4, slapping home a pass from Hull, who had the Canadiens defence completely baffled.

THE EQUALIZER

The equalizer came at 17:19 when Hull scored in with a Murphy pass and beat Plante cleanly. Nesterenko credited with helping set up all three goals.

Hull's first goal and two assists lifted him to a fifth-place tie in the league scoring battle four Montrealers who fattened their records.

The Canadien scorers were Henri Richard and Boom Boom Geoffrion, with two each, and Don Marshall, Henri Richard and Geoffrion drew the NHL scorers' with 18 points. Next came Maurice Richard and Jean Beliveau, who each found up an assist against Chicago, with 12. Montreal's Dickie Moore also collected an assist to tie Hull at 10.

Grid Career Calgary Back May Be Ended

CALGARY (CP)—A back injury to Calgary halfback Ron Chikowski probably end his playing career, Stampeder general manager Jim Finks said Tuesday night.

Chikowski, an import in his third year with the Stamps, was tackled heavily during Monday's Western Interprovincial Football Union game against the Blue Bombers in Winnipeg.

Finks said the 34 - year - old player suffered three broken vertebrae and is in hospital in Winnipeg. It is not expected he will have a permanent disability but the club thinks his playing days are over.

Chikowski is from Fort Worth, Tex., and attended Texas Christian University. He came to the Calgary quarterback but was converted to halfback when he joined British Columbia Lions, who subsequently dealt him off to Calgary.

Virgil Akins Meets Jordan In Title Bout

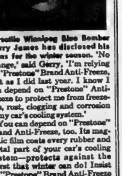
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Los Angeles Virgil Akins' first defence of his world welterweight boxing title against Don Jordan.

No financial terms were announced but it is expected the television and radio rights would add $50,000 to a hoped-for gate of $80,000.

It is understood Akins was a unanimous choice for the $60,000. A champion usually gets 40 per cent of the receipts and the challenger 20 per cent.

Akins, 30, is seven years older than Jordan.

Wolves End Hockey Strike



SUDBURY (CP) — A strike by hockey players of the Sudbury Wolves senior A club ended Tuesday.

Wolves weroforced to call off their first game of the Ontario Hockey Association - Northern Ontario Hockey circuit schedule last Friday when only seven players agreed to terms.

Team captain Norm Dupond was the last to sign, bringing the club to its league limit for a scheduled game against the Greyhounds in Sault Ste. Marie tonight.

The players originally insisted on bonus payments be signed and complained that they have not been given jobs. The club refused to break the league's no-bonus rule and said jobs would have to await an end to the strike at the International Nickel Company of Canada, Sudbury's only major employer.

Dunlops Defeat Kingston 5-3, Bulldogs Shade Maroons 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The world champion Whitby Dunlops are flying in the Ontario Hockey Association eastern section. A group with three wins in three starts.

The dunnies took four second period goals Tuesday night to defeat Kingston Merchants 5-3 and stay ahead of Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, who downed Belleville McFarlands 3-2. Five-game Whitby has scored 16 goals to only six by their opponents. Canadiens are second with two wins and a tie.

McFarlands, with one win and three losses, have the second highest number of goals scored—12. But they have allowed 18 goals.

WINDSOR WINS.

In the OHA - NOBA, Windsor Bulldogs defeated Chatham Maroons 3-2 for their fourth win of the season and Chatham's first loss. Chatham remains on top of the league with two wins while Windsor, Kitchener and Sault Ste. Marie with one win and tied for second place in the interlocking schedule.

Bulldogs won at home on goals in the last 10 minutes by Bob Brown and Murray Costello. Gerry Shaw scored their first goal.

Gary Sharpe and George Allen shot Maroons' goals in the first period.

At Whitby Tom O'Connor and playing coach Sid Smith scored in the first minutes of the second period. Fred Eicher scored twice in 59 seconds to make the score 3-1. Bobby Attersley was the other Whitby scorer.

Maxwell and Meindl gave Kingston a 2-1 lead in the first period and Chiarelli added the lose last period goal.

PENALTIES HURT

Davey Jones and Lou Smrke gave Belleville a 2-0 lead against Canadiens, but the Macs ran into penalty penalties in the game's last five minutes.

With McFarlands two man short Gilles Tremblay scored in the first and rapped home a goal each for Hull in the final period. Johnny Annable got the winner.

Asks Suspension For Charles

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Deputy state boxing commissioner Sammy George said Tuesday he will recommend an indefinite suspension for former world's welterweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Charles was knocked out in the sixth round of his fight with Nate Fleeman Monday night.

George said he will recommending the suspension for two reasons: "first, he withheld information from the doctor, which is detrimental is boxing; and second, his performance hurt the game here in Dallas."

Charles suffered a sprained ankle in a training accident three days before the bout but he told his manager he was able to fight and told the ring physician nothing about the injury.

Hot-Shot Argonauts Happy, Ronnie Knox Will Be Around

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto's rampaging Argonauts got the good news Tuesday that Ronnie Knox, their 23-year-old passing wizard, will stay with the Big Four club as long as necessary this football season.

Lew Hayman, Argo managing director, announced he has arranged a postponement of Knox's date in Hollywood next month for movie work.

Knox, loaned to Argos in mid-season by Chicago Bears of the National Football League, was to have reported Nov. 12 for a five-day movie assignment. If Argos made the Big Four playoffs they'll be playing the semi-final during that period.

When Knox first arrived, the Hollywood date didn't look too important. Argos seemed too far back to make a playoff berth. But with Ronnie at the helm they've won three straight games and victories over Montreal Alouettes in their two remaining games will put Argos into the semi-finals.

The Argo comeback, which brought a victory over Hamilton and a tie with Ottawa Rough Riders on the heels of eight straight losses, has set fans in a hurry. Paying customers in Toronto are even talking about winning the Grey Cup.

Meanwhile over in Hamilton coach Jim Trimble and his league-leading Tiger - Cats were turning over every stone that they weren't trying too hard when they lost 23-12 to Montreal Saturday. The Alouettes jumped ahead of Ottawa into second place as a result of the victory.

"They certainly are not laying down for anybody," Trimble said. "Some of our kids like Joe Sardo played a heck of a game.

Said halfback Eddie Macon: "We play only to win."

Trimble said he felt fully justified in experimenting with second-line players Saturday. "It's important Hamilton has the best Canadians and that's because we play them."

The Ticats staged a brisk workout Tuesday night in preparation for their home-and-home series against Rough Riders starting Saturday.

Trimble has th tash of seeing that his team doesn't get complacent just because first place has been wrapped up. Any letdown now could continue into the playoffs and be disastrous to the Ticats.

Toronto coach Hamp Pool has to prepare the Argos for the task of stopping the passing attack of Alouettes' Sam Etcheverry.

If the Argos can complete the sensational comeback they're attempting, they'll be in the playoffs for the first time since 1955. Montreal, on the other hand, may miss the playoffs for the first time since Doug (Peahead) Walker made his debut as Alouette coach in 1952. That season the Als finished last but Walker landed them the first place the following year, when they lost the playoff to Hamilton. After that his club won the Big Four title three years running, losing in the Grey Cup game to Edmonton each time.

MANY POSSIBILITIES

The Alouettes will miss the playoffs if they lose the two-game series with Ottawa and the Riders salvages even a tie in their two contests with Hamilton. They'd end up in second spot if they beat the Argos twice.

The Als held practice Tuesday night that Hal Patterson has been given the medical okay to return to action after missing six games.

Whether the all-star end will play in Toronto Saturday has not yet been determined. The decision will be left to the coaching staff.

Coach Frank Clair of Ottawa is probably the most disappointed of the four American coaches in the Big Four. The Rough Riders appeared set for second place behind the Tiger-Cats but they lost three games in a row: 34-13 to Montreal, 41-0 and 43-34 to Toronto.

During the slump they've scored only 57 points and had 117 scored against them.

Clair, 41, joined Ottawa in 1956. He was head coach at the University of Buffalo for two years and made his Canadian debut in 1950 with Toronto. In five years with the Argos he guided them to Grey Cup championships in 1950 and 1952.

In 1956 Ottawa finished in a second place tie in the Big Four and lost a sudden-death semi-final to Hamilton.

College Athletes Charged In Connection With Gambling

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan's football, hillback and basketball captain have been suspended from their teams in connection with football gambling on the campus.

Police issued warrants Tuesday for the arrest of fullback Tony Rio and basketball star Jack Lewis, Warrants also were issued against five non-athlete students.

All seven were to be arraigned today on charges of engaging in an illegal occupation in connection with handling football spot cards. They were released without bond.

Michigan athletic director Fritz Crisler said: "We are removing from their respective athletic squads both athletes involved in these charges until their cases are decided."

RIO DEFENDS SELF

"The coaches know all about it," said Rio. "I told them what part I had in it—which was nothing. The coaches have faith in me and I wait to see what happens. I think the publicity will hurt my football. No matter what happens people will think I'm wrong. They always take a negative attitude toward bad publicity."

Lewis was unavailable for comment.

Other students arrested: Nick D. Mines, 21, Durwood A. Collins, 22, John A. Miller, 19, Michael G. Dodgson, 21, and Carl M. Risman, 21, associate sports editor of the campus newspaper, The Michigan Daily.

The charges carry a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and a fine of $100 on conviction.

Football spot cards work this way: A purchaser selects a number of teams he believes will win, either giving or taking points according to the point spread set up by the gamblers backing the game. If all the selections are correct the purchaser receives a cash prize, the size of which depends on the number of games on which the purchaser takes a chance.

Hull-Ottawa Shades McFarlands

Canadiens Roar From Behind In Third Period to Snatch Victory From Certain Defeat

It happened so quickly that hundreds of fans did not realize that in the figurative wink of an eye the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens had defeat whipped and turned into thrilling victory.

The McFarlands who came up with their best game of the season, had a 2-0 lead with the clock reading a little over four minutes to go.

Then came Canadiens' big break. Benoit went off for interference and the Ottawa club poured on the power. They cut the margin to a goal and a minute later the score was tied. Inspired by the lightning success they again surged to the attack and scored the winner some 40 seconds later.

The victory gave the Canadiens two wins in three starts and second place in the league standing behind the unbeaten Whitby Dunlops, who defeated Kingston 5-3 last night for their third straight victory.

It was a heartbreaking defeat for the Macs and a thrilling victory for the speedy hard-checking Canadiens. The Macs, up to the point of the fourcat outbreak had been two goals better, outshooting the eastern club 30-12 in the first two periods. The winners in their desperate third-frame drive outshot the McFarlands 15-5, and 30-25 on the night's play.

The game was by far the best seen in Memorial Arena this season with both clubs checking at top speed and hitting hard and often but cleanly. Referee Art Casterton of Kingston handed out 12 penalties, seven to the Macs and one misconduct sentence to Boucher of the Canadiens.

The Jones-Smrke-McLellan line stole the points-getting laurels with Davy Jones, who was one of the stars of the game and Lou Smrke each scoring and getting credit for an assist, Johnny McLellan had two helpers.

Gillis Tremblay sent the Canadiens away on their victory march with their first goal of the game. Claude Richard tied it up and Johnny Annable became the hero of the Canadiens when his faceoff drive blasted past Goedie Bell for the winner. Annable also had assist as did Longarini, Rousseau and J. C. Tremblay.

The McFarlands lost little time in taking the lead in what proved to be a hard-fought nip-and-tuck struggle. A little over a minute had elapsed in the first period when Jones took Smrke's forward pass to beat Claude Cyr in the Canadiens nets.

It was a blazing fast period over the rest of the route with Dewsbury and Crawford drawing penalties as did Rousseau and Annable. Bob Boucher received a misconduct for batting the puck into the back of a net when he did not like an official's call.

Longarini and Hildebrand cooled their heels early in the second period, but no damage was done with both sides putting on their power drives.

Lou Smrke brought the crowd to its feet when he slammed in a rebound following a goalward rovey with linemates Jones and McLellan to give the Macs a 3-0 lead Hildebrand and Eliet went off for high-sticking and again both goals remained intact with both Bell and Cyr coming up with fine saves. The Macs outshot the Canadiens 8-6 in the period.

The red-shirted crew set up a blistering speed opening the third period and hemmed the Macs back in their own end with the ferocity of their attack. The Macs hurled them back and with the clock ticking off the dying minutes, the victory appeared to be in the bag. Then Crawford got the gate followed by Moe Benoit a minute later. The Macs weathered the storm until Crawford's return. They pushed the surging Canadiens back time and again until 15.46 when Gillis Tremblay pushed the puck into the net behind Bell.

A minute and six seconds later on another Canadiens ganging attack with the Macs at full strength, Claude Richard's hard drive found the rigging to tie the score.

The Canadiens flushed with their sudden success moved in again and Bob Annable taking a goal-swing at a face-off blasted in the winning counter. With 23 seconds left Bell was taken from the McFarland nets but his mates failed to dent the Canadiens defence.

The teams:

Hull—Goal, Cyr; defence, Longarini, Tardif, G. Tremblay; Gaubler, Begin; forwards, Eliet, Doyle, Annable, Black; Richard, Souther; Deziel, Rousseau, J. C. Tremblay.

Belleville — Goal, Bell; defence, Benoit, Botley, Crawford; Dewsbury, Raglan; forwards, Brown, Bradley, Hildebrand, Payette, Menard, Marineau, MacDonald, Jones, McLellan.

Olsen Defeats Don Grant

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Former middleweight champ Bobo Olson scored a technical knockout over Don Grant of Los Angeles in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder Tuesday night.

Referee Frank Carter halted the bout after Olson floored Grant with a left hook to the head. When Grant arose, Olson was punching him at will.

Olson weighed 173; Grant, 167½. They fought as light heavyweights. It was Olson's first fight in 14 months.

A crowd of about 4,000 watched the former champ start his comeback to regain some financial stability. He said before the fight that padding his pocketbook isn't the only reason for the comeback.

He says he still has a tough jaw, notwithstanding his four knockouts in seven starts before the layoff.

should be attached to economic aid from Canada and other wealthier nations to countries in need.

"Political stability and understanding are more likely to follow, rather than precede, the solution of economic problems," said the former chairman of the CBC board of governors.

"Britain and the less developed countries are urgently in need of outside capital to expand their productive capacities.

"The United States, especially and Britain and Canada had made such contributions, "but we need to go ahead much more quickly and vigorously."

"As for the Russian economic challenge, this was the kind of challenge English - speaking nations should welcome.

"With our history of economic leadership and understanding, we should be quite ready to deal with economic competition and certainly prefer it to military war."

Dr. Grierson said the Pan-American conference that makes a community, he said, comprises the basic principle's and beliefs that are governed under law and parliamentary government.

"HOPE OF MANKIND"

"In the United Nations that method of government now is the hope of mankind. We are its associators.

"It is for us to show that it and all that underlies it can bind us together and that what binds us together can also bind the world."

Mr. Venkatarabur said the peoples of Canada and other nations in the Atlantic community is becoming inextricably mingled in the outcome of Asia's current social movements.

"The transformations now in progress in Asia are nothing short of a grand-scale revolution of ideas irresistibly driven forward by the strong currents of Asian nationalism."

He said Asians cannot fight the war against their grinding poverty unaided. The Atlantic nations, possessed nearly 70 per cent of the national wealth of the world, yet only about one-fifth of the world's population lived in the Atlantic nations whereas one-third were Asians.

The Atlantic nations, he said, "cannot remain a privileged and affluent community without sacrificing and sharing some of their wealth in guiding the social revolutions of new Asian nations on a way and of African nations tomorrow."

the United States — an organization which promotes Anglo-American amity, he referred only in passing to the customary Canadian arguments for better treatment from U.S. policy-makers: The heavy irritalance in Canada-U.S. trade, and the need for economic and defence co-operation in the free world against the economic offensive of the Soviet Union.

He emphasized instead "reassuring evidences" of improved cordiality in relations.

These had come through the visit to Ottawa last July of President Eisenhower, plans to exchange meetings between legislators of the two countries and the creation of the cabinet-level joint defence committee of Canada and the U.S.

BLUNT OFFER

The speech by Dulles contained a blunt offer to the Russians: They can have details of U.S. defence dispositions in the Arctic provided the Soviet Union is willing to reciprocate.

The Soviet Union, said Dulles, had vetoed the Canadian - U.S. proposal in the UN for an international Arctic inspection system to help prevent surprise attacks.

"The Soviet Union can scarcely blame us if we conclude that its aggressive dispositions in this area which it desires to conceal, call for peaceful-precaution is clear."

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance and the delivery of normal bowel movement without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' examinations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—the improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide range of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of even 10 to 30 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is the rage for hemorrhoid relief the world over.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

NEW PONTIFF

returned to his province of Bergamo for a three-year term as a lecturer on theology and church history.

In 1921 he undertook the first of Vatican assignments which were to bring him praise from three popes.

Pope Benedict XI announced Pastor Roncalli to Rome and gave him the job of reorganizing the Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith — the congregation that directs the worldwide missionary activities of the Roman Catholic Church.

A year later Pius XI succeeded Benedict and sent him travelling to many foreign centres during the next four years.

CHANGES JOBS

In 1925, when he was named a bishop, he departed the Vatican diplomatic service.

His first assignment was as visitator apostolic to Bulgaria. Five years later he was made first apostolic delegate to Bulgaria.

In 1934 he was transferred to the apostolic delegate and delegate. At the same time he was made delegate to Greece.

He remained in the Balkans another 10 years, through the first years of the Second World War.

In 1944 he was named papal nuncio to liberated Paris.

The prelate remained in Paris eight years, until Pope Pius XII showed him recognition for his nuncio's diplomatic work by making him a cardinal.

we were always healthy.

"My brother is as healthy as a man of his age can be. When he was young he walked two hours each day to the seminary and then two hours back home."

Giuseppe said he believed the Pope was picked the name of John "because our village church is dedicated to St. John."

"He was baptized there," Giuseppe said. "Also my father's name was Giovanni (John) Battists (Baptist). Moreover, one of our brothers was named Giovanni. He was particularly fond of the Pope. He died two years ago at 68."

Giuseppe told reporters of his last visit with his brother Angelo four weeks ago in Venice.

"He was glad to see me, then," Giuseppe said. "Pope Pius XII was ill and my brother was full of concern. He was not smiling as he usually does. Everybody knows the pontiff's family said they plan to go to Rome to see him.

"But some time in the future," they said. "We do not know yet where we can go. He must be so busy now."

END ARMS RACE

Peter's Basilica of the drama that began with the fatal illness of Pope Pius at Castel Gandolfo.

Vatican authorities prepared today for the coronation, the most colorful ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church, while messages of congratulation and best wishes poured in from chiefs of state and government heads of many lands.

After his broadcast Pope John ordered the reopening of the doors of the consistorial room, where princes of the church had gone through three tense days of ballotting.

Bells of St. Peter's and Rome's 500 churches pealed.

GOOD WISHES

Congratulations sped to the Vatican from world capitals. Queen Elizabeth, President Eisenhower and French Premier Gaillard were among the first to send their good wishes.

There was the expected cool reaction from the Communist sphere.

Radio Peiping said the election of Pope John was a compromise between opposing forces in between-the-lines comment.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, reported the election with a six-line item—the last of seven stories under the heading "brief reports."

Eisenhower Nears Close of Election Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, back from a three-date campaign tour, will close his drive for election of a Republican Congress with a national television - radio address from Baltimore Friday night.

He returned by plane early today after 14½ days of tub-thumping for votes in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York. Election day is Nov. 4.

The national Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon Committee of 1958 will foot the TV-radio bill for the Baltimore address which will climax what generally is regarded as the hardest-hitting campaign of Eisenhower's political career.

However, he pitched his campaigning on a less harsh note in New York Tuesday. He spoke at two rallies of party workers and a reception for Nelson A. Rockefeller as governor and representative Kenneth B. Keating to the U.S. Senate.

Rockefeller joined Keating in telling audiences that they were happy Eisenhower came to New York — and that his visit had helped them.

Rockefeller a few days ago took what seemed to amount to a dim view of Eisenhower's new campaign technique—his attacks on the Democrats as left-wing radicals, as reckless spendthrifts and as promoters of inflation-breeding policies.

Shortly after the presidential arrival in Manhattan, White Money discord.

Home press secretary James C. Hagerty sought to scuttle talk of Hagerty jagged as complaints Eisenhower's making any maker political speech in New York.

In New York he swatted at what he termed the dominant wing of the Democratic party, the 1959 rally will be of half at Mount Pleasant, Rawdon.

SAVE 12 MEN BY SUPERHUMAN EFFORT

Proposed new Hastings County court house, the completed cost of which is estimated at over $450,000, which was tentatively approved by county council Tuesday. Council decided to have plans drawn for the new structure instead of going ahead with renovations to the present building. New structure would include registry office and council chambers as well as court rooms if complete program is carried out.

County Council Votes To Build New Court House

Likely Call for Tenders At January Session

After taking a second look at estimated high costs for renovations at the Hastings county court house approved at the August session, Hastings county councilmen yesterday made an about face at a special meeting and tentatively have decided to build a new structure.

One of two schemes, one costing an estimated $342,000, and containing courtrooms and other existing offices, and the other with Shire Hall, registry office and county clerk's office included and said costing an estimated $463,290, is expected to be proceeded with.

Council will instruct its architects, Bregman and Hamann of Toronto, to proceed with plans for the two schemes immediately with council to take a further look at the January session and possibly order tenders be called.

At the same time council did-carded previous plans which called for extensive renovations to the 118-year-old court house which would have cost slightly in excess of $200,000.

It was the excessive cost per square foot for renovations of the present court house over-estimated at $15.80, which was the deciding factor in council changing its collective mind on what was the proper thing to do.

The idea of a new structure instead of the renovation program was initially suggested by the architects when in working out details and estimated costs for the renovating program, realized that equal space in a new building could be obtained just as cheaply.

USE PRESENT SITE

Mr. Hamann yesterday told council that new courthouse structures were being constructed for as low as $14 per square foot.

The proposed new courthouse would be built on the site of the present building which would be demolished with the exception of the jail, jail yard and existing jail governor's residence.

Almost in the same space, but extending about 30 feet closer to Pinnacle Street ,the new courthouse of modern design would be built. Plans would call for the main court room 36 feet by 65 feet, six inches, on the first floor of the building. Also on the main floor would be the county assessor's office, offices of the sheriff and registrar, the visiting Supreme Court judge and jury and witness rooms.

The new court house would provide a total of 21,600 square feet of usable space as compared with 14,000 in the present building. If council chambers and registry office were included, the usable space would be 20,000 feet.

The imposing main entrance to the court house would be on Pinnacle street with entrance into a lobby and corridor running the length of the building. At the south end would be the jail entrance and a private entrance for court house personnel.

On the second floor would be the No. 2 court room and the law library with offices the

JOHANNESBURG POLICE CHARGE MOB OF AFRICANS

Identity Card System Sparks New Protests

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)— Police charged with clubs and used tear gas to disperse the crowd of screaming African men and women outside magistrate's court today.

The uproar followed the withdrawal of charges against a number of African women who had been fined in Lindi's protests against having to carry identity cards.

The magistrate told the women to leave the court precincts quietly, but as they filed out a crowd of about 300 Africans, chiefly men, raised their right thumbs in the "Afrika" salute and started singing.

The women replied and a police officer ordered his men to clear the streets. The only casualty was one woman, whose leg was gashed.

About 2,000 women have been arrested since the beginning of campaign nine days ago against the cards, which are an important part of the government's apartheid (segregation) policy.

At the start of the current protest on Oct. 21 more than 500 women were arrested when they marched on the African affairs department. Others later surrendered voluntarily, saying they sympathized with the marchers.

During an eight-hour court session on Tuesday 900 women, many carrying babies strapped to their backs, appeared on charges.

Three women were sentenced to two months in jail and a fourth to four months after the prosecution said they tried to take away identity cards issued to other women.

Twelve Miners Each Lost 10 Pounds But Good Shape Amazes Doctors

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—How much of a beating does a miner's body take after 9½ days entombed 13,000 feet underground? Twelve miners who treated the 12 survivors of a mine upheaval in No. 2 colliery today made these observations:

Each man lost about 10 pounds. Dysentery is rife.

Some may be in the hospital a week.

Except for that, Drs. J. G. Murray, J. R. Ryan and R. A. Burton were "very surprised at the good condition of the men."

Of the 12 miners, Hugh Guthro, Larry Leadbetter and Levi Milley "were the strongest." Leadbetter walked to walk out of the pit by himself and "no home."

The men were trapped in a hollow about 100 feet long and three feet high. They first tried digging with their hands.

Dr. Burton, the first doctor to talk with the men through the rock wall of moist, supported the inserting of a 60-foot copper pipe through an air tube leading to the men's prison.

Fresh water was pumped though the copper pipe but caught by the miners in their lunch tins.

Despite parched throats, the men—on Dr. Burton's instructions took only mouthfuls of the precious fluid on counts of 900.

Hot coffee was pumped next through the copper pipe. Tomato soup followed.

DIEFENBAKER HOPES TO HELP POORER NATIONS

Emphasis Is on Asia

He States at London

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker, arriving here today on the first stage of his world tour, said he hopes he can do something constructive" toward raising economic standards in Asian member nations of the Commonwealth.

"The emphasis and the accent is on Asia," he said in describing the purpose of his 54-day tour. The largest section—three weeks—will be spent in the five Asian Commonwealth countries.

He told a press conference at London airport that he would make no attempt at reaching formal agreements in talks with government leaders during his journey.

His purpose was to learn about the problems of other countries, appreciate their position and do something constructive through suggestion and in consultations raise economic standards and opportunities.

The prime minister noted Canada's announcement that she will increase its annual Co-

Sow Seeds of Own Downfall If Riches Not Shared - - Philip

OTTAWA (CP)—Prince Philip has established himself as a royal celebrity who doesn't need a printed text or prompter to help him make up his mind about international affairs.

Blending gentle quips with serious comments, the Queen's husband presided with ease and authority at a four-nation symposium on such subjects as foreign aid and Formosa.

His off-the-cuff conclusion: If the free world leaves too great a gap between rich and poor nations, it will sow the seeds of its own destruction.

Modern ideas with its improved communications meant ak must have 20th-century standards. It was no longer possible for one country to live in the stone age and another to enjoy high living standards.

Prince Philip took the chair at the two-hour symposium as president of the Commonwealth section of the English-Speaking Union, holding its third post - war world conference here.

Other speakers were Dr. Whitney Griswold, president of Yale University; Dr. A. D. Dunton, president of Ottawa's Carleton University; C. S. Venkatachar, high commissioner for India in Canada; and Sir John Slessor, marshal of the RAF, formerly Britain's chief of air staff.

Philip and the panel speakers first made set speeches on the theme of the contribution of English-speaking peoples in a changing world, a title suggested by Philip himself, then plunged into impromptu discussion of questions from some 900 ESU delegates and observers.

Today, the prince took the morning off to take part in a duck shoot in the Ottawa valley area. Later he was to propose a toast to the Commonwealth - United States partnership at a formal dinner.

Governor-General Massey, his wife and children were the Duke's guests at Rideau Hall.

Wednesday's symposium concentrated mainly on the need for aid to underdeveloped countries, but there were frank exchanges on the Middle East and Formosa.

Replying to questions from American delegates, Sir John Slessor said he considers the Formosa crisis should have been resolved long ago by the United Nations. He added he doesn't think it is vital or even important to the free world to cling to the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Wilfred Jenkins, retiring director of Formosa, Philip agreed it is up to international statesmen to "get rid of the fuse from the orange" before such issues become really dangerous.

Dr. Dunton, the Canadian speaker, said the world's economic problems must be a prelude to political stability and order. He added: "It is in our own interest to build up a common prosperity among nations."

Mr. Venkatachar said the prosperity of Canada and other Commonwealth countries is becoming inextricably mingled with the fortunes of the less developed nations.

Asked by delegate Merrill Shepard of Chicago what type of aid India most required, Dr. Griswold said the country urgently needs capital investment to help it through the barrier of poverty."

Nobel Authors Say Pasternak Forced to Refuse Award

LONDON (AP) — Three Western winners of the Nobel literature prize for literature agreed today that Boris Pasternak turned down his 1958 award because of pressure from the Soviet government, not because he agreed with the Kremlin's condemnation of his work.

The 68-year-old Russian writer was awarded the $41,420 prize a week ago for his novel "Doctor Zhivago, which is critical of Soviet society. The book was published in the West and has been suppressed in Russia.

Wednesday, after a government campaign in which the Nobel committee was accused of playing cold-war politics, Pasternak cabled the Swedish Royal Academy of Letters that he was refusing the prize "because of the meaning attributed to this award in the society I live in."

"Do not take my voluntary refusal with any ill will," he added.

Previously he had messaged

Rescuers Burrow 60 Feet In 10 Hours To Bring Out Dozen Miners Buried Week

Big Crowds Cheer at Springhill When Survivors Reach Surface

By HARRY CALNEK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — Twelve tough coal miners who lived with death for six days came back to their families today.

They had given up hope of being rescued from the tomblike hole deep in the Cumberland No. 2 Colliery where an upheaval trapped them and 162 other miners last Thursday night.

A few hours before dawn rescue workers dug them out. A short time later they were reunited with their families in hospital.

Doctors who examined them said they were in surprisingly good condition considering their ordeal.

With almost no food and water, each man lost about 10 pounds. A doctor said they mixed their own urine with bark and drank it to quench their burning thirst after water was exhausted.

While the lucky 12 lay in hospital, rescue workers dug without renewed hope for the survival of others among the 55 still trapped. The rescued men said some of the 55 are dead.

One coal digger said they had about 300 feet to go to reach the end of the 13,000-foot level, the last part of the mine where survivors could be.

To reach these men could take hours or days, depending on how badly the tunnels were plugged with fallen stone, timbers, twisted mine machinery and other debris.

A rescue worker said conditions on other levels where men survived last night and all but nine of the 55 may have found an open space large enough to give shelter and air.

The 12 had given themselves up to approaching death. So had many of their rescuers. Only a few wives and families had held a shred of hope. Some had purchased cemetery lots.

It was on Monday, four days after the mine caved in, that they abandoned hope of being rescued. For the last three days they sat in darkness and waited to die.

Then Wednesday afternoon, they heard a noise at the end of an air pipe. Less than 12 hours later rescuers freed them.

Hugh Guthro, 34, the 12 said "We were all so happy to see them the whole bunch of us just started to cry."

The rescue of the 12 brought the total number of survivors at the bump. Twenty-six bodies have been brought out. Eight-one men crawled or were carried out during the first 24 hours.

Relating the dramatic story of their imprisonment, Guthro said: "At first we were all in one room. Our own way out bih soon we got so weak we had to stop. We had no food and no water since Sunday or Monday. The last time we had a cup of tea or cereal or bread."

HEARD THE DYING

He said he heard other men dying.

"We rationed our lights and used some batteries off the dead men but on Monday we were in darkness."

They sang hymns and managed to crack a few jokes at first. But the last three days they just sat.

In all, they were imprisoned underground for 150 hours. All had wives and children praying for their safety.

Gorley Kempt, 37 - year - old father of four, was among the first of the 12 brought by a man-carrying rake from a working 13,000 feet down a long, sloping shaft.

A crowd of hundreds cheered as Kemt—covered with blankets—was hurried to an ambulance by a crew of bare-faced miners who cleared and tunnelled for 6½ days before finding life in the tremor-shaken colliery.

RELATIVES IN CROWD

Among the people were the relatives of 38 miners whose bodies were brought up earlier. Of the 174 men originally trapped, 119 have been set free, including 17 injured.

The 12 men were trapped behind a wall of debris in a 100-foot-long, three-foot high pocket of rock and coal. They had nothing to eat from last Thursday until they left the mine. Their thirst was almost unbearable. Time was kept by the handless dial of 4 year old miner said their lamps went out "after a day or so."

Theodore Michniak, 59 and oldest of the 12 men trapped nearly a mile underground, waved at the crowd. Two more stretchers came out from the pithead with Joe Mc-Donald and Eldred Lowther.

As ambulances sped from the floodlit mine, the crowds drifted away. As the great wheels pulling the cables on the operated rakes which carry men to and from the working began turning, back they came to greet the next load of survivors.

Levi Milley and Bowman Maddison were bundled quickly into a waiting ambulance. Maddison sat up, waved weakly and fell back on the stretcher. Fourteen minutes later Caleb Bushton and Wilfred Hunter were on their way to hospital for the 11 - mile journey.

The last of the 12 — Hugh Guthro, Harold Brine, Joe Holloway, Jr., and Gorley Kempt arrived on the surface at 4:02 a.m. They breathed fresh air for the first time in six days.

Dr. J. G. B. Lynch, chief medical officer for Dominion Coal Company, said the survivors were all conscious and were being given plasma.

"Most of them are just lying there smoking cigarets and enjoying the feeling of being human again."

GREAT STAMINA

He said only "the great stamina of these miners" pulled them through.

"I'm all right," Kempt told re-

He and His Eleven Buddies Cried When They Knew Rescuers Coming

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — a battered coal mine. He was Hugh Guthro, 31-year-old coal miner, said from a hospital bed he had lost 11 buddies cried when they knew rescuers were coming to them.

Guthro, twice spared death in mine accidents, told his wife and children—and rest rather than stay any longer with him at All Saints Hospital—that for six days trapped 13,000 feet from the pithead of No. 2 colliery.

The 12 men who returned from a mine where life was counted out prayed, sang hymns and managed, the odd joke during their nightmare.

With less than an hour's sleep during the six-day underground ordeal Guthro took 40 minutes to talk about his second escape from trapped three days in neighboring section of the mine before rescuers reached him.

When the upheaval occurred last Thursday Guthro and 11 men near him were tossed up against the ceiling. He remembered conscious and knew miners were dead. Others around him he was buried up to the chest. Others helped him out.

At first we tried to dig our own way out but soon we got so weak we had to stop. We had no food and no water since Sunday or Monday. The last thing we ate was a few crumbs of bread."

We rationed our lights and cut some batteries off the dead men but on Monday we were in darkness.

They sang hymns and managed to crack a few jokes at first. But the last three days they just sat.

Digging Miners Suddenly Heard Voice From Pipe

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — Here's how 12 men given up for dead were found alive in the Cumberland No. 2 colliery.

The 12 men had been trapped behind a wall of rock for almost six days, caught in a working area 13,000 feet from the mine entrance by last Thursday night's upheaval.

On the other side of the rock 14-rescue men inched their way through the rubble on their bellies. Percy Weatherbee, a bare-faced miner, and mine engineer Basil Phillips lay almost side by side. Weatherbee was digging. Phillips raking an air stream from an uncovered ventilating pipe.

Weatherbee and Phillips thought they heard a voice. It seemed to come from the pipe. They listened. It was indeed the voice of Weatherbee's uncle Percy Kempt, one of seven men missing since the underground rock shift.

Tobe's County Garden was recently the scene of a most enjoyable dance sponsored by the women members of Court Point Anne No. 1407 of the Canadian Order of Foresters. The affair was called the Harvest Round Up. The guests and orchestra were dressed for the occasion and a man-made moon shone through the pine boughs and late vegetables were on display while a barrel loaded with spot dance prizes occupied a prominent spot on the stage. Entertainment was provided by Caroline Chisholm, who captured the large crowd with her dancing. Other dancers and singers assisted in the program.

Springhill News Best in Days For Diefenbaker

LONDON (CP)—"It's the best news I've had for several days," Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today after being told that 12 coal miners trapped underground at Springhill, N.S., have been rescued.

He told a press conference following his arrival at London airport that the first news he had heard was a report that a "ray of sunshine" had appeared over the mines.

Damage Will Not Be Tolerated On Hallowe'en

The witches and goblins will be roaming Belleville streets on Friday (Hallowe'en) night along with hundreds of local teen agers and others out for a good time.

City police officials go along with the good time idea, but not at the expense of citizens' property which might suffer damage by the celebrations.

"We don't object to people having a good time but the police department will not tolerate any malicious damage to property," stressed Inspector J. Cialy Hayes.

"I strongly recommend that Hallowe'en celebrants attend one of the several parties that are being held in the city."

And just to lend weight to the fact that Hallowe'en damage will not be tolerated, every member of the police department will be called back to duty for street patrol and other duties tomorrow night.

Public Appeal Will Be Made To Aid Children

The Quinte School for Retarded Children which set up a class this fall for children in Belleville and district, will make its first public appeal for financial assistance Friday afternoon and Saturday when a tag day is held in the city.

The local school was opened in September, starting with one class of ten children from the Belleville area. Arrangements are now underway for a second class to start early in the new year. Already the second class is almost to capacity but applications are being still being accepted for future consideration.

The association is forced to operate without financial assistance from the government for the first four months and therefore solicits the support of Belleville and district residents.

A special brochure has been prepared to give fuller knowledge of the assistance which can be given by mentally retarded child. This brochure will be given out with a tag.

So, help a retarded child receive the education to which he is entitled. Contributions for a retarded child can be helped.

HAROLD WALTERS

Three beautiful baskets of flowers surround the altar of the Bloomfield United Church on Sunday morning were a sad reminder to the congregation that in the passing of Harold Walters this church had lost a most active member who faithfully carried out his duties every Sunday and also through the week, as a member of the Official Board and Session and of the Men's Association. In his church he will be greatly missed.

Harold Walters passed away in his sleep at his home in Bloomfield on Monday morning, October 20th, as the result of a heart attack. Up to the time of his death he had been very active and appeared to be in good health. His last day was spent in and around Bloomfield. He was born on a farm in Sophiasburg on August 2, 1885, the son of Elphalet Walters and his wife Ella Wills. One of six children, he remained with his father on the family farm and after his marriage he continued to operate the farm until he retired in December, 1947. Having retired from farming he became field man for the Dairy Farmers Co. and had been continuously associated with this firm in various capacities right up to the time of his passing.

In 1911, Mr. Walters married Lydia Thompson and to them were born two children, Ivan (Mrs. Douglas Taylor) of Wellington, and Homer, accountant with the Dairy Farmers Co. A very sincere family man, Harold Walters was never happier than when working around his home or doing things for his children and grandchildren. Throughout the entire community and county he was known to be a happy, friendly man, always eager to do a kindness for someone—indeed if was his habit of doing just that little extra in every church or community activity endeared him to all who came in contact with, him.

The funeral service was held in Bloomfield United Church on Wednesday, October 22nd, and the large number in attendance were ample evidence of the high regard in which the deceased was held throughout Prince Edward County. Floral tributes were numerous. His minister, Rev. S. Spurrell conducted the funeral service and spoke feelingly of how much Harold Walters would be missed in his church, his community and his home.

The bearers were: Harry Cunningham, Frank Hawkins, Arthur Cork, Elmer Bowdish, Lee Allison and Don Baxter.

Interment took place in the Hickok cemetery, a few miles Bloomfield. Left to mourn his loss are his wife, Lydia; daughter Rose and son Homer, grandchildren Larry and Linda Taylor and Sandra Walters and a sister, Florence (Mrs. Will Allison) of Red Deer, Alberta.

County Council Votes to Build New Court House

magistrate, crown attorney and family court.

Also on the second floor and facing Pinnacle Street would be the office of County Judge J. C. Anderson, conference room, witness and discovery rooms, and along a south corridor barristers' rooms and jail governor's office.

SHOULD BUILD LATER

The second scheme under study would provide an addition to the north to provide for registry offices, county council chamber and county offices.

This phase of construction could be included in the initial program, or could be built at a later date.

The completion of the registry office and county council chamber addition, the present buildings could be demolished to provide additional parking space on Church St.

Most of yesterday's special session was taken up with a caucus when the proposals of the architect, Ralph Lindsay and county officials stating space requirements for county offices were studied by members.

Chairman of the county was County Judge J. C. Anderson, who made it plain that he was not trying to prevent council in its deliberations because the location of the new court house or construction of a new building.

Judge in his own office which had been renovated several years ago, was adequate.

He reminded council, however, that with the recent expansion in registry office work, additional space will be required. Should the province have given toward expansion of this office within another ten years.

Mr. Lindsay explained that offices for the Province of Ontario in the county and the counties in Ontario were providing new court house facilities and that four of these were including registry offices. As far as he knew they were working out satisfactorily.

NO SUGGESTIONS

He emphasized that he was offering no suggestions but was ready to offer any assistance if asked to do so.

When council went into open session Reeve Earl Sager of Marmora, N.S., more than three years ago, just received a letter from the finder. It's Carolyn York, 16, of Brisbane, who picked it up off the east coast of Australia.

IN MEMORIAM

RICKS. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Thomas R. Ricks, who passed away October 31st, 1957.

Gone from our home and left us lonely,
One of the best one loved so well;
God took him home, it was His holy Will.
His memory we shall always keep,
Ever remembered by his wife
Clara and family.

GRANT. — In memory of a dear husband, Wilfred Grant, who passed away October 30th, 1956.

Sweet was your smile, kind was your face,
Gone from us forever, dear husband,
Left us here to mourn alone.
The days pass by and memories grow,
But memories will live forever,
Yes he has not gone away,
For he is treasured in our hearts,
And entered God's eternal home,
Left the pain as last.
Never remembered by son, Douglas and family.

GRANT. — In loving memory of a dear father, Wilfred Grant, who passed away October 30th, 1956.

Sweet was your smile, kind was your face,
Gone from us forever, dear father,
Left us here to mourn alone.
"Safe Home" is the same old way;
To have you with us we would not pray;
To sit with you and chat awhile,
Is what we miss the most.
Cherish him with care,
For you never know the heartache
Till you see his vacant chair.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by daughter Louise, son-in-law Ernest and grandchildren.

North Half of Bridge Deck Soon to Be Ready for Use

TRENTON — The town bridge is closed again for the second time and is expected to remain closed until 9 p.m. today.

The final strip of cement on the north side of the bridge deck will be laid today and in 24 hours the new half of the deck will be travelled on while crews start work on the south half of the bridge.

The special cement, which is much more costly than other brands, must be poured and trowelled in four minutes or it becomes too thick to work properly. It is for this reason that traffic must be shut off to give the huge cement trucks the freedom needed to pour the cement quickly.

A high scaffold has been erected at the east approach to the bridge and it is from there that the cement - fondu is added to the mixtures in the trucks which have been loaded elsewhere.

The cement will form an extremely hard surface and it will not be necessary to place asphalt on the bridge deck. The traffic will be allowed to travel directly on top of the cement.

Progress trains have been installed at various points to drain the water off the bridge in the future and an "expansion joint" has been installed in the centre of the new deck to give the bridge a certain amount of freedom which is necessary because of frost, etc.

The date for the finish of the repair work on the bridge has been set for December 10 and the work at present is going ahead as planned. The contractor, the Tatham Construction Company, is working with a penalty clause of $300 per day facing it.

Parks at Champlain Heights Will Be Inspected by Board

TRENTON — The Trenton Parks Board will meet with members of the Champlain Heights Association next Sunday at 12.30 p.m. to look over the parks in that area and perhaps get a better idea of what is needed for the completion of these parks.

This was decided at the last meeting of the parks board held in the board rooms of the Municipal Building on Tuesday night. Under the chairmanship of Ted Parker the meeting was held with two members of the board absent. At the meeting were Miss Marion Baker, Bill Ireland and John Sayler. The town gardener, Burt Boers, was also present.

Ward Aziz and Carl Weese of the Champlain Heights Association presented proposals on the parks in the new housing development area. With them, representing the Trenton Recreation Commission, was Jim Parker, who made suggestions on the requirements to develop the parks into playing areas for children.

No formal decision on the two new parks will be made until after the Sunday meeting.

Commenting on the two parks at Champlain Heights, Ted Parker, chairman of the Parks Board, said: "All we have decided so far these parks is on grass; this along with shade is essential to make them into play areas for the children. To put flower beds in would be almost useless as the children playing there would destroy them. I don't say they would do it maliciously but just during their course of playing. We have experienced this many times and there are a lot of children to use these parks.

"It is difficult to say what we can do with these parks but we most certainly cannot reach a decision in five minutes. We need trees for shade but have not decided on the kind of trees to get. However, they take time to grow and would not be of much use until they were big enough to give shade. In the meantime it is possible that active shelters could be erected to supply shade until the trees are large enough.

"I can also see that in another four or five years we will be strapped for money. Most of our working cash will be spent on maintenance and there will be none left for increasing park areas.

"I will go along with Miss Baker's idea of a capital budget and to draw up a table on the amount of money which is to be spent each year on the maintenance, etc., of the different parks.

"Perhaps we can decide more on what is needed at Champlain Heights after our meeting on Sunday afternoon and what part we can take in the development of these into playing areas now that both parks have been officially turned over to us by the town fathers."

In her proposal for a capital budget for the Parks Board Miss Baker said that in this manner members could decide each spring what work the board will do during the year and how much will be spent. The budget could possibly be set up by using last year's work and expenditures as a guide.

Preparing Parks For Winter Is Big Chore

TRENTON — "Preparing the town's parks for winter is a lot of work," Burt Boers, town gardener, said Tuesday, "but we have nearly finished and then we have the task of cleaning and repairing the equipment."

Mr. Boers explained that the fall and the spring are his two busiest periods in preparing the parks but there is also a lot of work in keeping them in shape during the summer months. Grass has to be kept cut, hedges trimmed and flower beds weeded.

"Sometimes," he said "we have to replace sections of flower beds when thoughtless vandals tear out plants and trample others." One serious case happened this year when a "young rowdies" did a considerable amount of damage to the trees and flower beds in the Fraser Memorial Park. Other cases of a minor nature had been noted in other parks and some flowers had to be replanted to make the beds look attractive again.

At fall preparation all flower beds have to be dug up and they are left lumpy over the winter months. Mr. Boers said if they are left in this manner it is easier to work them again in the spring when planting time comes. If in the fall the ground is left smooth or levelled off, then the snow and ice of the winter will leave the ground with a hard crust on it and in the spring it will be much harder to prepare the beds for planting.

During the winter months the equipment will all be checked over, repaired if necessary, repainted and stored away for next year.

The power lawn mowers will be sent away for a complete overhaul. The parks board has two and it is expected next year it will buy a much larger mower to keep cutting the grass of the ever-increasing town park areas.

Ottawa Blast Takes One Life

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa's big explosion took one man's life.

William Anderson, 65, died Wednesday night in hospital. He had been dug from the ruins by firemen Saturday suffering burns over most of his body.

Before he died, Anderson told how he smelled gas in the basement of the Addressograph-Multigraph of Canada shop where he was janitor, at the centre of the multi-million-dollar explosion.

HIDDEN WEALTH

Mrs. Alice Hilton of Belleville, and her three children, above, celebrated her 80th birthday at a banquet in the Hotel Quinte last night. Also present were a number of her grandchildren and her two daughters-in-law and her son-in-law. Shown in the above photo, are from left to right: Charles Hilton of Trenton, the mother, Mrs. Alice Hilton, Mrs. Thomas Marshall, Fort Erie and W. W. Hilton of London, Ont. (Photo by Georgeson.)

Hilton Family Reunion Held On 'Granny's' 80th Birthday

A family reunion was combined with a birthday banquet in the Hotel Quinte in Belleville last night when the children and grandchildren of Mrs. Alice Hilton, 78 Front St., Belleville, were feted at a turkey banquet.

Mrs. Hilton was also celebrating her 80th birthday and is the wife of the late Henry Hilton, who was killed in action during the First World War.

Attending the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hilton of Trenton and their children, William, Frederick, Jack, Beverly and Sharon; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marshall of Fort Erie, Ont. and their daughter, Alice Mary; and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hilton of London, Ont. and their children Susane and Jeffery. Other grandchildren were left at home due to their tender years.

Mrs. Hilton came to Canada 50 years ago from London, England, in 1908 and after spending a year in Montreal came to live in Belleville. Mr. Hilton's first job was at the Hotel Quinte as a desk clerk, after it had been rebuilt following a destructive fire. He worked for the salary of $20 per month.

Prior to coming to Canada the late Mr. Hilton had served 18 years in the British Navy and after coming to Canada on the outbreak of First World War, he joined up with the 21st Battalion of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. "Pop" Wallace and Mike Harrison served in the same company with him.

With the rank of Sergeant, the late Mr. Hilton was killed on April 17, 1918, during the battle of Ypres. His oldest son, Charles, was only six years old when he left with the forces and has only a faint memory of his father.

Despite her 80 years Mrs. Hilton is extremely spry and suffers no ailments. Her greatest joy is being with her family and her grandchildren. During the banquet a large birthday cake was brought in to be cut by Mrs. Hilton while her family sang "Happy Birthday."

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Wilfred Redcliffe, 40, of Havelock has been found guilty of criminal negligence in the highway death of Minika Bruchman, 21, of Hamilton, a Queen's University student. He was remanded to Monday for sentence.

Miss Bruchman and a classmate, Theodore Mooij, 21, of Kingston, were killed July 11 when the car in which they were riding collided with one driven by Redcliffe on Highway 7 near Havelock, 25 miles east of here.

STRANGE COMMUNIST STRATEGY

The Chinese Communists have announced that on even-numbered days they will exempt airstrips, beaches and docking areas on the Nationalist-held off-shore islands from shelling.

This is puzzling.

This will enable the Nationalists to bring in more supplies, and more troops if they so desire. Indeed, the Communist announcement said these areas would be exempt to permit supplies to be brought in.

When the shelling of Quemoy started a few weeks ago, it was considered an effort to blockade the islands and at one time it appeared that the Communist guns would shut off the flow of supplies.

Now the pattern of the firing has been changed to eliminate the element of a blockade.

What possible reason can the Communists have for such a policy?

Could it be that this is an effort to win support amongst the civilian population by permitting needed supplies to reach them?

The difficulty with this theory is that if the airstrips, beaches and docks are not shelled, then the shells must be falling in areas where civilians' lives may be endangered. Nobody has yet proven that the way to win a friend is to permit him to eat while blowing up his home.

There is another possible theory, that the Communists may want to see the U.S. and Nationalists pour men and supplies on the islands, in order that the booty will be rich when these islands fall to the Communists. This was the manner in which the Communists operated when, comparatively ill-armed and out-numbered, they started to drive Chiang Kai-shek from the mainland.

Surely, though, they must realize the difference between permitting Nationalist columns to penetrate the hills, and there surrounding them and capturing their arms, and expecting to succeed in an assault which might bring the U.S., with its nuclear weapons, into the war.

Lastly there is the possibility that the Communists are not dreaming of capturing the islands but merely wish to see them maintained as a continual drain on U.S. supplies and Nationalist manpower. This makes more sense, but even here one would have supposed that rather than exempting airfields, beaches and docks from shelling the Communists would merely have reduced the bombardment to a point where continued use of the areas would have been encouraged.

It seems difficult to suggest a theory which makes sense out of the Communists' strategy. Of one thing, though, we can be sure. It is not designed to make things easier for Chiang, or for the U.S.

A HAIR STYLE TO MATCH PERSONALITY

'A hair style keyed to your personality - - that's what you get when you visit So-And-So's beauty salon.'

That promise was made in a "Beauty News" advertisement appearing in the Vancouver Sun. It gives pause for thought - - or it would if similar invitations were extended to the males of the species.

In the first place, the male would ask, which personality? Something to match that gay dog that was me last night, at the party, when I had that little blonde off in the corner and the lights were low? That would be attractive. Or something in key with that old clod which was presumably me that I dragged out to work this morning? What a horrible thought. A spruce style to match my crisp, efficient procedure when I hit the boss up for a raise this afternoon? Or something windblown to go well with the fishing togs I now have on? Of course, somebody will object that none of these four facets of me really adds up to myself and that a style keyed to personality will not need constant changing, because a person's personality does not change, although his moods may.

All of which brings us to the question of whether a hair style keyed to personality would be an asset. The answer, of course, depends on one's personality. If it is pleasing, the hair style would match. But if the personality is unattractive, what then?

THINK FOR YOURSELF

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Who does your thinking for you, little man?
Whose ideas are you dependent on? today?
Who solves for you life's purpose and its plan?
What people form the prayers you nightly say?
Have you a reason for the faith you hold
Except that So and So has made it known?
Are your opinions always what you've been told?
Have you no thoughts that are your very own?

Think for yourself, the man who does so wins,
For you are steward of your soul on earth.
You be the judge of virtues and of sins,
You be the one to say what is of worth.

God didn't put you here to merely live,
To dumbly follow where another leads;
To all, the power of reasoning did He give
Then why be bound to narrow faith and creeds?

Follow another if your judgment tells
That where he goes you, too, would choose to tread.
But if against him once your mind rebels,
Refuse to take another step ahead.

You are to solve life's mystery for you;
His answers only for himself alone.
You be the judge of what is false and true;
Be not afraid to tread the way unknown.

Strivi ... Is the Key

Montreal Gazette

Stephen Leacock once said that if he were building a university, he would first build a library; then he would build next to it a smoking room; and then, if he had any money left, he would hire some professors.

What Stephen Leacock meant of course, is that the best part of what any student learns, he must learn for himself. His professors may help in building, but the powers of reception cannot be merely passive. The student must become the active learner, putting himself into his studying.

All the great university leaders today believe that the Leacockian type of university would serve the purpose he had in mind. Strange to say, while students are flocking, by the thousand, to enter the universities, too many are not ready to exert themselves as students after they have arrived there. All too many are brought to the academic years trailing their unpreparedness behind them.

Doubts about Leacock's ideas were expressed a few days ago in a speech by Dr. Murray G. Ross, vice-principal of the University of Toronto. "Many of our students today," he says, "would be lost in such a university. They don't understand that they have the prime responsibility in the learning process."

Yet students are not a class by themselves, living in a world of their own. They come to the universities out of Canadian homes. They bring with them the attitudes, the mental life and work that their environment has developed. Their weaknesses in their attitudes reflects the want of struggle and striving in their environment. It was the western civilization as a whole, not in Communist countries, whether in Russia or in China, students are described as having a "don't care" attitude. In the Communist society, as Dr. Ross explains, there is a sense of urgency in overcoming their countries' backwardness. That desire to catch up, to make good for the lost centuries, explains why in the collective effort is seen in the attitudes of Communist students. They work hard workers. If they do not struggle and strive in their university work, they are dismissed, as being unworthy alike of their country and their opportunities.

The western world, however, feels far less of this spirit of struggle and striving.

There is even a feeling that too much ambition is somehow unsocial and unfair, and unfortunately frustrating to the ambitious. The more acceptable social attitude is to cultivate leisure rather than effort, to adjust to mediocrity rather than to seek distinction. At its worst this attitude-style must become accepting (almost enforcing) standards of sloppiness and indifference.

Dr. Ross gives this examples: "None of the highest boys I know — 14 years of age and able to do college work in some subjects — deliberately seeks not to secure any grade higher than 50 per cent in school, lest he find himself in distavor in his group. This hostility to excellence or special interest to us because it poses the greatest threat to the university."

It is highly unlikely that a Communist student would do less than his best, in order to have the security of social acceptance.

It may be said, and very truly said, that while Communist effort is based on fear, and western striving, the aims are culturally poor. The western world, by force of contrast, has the accumulated treasure of its great past behind it.

But it should never be forgotten that what is finest in civilization has been built and created by those who were dominated by the fear and the pernicious feeling that the best is not acceptable to the group. Such striving is human, that personal effort to excel is primarily motivated by man's instinct to society is the appropriate therapy for the ambitious and the fear of failure. Above all the more damaging for its development.

There is the line in Faust: "Who ever strives unceasingly shall redeem." On this spirit of constant striving the fate of the western world may rest. And if Communist striving is seemed to be explored by unworthy motives, the western striving should match the worthiness of its own aims.

Anything less than the best effort should be recognized as failure. For failure it is.

Let's Have Some Insults

Vancouver Sun

What this country needs is a good, healthy artistic Donnybrook. All the ingredients are there but, no holds barred battle of the bards.

It seems increasingly evident.

Item: Visiting British novelist Eric Linklater say a "school" of Canadian writers is "producing very young men" on San Francisco's "best poets"? could help matters. Here is a plain recognition at home by drawing attention abroad.

Item: Visiting Mexican painter Andres Salgo heard his work called "junk" by Victoria artists. He called them "house painters."

Result: Salgo left B.C. "richer in experience, friendship and money." Several Victoria painters, never heard of before, have suddenly, at least locally, at least briefly. But they have been heard.

Actually, it's not the painters who need his pepping up.

The writers here are pretty well for peed in this modern age. But our literary artists and playwrights are generally unknown, unconsidered in their homeland. They deserve better things to be.

What is needed is somebody to get down into action. They could be called, provocatively but unfairly, the Toronto bunch of writers in the English language. But they must be called names "junk".

For something deeply infuriating is necessary. There can be no doubt that Canada's writers are the most close-mouthed, self-effacing, dumb lot of writers in the world.

You can say Canadian writings are garbage (and for the sake of argument, we do say it.) Not a peep. Not a letter to the editor. You can say (and we do say it) that they totally lack originality, they're nothing but a second-class lot of mimics. Not so much as a growl.

With one feeble exception in Montreal, you don't cry out "See here, we're Canadian, we have something to say and we say it well and you just listen to us!" They haven't the guts.

That's what the Toronto crowd is doing. And the US is listening to them. That's what the Group of Seven did for Canadian painting. And Group Seven — and the world — looked at their work.

British Columbia has probably got a higher ratio of artists of the different fields per square head of population than any other part of Canada. And most of them are in and around Vancouver.

They don't somebody insult somebody? Boys, as Salgo found out in Victoria, it pays off.

Has to Read 3,000 Letters

Montreal Gazette

Next time you feel the urge to write the United Nations, pause long enough to think of the poor man who will have no choice but to read your letter. She is Mrs. Dorothy Goodeve and her job is that of Chief of the Public Inquiries Unit.

Mrs. Frank and her staff receive about 3,000 letters a week. Some of the letters are purely political in character, are sent out by the dozen with the Security Council supplies, while, of the letters from individuals, are "thoughtful' and 'intelligent' are answered by Mrs. Frank's department. Naturally, of course, the letter-writers described as "kooks".

There is, e.g., the man from Mexico who averages around 1,000 words a week, asking for personal advice, or birthday greetings. He has written in many ways marks his letters 'very important'. One man's letter was a plea to get out of jail in order to join the Foreign Legion. Another, a number, expressed a desire of being "the first off the moon". Still another, from others send "request for money, or personal advice, or birthday greetings to the Queen.

Nevertheless among the multitudes of letters there are a remarkably large proportion are set, the sound, helpful type. The kind of letter that prompts concern to correspondents in every part of the world. Many people, is the prayers, and messages of encouragement, to Mr. Hammarskjold.

Considering her day-in-day-out routine, it is perhaps surprising that letter-reading is not considered by Mrs. Frank's routine duty activities. Indeed, she herself says that when she gets down to the apartment on East Side, she "can hardly stand reading anything."

After all, it could be the man from Mexico.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEARNING FROM THE HUMBLE

I have often wondered why it was that Jesus took him in his ministry mostly those who were humble folk. I have always been interested in the workers who deserves near the ocean, the fisher people and those earning their living from the sea. They are intelligent and friendly. I have known many personally, and have been the better for such friendships.

I care not as to the work a man does, for as Burns says, it is the sincerest ones our confidence a n d thanks. All work is dignified and worthy. Even the humblest work or deserves our notice and our interest. I have learned a great deal from these humble, uncomplaining workers. They are splendid citizens. Their acquaintance is worth our effort, to learn more about their home, family, for we owe them so much.

There is a lot of difference between the uneducated and the unintelligent.

I always learn something to my profit, after talking with those who work out in the big open spaces, and those in the humbler walks of life. I have gotten many an idea from a good taxi driver, for instance. He will take such a job, after having a better one which was taken from him because of illness.

As a youth I was interested in the parts of work, and especially only a rebel the smell of the fresh harness hanging all over the place. Time and change have shoved such things to the distant, forgotten the highly honored blacksmith shops! Long live such memories.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

NURSING DOESN'T CAUSE THE BREAST TO SAG

"Dear Dr. Molner: Why, after you nurse a baby, does your breast sag? How can you dry the milk up? And how can you make the breast firm again?—Mrs. K."

By golly, I think it's time I took the space to answer that sort of question, because, in one form or other, it keeps coming to me.

I won't bother to start any debate about the way American fashion of being unduly chest-conscious. I'm just old enough to remember the days when the "boyish figure" was supposed to be fashionable, and chic young ladies in Jo Hardy drawings would do anything to appear leggy, awkward and flat-chested. They wore clothes to accentuate their flatness, they starved themselves, they flattened their shoulders, they slouched and I am told on good authority that some even knew to use wide adhesive tape to flatten their supra-thoracic curves when they wanted to get sharped up for flatness in a hurry. In those days, Jayne whistlermamma would have been way out of style, poor critter.

Anyway, the nursing doesn't change the size. It's not that the breasts enlarge for the purpose, but they don't shrink unduly between there is, for a time, a sag.

An important and much-overlooked factor is that many women lose weight all over during pregnancy. The delivery will be easier, the mother and baby safer, and quicker weight all, I've known quite a few cases where the patient has actually lost pounds during pregnancy and were the better for it.

MILK CAN BE CONTROLLED

To get to the meat of the matter questions that I was asked, milk flow, if for any reason it needs to be cut off, can be controlled by certain hormones which your physician can prescribe if you care variantly it.

In general, when nursing ceases, the fullness of the breast will subside and obviously there will be some sagging until the skin tension tightens.

If you've gained too much weight and then lost it, the tissues have been stretched too much, and will take time to return toward its former tautness.

But to have a baby at 23, for instance, and expect to return to the figure you had at 17—well, you can't do that with or without a baby. So control your weight, stand up straight, and, like many a movie star, learn that babies may alter your figure a bit, but won't make you less attractiv. Rather, a mature figure is more attractive to a mature man — such, as your husband.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that gray hair is a sign of iodine in the body and if that is true, should drops of iodine in water daily, the natural color of the hair will return in time?—Mrs. H. T."

No. There's nothing true about that. Some old wives' people, that amount of iodine might do no harm. Graying hair is due to chemical changes in hair pigment.

Hypnotism No Plaything

Hartford Courant

Hypnotism, or as it used to be called, mesmerism (Mesmer) mesmerism, has been kicked around now for nearly 100 years. It has had its ups and downs, and there is some evidence that it has been enjoying one of the up periods. Quite a few psychiatrists have been using it gingerly. But the unversed have been rushing in where it as a parlor game, or trick.

Now comes the American psychiatric Association, warning that hypnotism is a dangerous practice and that it should be discontinued even by trained psychiatrists because it "may cause psychological treatment. The statement cited several instances of disturbances followed hypnosis. But there are other cogent reasons why any sensible person will rebel at the thought of being hypnotized.

For one thing, it creates a feeling of dependency on the hypnotist. It freezes the patient's personality at an immature level. It tends to weaken the individual incapable of mastering his problems in a rational way. Indiscriminate hypnotizing by performers, laymen, and amateurs is the way to invite others is an abuse of the human mind that should be outlawed.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

If the sound goes off when you are watching a drama on TV, you are suddenly left entirely in the dark as to what is going on.

But if it is a comedy, you find, to your astonishment, that you don't have to have the sound. You can follow the show perfectly well without it.

It is true that in the days of the old silent movies, the subtitles on the screen during comedies. But mostly it was left to the actors' facial expressions to convey all the meaning there was to comedy.

It is true to this day. Ninety per cent of 1928 comedies of the silent movie comedy of 1918, the gestures and actions of comedians are so stereotyped, the jokes so telegraphed by facial expression, double-take and pratfall, that it begins to look as if comedy were an ancient thing that requires no modern devices to help it along.

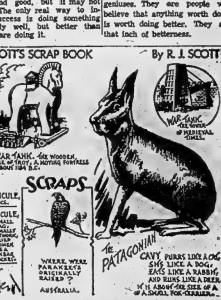
Or else comedy has lagged so far behind the rest of the entertainment profession that modern communications media seem to be unable to help it.

At all events, comedians don't trust modern techniques. So they rotate the actions and gestures of the old silent comedians. And Skelton is still entertaining without sound. And I get a good deal of Bob Hope and Jack Benny reruns on the new TV sound reel on the hummer, and I never heard a word they said. Just their facial expressions aroused me satisfactorily.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THAT EXTRA INCH OR SO



Someone has said that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well. The idea is an improvement over the statement so often heard that what is worth doing at all is worth doing poorly. It seems to me it is worth doing better.

There is a story of two young men who can surpass their fellows by that little inch or so of betterness. One, born to wealth and fortune, or what appears to be good fortune, has a life of much success. But this is a mysterious something upon which we cannot count with any certainty. It is well and good, but it may not come. The only way to be sure success is doing something not only well, but better than others are doing it.

Of course there are people who discover oil fields and gold mines. There are others who inherit wealth. But the really successful people are in a different class. They are those who have that extra inch or so of betterness. They are those who have learned Genius? Oh yes, there are a few geniuses in the world but certainly not more than one in a million. The successful people are seldom geniuses. They are people who believe that anything worth doing is worth doing better. They add that inch of betterness.

Bill Wonnacott, Son George Move 28-Year-Old Jewellery Business to New Location

The W. Wonnacott and Son jewellery firm is a business of long standing in Belleville. Bill Wonnacott started his own jewellery store in March of 1930, after having served on the staff of a small firm which manufactured rings, chains, and jewellery to special order.

Taking over the previous business of J. J. Rownlree at 29 Bridge Street East, Mr. Wonnacott built up his business until 1949 when he was joined by his son, George to form the present firm. The firm, now located at 247 Front Street, still maintains its own repair shop on the premises and the father and son continue in their specialty of supplying and setting diamonds to special order.

Both father and son were raised and educated in Belleville. Bill, the father, graduated from the old Belleville High School, formerly the Grier St. school, and George graduated from BCIVS. Both are ardent fishermen, although George also goes in for hunting.

Bill, a former bandsman with the 21st battalion in the First Great War, was also a hockey player in his earlier years playing on a local "jewellers' team and a Kiwanis team. Both are interested in YMCA work, Bill being one of the original members of the present YMCA and George being active as an instructor in life saving and in the Boys' Camp.

MOVE TO FRONT ST.

Moving into their new location, where the T. Blackburn jewellery store once was, is a long term proposition for the future of the W. Wonnacott and Son firm. According to Bill Wonnacott, the senior member of the partnership, the old location on east Bridge St. was becoming too poor a location with the cutting off of parking on that street in the late afternoons and with the possibility of the post office and the L.C.B. store being relocated. It is expected that the new location on Front Street should soon absorb the cost of moving with the amount of increased traffic which the location offers.

On the family side, Bill and his wife, Edna, are the proud grandparents of four young Belleville residents. Two of them, Douglas Wonnacott, six years, and Mary Wonnacott, one year, are the children of George and his wife Alice. The other two are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Maclean — David, eight years, and Nancy, three years.

It is evident that the Wonnacotts, both as a family and as a business, are keeping pace with Belleville's progress and future.

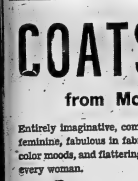
Quinte Field Naturalists See Sun Movie

On October 27, the Quinte Field Naturalists held their monthly meeting in the Entomology Laboratory. Routine business was conducted by the president, who also introduced the speakers.

Mrs. Hanna, a member of the club, was presented with a bird feeder in recognition of her recent marriage.

Mr. John Perry, teacher of physical education, and junior science at Quinte Secondary School, showed pictures and gave an interesting talk on astronomy. His maps of the sky marked by many constellations and planets provided an excellent introduction to the picture that followed, "Our Sun", a movie shown by courtesy of the Bell Telephone, traced the slowly growing knowledge of the sun from early days when it was worshipped as a god to the present research on the possibility of using its power for many commercial needs.



Mr. Flanigan of the Bell Telephone operated the lantern and added explanations that greatly added to the interest.

At the close of the program, Miss Florence Fitzgerald expressed the thanks of the club to Mr. Perry and Mr. Flanigan.

A short social hour was later enjoyed by all present.

Middle East Expert Says No Simple Answer Exists For Problems of That Area

"There is no simple answer to the Middle East question," stated Dr. J. B. Hardie last evening as addressed the Women's Canadian Club in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church assembly room, on the topic "Stress and Strains in the Middle East and North Africa."

Dr. Hardie, professor of Hebrew and Old Testament writing at Pine Hill University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, was born in Scotland, receiving his education at Glasgow University where he obtained his M.A. B.D., and PhD. degrees. Following war service in the Imperial Army, he came to Canada and was "ordopted" by the Maritime Province. He is a member of the Canadian Intelligence Corps, and a frequent lecturer for the Army Bureau of Current Affairs.

Replying to the introduction by the president, Mrs. E. G. Fairman, Dr. Hardie complimented his great pleasure in lecturing in this part of Canada, and proceeded to unfold, to an intensely interested audience, the status of the Middle East, and the underlying causes of unrest which have come to the fore in this lengthy stay in that portion of the world. His knowledge of the Arabic language gave him a close intimacy with the Arabs and their innermost thoughts.

"A knowledge of the eastern languages is most important, and essential in the understanding of other peoples; language is the soul of a people, and to understand them you must understand and speak their language."

Dr. Hardie is a fluent linguist, also speaking Latin, French and Greek.

In the past 11 years Canada has taken a wonderful place in world politics; other nations are looking to her for opinions and contributions, especially in the east; and yet one half of Canada does not know how the other half lives, he said. It is necessary to learn to know vastly different parts of the world, before her influence is being felt. There is too much insularism in Canada, especially in English - speaking Canada.

"Why events take place, rather than the event, is the important thing," said Dr. Hardie, and to find this out one must try to interpret the people and their lives. In bringing this vividly to mind, he said, it is very of what comprises the Middle East. The ancient and the group of countries comprising it; its 400,000,000 people (Moslems); its common language, Arabic, and its one common religion. The Middle East was once a vast empire, and today it is a big political factor.

The characteristics of the Arab world are varied. It is an area of great contrast; it possesses rich, luxurious lands in Egypt; the waste of Sinai desert; it is organized and it is disorganized. There are no political parties as is known to Canada. Central figures, similar to a magnet, draws others to him, as does Nasser. Some say that if Nasser were ousted, peace would reign; it would not, as some other influential figure would step into the gap. Nasser is the symptom of the unrest riding the Middle East on the crest. He is the most popular single man today in the Middle East. Others say Israel is the cause, and some that Communism is but they are not the whole cause.

The Middle East is politically immature. It has been trying democracy for but 40 years, and it is not working out because it has not had sufficient time. The western world has taken 600 years to get to the place in democracy it enjoys today. The Eastern world is discouraged, has become embittered and disillusioned, and has fallen under military dictatorship of men who have been trained to lead.

The problem in the Middle East is social inequality; there is a small upper class, five per cent of the population, and a large lower class comprising 95 per cent. There is no middle class, only the very rich, and the very poor. The rich live in the lap of luxury, and the poor in shanties or old gasoline cans for homes, and any rubbis that can be found to make a shelter.

The Arab is very proud; he can be led, but not driven; where the Canadian or the peoples of the Western world d'as one problems quietly; he yells he punches, and then stabs; he acts first and thinks last; he is not logical, but emotional; acts quickly. The Arab has a long cultural heritage; he is friendly but will not be pushed around by the West, and is open to understanding.

Three world religions come from the East, Judaism, Christianity and Islam. The Middle East is the land where between three continents, Asia, Africa and Europe. Communication routes have always passed through the Middle East.

Napoleon once said: "He who holds the Middle East, holds the world." It is the strategic cross-roads of the world; it is the contact line between democracy on the south and Communism on the north, and here the battle for men's minds takes place, concluded the speaker.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. Dorothy McKenna, of the C.A.S., to which the president added her appreciative thanks.

Coffee was served.

EGGLETON M.B.

MADOC, JUNCTION — On Friday afternoon the October meeting of the Eggleton Mission Band was held in the school with 25 children and three adults in attendance.

Audrey Stapley presided over a program, which had been prepared by Sheila Clarke and Grant Reid.

The worship centre had in the background a picture of a Mission Boat and in the front the Bible, offering plate and a group of polished red apples.

For the Scripture lesson, Sandra Danford read the 23rd Psalm

An interesting reading, "The Little Children", was given by Beverley Stapley.

While Sharon Reide played soft music, little Teddy Clarke gathered the Thank-Offering envelopes.

A poem "Never Let Your Right Know Left", was read by Diane Prest. A duet, sung by Marilyn Stapley and Sharon Reide was greatly appreciated.

The leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy gave a short talk on "Canda" and explained that the Thank-Offering money from Junior Mission Bands this autumn would be used for a special object — "Sunday School in the home by Mail and Air"; Mission boats, like the one known in the worship centre, travel along the coast of Labrador and along the British Columbia west coast, stopping at several points to leave supplies.

Mrs. Clancy also presented in story form, the 2nd chapter, — "Japanese Doll" from the new study book — "Ten Pairs of Shoes".

Delicious homemade fudge candy was served by Wayne McMullen.

MASSE — WRIGHT

A lovely autumn wedding was solemnized recently in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle by the Reverend Seckville Palmer, pator, assisted by the Reverend George Wright, of the United Church, Canton, Ontario, uncle of the bride, when Lois Ellen Wright, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wellsley Wright, of Belleville, became the bride of Joseph Raymond Masse, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Masse, of Belleville R. P. No. 3

Multi-colored gladioli and ferns formed a pretty background for the ceremony, and white satin bows marked the guest pews.

Mrs. G. Wright, ATCM, of Canton, Ontario, aunt of the bride, presided at the organ, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. James MacKay, of Belleville, who sang before the ceremony "O Promise Me", and during the signing of the register "The Wedding Prayer."

The radiant bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charmingly gowned in floor-length silk illusion over taffeta and satin, a fitted bodice, pointed at the waist and having an oval neckline outlined by Alencon lace and tiny short sleeves edged with appliqued Alencon lace motifs. The following, illusion tiered skirt over taffeta, was accented with an illusion overskirt edged with matching lace, cascading to the back in an oval sweep. She wore long, matching mitts lily-pointed at the wrists, with matching lace inserts. The coronet headdress of matching lace, outlined with pear-shaped seed pearls and iridescent sequins, held her oval veil of tulle illusion, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Talisman roses, a single strand of cultured pearls completed her ensemble.

She was attended by Miss Jane Townsend, of Belleville, as maid of honor, gowned in Copenhagen blue taffeta having a torso type bodice of lace with square neckline, tiny half-cap sleeves. The ballerina-length skirt was accented by puffed side panniers, and taffeta back bow. She wore matching shoes, gloves and headdress, and carried a nosegay of pink roses centered by pink roses and outlined by lacelon frill.

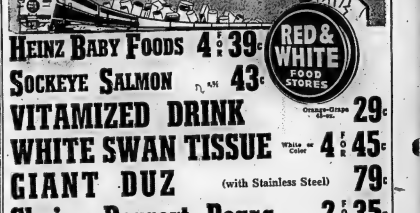
Mrs. George Fairbeck, Belleville, and Miss Barbara Davis, also of Belleville, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in pink nylon chiffon fashioned with molded bodices with overnecklines and half-capped sleeves, the tight bodices accented by wide, tucked cummerbands of pink shading into deep rose, high pointed at the side fronts and cascading at the back into wide panels accented in pink and rose. They wore half silhouette headdresses in rose pink shades with open work crowns, and carried nosegays of pink and white roses accentuated with lacelon frills.

Mr. Paul Masse, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, while Mr. Wilbur Wright, of Bay, of Arthur, Ontario, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. Maurice Wright, of Canton, Ontario, cousin of the bride, ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in Holloway St. United Church parlors which were prettily decorated with baskets of multi-colored chrysanthemums and gladioli.

The bride's table was attractively appointed with white lines damask, and centred by a three-tier, pillared, all-white wedding cake, topped by a tiny cluster of white baby 'mums, and pink rosettes. Pink tulle and clusters of tiny pink gladioli florets encircled the base, while tall, pink candles in silver holders and the bridal bouquets completed the setting.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, gowned in street-length French blue crystal, accenting an empire waist line, with oval scooped neckline and full, gathered skirt, with navy accessories, and corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted in the receiving line, wearing slate blue Vilcora in street length, with baby pink accessories, and corsage of pale pink Sweetheart roses.



For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and area, the bride chose a Copenhagen blue wool sheath with pink hat and gloves, black accessories and corsage of pink, feathered carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Masse will reside in Belleville.

Guests were present from Arnprior, Oshawa; Canton, Ontario; Cresswell, Carrying Place, Inverary, Ontario; Lindsay, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Trenton and Stirling.

In reference to her marriage the bride was entertained at a pre-nuptial tea by the W.M.S. of the Alliance Tabernacle, when she was the recipient of a stem vase and electric tea kettle, held at the home of Miss Carolyn Bowerbank at a presentation by the bride's former school chums of Quinte Secondary School, held at the home of Miss Jane Townsend, Highland Ave., Belleville, when a setting of silver was presented, and at a miscellaneous shower given by ladies of the Alliance Tabernacle, held at the home of Mrs. E. Pickard, Alexander St.

Wedding

McCAFFERY — COULTER

TWEED — A lovely autumn wedding was solemnized recently in St. John's Church, Moneymore, when Miss Eleanor Alice Coulter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coulter, of Roslin, became the bride of Arthur Henry McCaffery, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McCaffery, of Corbyville. The Reverend Dalton Woodyard, of Roslin, performed the ceremony.

Vases of white gladioli adorned the altar and baskets of autumn flowers decorated the chancel. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Wedding music was played by the church organist, Mrs. Earl Alexander, while the choir sang the hymn, "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white net and lace over taffeta. The gown featured a lace bodice trimmed with rhinestones, lace bolero with long fitted sleeves, and a round Peter Pan collar. Her finger-tip veil of circular embroidered lily-of-the-valley net was fastened to a pearl tiara headdress. She carried a white Bible decorated with pink sweetheart roses, and baby's breath from which fell white ribbon knotted with rosebuds.

The maid of honor was Miss Margaret Brown, who wore mint green nylon over taffeta with balerina - length skirt featuring a nylon panel falling from the centre back to the hemline. She wore a matching picture hat and mitts, and carried a nosegay of white and yellow Sweetheart roses and baby 'mums.

Miss Wilma McCaffery, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. She wore a gown identical to that of the maid of honor, only in yellow, and carried a nosegay of white and yellow Sweetheart roses and baby 'mums.

The groomsman was Mr. Mark Wagar, of Belleville, and the ushers were Mr. Fred Furmidge of Corbyville, and Mr. Gordon Carleton, of Roslin.

The home of the bride's parents was attractively decorated with pink and white streamers, white wedding bells, and baskets of autumn flowers, for the wedding reception which followed the ceremony.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses and topped with a wreath of pink roses and two love birds holding a wedding band. Those who served were two cousins, Miss Linda Ruckstuhl, and Miss Bonnie Borley, Mrs. Walter Chisholm and Miss Ruth Morgan.

The bride's mother received the guests wearing a blue tailored dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

The bridegroom's mother assister wearing a black tailored dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

For the wedding trip to Fort Hope, Hamilton and Niagara, the bride chose a blue tweed suit with black accessories, and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

Guests were present from Belleville, Corbyville, Cannilton, Roslin, Halloway and Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaffery will reside in Roslin, Ontario.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower, held at the home of Mrs. Walter Chisholm with Miss Margaret Howes as co-hostess. Mrs. Ted Aikens also entertained at a shower in honor of the bride at her home in Sidney.

Waistline Can Tell Lot About Any Period

TORONTO (CP) — Women's fashions can tell a lot about the economy and morals of a period, says Tamara Lavery, fashion expert attached to the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, England.

"When you find a woman with her waistline in the right place and enormous bouffant skirts," he said, "you will know she is not fully emancipated; that males are dominant and economy is expanding."

But when "the waist is displaced, when dresses are straight and skimpy, you find bad money, female emancipations and prematurity," he said.

"Today, we can't seem, psychologically, to put the waist in its right place. It's either very high or very low. This may result in us moving forward into an era of peace, good money, family influence and natural waistlines. Or it may mean the irreversible emancipation of women."

He dealt with the question: "Do women dress to please men or to please other women?"

"Women dress in competition with other women to please themselves by attracting men."

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Cronkright are pictured signing the register in Bethany United Church, Corbyville, Ontario, following their recent marriage. The bride is the former Miss Helen Phyllis McPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McPherson, Belleville R.R. 6, and her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Cronkright, of R.R. 1, Halloway, Ont. Slim, Active Woman of 79 Regains Voice After 28 yrs.

TORONTO (CP) — A hundred men and women trying to break a silence barrier here have a slim, active woman of 79 as their inspiration.

At the age of 47 Mrs. Jessie Freer lost her voice after a throat operation. It was 28 years before she regained the ability to speak.

Now she is the oldest in a group of former cancer patients studying speech therapy here as one of the first courses of its type in Canada.

Many of them still cannot talk after vital laryngectomy operations which saved their lives but took away their voice-producing larynxes.

FINE EXAMPLE

But they have a will to speak again which has been strengthened by the case of Jessie Freer.

Study of the disease was ill, in infancy when the Scots-born ex-schoolteacher had the operation in 1927. She was believed to have been the first Canadian to survive it.

At the time she supported her invalid husband by working with a Toronto law firm. To go into hospital she resigned her job—but the firm refused to accept her resignation, paid her for two years while she was away 'and kept the job open until she returned.

When she came back she couldn't speak a word. But she had been given the encouragement she needed.

"I don't know what would have been my future but for that wonderful firm," she says.

Her home and office left little time for hobbies but work. Her husband died in 1942 and when she retired in 1953 she found she had "no contact with the outside world at all."

The next two years were intensely lonely. Then she had the invitation that changed her life—to a speech-therapy course organized by the International Laryngectomy Association in Cleveland.

She was the oldest student there. During the second week a delegate asked her a question and "to my utter amazement and joy I found myself answering back—not very clearly, but with a recognizable voice."

Today her voice is almost back to normal. She chats happily with friends and neighbors—"a most fortunate woman," she calls herself.

Students in the week - long course at Toronto are being taught to produce speech vibrations through the stomach, instead of the larynx.

Held in the Princess Margaret hospital, it is being sponsored by the Canadian Cancer Society, the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation, and Toronto University.

WEDDING PLANS NOT RESPONSIBILITY OF GROOM'S MOTHER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine, a widow, has an only child, a daughter, who was married recently. The groom arrived home one week before the wedding, and from that day on his mother completely took over, ignoring the girl's mother at all times. Every minute of the girl's spare time was spent at the home of her future in-laws. The arrangements for the wedding and reception would have been very lovely and happy ones except that the groom's mother insisted she have everything her own way and when she didn't, she became angry and sulked. She didn't even want the bride's mother at the church for the rehearsal.

The bride's mother is a wonderful person, very much respected, and has a soul of goodness. The groom's mother caused her to have many embarrassing moments, making critical remarks about the fact that the bride's mother's clothes were not all new for the wedding (although she really looked more attractive and better-groomed than the groom's mother); delaying the reception and all the other activities for half an hour while she talked in another room with the bride; and so forth. Her tactics embarrassed me, too, as I was Mistress of Ceremonies and also in charge of refreshments.

Am I right in thinking the groom's mother was very much out-of-place in putting herself forward so much? It seemed to me she showed herself a selfish, unmannerly person. (I have had three daughters married, and never did I have any embarrassment or trouble with their grooms' families.)

Your answer, Mrs. Beeckman, might spare some other widowed mother of an only child the hurt, embarrassment and unhappiness that my friend had at the wedding of her only child. — The Friend

You are indeed a good and loyal friend to be such a bulwark to the bride's mother at this important time when she so much needed your warmhearted understanding and co-operation. Of course the groom's mother was a bit completely out of order in taking over any plans and arrangements of the wedding, since these were the responsibility of the bride's mother, who actually was the hostess of the occasion — with your assistance as Mistress of Ceremonies.

The groom's mother is the woman guest of honor at a wedding . . . the bride's mother is the hostess. A courteous mother-of-the-groom knows and honors this tradition, makes no suggestions whatever unless consulted, and certainly shouldn't criticize a man's plans made by the bride's family.

But what I would like to know is: what was the bride-to-be doing about the wedding plans? Was she co-operating with her own mother or with the groom's mother? I am wondering about this, since you say, "Every minute of the girl's spare time was spent at the home of her future in-laws."

In such a confused situation, when there may indeed be two sides to consider, there's no advice better than that wise, time-tested advice: "The least said, the soonest mended." This will help to bring harmony to the various relationships now, and, most importantly, for the future.

GODPARENTS ARE NOT GIVEN GIFT . . . THE CHILD IS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We have asked very close friends of ours, a married couple, to be godparents at our baby's christening. Is it proper for us to give them a gift on this occasion? And should we give them money for the offering in the priest? — E. S.

It is not customary to give a gift to the godparents . . . as a matter of fact, it is customary for the godparents to give the baby a christening gift. And it is generally the child's father who hands to the priest the envelope containing the donation.

ST. ANDREWS W.M.S.

St. Andrew's Sr. and Jr. Auxiliaries held a joint Thanksgiving meeting, afternoon and evening on October 21st, with the president, Mrs. Parsons, presiding.

Satisfactory reports were heard from the different secretaries.

Mrs. John Craig had the worship period and was assisted by Miss Helen Blair, Mrs. Rollins, Mrs. Wallbridge and Mrs. McCullough.

At the conclusion of the business period, Mrs. Craig introduced the guest speaker of the meeting Miss Ruby Walker, Regional Secretary for Toronto and Kingston Synods.

For the "work shop" Miss Walker divided the members in three groups each with a problem to discuss and report to the entire group.

Quiz sheets, pertaining to the National Study, were distributed to each member, the answer revealing interesting information.

Display material, including books, maps and flash cards gave a visual assistance towards the study of Canada.

The afternoon Auxiliary was joined by the evening Auxiliary and all partook of a pot-luck supper.

Mrs. Pickard was in charge for the opening part of the program and after this, Miss Walker gave further leadership by directing a panel discussion on "program planning."

At the evening meeting a quartet by Mrs. R. D. MacLean, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Michaud and Mrs. Pickard, entitled, "Ivory Palaces" was enjoyed.

The Rev. R. D. MacLean closed the meeting.

Traveller Has Perspective On Problems

MONTREAL (CP)—Mary Cannon has returned to Montreal from a three-month European visit with a new perspective on some of the world's problems.

Miss Cannon, health education director of the YWCA here, represented Canada at a YWCA world seminar in Geneva, and attended the organization's membership conference in Athens.

"Canadians are not oblivious to the problems of illiteracy, or the plight of refugees, but we are removed from them," she said in an interview.

"It wasn't until I saw representatives from so many nations trying to solve these questions that the situation really hit home."

WORK IMPRESSES

She said she was impressed with the vast amount of work being done to improve relations between the East and West through various cultural and welfare organizations.

"And there's lot of work going on that we never hear about."

Sightseeing opportunities were plentiful during the trip and Miss Cannon said she made the most of them.

She was amazed at the ability of the Swiss to speak many languages. "They could switch from one language to another, with seemingly no effort," she said.

While in Greece, she toured Athens taking in historic sites and with several other YWCA delegates visited a small Greek village. They found the villagers hospitality "almost unbelievable."

"We were taken into their homes, sat down at tables and food just appeared. Nobody asked any questions. They just accepted us."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Gale G. — My husband won't defend me.

Gerald G. — She's old enough to defend herself.

Gale G. — My husband and I have been married eight years and are fairly happy except for one thing that has always caused fights between us. He will never defend me or show any loyalty when I am in conflict with anyone else.

I don't know why it is, but whenever I go to parties I get into spats, political and otherwise, with other people. Even when he happens to know that I'm right my husband won't come to my aid. I have also gotten into a few family spats with my family and his. Gerry will usually take the other person's side, no matter how wrong they are.

I do feel that he owes me loyalty whether I am right or wrong.

Gerald G. — Gale has managed to get herself into some of the most ridiculous messes with people and especially with relatives to get her out of them.

She calls me a coward, but I can't see any sense in fighting with people about things that aren't too important anyway. I don't think anybody ever convinces anyone of anything. What's the use of arguing? Everyone always goes away from a good argument more convinced than ever that he is right.

That isn't a fair test of loyalty. I am a faithful husband and am considered a devoted father. I don't see why I should also be expected to be a knight on a white charger. Gale is old enough to defend herself.

The Council: We'll back Gerald 100 per cent.

The fact that Gale constantly gets into spats is a fairly good sign that she seeks them. Naturally this is most embarrassing to her husband and he is right to refuse to be drawn into a childish battle. There is some justification for his taking sides against her. Perhaps he wants to soothe the ruffled feelings of someone in his wife has undertaken to hurt.

Gale should make an attempt to be more objective about these spats. If she really analyzes them and her feelings during the fight, she'll probably find that the issue involved was not terribly important to her, but that she had a strong desire for conflict. She might try to go over further and ask herself why she wanted conflict with the individual involved.

It is quite complicated and difficult to get at the roots of such behavior patterns, but it is not always necessary to understand it completely in order to keep it under control. If Gale is willing to acknowledge that she sometimes gets an irrational desire to fight, she may be able to find a more constructive outlet for this energy.

Group 2 Centre Hastings W.A. Holds 3rd Rally at Eggleton

The third rally of group 2 (Centre Hastings) of the Belleville Presbytery Woman's Association was held on October 23, at Eggleton United church with Mrs. A. N. Fyear presiding.

The devotional period was conducted by Mesdames Laycock, Hoover, McKeown, and Elliott of Bethel W.A. They chose as their theme, "Giving and Sharing our Talents, Time, and Money for the Lord."

Mrs. William McMullen, president of Eggleton W. A. graciously welcomed the guests.

Mrs. R. C. Jackson of Madoc, brought greetings from the Presbytery and urged each organization to set up a standard for their W. A. and then their ministry would be complete.

NEW OFFICERS

The 1959 rally will be held at Moira United Church with the new officers as follows: president — Salem; vice-presidents — Stirling; secretary — Eggleton; treasurer — Wellman.

Mrs. Angus Mumby of Moira sang a solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gordon Foster.

Approximately 100 ladies answered the roll call. These represented 16 W.A.'s of the 24 in this section. They have raised almost $10,000. in the past year by various means, including catering, bake sales, teas, bazaars. They have visited the sick and older folk with about 1500 calls reported.

Most report a great deal of re-decorating and general improvements to both parsonages and churches.

Mrs. Carman Sine had a splendid display of available literature and presented it to the audience.

The offering was gathered by Springbrook W. A. and dedicated by the president.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. R. A. Peterson of Stirling, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. D. P. Carruth of Toronto. Mrs. Carruth has been a president of Toronto Conference W.A.'s former Commissioner to General Council, and has been with the United Church Overseas Relief Depot for seven years.

Mrs. Carruth's subject, "What's My Line," graphically portrayed her work at the depot. Two full-time men are employed, with herself and they are helped by volunteers from the W.A.'s and W.M.S. of Toronto, four days a week.

She traced a bale of used clothing from the time it arrived until the time it has been sorted and sent on. She urged that the senders put their identification on their parcels and that each organization send the ten cents per pound as it is needed to carry on the work.

On October 30, 14 tons of supplies had been sent out to the Arab refugees in Lebanon, and all further supplies will be sent to them for the balance of the year.

Boys' clothing always seems to be in short supply, but with cash donations sent to her, she has been able to make special purchase of boys' wear.

"THE LONG STRIDE"

Mrs. Carruth made special mention of a free film, "The Long Stride" which is available either through the local ministers or the M. and M. representative to Presbytery. This is a film of the flight of the Hungarian refugees to freedom.

Work at the Relief Depot can be rewarding for the volunteers. All were reminded that the needs and work of the home United Church should come first. A worth while address was concluded with the words of Jesus, "Inasmuch as you have done it to the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me".

Thomasburg W. A. presented the courtesy report, and Mrs. Fyear pronounced the benediction.

The ladies of Eggleton church served afternoon tea.

Ambitious Convenors Need Large Quantity Help

by Mary Moore

You are the feasting crowd! Everybody! Every second one of you seems to be social convener for some huge banquet for a visiting celebrity.

Ideas for serving with the jellied salad: slice of ham rolled around a dill pickle; mound of cottage cheese topped with cheese-stuffed prunes; cheese-stuffed celery sticks; pickled crab-apple; cole slaw with shredded ham.

CHICKEN a la KING (serves 50): Five quarts (25 cups cooked chicken, cold and cut into cubes (or you may wish to use tuna that has been drained, 1 can of pimentos, chopped, 2 tablespoons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup chopped parsley, 2 pkgs. (12-oz.) frozen peas that have been parboiled (or to change the recipe for another time 1 lb. mushrooms that have been scrubbed, sliced sauted in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine), 13 cups white sauce. Combine chicken, pimiento, salt, pepper and parsley. Mix well Add chicken and peas to white sauce and heat over boiling water, stirring frequently. Serve either on buttered toast or in patty shells. To make White Sauce use — 1½ cups each butter or margarine and flour, 3 teaspoons salt, and 12 cups whole milk.

VITAMIN CONTENT

Raw vegetables and fruits are higher in vitamin and mineral content than those that have been cooked.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

THURSDAY

Baked Sausages; Kernel Corn sauted with Diced Green Pepper; Brussel Sprouts; Waldorf Salad; Fruit in Orange Jelly; Crackers and Cheese; Coffee.

SUNDAY

Appetizer: Vegetable Juice Cocktails with miniature Pretsels; Barbecued Pot Roast (see Wednesday); Fluffy Mashed Potatoes; Shredded Harvard Beets; Ice Cream; Lemon Cocoanut Squares; Coffee.

I guess gregariousness is a good thing. I know I seem to thrive on it — my theory is, if the house is shining clean and the tablecloths all ironed and I'm inviting some cake in for dinner, why not invite more.

This year I'm social convener of our branch of the Press Club so I come in for quite a bit of large quantity planning for them too.

Mrs. D. L. B's Church group is going to serve a jellied fruit salad to 200 people and she would like to know if she should buy fruit cocktail in tins or buy large tins of fruit and mix them. Would like a recipe and ideas for something to serve with it.

Mildred G. would like a recipe for Chicken a la King for 50, using frozen peas.

JELLIED FRUIT SALAD (for 48):

These are not large servings — a little under 4-oz each. Four packages of lime jelly powder, 4 cups boiling water, 1 cup cold water, 1 28-oz. tin pineapple chunks 2 cups seedless white grapes, 12 raw Bartlett pears, pared and halved and sliced into crescents, 10 each red and green, thinly sliced maraschino cherries. Dissolve jelly powders in boiling water, cool to room temperature and add all the remaining ingredients and pour into moulds of desired shapes and refrigate until set. Make 5 or 6 batches of this size to serve 200.

SAFETY TIP

Household electric appliances, such as toasters and irons, should be disconnected when not in use.

Hospital Care No Longer Merely Matter of Medicine

TORONTO (CP)—Hospital care is no longer merely a matter of medicine but involves mental comfort, a happy staff and an enthusiastic community, Barbara Whitley of Montreal said Tuesday.

President of the Women's Auxiliary of Montreal General Hospital, she spoke at the end of the three-day annual meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliaries Association of Ontario.

She said auxiliary members should not underestimate their value to hospitals.

"Each one who makes a cake for a cake sale, knits or sews for the auxiliary shop or for patients, who collects books, magazines, toys and clothing for the hospital is giving a direct service."

The association's president, Mrs. W. C. Vaughan of St. Catharines, reported membership of 86,580, an increase of more than 12,000 from last year.

Funds raised during the year totalled more than $700,000, or almost $300,000 more than the previous year.

Three members of the association have a total of 102 years' hospital service.

They are Mrs. Louise Harkness, 71, of St. Catharines, Mrs. Hilda Gretener, 67, of Hanover and Mrs. Emma Dodman of Chatham.

Officers re-elected were: president; Mrs. Vaughan; president-elect, Mrs. W. P. Telford, Owen Sound; vice-presidents, Mrs. G. W. Sheridan, Orillia, Mrs. W. Smolkin, Perth, Mrs. D. Gretener, Hanover, and Mary Whalen, Sudbury; recording secretary, Mrs. C. G. Fraser, Hamilton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. O. J. Stehl, St. Catharines; treasurer, Mrs. W. Clarkson, Sault Ste. Marie; public relations director, Mrs. R. H. Lyon, Hanover; secretary of regions, Mrs. H. Ramsay Park, Trenton.

GOOD DONORS

LENNOXVILLE, Que. (CP)—Bishop's University won the Covernale Cup, awarded annually by the Canadian Federation of University Students for blood donor efforts. University of Montreal was second.

Women's Institute

HARTS-RIGGS W.I.

MADOC — The October meeting of Harts-Riggs W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Don Fleming on Thursday afternoon.

A tribute of silence, followed by a prayer by the president, in memory of Mrs. Mel Rose, one of the Institute members who had passed away suddenly in the morning, was held.

Seventeen members of Madoc W.I. were guests at the meeting and were welcomed and seated alternately with the members.

Mrs. Alvey, Mrs. W. Hill and Mrs. K. Nicol, with Mrs. Allan Franks at the piano, sang, "May God Bless You And Keep You."

Miss Annis Holmes of Madoc W.I. favored with a talk on the description of African violets and their care.

Mrs. E. Moore, Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Nicol, past district presidents, were asked for some advice regarding Institute work.

Mrs. K. Nicol and Mrs. Franks sang "A Thanksgiving Prayer."

Mrs. Carl Fleming conducted a berry contest.

Appreciation for the invitation to visit the Harts-Riggs W.I. was voiced by the visitors of Madoc W.I.

Bounteous refreshments of sandwiches and cheese for 'Dairy Day' and apple pie from Ontario's abundant crop, were served.

Stone Church W.M.S. Enjoys Travelogue

4TH SIDNEY — The Woman's Missionary Society of Stone Church met at the home of Mrs. E. B. Phillips on Wednesday afternoon for their October meeting. The president, Mrs. R. McMullin, presided over the thanksgiving meeting and used as the theme, "Sing to the Lord With Thanksgiving."

Mrs. G. Lane, Mrs. O. Chisholm and Mrs. H. Gray assisted with the worship service.

Mrs. J. A. Detlor, temperance secretary, read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer and gave a talk on a newly-formed temperance organization and what is stands for.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. McMullin introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. T. F. Townsend, of Holloway Street Church, Belleville, who spent six weeks last summer on a conducted tour in Europe. Mrs. Townsend said there were 43 in their group with Dr. McNab, a former Queen's University student, as leader. They went across the ocean on the "Empress of Britain."

The first Sunday they spent aboard the ship, which had a nice chapel. Mr. Townsend assisted in the service. The second Sunday they were in Brussels, where Dr. Hill, of Winnipeg, gave the message and chose as his subject, "The Little Black Sheep."

The group went to Rome, Italy, where they spent three days. "All roads lead to Rome," as there are many tour. ists going to Rome these days. The buildings were beautiful and the steps up to St. Peter's were impressive. They saw the tombs of St. Peter and St. Paul which are 2,000 years old.

Taxis are common there. They travelled through the catacombs by candlelight. The group also saw the Pope, and though feeble, he gave them his greeting and wished them "God speed."

They attended the World's Fair in Brussels, and in Geneva they were saddened by the many buildings which still show evidence of the air raids at the time of the war.

From Germany they went to Paris and back to London, crossing the channel this time at its longest part, 75 miles.

Other highlights were the home of Christopher Columbus, in 1492, and the people there speak of him as one of their own boys, and the United Nations building in Geneva, Switzerland.

Mrs. E. B. Phillips thanked Mrs. Townsend for her very interesting talk.

W.A.

The Women's Association, with Mrs. O. Chisholm in charge, held a short business meeting.

The secretary-treasurer gave her report and some discussion was held. It was decided to hold the bazaar and tea on November 18 this year. Mrs. Chisholm asked the members of her group to meet at her home on Wednesday night to make plans for the bazaar.

After the meeting closed the lunch committee served refreshments.

Dr. Marius Barbeau, known as the dean of Canadian folklore, sings a Salish Indian love song for Carolina Price, one of his nine grandchildren. Dr. Barbeau, 75-year-old native of Ste. Marie de Beauce, Quebec, has devoted 40 years to the National Museum in Ottawa. He has made a major contribution to the store of Indian and French-Canadian material, and has written 60 books, 100 pamphlets and 800 articles. (CP Photo from National Film Board.)

Studied Anthropology Under Prompting of Former P. M.

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Marius Barbeau, dean of Canadian folklore, says it was fellow law student Louis St. Laurent who years ago prompted him to study anthropology.

Dr. Barbeau, veteran member of the National Museum staff, said in an interview that the former prime minister, as a Laval University student, was a "very quiet, very restrained person who kept very much to himself."

"He was a more steady fellow than I; I was always questioning," said Dr. Barbeau, 75-year-old native of Ste. Marie de Beauce, Que.

"But we had enough similarities to be close friends," said the man whose career as ethnologist, anthropologist, professor, poet and author grew partly out of an argument with the serious young student from Compton, Que.

"We got into many discussions. I used to shock St. Laurent by what he thought was free-thinking. One day when we were talking about what we would like to do, I said I would like to die in a forest near one created."

Dr. Barbeau recalled that Mr. St. Laurent said: "you will be damned for such thoughts as that."

But at the same time Mr. St. Laurent suggested that his friend try for a Rhodes Scholarship.

"I hadn't heard of the Rhodes Scholarship. It was new to me then, but I discovered the rector had suggested St. Laurent try for it."

Mr. St. Laurent didn't want the honor.

He was on other hings hen—his mind was on other things then," said Dr. Barbeau. He thought he was thinking of getting married. I was ready to grasp at anything for an advenure."

Dr. Barbeau sucessfully applied for the scholarship and began his studies at Oxford.

"But it could have been St. Laurent who went to Oxford and we might have lost a great Canadian statesman," said Dr. Barbeau of the law student, now 76, who was Canada's prime minister for nine years.

Dr. Barbeau has made his own significant contribution to Canada.

In 1911 he became one of the first two anthropologists on the National Museum staff. In the years devoted to the museum, he has made a major contribution to the store of Indian and French-Canadian material, and has written 60 books, 100 pamphlets and 800 articles.

Although he officially retired in 1949, he has continued his tireless tracking-down of Canadian folklore from his home and his museum office.

His work this year, for example, includes six books and magazine articles on topics ranging from French-Canadian folk-dancing to Indian legends.

TCA Lines Start Evidence Before Transport Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines today resumes evidence before the air transport board in opposition to Canadian Pacific Airlines' bid to break TCA's transcontinental monopoly.

Evidence was expected to be continued by TCA President Gordon R. McGregor, who said Wednesday that competition could restrict the development of new routes.

The board also was expected to deliver a decision today on whether TCA should be made to provide a wealth of detailed information on its operating methods, sought by CPA.

TARES EXCEPTION

TCA counsel John G. Edison took exception to the request, calling it extraordinary and declaring TCA is not under investigation by Canadian Pacific.

In his testimony Wednesday, Mr. McGregor said competition in transcontinental air service in Canada at present would not be in the public interest.

Under questioning by board chairman C. D. Howard, he advanced the suggestion it might be seven or eight years from now before this could be undertaken without damage to the public interest.

"I contend," he said, "that the introduction of competition on the transcontinental routes at this time would be damaging . . . further I suggest that its introduction in the future should only be considered after it can be demonstrated that the volume of transcontinental traffic is sufficient to support two carriers, and only then with a sufficient portion of traffic to the existing carrier (TCA) to permit integrated planning of its capacity and facilities to meet the changed conditions under which it would later operate."

NEW PRESIDENT

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Society of Landscape Architects and Town Planners elected E. I. Wood of the national capital commission, Ottawa, as president Wednesday.

Labor Minister Hopes Special Winter Employment Projects May Never Be Repeated

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister Starr hopes the new federal offer to pay half the municipal payroll costs of special winter projects may never have to be repeated.

"What the government will do in future years will depend on what happens," he said in an interview Wednesday. "I sincerely hope that employment is such that the program will never have to be repeated.

"It is not being set up to provide any permanent pattern of federal aid."

He spoke as he prepared letters to be sent to all the provinces to-day detailing how the program will work.

Meanwhile, Works Minister Green announced a "crash program" on construction of 60 post offices in small towns and cities across the country as a winter employment aid.

The municipal offer, first announced by Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Regina Monday, will cover municipal roads, other than arterial streets, sidewalks, water and storm sewers and parks —but not buildings.

The view among officials here is that the federal government already is prodding much aid on housing through the National Housing Act.

To qualify for federal aid—that is, half the payroll costs—municipalities will have to meet certain tests to ensure projects undertaken will help provide work are in addition to those which would be undertaken normally.

For example, hiring men for snow removal on city streets would not be a qualifying project.

Federal aid would cover the period from Nov. 1, 1958, to April 30, 1959.

How much it will cost the treasury is anyone's guess.

Federal action in this field arises from appeals of municipalities and prospects of another heavy round of unemployment this winter. Mr. Starr predicted that unemployment would not be as heavy this winter, but that "it will still will be serious."

Initial reaction to the federal proposal was mixed. Leaders of provincial Conservative governments were quick to approve. Others were a little less enthusiastic.

Acting Prime Minister Green said provincial reaction was very favorable. Some provinces had offered suggestions to expand the proposal.

Premier Frost of Ontario said the proposal could develop into a permanent program to offset unemployment in good times and bad. His government would "play ball."

New Mouse Trap Works Well for Two Prospectors

LA RONGE, Sask. (CP)— The world may not beat a path to their door, but Wilfred McLeod and Jim Brady feel they've built a better mouse trap.

"The move was necessary as these little rodents were literally gifting our tent off its foundation," said the two men, prospecting in the Dead Lake area of this northern Saskatchewan region.

The trap: A round smooth pole with nails on each end placed like the top of a pail of water; a piece of cheese smothered well in lard hung over the pail; runways to the rim of the pail.

The mice run up the runways, stand on their hind legs to reach the cheese, go into a spin and flop into the water.

After 48 hours, said McLeod and Brady, the count had reached 184 mice trapped.

After reaching the surface, Percy Weatherbee, the first man to talk to the trapped miners, breaks the wonderful news to Billy Lowther that his father, Eldred Lowther, is one of the men alive and well at the 13,000-foot level in the Springhill coal mine. (CP Wirephoto).

Gas Poisoning Kills Man

KINGSTON (CP)—A Kingston doctor says that James Wilhite of Louisville, Ky., found dead Tuesday in the tower of an ammonia plant near here, died of gas poisoning.

Dr. W. D. Hay said Wilhite, 35, died after inhaling either sulphur-dioxide or carbon-monoxide gas while working on the 50-foot tower of the ammonia plant at Canadian Industries Limited nylon plant at Millhaven, 13 miles west of here. An inquest will be held.

POLICEMAN KILLED

NICOSIA (Reuters) — A Greek Cypriot special policeman was shot to death and 10 British airmen were slightly injured in Cyprus Wednesday. The airmen were hurt when a small bomb exploded at Nicosia airport in the luggage of an airman returning to Britain.

Western-Style Democracy Handled by Army Leaders

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Western-style democracy is taking a beating in two Asian countries — the soldiers are taking charge.

Military takeovers have occurred in Thailand, Pakistan and Burma, and the prime minister of Ceylon has issued a sweeping warning.

"I have always had doubts whether the system of democratic cabinet system," said Ceylon Premier S. W. R. D. Bandaranaike.

It cannot be ignored that Red China, a country of 650,000,000 people, exerts a tremendous influence on its neighbors. It's equally apparent that Asian peoples are not taking naturally to imported democracy from the West.

MILITARY PATTERN

Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan has taken over full control of Pakistan, a member of the Commonwealth, while President Iskander Mirza has retired from the scene. The two men had united on the coup that overthrew the government, but it soon became clear where the real power came from. Ayub is commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

In Burma, Prime Minister U Nu has resigned and handed over the administration to the army chief, Ne Win, who will take care of things until an election that he promised for next April.

U Nu announced defeat last month, saying he could not ensure that the proposed elections would be free. There was little element of force in these developments—the leaders merely decided with oriental philosophy that, as the saying goes, "they had had it."

Thailand has passed under open rule.

military rule although, actually, it has been under such control ever since the Second World War. Marshal Sarit Thanarat has proclaimed military law but is still considered friendly to the West.

The developments — especially the events in Pakistan—gave rise to questions about what might happen in India. Prime Minister Nehru took note of this with a statement calling attention to the Indian people's abhorrence of dictatorship and the long tradition of democratic self - government through village councils.

Off-stage observers were able to form opinions about the Asian trends. The area, it is thought, is vulnerable because many newly-independent countries are technologically backward, eager to find short cuts to political, industrial and educational progress, strongly nationalistic and frequently suspicious of the West which in the past imposed an alien culture.

CEYLON HOPEFUL

Bandaranaike of Ceylon says the Western - imposed system, which works "so well" in some countries, is based on having two political parties in a nation. Splinter parties are giving rise to dangers in Ceylon.

"But I am hoping that if things quiet down in the next few or three years, then there is a chance of a party getting an overall majority in the next election," he said.

PRESS ISSUE IN UN

ATHENS (AP) — Greece will press the Cyprus issue in the United Nations now that NATO attempts at mediation have failed the government said Wednesday night. The announcement said the UN is the only alternative left for "support of the Cypriots' just claims for liberation from foreign rule."

W.C.S. Teachers To Canvass For UNICEF

WELLINGTON — Friday evening, starting at dusk, witches, goblins and other weirdly dressed children will be ringing your door bell with the old cry, "Trick or Treat". That treat will be for them to enjoy, but Saturday your door bell will be ringing again by the same children only this time the cry will be "Sell Out for U.N.I.C.E.F. Please be as generous as you can.

Mothers all over the world know of U.N.I.C.E.F's acts of kindness. To name only a few — it provides penicillin to cure children of yaws, sulphone to fight leprosy and vaccine to protect against tuberculosis.

One dollar will give a large glass of milk to 70 children every day for a week. It helps mothers and children of four continents without regard to race, creed or political belief.

U.N.I.C.E.F. is financed by voluntary contributions. The government doubles your donations. Open your door with a smile of thanks that you live in a land of plenty; then open your purse to help relieve the suffering children who need help. Remember, the Lord loves a cheerful giver. This canvass is being sponsored by the teaching staff of Wellington consolidated school and their pupils.

With this accelerator, Canadian scientists can simulate the neutron radiation of an atomic explosion. Dr. J. A. Carruthers, formerly of Guelph, Ont., and head of the atomic defence section at the Defence Research Chemical Laboratories, opens one of the vacuum valves of the recently-installed accelerator. UN Police Force Subject of Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Prime Minister Diefenbaker discussed proposals for an international police force in a 45-minute interview with Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, Wednesday.

The prime minister told reporters his ideas "focussed on the position which smaller powers would take in an international force."

Diefenbaker recalled that as far back as 1945 he had said that Canada's contribution to world peace efforts could involve granting rights over its far north areas so that an international force could operate there.

The matters he discussed with Hammarskjold, Diefenbaker said were those he will take up with Commonwealth leaders in his world tour.

The prime minister was due to leave New York this afternoon for London.

In this "solar furnace," scientists can produce as much heat as occurs in an atomic explosion by collecting and focussing the sun's rays. Here screen is drawn over window through which sun shines. L. G. Wilson, head of the physics group of the protective equipment section at the Defence Research Chemical Laboratories, examines a calorimeter used to measure heat at the focus of the furnace. (CP Photo from National Defence.)

Hope to Discover New Means And Methods of Protecting Soldiers on A-Battlefield

OTTAWA (CP)—In two small laboratories on the outskirts of Ottawa are being the radiation and heat effects of atomic explosions.

By their experiments, scientists of the Defence Research Chemical Laboratories hope to discover new means and methods of protecting the Canadian soldier on the atomic battlefield. The experiments also have application to civil defence.

And a long - range objective would be development of some chemical to offset the effects of atomic radiation.

The Canadian Army and the other two services already are being equipped with instruments which measure gamma rays given off by atomic explosions.

But gamma rays are not the only deadly beams given off by atomic blasts. Neutrons, for instance, are just as dangerous.

Thus the scientists have acquired a machine known as a Van de Graaff accelerator that accelerates charged particles in an apparatus that looks like a huge vat on its side and fires them at a target at the end of a tube.

By entering the target and adjusting the voltage scientists can generate neutron beams of known intensity that are required for calibration of instruments used by armed forces personnel.

The 3,000,000-volt accelerator is housed in a squat building with cement walls four feet thick. When in operation, it has to be handled by remote control. However, the hazardous radiation dissipates immediately the machine is shut off.

In a hydrogen bomb explosion, gamma rays are much more serious than neutron radiation and thus the latter has been of more or less academic interest in this type of blast.

But in the explosion of a tactical atomic weapon on a battlefield, the neutron radiation would be just as serious as gamma rays. Instruments now in use do not give a accurate reading of the amount of neutron radiation.

"Thus our neutron research is mainly concerned with its service application," said Dr. Barry Shetler, chief superintendent of the chemical laboratories.

Dr. Sheffer said mice and other small animals will be used to test the biological effects of neutron radiation.

"We want to know whether a man subjected to various amounts of this radiation can continue in action, whether he must be evacuated for medical treatment or whether he can be treated at all."

IN BROADER FIELD

"The long-range aim, of course, is to see whether we can find some antidote, such as a pill, to counteract the chemical effects in the body of radiation. Many other people are working on this problem, too."

Dr. J. A. Carruthers, in charge of the research, said the experiments will also supply information on the shielding properties of various materials.

In another laboratory, the scientists are determining the resistance of various materials to heat with use of a solar furnace.

The furnace is a comparatively simple device that collects the sun's rays by mirrors and focusses them on the material being tested.

The furnace simulates the heat given off by an atomic explosion. Dr. Sheffer showed a reporter cloth burned on the outer side but not on the inner side and an experimental cream that could be used to protect a soldier's face and hands.

Only Beginning To Solve Problem Of Alcoholism

TORONTO (CP)—A doctor who treats alcoholics said Wednesday medicine is only beginning to solve the problems of addiction.

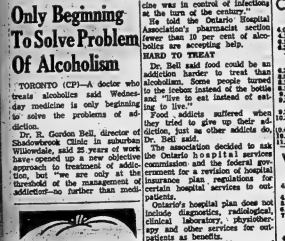
Dr. R. Gordon Bell, director of Shadowbrook Clinic in suburban Willowdale, said 25 years of work have opened up a new objective approach to treatment of addiction, but "we are only at the threshold of the management of addiction—no further than medicine was in control of infections at the turn of the century."

He told the Ontario Hospital Association's pharmacist section fewer than 10 per cent of alcoholics are accepting help.

HARD TO TREAT

Dr. Bell said food could be an addiction harder to treat than alcoholism. Some people turned to the tonbor instead of the bottle and "live to eat instead of eating to live."

Food addicts suffered when they tried to give up their addiction, just as other addicts do, Dr. Bell said.



The association decided to ask the Ontario hospital services commission and the federal government for a revision of hospital insurance plan regulations to encourage hospital services to out-patients.

Ontario's hospital plan does not include diagnostics, radiological, clinical laboratory, physiotherapy and other services for out-patients as benefits.

The resolution said some of these services will be given patients who cannot pay, causing hospital financial problems. The plan goes into effect Jan. 1.

Prince Edward County Starts Second Test for Cattle Herds

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario livestock commissioner W. P. Watson says he expects at least two or three counties to be cleared of brucellosis in dairy cattle before United States imports restrictions take effect Nov. 15.

Dundas County already appears certain of clearance under a resolution of the program of blood testing undertaken by the federal agriculture department last March.

Brucellosis, a disease inducing abortion in cows but harmless to humans, for a time threatened to close 250,000-a-year U.S. market to many Ontario cattlemen.

TEST BLOOD TESTS

The American regulations restrict cattle imports to listed brucellosis-free herds or from areas certified as free of the disease. Before a herd is listed every head must be given three blood tests. If disease is encountered, testing frequently has to be started over again.

Under the program begun last March, veterinarians paid by the federal government carry out compulsory testing free of charge. Cattlemen must first petition for their county to be designated as a brucellosis control area.

Mr. Watson said petitions have been received so far from a third of the counties in Southwestern Ontario and every county but Renfrew in Eastern Ontario. Testing has begun in 10 counties.

Brucellosis-free certificates are granted in counties with less than one per cent of cattle infected and less than five per cent of herds infected.

SIX MEET STANDARD

In six counties where testing is nearing completion, percentages of infected cattle and herds are mostly above the maximum. Second or third rounds of testing will be needed.

So far only Dundas County has met requirements with 0.3 per cent of cattle infected and 4.13 per cent of herds. Stormont has only .38 per cent of cattle infected but 7.56 per cent of herds.

Grenville's figures are 1.31 and 5.94, Halton's 1.13 and 7.19.

A second round of testing is under way in Oxford and Prince Edward counties, where first-round figures were 2.07 and—17.19 for Oxford and 1.18 and 6.58 for Prince Edward.

Testing also has begun in Glengarry, Carleton, Leeds and Peel. Only one case was found in the first 47 herds tested in Peel.

Cattlemen in counties not certified as brucellosis-free are expected to move cattle into certified areas counties for quarantine periods to permit export.

CONCENTRATED HEAT

SHEBIT HARBOR, N.S. (CP)— Water caused a fire here. Anna Macdougald filled several gallon bottles with water and left them on her verandah, where they concentrated the sun's rays and set fire to the roof shingles. Firemen saved the house.

AT THE PARK — In this scene from "Blood Arrow", a Regal films picture, Scott Brady and his co-stars, Phyllis Coates and Paul Richards, fearfully watch an approaching war party of Blackfoot Indians. The trio are on their way from Wyoming to Utah with a supply of smallpox serum for a suffering Mormon settlement. The perilous trip through Indian territory furnishes the drama and thrills that are packed into this "Blood Arrow", by producer Robert Stabler and director Charles Marquis Warren. And on the same program, the love making musical with the shotgun wedding; fresh as a daisy, happy as a dickybird. Seven blushing girls are kidnapped by seven red-headed, red-blooded mountain boys in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers", starting tonight at the Park Theatre.

Connie Towers Big Star And That Is Part of Trouble

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Constance Towers, who has the dream assignment of co-starring with Glenn Holden and John Wayne, should have been a star two years ago.

One of the things that held her back is that producers didn't have the vision that some of the rest of us had. Another is—I beg your pardon for this—that Connie towers.

She stands a delightful five feet nine or 10 inches in high heels. Though she has obvious qualities for stardom — a natural Bergmanesque beauty, blonde Kelly-like hair and a rich voice that is all her own—her height was against her. Somehow, male stars don't like to look up at their leading ladies.

Fortunately, Wayne and Holden rise above her. Hence she qualified for the leading female role in Love Soldiers. She plays a southern belle who spies on Yankee interlopers Wayne and Holden and is kidnapped by them on their cavalry march through the South.

KNOCKOUT IN NIGHT CLUBS

Why hasn't she gotten to the top faster?

It's a wonder to many who have caught her on the supper club circuit. She was a knockout. But she couldn't get anywhere in films.

She did just one picture—a quickie with Frankie Laine. Connie said, The picture did nothing for me."

Then she went back to the clubs. Meanwhile she studied dramatics and sang occasionally on TV.

Monty Rackin remembered her when he went independent with John Lee Mahin. He introduced her to director John Ford, the genius fan of Ireland and the navy.

"It didn't hurt that he had served with my uncle, who is an admiral in the navy, and that my father was born in Dublin," Connie said.

Of the 500 actresses considered, she was one of 10 who tested. She won.

VISITING DEER

LUNENBURG, N. S. (CP)—Policeman Fred Hall was stopped in his trucks while patrolling the outskirts in a cruiser car in the early morning—five deer stood in the middle of the street. They pranced around his headlights before sauntering off.

When Will the Lovely Widow Kiss Marshal Matt Wayne?

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The majority of girls in TV westerns are not exactly the type you'd want to introduce to your mother. When they aren't trying to reform after a dubious past they're usually making eyes at a fabulous hunk.

Carole Mathews, a tall, beautiful brunette, hopes that an exception to this generalization is Wilma Fansler, the young widow who appears to have a crush on Marshal Matt Wayne in The Californians (Tuesdays, 10 p.m. EST, NBC-TV).

Miss Mathews knows Wilma better than anyone else because (for what better reason?) she plays the role of Wilma. "I want her to be a good-hearted girl, not a bad girl," says Miss Mathews. Wilma, to be sure, is no prude. She runs a gambling house—though everybody goes to great pains to emphasize that it's an HONEST gambling house.

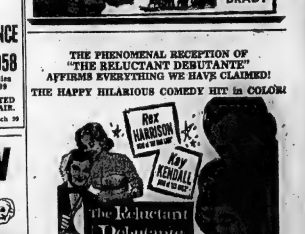
WIDOWS ARE RESPECTABLE

Furthermore Wilma is a widow. And, if you've been watching the TV set sharply, you'll have observed that comely young widows have become highly respectable creatures on night-time teleplays recently.

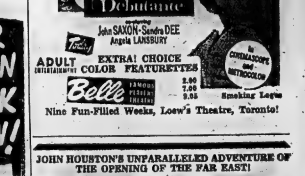
Miss Mathews said that viewers now seem to have accepted the fact that Wilma is Matt's girl friend. No hanky-panky, you understand. Just good friends.

True, Wilma never has kissed Wayne, played by Richard Coogan.

And why not?



"I really don't know why not" said Miss Mathews. "As a matter of fact, that's a very good question. Why can't I kiss my leading man? Why don't leading men in western ever kiss a girl?"



Would Wilma like to kiss Matt? Miss Mathews, an adroit diplomat, said thoughtfully, "I don't think it matters much how Wilma feels about it. The important thing is what would be the audience reaction. I'd like to know if they objected to a very warm, romantic relationship between Wilma and Matt.

"On the other hand, perhaps the audience prefers the sense of anticipation that they may somehow kiss rather than the fact that they do."

Calhoun Wins Over Tough German Boxer

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (CP)—Hanking middleweight Harry Calhoun scored a unanimous decision over Franz Szuzina in a 10-round boxing match Wednesday night but he wasn't happy about the performance.

Calhoun figured he wasn't sharp and admitted having trouble with the tough little native of Germany.

"This guy is shorter than most," Calhoun said. "He made it tough for me."

All three officials made the 24-year-old Calhoun the winner by a wide margin.

Both fighters weighed 164½.

Calhoun spent most of the evening slamming away at long range, but he also was able to contain Szuzina's usually strong bobby sox tack in the clinches. There were no knockdowns but Harry slipped to the canvas four times. He said he fell over his own or Szuzina's feet trying to set up Franz.

Calhoun's victory was his 37th in a 45-fight career. Franz, 29, has won 46 of 65 bouts.

Police Chief Points Finger at "Protection" Racket

"It's time someone spoke up" says Police Chief Wilfrid (Bill) Hose, Montreal North. "Protection only means when it covers all possibilities. And the best example of that is anti-freeze. Sure, lots of people say that almost anything will give your car winter protection. But for me there's only one brand of anti-freeze that does the complete job. That's "Prestone". Indeed, it's the cooling system of my car is not only guarded against freeze, but rust, corrosion, foaming and clogging as well. That's what I call complete protection."

The Chief adds, "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze is the only anti-freeze with magnetic film that coats every surface of your cooling system. Make sure of the finest on Prestone. Look for the Prestone—identified by the Green Tag that will be attached to your radiator.

Robin Roberts 'Comeback Kid'

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—"I felt better and was throwing better." That's how Robin Roberts summarized his 1958 pitching record of 17 victories and 14 losses that won him the title of "comeback player of the year" in the National League.

Roberts got 39 of the 98 votes by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America in the annual Associated Press Poll. Bob Friend of Pittsburgh Pirates got 31 votes and Bobby Thomson of Chicago Cubs 13.

Roberts, 33-year-old hurler with Philadelphia Phillies, referred to his dismal 10-22 record for 1957 and said it "definitely made me a candidate for the (comeback) honor, didn't it?"

Harness Racing

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP) — Four Canadian-owned winners were on Wednesday night's Batavia Downs card. Candy B., property of Douglas Palmer of Schomberg, Ont., topped the list in the second. Mable North, owned by Stanley North of Florence, Ont., won the fourth in 2:11 Acres Averill, owned by Leonard Jackson of Alma, Ont., won the fifth. In the ninth, Great Queen Jr. owned by Zilla Dell of Becher, Ont., was the winner.

The gelding, owned by George Toppa and Sons and driven by Marc Gingras, paid $6.80, $5.00 and $3.40.

ROBIN ROBERTS CITED

NEW YORK (AP)—Robin Roberts of Philadelphia Phillies, a 22-game loser who battled back to regain his position as one of baseball's leading pitchers, Wednesday was voted the National League comeback player of the year for 1958. Roberts was named on 39 of 96 ballots by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America in the annual Associated Press poll. Bob Friend of Pittsburgh finished second with 31 votes followed by Bobby Thomson of Chicago, who collected 13. Roberts, 33, won 17, lost 14, and had a 3.27 ERA.

Hockey Career Metro Prystai May Be Over

EDMONTON (CP)—Metro Prystai, Edmonton Flyers' flashy forward, may have reached the end of a long playing career.

He has broken the same leg that cracked twice in games last season.

Prystai, who moved into the National Hockey League for 10 years after a sensational junior career, suffered the fracture in a game with Victoria Cougars Tuesday when he was checked by Cougar rearguard Don McLeod.

Last winter Prystai's leg was broken during a stint with Detroit Red Wings. Later, the same leg was broken when he slid into a goal post in a game in Edmonton.

General Manager Norman (Bud) Poile of Flyers said Wednesday in an interview he is sure Prystai will never be able to play again.

Argos, Larks Key Men Back in Lineup

TORONTO (CP)—Key men will be back in the lineup for Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes when the two clubs meet here Saturday in the crucial eastern final game of the Big Four Football Union season.

Argos said Jim Rountree, a top pass defence man, probably will be ready. Rountree, who underwent minor surgery last week for a foot ailment, turned out for practice Wednesday night.

Earlier this week Als reported star end Hal Patterson would be back in condition. Patterson has been out for nearly a month with a leg injury.

Argos have to throw everything into Saturday's affair. A loss would end their hopes of a Big Four playoff spot and take the head off Als and Ottawa Rough Riders, threatened with playoff elimination by Argos' late-season comeback.

Alouettes have another chance Monday they drop, Saturday's game. They meet Argos again in Montreal a week later.

Als Over Argos Says Trawick

HAMILTON (CP) — A former Montreal Alouette lineman predicted the Alouettes will make the Big Four football union playoffs by defeating Toronto Argonauts in Montreal Nov. 8.

Herb Trawick, who ended a 12-year career in the Big Four last season, told a Hamilton quarterback club luncheon he feels Argos will win in Toronto Saturday against Als.

"But the Als will win in Montreal where they are always tough," he added.

Coach Jim Trimble of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats told the luncheon he is going to continue experimenting with new players in the Ticats' final two games against Ottawa Rough Riders.

Blue Bombers Fined $100

WINNIPEG (CP) — Football commissioner G. Sydney Halter announced Wednesday night he has fined the Winnipeg Rugby Football Club $100 for allowing the half-time entertainment to delay the second half of Monday night's Western Interprovincial Football Union game between Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The entertainment was provided by the Canadian Army. Players had to wait more than 10 minutes before the second-half kickoff while marching soldiers cleared the field. Winnipeg won 37-10.

BARONS-REDS TRADE

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

When the Montreal Canadiens were in New York recently, a Gotham sports scribe cornered Rocket Richard and asked him when he intended to retire.

The Rocket, who had just potted a pair against the Broadway Blues said: "Why should I retire as long as I can keep on getting goals. I feel good. The bad injury to my Achilles tendon that I suffered last season does not bother me any more. Sure, I got tired even if you do not notice it. After all, I am getting on in years. But after I take a rest on the bench I am all right again."

I hope as I don't feel tired after a game and until I feel that I've lost my scoring punch, I'll go on playing. No I haven't set any definite mark as to how many goals I hope to score this season." I'll be happy with 20 or 25."

This is the Canadiens star's 17th season in the National Hockey League. To date in regular schedule play he has scored 515 goals and picked up 328 assists for 903 total points. In playoffs he has scored an additional 81 goals and collected 41 assists for 122 total points. All told he has scored 596 goals and earned 429 assists for 1,025 total points. He is so far ahead of the pack, he's a dim figure in the distance.

When you think, write or talk of the Rocket, the "fair-lower-upper" is Gordie Howe. The great right wing of Detroit has scored 383 goals in regular play and picked up 445 assists for 828 total points. Howe and Maxwell Bentley his record is 36 goals and 43 assists for 84 points, giving him an overall record of 424 goals and 493 assists for 917 total points.

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carrell points out that these figures reveal the individual drives of the players. The Rocket is what the late Dick Irwin used to call the "finisher," the guy who puts the puck in the net. Howe, Carrell says, isn't as good a "finisher" as the Rocket but he plays all over the ice and sets up more goals for other players, as his great assist record reveals.

When the money is on the line the Rocket is the fellow you want on your side," says Carrell. "The bigger the amount the more he rises to it—a characteristic he shares with Babe Ruth and all other top performers in the realm of sport. It's what prompted Frank Selke to predict in a playoff game: 'Give me a goal and the Rocket would come up with the winning goal. He made the prediction on a television interview and it was only a matter of minutes before the Rocket made it stand up."

The last time the Red Wings were in Montreal, Howe was asked the question, will he ever equal the Rocket's scoring record.

"If he ever stops playing I might be able to catch him, but it doesn't look like he's ever going to stop," Howe replied. "Besides he seems to be getting better all the time."

Carrell says that Boston Bees Geoffrion and Jean Beliveau are names that suggest themselves as being able to catch the Rocket. Ted Lindsay has scored 324 goals but he hasn't a chance as this appears to be his last season.

Geoffrion now has 206 goals and 194 assists for 399 total points and, it is pointed out, is a good clutch player as evidenced in his 46 goals and 27 assists in the playoffs. His overall totals are 251 goals, 231 assists for 482 total points.

Beliveau has amassed 355 total points in regular play, made up of 167 goals and 187 assists. He had 30 goals and 36 assists in the playoffs for an overall total of 196 goals, 223 assists for 421 points.

Both players are now 27, or ten years younger than the Rocket, Carroll says. "Boom-Boom would have to score 31 goals a season for the next ten years to catch up with the Rocket and Big Jean would have to do better than that. Nor is there any assurance that either of them will be in the league a decade from now. It may be the player who eclipses the Rocket's record hasn't been born yet."

Durable Habs Give Maple Leafs 5-0 Hockey Lesson

Score Three In 1st Period Of Stylish Demonstration; Bruins, Blues Play 2-2 Tie

By BEN WARD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs took a 5-0 trouncing from Montreal Canadiens Wednesday night and received a lesson in how National Hockey League games should be played. Canadiens gave a stylish demonstration.

In other NHL action Boston Bruins and New York Rangers battled to a 2-2 tie which vaulted them into another tie for second place, seven points behind Canadiens.

The Toronto game was the fourth in five nights for Canadiens but they showed no fatigue. Since Saturday they've won two, tied one and lost one.

LEAFS TIED DOWN

Skating fast and passing smoothly, Habs hit for three goals in the first period and added one in each of the last two periods. The last-place Leafs couldn't get untwined under the tight checking and fine defensive work which kept Canadien goalie Jacques Plante out of trouble most of the night.

Dickie Moore, Bernie Geoffrion and Jean Beliveau, Don Johnson and rookie Ab McDonald handled the scoring.

Even 37-year-old Maurice Richard, venerable veteran of 17 seasons, was flitting around the Leafs' defence like a youngster.

Rangers were robbed of their third win when Fleming Mackell took three swipes at a loose puck and finally blasted it past Rangers' goalie Gump Worsley with eight seconds left in the third period. It was the fifth tie in nine games for the New Yorkers, the third with Boston.

HEBENTON LED OFF

Andy Hebenton put Rangers ahead 1-0 in the first period but Don McKenney evened things up with a fluke goal that Rangers' defenceman John Haanss popped into his own net while trying to clear.

Camille Henry, the NHL's lightweight at 150 pounds, got the lead back for New York with a blistering 45-footer in the second. The lead held for better than 34 minutes until Mackell evened it.

Boston and New York now hold a one-point margin on the idle Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks who are tied for fourth. There may be some changes made tonight when Rangers visit Red Wings and Hawks go to Boston.

DAVIS CUP SHAKEUP

BRISBANE (AP) — Changes are likely in Australia's Davis Cup pairings after the disappointing form of Ashley Cooper and Neal Fraser in the semi-finals of the Queensland state tennis championships Wednesday. Although they won in straight sets, the cup doubles pair was fortunate to be extended by Bob Howe and Don Candy 10-9, 10-8, 6-3. Mal Anderson and Rod Laver beat Roy Emerson and Bob Mark 6-1, 6-3, 13-11 in the other semi-final.

Seven Students Face Charges Of Gambling

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Two star athletes of the University of Michigan and five other students will get jury trials next month on charges growing out of an investigation of campus football gambling.

The students stood mute Wednesday at their arraignment on charges of engaging in an illegal occupation. They demanded jury trials.

Under Michigan law the court automatically enters a plea of innocent for persons who stand mute. The charges against the students carry a maximum sentence of 90 days in jail and $100 fine on conviction.

The athletes are Tony Rio, 21, Michigan's first - string fullback, and Jack Lewis, 21, captain of the college's basketball squad. They have been dropped from their teams.

The other students are Nick Mitera, 21, Durwood Collins, 22, Millard G. Dodgeon, 21, Carl M. Riseman, 21, and John A. Miller, 19.

Police said they were accused of distributing football spot cards. The cards list up to 40 games. Purchasers pick the teams they believe will win—either giving or taking points according to a point spread set by the operators of the cards—and may collect on odds up to 500 to 1 depending on how many games are bet.

Estimates of the money involved in the operation on the campus range from $1,000 to $10,000 a week.

Police said a leak at a key stage of the five-week investigation kept them from making what they called "a big kill."

Dutchies Turn Down Kelowna Bid for Help

KITCHENER (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, who early this year offered to strengthen Kelowna Packers for a hockey tour in Europe, won't help now because Packers asked for players too late.

The British Columbia club, which leaves in about a week for exhibition games in Sweden and Russia, was turned down because Dutchmen's board of directors felt suitable replacements are no longer available.

Packers asked for centre Ken Laufman or Bill Wylie to load one of their lines on the three-week tour.

Kitchener Manager Ernie Goman said Dutchmen had offered help but didn't expect a request from Packers on the eve of their departure. It should have been made in June, he said.

Another factor was the reduced player limit of 15 being carried by teams in the Ontario Hockey Association — Northern Ontario Hockey Association League this year.

With two players unable to play, Dutchmen would have only 13 to make a three-game swing through Northern Ontario this weekend.

BOSTON (AP) — Fox-catcher Farm's Rose Trellis, a 5-to-1 outsider in a field of 12, surged on the outside in the stretch to win the 32rd running of the $61,000 Yankee Handicap Wednesday at Suffolk Downs.

The unheralded gelding son of Helipolis, making only his 25th start of the year, had plenty left in the final stages and caught the tiring Backbone midway through the stretch in the 1 1-4 mile test for three-year-olds.

George Lowis' Martins Rullah, under the guidance of Willie Shoemaker, also caught Balkbone to finish second, three lengths behind Rose Trellis. Martin Rullah had a length and a half on Balkbone, who had a half-length margin on Elegante.

Time on a heavy track was 2:03 2-5.

Rose Trellis paid $18.80, $10.00, $6.20.

Laughs and Odd Happenings Occurred in Major Baseball

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—When can a batter hit a pop fly into his own glove for an out?

The answer: When he lends his glove to a fielder on the opposing team. It happened last May 30 when Gil Hodges of Los Angeles Dodgers gave his glove to rival first baseman Bobby Adams of Chicago Cubs.

Adams never had played the position before and since both could first baseman, Dale Long and Paul Smith, were lefthanded, Bobby had to borrow Hodges' mitt. In the fourth inning Adams used Hodges' glove to catch Gil's infield fly.

There were other laughs and odd happenings in organized baseball during the 1958 season.

Danny Murtaugh, Pittsburgh Pirate manager, rushed on to the field to reward umpire Jocko Conlan. Fans wondered about the sudden action because the Pirates were leading 14-4 in the seventh inning. Murtaugh had a ready answer.

NOT CAMERA-SHY

"I really didn't have anything to protest about, Jocko wanted to know what was wrong. Nothing. I told him. This game is being televised back to Chester, Pa., Danny's hometown and I just wanted my wife and kids to get a look at me."

Fans waiting for the start of a pioneer game at Missoula, Mont., began to get fidgety when game time passed without an appearance by the umpires. They were in their dressing room. The only trouble was a prankster had locked the door from the outside.

Roy Howes of St. Paul used his head in a game against Omaha Cubs. A vicious line drive bounced off Howes' glove and struck him in the head, bounced into the air and was caught by the second baseman. Howes was stunned but walked from the field.

There's also the one about Dagmar, the blonde, buxom nightclub and television comedienne. Dagmar was scheduled to pitch before the start of a Sally Corn League game at Charlotte, N.C.

Manager Gus Verbie of Charlotte, anticipating a large turnout, told Garland Shifflett, his best pitcher: "I'm going to skip your regular turn and have you pitch the night when Dagmar visits the park."

Said Shifflett; "Dagmar? . . . who's he?"

Eastern League Divided Over Pool Donations

KINGSTON (CP) — Despite three meetings, the senior A eastern Ontario grouping of the Ontario Hockey Association remains split over league pool donations.

The pool, a financial safety valve for needy teams that can't count on a rebate at the end of a season or a straight loan during a winter campaign, is built up from a share of the gate of each game.

Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, Whitby Dunlops, Belleville McFarlands, Kingston Merchants and Cornwall Chevies make up the league and they're widely divided on how much should be turned over to the pool.

This year a move was started to cut the pool donation to eight per cent from 10.

MOVE REJECTED

However, a meeting at Pembroke in June decided to keep the 10-per-cent level. In August, another meeting of the league at Smiths Falls reduced it to eight. A meeting in Gananoque this month suggested the Hull motion was passed.

That left Cornwall and Whitby claiming the pool should get a 10-per-cent cut of each home game. Belleville and Kingston are opposed. The Canadiens were not available for comment and OHA president Lorne Cook was out of the city.

Whitby general manager Wren Blair said the matter is settled and "there's no question about it." In his opinion, the Gananoque meeting ruled in favor of 10 per cent.

SUPPORTS BLAIR

Ray Miron, Cornwall's general manager, threw his support behind Blair.

"There is no question about it," he said. "The pool cut remains the same."

Miron added he is unwilling to stand.

Williams, Musial Near Two More Batting Marks

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals made eight strides toward two more baseball batting milestones as a result of their 1958 home run output.

The 40 - year - old Williams, ranked fifth in the lifetime home run listings, closed in on the elusive 500-homer club. The Red Sox outfielder hit 26 for a career total of 482. He trails Lou Gehrig, No. 4 in the all-time home run derby, by 12.

Musial, 38 this month, moved within striking distance of the 400-homer mark. Stan hit 17 for a career figure of 396. He is sixth among the lifetime leaders and is rumored to Mel Ott's National League high of 511.

Sudbury Wolves Open Season With Win Over Greyhounds

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Sudbury Wolves opened their Ontario Hockey Association-Northern OHA senior Wednesday night and promptly joined the lead in second place in the standings with a 3-2 win over Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds.

Wolves, who had to fall off last week's opener because of a player strike, are two points behind the league-leading Chatham Maroons, Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Greyhounds and Windsor Bulldogs are also in the second spot.

Joe Zorics, Joe Malo and defenceman Norm Guimond scored for the Wolves. Lefwinger Don McLean scored both Soo goals.

Referee Jimmy Kelly called 18 penalties, including two 10-minute misconducts.

North Bay Trappers, in last place, meet the Dutchmen in tonight's only game.

REDMEN IN BAD SHAPE

MONTREAL (CP) — McGill Redmen may be minus six regulars when they meet Queen's Golden Gaels here in Saturday's Senior Intercollegiate Football game. The clubs share the cellar with 1-4 records. Injured are: guard Chuck Arnold and centre John Mosher, concussion; tackle Mike Byrne, halves Tom Hall and Carl Hansen, torn knee ligaments, and half Willie Lambert with an injured hand.

Indians Scalp Barons 14-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took Ken Schinkel 79 American Hockey League games to score 11 goals last season. He already has eight in 10 games this year.

The 25-year-old rightwinger led the runaway Western Division Springfield Indians overpowered Cleveland Barons 14-5.

Schinkel, an American leaguer since 1953, picked up four goals and two assists in the only game of the night.

Springfield took a 4-0 lead in the first period, made it 7-3 after two and scored seven goals in a wild third period. The loss was Barons' fifth straight.

Springfield rookie Dennis Olson scored three goals in the third period. Harry Pidhirny, and Bruce Carmichael each scored two goals. Jimmy Anderson, Ian Marcetta and Colin Kilburn got one each.

Cleveland scorers were Bob Barlow with two and Ian Anderson, Eddie Mazur and Bill Sivetz with one each.

The victory moved Indians into fourth place.

Quebec Hockey

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Aces expected for four third - period goals in Jump Chicoutimi Saguenays 7-4 Wednesday night in a Quebec Hockey League contest.

The win gave the second-place Quebecers 19 points, three back of Montreal Royals and five behind than Trois-Rivieres Lions. Chicoutimi, with a single win this season, is last in the four-team circuit.

See a reduction is eight per cent because "the pool has been the salvation of our league in past years."

Wally Brabin of Kingston and Ray Denyes of Belleville take a different interpretation of the whole issue. Both clubs have sent only $100-per-cent contributions and claim no vote was taken at the Gananoque meeting.

"Until the matter is cleared up we will submit eight per cent as one contribution," Denyes said. If 10 per cent is agreed on later, McFarlands will add on another two per cent.

Brabin conceded the question is in doubt and called for another meeting to clarify it. He said he and Merchants are concerned the eight-per-cent level should

VISIT RUSSIA

STRATFORD - on - AVON, England (Reuters)—The Shakespeare Memorial Theatre has accepted an invitation to visit Russia this winter. The 70-member company will take three productions to Russia: Romeo and Juliet, Hamlet, and Twelfth Night. They will give 11 performances in Denlingrad and 15 in Moscow.

RESCUERS

porters shortly after he walked unaided into All Saints' Hospital. "I'm just terribly tired and weary."

It was Kempt's voice that gave the rescue crews their first hope of life Wednesday. "There are 13 of us here. Come and get us."

At the hospital waited the wives and children of the 12 men most recently rescued to see again.

TWO ESCAPES

"God was good to him twice," said Cecille McDonald as she gently stroked her husband's head. She explained that he escaped twice and that's enough."

McDonald was one of 88 survivors of a 1956 explosion in the adjoining No. 4 colliery that killed 39 miners.

Bowman Masciotti, 43-year-old father of three children, was in tears. His family had bought a cemetery lot. His fiance of 12 years-and had been spent in leading the men in songs while rescuers fought their way through a 60-foot barrier of rock in 10 hours in a superhuman effort to free them from the tombike enclosure where there was no light or even water.

"It was my mother's prayers and my own that brought me out," Joe McDonald said.

Joe McDonald was picked up the last of the men was Dosco coal chief Harold Gordon and manager of the Cape Calcer of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Company.

MINE MUSICIAN

Mr. Gordon, ordered to bed by Dr. Lynch, made only a brief statement on future rescue operations.

"We can't tell what conditions ahead are like," he said. "There is nothing more to say except we're going digging—and it's hard slogging."

Fred Hunter, a survivor of the underground upheaval, estimated that 200 were still underground. Mr. Gordon said he knew of two.

Even while families were being reunited, the belly-crawling pick-and-shovel miners were inside the 2-mile diverge through tons of jammed debris in search of more life.

"The spirit of the rescue teams is terrific," Mr. Gordon said. Only 10 to 13 feet on an eight-hour shift the men smashed through to get 70 feet. After the 12 men were found alive Wednesday afternoon, it took them through 60 feet in a shift and a half.

SECOND MIRACLE?

"It's our second miracle," said Mayor Ralph Gilroy. "The city has been good to us."

Again and again were enacted scenes of joy as wives contrasted with the grief and sorrow evident earlier this week as Springhill buried more than 20 of its dead.

Amid a confusion of reports, it appeared that nine survivors of Blair Phillips and bare-faced diggers Percy Wallbridge were the first to hear Kempt's voice from a broken air pipe which kept him fed with air while they awaited rescue.

Phillips said he was "thrilled" to hear a voice. For Weatherbee it was an added thrill—Kempt's uncle.

"I could hardly believe my ears," Weatherbee said. "I asked him how many were in there and Kempt said there were 12 of them."

Only four bodies have been found in the 13,000-foot working area where 50 to 85 men were believed working when the huge upheaval threw tunnel floors upward towards the ceilings. Most of the 28 known dead were brought from the 13,400- and 13,500-foot levels.

TOWN ELECTRIFIED

The news that 11 men were alive in the pits electrified the 5,000 residents of this Cobequid Hills coal mining community where tragedy has struck four times within a century, three times in the mines.

Mrs. Art Veiten, mother-in-law of Joe Holloway and Hugh Guthro ran the quarter-mile to the mine despite a heart condition.

Mrs. Kempt, Gorley's wife, said she never lost faith. "I kept thinking of the things we would do when he got home."

lombe pean contributions to $25,000,000 from $25,000,000 in each of the next three years.

The NCAP C-6 transport carrying the prime minister touched down at 11:45 GMT, about one hour behind schedule, on its flight from New York. The plane was diverted to Goose Bay, Labrador, a considerable distance off course, when fog prevented a scheduled refueling stop at Gander, Nfld. Otherwise, the trip was uneventful.

The prime minister was to attend a reception this afternoon given by Canadian High Commissioner George Drew and tonight at Mrs. Diefenbaker were to dine at 10 Downing Street with Prime Minister and Lady Macmillan.

At his press conference, the prime minister said that immigration is likely to be one of the topics discussed in his meetings with Asian leaders. The Canadian immigration system had been based on consultations among countries involved. He said various parts of the world are "not too anxious" to have their people emigrate, preferring to keep them at home to aid national development.

The prime minister also said he expects an economic upturn in Canada will bring about resumption of the former high level of British emigration to Canada. The last few months had revealed marked improvements in Canada's economic picture.

Having regard to Canada's vast national development program, more immigration will be required to its former level.

The Canadian leader said the idea of his trip arose at the recent Commonwealth trade and economic conference. He said:

"I suggest that our great natural resources and your accumulated skills provide Canada and the United Kingdom with a unique opportunity to increase our mutual trade, and also to point us a general and special responsibility to build up the prosperity of the Commonwealth as a whole."

NOBEL AUTHORS

threats had forced Pasternak's action. The Polish Writer's Union has already had congratulated Pasternak on his honor, and there was unanimous approval in Russia of the award.

In Moscow, the author was the target of the severest attack yet. Before a crowd of thousands in the Lenin Sports Palace, Secretary V. E. Semichastov, of the Young Communist League declared him as a slanderer who should leave his country.

Pasternak was still living at his home in a writers' colony outside Moscow but asked Western reporters not to visit Lim there.

Dr. Anders Oesterling, secretary of the Swedish awarding committee, said Pasternak still will go down in history as the 1958 Nobel prize winner.

Canadian Mineral Output Seen Tripled in 25 Years

Canada's vast underground mineral warehouse is ready to begin into an explosion of development as experts feel mayreach the $5 billion mineral empire by the next 25 years.

The major emphasis on exploration in recent years has uncovered new deposits of iron, lead, zinc, copper, lithium, columbium, tantalum, uranium and two years ago the big open pit mine

At the moment Canada leads the world in the production of asbestos and nickel; is second in aluminum, platinum, lead and zinc; third in gold and silver; and fourth in iron ore. The Cyprus mine for distant when Canada will lead the world in sulphur, platinum, nickel and lumber, and second in the production of iron ore.

It is estimated that by 1983 Canada's mineral industry will be producing $5 billion worth of minerals annually.

In the Montagnais area of Quebec alone, a vast interest, it could prove to be one of Canada's biggest discoveries.

And there are other areas in Canada which are being explored. Extensive airborne surveys are being carried out.

In Manitoba, Wintering Lake and Herb Lake are centers of activity for companies. International Nickel and Rio Canadian, Hudson Bay Mining, Sherritt Gordon, Falconbridge, and many other companies have been making impressive finds since Inco decided to go ahead with its Moak Lake project. Major development activities are in progress.

Nuclear Test Ban Talks Commence Amid Pessimism

UN Effort to Get Vote Approving Parley Fails

GENEVA (AP) — Russia today reiterated its demand for an immediate and permanent suspension of nuclear weapon tests.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin made the demand at the start of negotiations with the United States and Britain for a joint suspension of tests under international control.

Tsarapkin said a permanent undertaking by the three powers to stop tests should precede negotiations on a control system to detect violations. The West has refused to agree to a permanent cessation of tests unless the control system is set up first.

WESTERN TESTS STOP

Meanwhile, voluntary British and American cessation of tests for a one-year period went into effect today. But both countries have given notice they will resume testing if Russian tests continue.

Tsarapkin did not refer directly to the Western suspension offer, but said Russia "will immediately discontinue its experimental explosions" if the Western powers are willing to conclude an agreement for permanent suspension. He was agreed to indicate that the Russian test program has not been discontinued as of today.

All three powers professed to favor banning the tests, but a continuing East - West split was underlined by the opening statements on the conference eve:

1. The Soviet Union insisted the talks must lead to an agreement outlawing tests immediately and forever, regardless of whether a control system is approved.

2. The U. S. and Britain announced a conditional one-year suspension of their tests, effective Thursday midnight. The condition is that Russia also stop firing nuclear explosives.

There was no immediate comment from the Russians, however, as to whether they would join in the suspension.

Heading the delegations are Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev, worth of the U. S. Semyon K. Tsarapkin of the Soviet Union and Sir Michael Wright, of State David Ormsby-Gore of Britain.

New York Times reported to the Western Powers Thursday suggested State Secretary Dulles, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd meet later to speed agreement.

MODIFIED POSITION

This modified the Soviet proposal a month ago that the meeting be held at the start to the foreign ministers' level. The U.S. and British indicated Dulles and Lloyd would take part later if agreement appeared likely.

The Russian notes delivered were worded in a more conciliatory tone than usual.

Western officials said the notes seemed to indicate the Russians would not insist on a British and American commitment to end tests permanently at the outset of the talks. If the Russians do insist, the talks are not likely to get far.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) United Nations efforts to put a stamp of approval on the Big Three nuclear talks opening in Geneva today ended on the eve of the Switzerland meeting in a gloomy impasse at the world organization's headquarters.

The prospects for today's session of the UN's 81-country political committee were that East and West would split again in a vote that would point up the apparently insoluble difference between them and leave the Geneva ambassadors little hope of agreement.

Right through Thursday evening efforts were being made here to arrive at an acceptable compromise aimed at starting the Geneva talks on a statesmanlike note. Britain, the United States and Russia on the nuclear test-ban question in an atmosphere of goodwill.

But these efforts failed, and at today's outset even a first-stage compromise agreement at Geneva appeared virtually a lost cause.

RUSSIA FIRM

Russia remained adamant on its demand that no agreement is possible unless it is an unconditional and perpetual one. Britain and the U.S., backed by Canada and a group of 14 other member UN states, want a suspension agreement on suspension — one year in the period mentioned—and they are ready to start work toward a solution.

These sides appear convinced that further testing might pose a threat, in the form of fallout from the radioactive results of testing, but neither Moscow nor the West are ready to risk such effect on keeping a ban agreement.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge put the Western position before the UN subcommittee Thursday night after a meeting of the 17 countries that participated in the year suspension proposal: "We don't believe in a one-year suspension—we believe in a real suspension."

Because of this, he announced the 17 powers would push their suspension plan to the vote in the assembly's political committee, probably today.

Russia's opposition, through a Moscow radio broadcast, that the UN subcommittee "remand" it would be followed through at Geneva apparently by the other world powers. Russia's chief aide, Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin, said any such a suspension would become perpetual should the Big Three ambassadors at Geneva break in disagreement—as seemed likely this week.

The 17 Western delegations said no to this proposal, on the grounds that it calls for an entrapment. Russia would only have to scuttle the Geneva talks to achieve its aim of a perpetual test ban without making concessions of his own.

In Appearance, Family Background Pope John, Pope Pius Poles Apart

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Thousands in the Vatican Square roared approval when Pope John XXIII stepped to the balcony of St. Peter's Basilica to give his first blessing to the city of Rome and the world.

In the narrow streets of Sotto il Monte another mass met under the mountain—children and dozens shouted:

"Long life to Roncalli. Long live the Pope."

It was in that little Italian Alpine town of 1,800 people that the 262nd pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church was born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli 77 years ago. He was the child of a poor farmer—about as far removed from the noble Roman family that gave birth to his predecessor, Pius XII.

Pacelli were patricians, the Roncallis humble countryfolk. Their most famous son has sometimes been called a countryman. It is a quality that has endeared him to many, from the children of his native town to heads of state with whom he had long years of contact as a representative of Vatican diplomacy.

A quality of quasi-jovility common to his native Bergamo provinces more than anything else immediately marks the difference between Pope John and his predecessor, the aristocratic Roman who for 19 years guided the church through an extraordinarily difficult war and post-war period.

Few men looked less like each other. Pius XII, coldly ascetic; John, a 210-pounder with a reputation for eating his spaghetti heritage of his peasant background.

But there are many similarities: Dedication to the church from early life, intimate experience with Vatican administration, long years in the church's diplomatic service, association with foreign government heads as a papal ambassador, staunch defenders of morality, devotion to study, research and scholarship.

The new Pope was one of 13 children, his father a sharecropper. Angelo was born Nov. 25, 1881.

Young Angelo was only 11 when he entered the diocesan seminary at Bergamo. Twelve years later on Aug. 10, 1904, he was ordained a priest in Rome.

Cameraman Plays Hallowe'en Prank

Al Georgeson, The Ontario Intelligencer's staff correspondent in Trenton, got into the Hallowe'en spirit early this year, when he took the above picture of three Trenton youngsters all decked out in their "Trick or Treat" finery. Without so much as by-your-leave he bestowed a novel pumpkin mask on Beverly McFarland of 78 South Scott Street. On Beverly's left is David Jutras of 51 Dominion Street, dressed in a hobo's costume. On her right is Roy Lewis of 5 Bay Street. All the youngsters are 11 years old.

TV REPAIRMAN TELLS OF KILLING THREE MODELS

Describes Strangling Them With Sash Cord

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—"I would make them kneel down with the gun on them, I would tie their five-foot piece of rope around their ankles. Then I would loop it up around their neck. Then I would stand there and keep pulling until they quit struggling."

Calmly, almost boastfully, a mild-mannered television repairman thus confessed strangling three models and leaving their bodies in lonely southern California deserts.

All of the victims were raped first, said officers who jailed Harvey M. Glatman, 30, of Los Angeles on suspicion of murder.

He said he used the same piece of sash cord and the same pistol in all assaults. The weapons were in his car when highway patrolmen found a fourth intended victim holding the gun on him after a desperate struggle in a car Monday night.

The slender, sandy-haired executive who served prison terms in New York and Colorado for kidnaping and rape, confessed after two days' questioning and a lie-detector test, said Chief Investigator Joel Hays of the district-attorney's office.

Hays said the victims died 15, eight and three months ago in the following order and said Glatman gave this account:

Mrs. Judy Ann Dull, 19, of West Covina, was assaulted during a man's apartment after a date to

Prince Philip Cements Claim As a 'Perfect Ambassador'

OTTAWA (CP) — Prince Philip appeared today to have cemented his claim as a "perfect ambassador" for Britain.

Capping a three-day visit to Canada, he was set to fly back to Britain this afternoon, pausing on the way to visit the scene of the Nova Scotia mine disaster.

Prince Philip's performance drew a chief talking point. Although delegates obviously were disposed to admire, there was no mistaking their appreciation of the prince's alert manner and breadth of knowledge.

"It obviously wasn't just a command performance — he showed that international affairs are close to his heart and mind," said an American delegate.

"It was a revelation for some of us, because we really haven't had much to do with the United States."

Another delegate styled him Britain's perfect ambassador.

Philip, in a heavy speech lightheartedly invited the U.S. to join the Commonwealth. Such an application for membership, he said, will receive "sympathetic consideration."

In more serious vein, he proposed a toast to partnership between the Commonwealth and the U.S., but said this was "very much more complicated" than it appeared.

The Commonwealth countries, thereby accepting the Queen as the symbol of their association, had no "central direction or government."

As Philip was speaking, Government House announced that the royal visitor would fly home from Halifax Monday. Ottawa's 194 miners were trapped by an underground explosion Oct. 22.

The Comet IV airliner which brought Philip here from Britain a record sixty hours, is scheduled to leave Ottawa at 2:30 p.m. EST Monday. It is due in Britain early Tuesday, scheduled.

The Springhill stop will be at

MODEST PROGRESS

EDMONTON (CP) — External Affairs Minister Smith says scientific exchanges between the Soviet Union and the West "may well be indispensable" if a way out is to be found from the world's present "nuclear stalemate." Mr. Smith indicated in a lecture at the University of Alberta Wednesday night that "modest progress" is being made in solving the stalemate.

Form National Association Of Teddy Boys

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (AP)— About 30 youths in drainpipe pants and Edwardian cut jackets Thursday night proclaimed formation of The National Association of Teddy Boys.

They declared the association should be open to all Teddy Boys regardless of race, creed or political beliefs—apart from communism.

The black Edwardian suits now affected by many of British youths have become synonymous, in the eyes of many older citizens, with the gang of hooligans.

But the inaugural meeting of the association declared it it would do all it could to help police fight thugs.

On the other hand it promised to extend legal aid to any teddy boy victimized just because he dresses like one.

Time and aims of the association: To provide centres run by Teddy Boys for Teddy Boys, sports facilities, holiday camps and a Teddy Boy football league.

Bennett Speech Sounds Like Election Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP) — A large crowd of about 1,800 attended a Social Credit rally Thursday night for cabinet minister W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia which had the earmarks of an election campaign speech.

They heard the premier, at the peak of his colorful speaking form.

Promise $1,000,000,000 will be spent on B.C. roads during the next five years.

Promise a dramatic announcement within 15 days concerning the giant Wenner-Gren hydro-electric system in the Peace River area.

Warn that labor and business boom that they "can't boss this government."

Hint at an early election and then warn that it wasn't to be taken as a bluff.

His election hint came when he said that if the continued criticism of his government kept up "we might take the government to the people a lot earlier than some people think. But that's not the threat of an election."

NUCLEAR BOMB TESTING ENDS WITH BIG SHOTS

One Year Suspension Now in Effect

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—An era of nuclear weapons testing ended at midnight.

And in its wake: Renewed furore over the dangers of radioactive fallout.

President Eisenhower announced emergency suspension of tests went into effect today. Big Three talks in Geneva will determine how long it lasts.

The last atomic shot went off in a mountainside tunnel with an earth-jolting shock. It was as big as the atomic bombs that destroyed Japanese cities in the Second World War. It lofted a 500-foot-wide column of rock and dust 1,000 feet above the mountaintop. Huge boulders crashed down the slopes.

WINDS BALK LAST TEST

Atomic Energy Commission scientists kept trying to set off another weapon right up to the midnight deadline. A blast was to have gone off under a balloon at 1,000 feet above the mountain top. The effort

Alarmed by a spurt in radioactivity over Los Angeles, Mayor Norris Poulson tried Thursday to get the AEC to call off the shot. But weather bureau officials reported no immediate danger.

FEAR AND ANGER

An immediate flurry of excitement, apprehension and anger followed.

The uproar was subsiding today under a barrage of reassuring statements.

Squabbles by Western Churchmen Spread Discord in Mission Fields

WINNIPEG (CP) — Western churchmen are causing dissension in mission fields around the world, Rev. E. M. Bennett of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Council of Churches' overseas missions department, told the council's biennial meeting reports of Afro-Asian church unity do not give the entire picture.

Mr. Bennett, a veteran of some 30 years' missionary service in Asia, said often promising attempts at co-operation between representatives of various faiths have been wrecked by visiting church officials from America. He mentioned several examples.

He cited the case of Anglican and Baptist missionaries who had worked in close co-operation in East Pakistan for more than 30 years. Their progress was blasted in one day, he said, when a new Baptist mission board sent into church boundaries and made it clear Baptists were not interested in unity.

Among reports heard Thursday at the convention, attended by 200 delegates, representing 10 church groups, a council committee urged federal and provincial governments to employ full-time chaplains in major penal institutions and urged that the chaplains receive specialized training.

Speakers on a panel discussion expressed a strong opposition against any form of gambling, including a national lottery.

Rev. Emlyn Davies of Toronto, president of the council, said he was particularly pleased to see

Prince Will Pay Springhill Visit On Flight Home

Known Death Toll 32, With 49 Still Missing

SPRINGHILL, N.S., (CP) — Prince Philip tonight will visit this grief-stricken town.

The prince, en route to London from a meeting of the English-Speaking Union in Ottawa, will break his journey to meet and talk to people of the town. He will visit the colliery pithead where early Thursday 12 men were brought out alive after entombment 6½ days trapped deep underground and also the hospital where they are recuperating.

The known death toll in last week's upheaval in the coalmine land No. 2 colliery is 32. The 32nd body was brought to the surface early today. Of the 174 men buried in the upheaval, a total of 93 have been rescued. 49 are missing.

WARM RESPONSE

News of the prince's visit brought a warm response.

"I think it is wonderful," said Mayor Ralph Oliver.

Mrs. Hugh Guthro, wife of one of Thursday's 12 survivors said: "It is nice of the prince to come and I'd like to meet him."

It should be a week or more before dog-tired rescuers bring up all the miners trapped deep in the bump 3,000 feet.

Assistant rescue director Frank Davies holds out little hope for the entombed men.

Their fate will be known until engineermen and bare-faced miners dig their way through a few hundred metres of rock and coal debris.

Three scattered groups wait at the pithead—that magical, bleak building through which rescued men have come to life on each day's grey dawn 12 "miracle" survivors were brought out on stretchers after 6½ days of darkness, hunger and thirst.

CALLED MIRACLE

People called it a miracle. They remembered the cold, silent figures that were almost to the day when an explosion devastated No. 4 mine here and killed 39 miners.

Little thought was being given Wednesday night statement by Sir Roy Dobson, chairman of A. V. Roe Canada Limited, that No. 2 mine would not likely reopen although it is the "heart" of the industry and employs 900.

"Let's get these guys out first before we worry about opening the one miner said.

First Insurance Sale Made to Missing Teller

RENFREW (CP)—Garry Kimberly is one of the most disappointed insurance men in the business.

Two weeks ago the 33-year-old bachelor joined an insurance firm after 10 years in the automobile business.

Sunday he made his first sale — a $10,000 life insurance policy.

But before the confirmation slips at the bottom of the policy could be checked and the deal finally assured, the news broke Monday that some $300,000 had disappeared from an Ottawa bank and that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of Gilles Serge L. Johnston.

Johnston, still sought by police, was the man to whom Kimberly sold the insurance policy. The insurance company has withheld action on the policy.

Second Oldest Cat in U.S. Dies, Age 24

SERGEANTSVILLE, N.J. (AP)—Ol' Dusty, who right up to the end went a-mousing every day, has died at 24.

Her death at her farm home here Thursday rocked the American feline society.

"That was the second oldest cat in the United States," said society president Robert Lothar Kendall.

Mrs. Harry Bunzer, Mrs. Newton B. Scope, said the black, white and orange puss still succeeded in catching mice as late as last month. It was quite a feat because Dusty had only one tooth left.

Kendall said the society has a cat on file named Suzie from Hazleton, Pa., whose owner claims she is 37.

Beavers Putting Up Stiff Fight With Machines

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Men and machinery are fighting a gilded battle with the beavers but the beavers have the upper hand.

There was talk today of negotiating a peace—the Fort William hunters moves into its fourth stage.

So far three offensives launched with dynamite and machine to destroy the dam-shaded valley of a stream leading into the Neebing River—have failed.

Three times in three days a construction team has torn down the beavers' nine-foot-tall, log-and-mud home with floods of four-acre meadow. Three times the beavers have restored it.

The trouble began when workers arrived at the meadow to dig a quarry. The dam had to go.

Twice they scooped out the half-called logs and each was a giant crane. Once dynamite was blasted through. On each occasion the gap was plugged next morning.

Officials further coolly delay the contracts now propose a deep ditch around the dam and the 30 beavers are to be trapped and re-settled on a new site before winter sets in.

Eisenhower Prepares Final Election Plea

NEW YORK (CP)—President Eisenhower makes a final bid tonight for election of a Republican Congress with the Democrats contending that he' would be better off if their party continues in control.

Eisenhower, who has campaigned with new vigor for Tuesday's congressional elections, chose Baltimore for his windup vote-Republican appeal via radio and television.

The president has struck some heavy blows at the Democrats in speeches all the way to the West coast. But he was expected to lay emphasis tonight on what he contends are his administration's achievements in the foreign and domestic fields.

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, Thursday night said Eisenhower has received more co-operation from Democrats in Congress than from Republicans in the House of Representatives and Senate.

DEMOCRATIC WORKS

Speaking to a party rally in Indianapolis, Johnson said the president ought to remember "that the accomplishments he now holds forth as his own are the works of a Democratic Congress."

Johnston mentioned anti-recession measures and steps to counter Russian scientific advances. The Texan said Democrats have saved Eisenhower's foreign policy programs in Congress.

The Democratic spokesman also dismissed as scare words the charges by Republican campaigners, including Eisenhower, that the Democrats harbor political radicalism.

Vice-President Richard Nixon forged deeper into the west today, still sounding an optimistic note on Republican prospects next Tuesday.

NIXON TO ALASKA

Nixon was headed for Billings, Mont., and then Everett, Wash., before going on to Alaska. The new state will vote Nov. 4.

At Wichita, Kan., Thursday night, Nixon said the Democrats have "run out of gas" and pictured them as "staggering and stumbling toward the finish line."

Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, appeared at a party rally in Chicago and said a "cold left by the failure of White House leadership is being felled by Congress."

Aspirin Bottle Used by Miners To Ration Water

(Editor's note: Levi Milley, 47, was one of 12 survivors of the Springhill mine disaster who spent six days trapped 1½ miles underground. He lives with wife and a 16-year-old daughter he vows he'll never return to the pits.

By LEVI MILLEY
as told to The Canadian Press

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—You know, it's kinda funny. Down below we were all wondering what you people above were thinking. We talked about it quite often. And here you were doing the same thing about us.

See this little aspirin bottle? That little bottle did an awful lot to save our lives. You wouldn't think it to look at it, but it did.

You see, two or three days after the bump like it did we were down to about two cups of water, and it had to be rationed. So my friend that time you can hear the last of one of our dead mates and I decided that the bottle, holding about three-quarters full, would be the ration for all of us every 24 hours.

We measured it out very carefully. Then it was passed all around, taking one small sip apiece. The next day we repeated the hours. And no man took more.

We figured all the time that the rescue parties knew we were here...We were surprised that they were taking so long to find us. It was a case of being surprised all around.

We started all right. One man said the words and the rest of us followed. He was the only one of us usually joined in the singing.

What about the future?

Well, you can say this: Levy Milley, former coal miner of Springhill and chicken-raiser on the side, is looking for a steady job on a chicken farm some place.

Doesn't matter where, I'll go anywhere. They'll never get me back in that mine.

Champlain Hts. Outdoor Skating Rink Planned

TRENTON — An outdoor skating rink will be built this winter for the use of the children of Champlain Heights and it will be among the first projects of a newly-formed association under the chairmanship of Howard Aziz.

The rink will only be small and chiefly for the use of the younger children who are just learning to skate. It is expected to be about 40 feet by 80 feet. It is also expected the rink will be made each year on the park which faces Jard Ave.

Mr. Aziz has met with the matter of the fee at the last meeting of the grand master and stated that the board run a water line into the park for flooding purposes.

He said the fire chief, Cecil Ellis, has agreed to pick the rink its first flooding and after that it would be up to the residents to look after it as the need for a water line into the park.

If the line is not in in time, Mr. Aziz said it was possible they could use the hose from nearby homes using a garden hose, but he felt it would be much more convenient to have a frost-proof tap in the park itself and it could be used for watering grass in the summer time.

The question of whether or not a rink like this would kill the park in the fall was answered by Ted Parker, chairman of the Parks Board. He said it would unless a good cushion of snow was on the ground before the water was turned on.

The Parks Board instructed the town gardener, Bart Boers, to get in touch with the Public Utilities Commission and determine the best location for the tap and the water meter. He was also given authority to proceed with the work as soon as possible.

The question will be further discussed at a meeting between the Parks Board and the Champlain Heights Association on Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Horace Ketcheson; bridge, John Sparks, Lake Glover; euchre, Irv McGaughey.

Sports officer Bill Milne will supervise the-entire operation, with the financial arrangements being under the direction of the chairman of finance, Harry Devonshire.

At the conclusion of the socivilics a dinner will be served by the Branch 110 Ladies' Auxiliary and suitable entertainment will be arranged by the branch's second vice-president, W. T. Lawson.

Weekend Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were generally steady this week on steers, heifers and yearlings at the Ontario public stockyards.

Trading was light on the light numbers of top grade slaughter cattle. Heavy weight steers and heifers graded no better than medium, posing a difficult problem to the selling agents. These kinds were under pressure and far too numerous for the buyers to absorb at steady prices.

Fed yearlings continued to trade actively with the steer calves gaining a substantial premium over heifers. Top grades of cows sold easier with canner cows selling steady. Bulls were in good demand throughout the week at firm prices. Veal calves were actively sought and firm prices were steady. Lamb prices were steady to $1, and closed lower at the close.

Cattle receipts were about the same as last week and slightly higher than the same week in 1957. Receipts of replacement cattle from Western Canada continue light at 189 head. This is the head less than last week. Shipments to Eastern Canadian slaughterers were two carloads less than last week at eight carloads. There was no export to the United States.

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers 34-36.50; mixed lots to 34.75 and a few tops at 25; good 32.50-34; medium 31.50-32; common 30-31; a few choice heifers sold at 32; good 31.50-32.50; medium 29-31; common 17.50-19; choice fed yearlings 29-30 with numerous steer calves to 30 and 30.50 at 29.50; good 32.50-34.50; good cows 16-16.50 with sales to 17; medium 15-16; common 14-15; canners and cutters 13-14; good heavy bologna bulls 19.50-20; common and medium 16-19.

Replacement cattle: Good stockers 32-36 with stock calves at 28-30; common and medium 18-24.

Expect Tourists To Pick up Tab On Toll Bridges

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP)—United States tourists are expected to pick up most of the tabs for Ontario's proposed system of toll bridges.

This was made clear Thursday at ceremonies opening the $19,000,000 Burlington Skyway bridge across Hamilton harbor, attended by premier frost and the Ontario cabinet.

Provincial Treasurer James N. Allan, in highways minister, spoke of "unwary Americans" paying for the $160,000,000 network of toll bridges, most of them planned for border points.

Premier Frost also mentioned the possibility of raising the 15-cent cash toll—Americans were used to paying more than that in their own country. He said to Mr. Allan:

BEST BARGAIN

"We're starting them off at 15 cents—I don't know how you might even jack that up a bit. You can't find a bargain like that in America."

The premier said $500,000 tourists come into Ontario every year and nearly all of them would be using the toll bridges approved at the last session of the legislature.

More than 300 motorists were on hand for a walk on either side of the skyway's centre span as the premier cut a ribbon to open the 8,400 - foot structure, longest in Canada.

Diefenbaker And Macmillan Enjoy Chat

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker had an informal 75-minute talk today with Prime Minister Macmillan, but postponed discussion of specific subjects until next Tuesday.

The two leaders met in the cabinet room at 10 Downing Street. No other officials were present.

Later, a spokesman said the Canadian prime minister said the talk was "general as to subjects and very concrete." It was merely a "personal" meeting.

Tuesday's official talk will be on Tuesday."

VARIETY OF CALLS

The Canadian prime minister then drove off for a 15-minute call on Archbishop of Canterbury at Lambeth Palace.

Mr. Diefenbaker had lunch with the Queen Mother at Clarence House. He was due to leave by air for Edinburgh and a weekend spent privately in Scotland. Tonight he and Mrs. Diefenbaker will be dinner guests of the Canadian publisher of The Scotsman.

Roblin Survives Motion by CCF

WINNIPEG (CP)—The minority Progressive Conservative government of Manitoba has survived a CCF non-confidence motion, one of two facing Premier Duff Roblin at the legislature's special fall session.

The vote Thursday night was 43 to 12 against the motion, with the six Liberal-Progressive members present voting with the government. A combination of the two opposition groups against the government could have brought the fall of the Conservatives, who hold 26 seats in the 57-seat House.

Anglican Canon Fast Becoming Hater of Birds

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—A Church of England clergyman has admitted he becomes "a murderer at heart."

Canon Bryan Green, the rector of Birmingham, preached Thursday in his parish magazine that he may take action under new anti - cruelty laws against persons who feed the birds.

"I am fast becoming an impenitent hater of birds. I used to love the dear little creatures.

"Now, every time I see the filthy mess the pigeons and starlings are making of our churchyard we will, perhaps even some of the church itself, I become a murderer at heart."

"My disciples of the back and what they drop is intensified by the unsympathetic ill bird lovers, who write to consign me to hell for my appallingly hard-hearted attitude to God's creatures.

"I wish these bird - lovers would come and stand in our churchyard bare-headed for a while and rejoice in God's creatures as they stand there and take the consequences."

NEED UN POLICE FORCE

The United Nations, as a body, is dedicated to peace, which is the maintenance of law and order and respect for property, personality and the individual. To date the effectiveness of the UN in the execution of this task is quite dubious. Although there may be an overall appearance of quiet, in that there is no general all-out state of war, there are a number of localized incidents, many of which have been prolonged for a number of years, which may well be described as "disturbing the peace" of the community of nations.

In a well-organized community there always exists an agency endowed with the utmost exclusive right to the use of force, in order to maintain law and order, and another agency to adjudicate in the matter of trying those accused of being guilty of offences against the peace of the community. The lack of these two agencies as a permanent part of the United Nations organization is, we feel, that body's chief weakness in its attempt to act as the leading or governing body in our international community.

The League of Nations failed because it, as a body, could not enforce its decisions. It takes more than just a moral or written pledge to stay a nation's hand from war. It takes either the knowledge that there exists a much stronger force which will be brought to bear on that nation's armed force, if it moves out of line, or the fact that no nation is equipped for war.

With about 3% per cent of the world population dedicated to the control of direct conflict and 97 per cent dedicated to the use of all-out force to achieve their acknowledged goals it seems that the establishment of an independent UN police force or army, as well as the establishment of an international judicial system, both to be correlated with the UN Assembly, is much too long overdue.

If the United Nations, which was founded by those who believed in man operating in harmony with himself, is to fulfill its obligation to our international community it had best not cluch at the fantasy that no one want war, because some consider it a practical impossibility, but build an international police force sufficient to meet the demands of the modern world as quickly as possible.

WHERE ANGELS FEAR TO TREAD

Unless Rev. J. R. Mutchmor has been misquoted, the United Church is preparing to tread on questionable ground.

Mr. Mutchmor, secretary of the United Church's board of evangelism and social service, was commenting on the first report of the Borden energy commission. He pointed out that the report bears out "what we already know," that some men connected with the distribution of natural gas had reaped heavy profits. These profits were tax-free because they were in the form of capital gains from stock acquired at low prices. Mr. Mutchmor then said that the United Church will press for a capital gains tax.

Now advocacy of a tax on capital gains is certainly a right which every Canadian citizen, including Mr. Mutchmor, enjoys.

But the advocacy of such a tax by members of the United Church, as individuals, and by the United Church as a body are two entirely different things.

We feel that Mr. Mutchmor and the church would suggest that belief in a capital gains tax should be made an article of faith for members of the United Church, but to have the Church espouse such a cause against the wishes and beliefs of some of its members would create a difficult situation.

To one person, of course, it is not a new situation. There are those who have contended that the separation of church from state, advocated by most Protestants, ought to imply not merely the absence of any state-supported or endorsed church but also a withdrawal of the church from involvement in all matters under the control of the state.

The difficulty with this stand is that questions of politics and of morals are not sharply divided, but are intertwined and a church which refrains from taking any stand on all politic issues must, of necessity, stand dumb when many issues are being decided.

The United Church, largely we think as the result of Mr. Mutchmor's work, has already firmly established a reputation for taking stands on political issues which it believes also involve questions of morals.

We would not quarrel with this, but the proposal that the church advocate a capital gains tax strikingly illustrates the danger inherent in such a policy.

RUNNING FOR OFFICE

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Running for office,
This is the game,
Handing out cards
With your face and your name,
Making bum speeches,
Spending your pelf,
Wearing your lungs out,
Shouting yourself.
To one and to all,
Cling your dimes
For what may befall,
Telling the voters
Lined up at the bar
Just what a splendid
Good fellow you are.

Running for office
And losing your rest,
Sawing the air
And beating your breast,
Pounding the table
And yelling like thunder,
Trying to make 'em
Believe you're a wonder.

Hammer Blow at Privilege

Ottawa Journal

The six-man Royal Commission on Energy, headed by the businessman Mr. Henry Borden of Toronto, has produced an incision report that gives the lie to those who argue that businessmen always look after their own.

Ruthless captains of finance, with an eye to the gold, will regard this report as treachery. It is as hard a hammer blow at the privileges of wealth and the influence of "big business" as the most vindictive scaffrogging borders.

The Conservative administration, having asked the commissioners to suggest policies to best serve the national interest, can not now back away from recommendations simply because some Socialists might admire them.

If they are implemented by its government, control of the import and export of sources of energy will be tighter, controlled will be scrutinized, Canadian interests will be paramount and even the arrangements for disposal of products and avoidance of waste in the use of natural gas and crude oil will be examined.

During the tumults of the thirties there was a time when it was talk of "financial buccaneers" who monopolized the profit out of development of natural resources. Individuals who resided in Canada who made large personal gains in the Canadian economy in recent times are spanked — and that is an appropriate term — by the commission for certain of their actions. They invited, and have challenged criticism and from them and their kind the public deserves protection.

One thing the commission would have the Canadian government disown is the pledge by former Prime Minister Diefenbaker, never endorsed by Parliament, that Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited would be permitted to export to the United States 200 billion cubic feet of gas daily for no less than 25 years. This promise evidently was based on the company's needs rather than the nation's long-range fuel requirements. It is a bargain of arrangement, of course, would not prevent Trans-Canada making a new application to be allowed to export gas, but the national interest would have to be satisfied. It was to Canada's benefit.

This national interest would be effectively protected not only by members of the commission, by the Board of Transport Commissioners in determining pipeline applications and operation but by the proposed National Energy Board.

The basic talk of this board, the report makes clear, is to appeal to the people of Canada the best use of natural gas and other forms of energy in Canada." It would advise the government of sources it would implement regulations to ensure that "buccaneers" did not benefit unfairly at the expense of the Canadian public.

These are tall orders but the Borden commission has spelled out its recommendations and the reasons for them. Moreover, it has produced a blueprint which should be employed and which are not beyond challenge.

Canada should have no doctrine-the-manger attitude about her resources. The commission has no desire to prevent their export in the national interest. But the pipeline debate revealed cause for concern that the interests of Canada's resources might be confined too much to those with too little sufficient regard for the nations needs.

The commission has given the government a detailed plan and should be given government recommendations must be decided by Parliament. The debate during the session in January will give opportunity to Parliament to see that what must be done is done quickly.

No Pausing at Doors

By John Gould in the Christian Science Monitor

The last time I offered some observations on the puny cat, as a responsible member of the social order, it turned out the cat had more friends than I did, and you will therefore notice a reluctance in my outright use of the subject is revived. Cats, I have learned, come in numerous sorts, a few of which appeal to me and a lot of which do not. I have known people like that, too.

I have, myself, a lovely cat, the notorious if not celebrated Manx beast who sticks her two inch jack in the air to answer affection, and probably would have starved in other way it the bank foreclosed and the per cent attention would save me from ruin.

It occurs to me that the cat who walks alone, and to whom the ways are the same, observes one important exception to this statement. It has to do with doors. A cat will not walk alone through a door, and the other side of a door is not just the same. This hapens to be the only phase of the cat intelligence you anything about, and my great access in training my tail-to-tail cat to pass through a door quickly and without hesitation has been more than passing notice.

A cat, full of new milk and venom, about to pass from the kitchen to the living room outdoors, where adventure calls, follows a set pattern. I've noticed this in all cats I have been privileged to watch. They skulk along the baseboard until they approach the door cautiously. They will then back and lash tail, and then trot the last four feet to the threshold with good spirit stopping at the door out and wait. The owner of a cat who is hesitant at the door spends a great deal of time waiting for the cat to make up its mind, so-to-speak.

My Stubby meows when she wants out in a lingering way of insolence which solidifies the marrow and tingles the spine.

And this always happens at some awkward time I may be full of supper, contentedly relaxed in the rocker with my feet up. I may be on a stool, hanging a bag of grape jelly to drip. Stubby never wants out if anybody is handy and disposed to let her out. My hands are always full, or I'm counting something, or shaking up figures. So I used to go to the door and open it, and then Stubby would stand there and look.

This goes back to the jungle, no doubt. Caution. Look before you leap. Distrust everything. Who knows what bogy might be out there? It might be a cat trap.

Our dooryard has been Stubby's for eleven good years. If there is anything out there now which she doesn't know about, it's late in the game to discover it. Even so, she's perfectly able to take care of herself anyway, and I once saw her ride a Great

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In a second-hand bookstore yesterday I was browsing around when the proprietor opened some cartons of books he had just received from the estate of a dead book-lover estate, out of which he had bought the books sight unseen.

The dead owner had been a scholar, and the two hundred volumes in the cartons were those referring to Canadian history and affairs. I scanned the titles, among the lot were some real treasures.

"Look at the book plate!" exclaimed the book dealer.

Each book, on its inside cover, had pasted in it a simple label which read:

"Return-in ten days to . . ." with the late owner's name and address.

"Now that," I declared to the book dealer, "is the way to lend books. If I'd had a book plate like that, today I would have a hundred books that I have lost, lent to friends."

"It wouldn't have worked," said the book dealer. "What excites me about this book plate is this. I have had between five and ten book plates in my time. TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEARN TO BE PATIENT

One of the great lessons in life to be learned is that of patience. Many learn it out too late. We miss so much by not being willing to wait one's time. We often lose the prize because we are willing to set the entire machinery of this life body of ours, for it is sensitive, to the slightest irritation, and there is nothing so damaging as anger.

On the other hand, how wonderfully does the intricate body of ours respond to kindness and understanding. When our patience is severely tried we stand our ground. Bitterness cannot get in its work. As you grow more patient, you will relax your mind, you will be surprised how soon any anxiety will leave you, and how surprised you will be with the sudden peace you gained.

All great enterprises are delivered through patience. Buildings takes time to mature. The masterful mind bides its time. Few things need a be hurried. We would add years of happiness to our lives if we would take time, relax and be patient. Many years ago I read of a young man who went to Paris to study voice, fell in love with a teacher who was famous. The young man began soon to be impatient, after many years of study. Then, after one more year his teacher said: "Now you may go, for you are the greatest singer in the world!"

And can we know that as an important event is just ahead of us? We can only speculate as to what tomorrow may bring forth. We have today. It is in our lap and the berries there like a loving mother's arms. A mother needs much patience, before her baby can learn to walk. She knows so smile. In illness and trouble we need to be patient. If we are we need not worry over anything.

There's nothing much hope of altering opinion in the Southern States on the segregation issue, insofar as the older people are concerned. They have been brought up (virtually born) with their attitudes to the colored folk. They are unlikely to change their thinking, even if by legislation they are forced to change their actions.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

TEENAGE SON DOESN'T DIS CUSS PROBLEMS WITH HIS PARENTS

"Dear Dr. Molner: We have a son and daughter, both quietly intelligent, personable and attractive, and in their teens. My husband and I feel we are not being quite the parents we should be to our son, but can't put our finger on where we fail short. Our son does not seem to talk over his problems with us, but keeps strictly to himself. He sleeps restlessly. He is never still when he is awake unless he has to be. — R. J."

Assuming that the boy has a physical checkup on occasion, and he is healthy, has a passable appetite and so on, I'd not pay too much attention to his restless sleeping. He wakes up feeling rested, doesn't he?

Your case isn't unusual. I've experienced it myself, and my friends have. I have a sneaking suspicion that worries of this order are what give grandmother sweet little fiction stories notwithstanding.

The teens are a time of change, emergence from the childish world to the beginnings of adulthood.

Boys and girls are not old enough chance to see how others live and do things, and they may either err on the side of living differently they come back to accepting virtues they have learned in life.

They are often adventurous and daring, dependent on us for food, shelter and lodging, yet feeling that they are old enough to do as they please. In the same breath they want assurance of themselves, or worried over making and keeping friends, and frequently are unable to act or dress.

They may have a secret doubt as to whether they can cope with the approaching problems of college, or getting a job. They may be resentful because they think that they should be more active, or should have the family car offered, or should have one of their own.

They may be trying to act like young men-of-the-world with the price of two gallons of gasoline in their pockets. They may need more encouragement or praise. A doctor's son may turn down a date to help his father, or decided to be a doctor, too, because he'd rather be a salesman, engineer or airplane pilot.

He may be shy about discussing what he thinks, and may not worry him most — what the girls think of him. If he thinks his beard isn't growing as fast as he thinks it should. He will be understanding when you explain saying that he doesn't think you "understand him" and that you give him as much freedom as a friend gets.

It's pretty fine for us to stir resentment just by seeming to watch too closely. Usually he doesn't want to feel that he's a little boy. He needs understandable things noticing how he sleeps may, to him, feel that he is still being a child, to you.

Well, there isn't any easy rule for guiding our kids through the teens. Some break out in gaudiance, some isolat on less. It's a tough period for parents. It's a tough period for our offspring who are neither children nor adults, but somewhere between — and feeling lost.

Now, I'm not that I'm not a child psychologist. You can, I hope, see that I'm a parent, too, and I feel your helplessness, and can offer you only one truly helpful thing: Those bewildered and bewildering sons and daughters almost always grow up. We did, didn't we? But we've forgotten our own resentment and rebellion, and we never knew how much we worried our own parents.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Would it be difficult for the doctor to tell whether a nursing mother is pregnant? — Mrs. C.H."

No, not the slightest bit.

Note to V. W.: No, the better cuts of meat do not have more food value than the cheaper grades. This is a general rule. There are occasional exceptions — but there are also instances in which cheaper cuts (not grades) might have more food value.

Poor Old Dad Loses His Den

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Poor ol' Dad! The nuclear-age has no place to hide," fits him perfectly.

It used to be that he had a place he called his own, because he could scatter pipe ashes to his heart's content, never sort out his magazines and papers, wear his old, worn out slippers — and, most important of all, be left alone.

Now, experts report, this refuge is a vital rehabilitation cause. This place that womenfolk entered with hushed tones and averted eyes is no more. Now Dad has become a "family room," an "activities room" or a "rec room." The goal is "togetherness."

Instead of a youth's boys and girls should have rooms of their own, places where they can entertain their friends and work or play in solitude. But no one considers Pa.

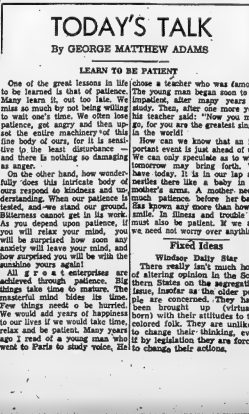
HOW GOOD IS MANKIND?

"The heart of man is desperately wicked."



This is probably the outstanding understatement of the Bible. When a flood or a great fire or an earthquake occurs, destroying human life and property, the distributing the governor of the state of Maine, I've been looking for a guard. Why? Because the soldiers are adept with their bayonets in cleaning up debris, or skilled in the nursing of the sick? Not at all. Their specialty is great, good disaster, thousands of people move into big areas, look for houses, strip the clothes off some of the dead, and go through the pockets of others, looking always for money. One of the outstanding characteristics of the Nazis was that when the Nazis moved in into enemy country, they found thousands of people ready to sell out their country and join the invader. The crime bill in the United States is almost one-fourth as large as the national budget — that is, the money required to run the entire government.

The greatest problem humanity has to solve is not out in outer space. It is about our economic problems, and international and industrial problems. These are so insignificant as scarcely to warrant attention.

The great problem is the problem of sin in the individual life. It is in your heart and mine. It is the cause of the greatest of the other problems and corrupts practically every part of man's heart.

"Desperately wicked!" Yes — and then some.

The big invasion of the north country starts Monday and right now the invaders are readying for the annual deer kill.

You can add moose to that for there will be a joint season for these big antlers along with their deer brethren.

The season north of No. 7 highway opens November 3 and extends to November 15 inclusive while that south of No. 7 and north of Highway No. 401 starts November 5 and runs through to November 8 inclusive.

Joint moose-and-deer licences can be secured at offices of the department of lands and forests. These cost $26.00 but it must be remembered if you shoot a deer, you cannot shoot a moose, and vice versa.

There will be as many hunters as last year, if not more. The number opening the season will be greater, according to license issuer Don Thomas here. "We have sold more than we had at this time a year ago but we cannot predict the eleventh hour rush. A great many hunters still keep an eye cocked on the weather, and delay their licence purchase until the last minute."

Mr. H. S. Dorman, chief conservation officer at the Tweed office of the department, said this morning, "It should be a good, if not a better season than last year. There are plenty of deer signs in many areas, and not so many signs in others, it all depends on the weather. Last year's hunt was not so good because of the wet windy weather, but we look for a good hunt this year. Thus far the weather has not been conducive to good hunting on opening day."

The joint moose-and-deer licences are meeting with popular favor, he said. "Quite a number have been sold at the various department offices. We sold eight in Tweed yesterday."

He said there had been signs of moose in and about Number 7 highway. A big bull was spotted yesterday near Actinolite and a few camera people shot a good many pictures of the big fellow.

Mr. Dorman pointed out that three deer check points will be maintained by his department during the hunting season, and urged the co-operation of hunters in reporting the kill. These points are located at Eldorado, Kaladar and Arnprior.

Doctorate of Optometry Degrees Received by Four District Men

Four Belleville and district optometrists, three from this city and one from Picton, were among the first Canadian group of optometrists to receive their Doctorate of Optometry at recent graduation exercises held at the College of Optometry, Toronto.

Belleville optometrists to receive their degrees were Sidney C. Rose, G. Spence Wonnacott, and John M. Locke. The Picton man to receive his degree was George A. Powers.

All four optometrists to receive their Doctorate of Optometry degree have been in business since their graduation and have taken two years postgraduate work. The men had received diplomas at the completion of their three-year courses at the college, but the optometry course had since been exchanged to five years, following which degrees are given.

In all there were but 58 optometrists receiving their Doctorate of Optometry at the recent graduation exercises with four of these coming from the Belleville district.

"We are quite proud of the fact that of the 58 receiving degrees, three came from this city and one other from the immediate Belleville area," stated Mr. Rose. "No other centre in Canada was so well represented."

Mr. Rose, formerly associated with McFee's Optometry, has his office on Church Street. Mr. Locke is the son of Dr. A. C. Locke, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, while Mr. Wonnacott is the son of Mr. A.E. Wonnacott, local jeweller.

Deer Move South As Hunters Plan Trips to North

With the hunting season just around the corner the deer are apparently taking no chances of getting caught in familiar hunting grounds.

Within the past day or so two deer have been seen in the Belleville area, one crossing the highway in the Oak Hills south of Stirling, and the other in Prince Edward county where deer are seldom seen.

Last week three school children, Barbara Clark, Lynn Parks and Carole Hough were on their way to school when half a mile east of Burr's Church, a deer crossed the road, hopped a fence and disappeared across a field.

Mr. Percy Lough, farm owner where the deer disappeared into the woods, said he had never seen a deer in the district.

Thursday evening Mrs. Margaret Bosiak, Stirling, was driving to Belleville and at the Oak Hills a deer emerged from the pines at the side of the road, then bounded across the highway in front of her car.

"I had to swerve the car to avoid striking the deer," Mrs. Bosiak said.

Only good driving on Mrs. Bosiak's part saved her from jumping the gun on the hunting season. Her husband is going deer hunting next week.

God Invites Us 'To Become'

By ROY L. SMITH

There is an ancient story of a little girl who was entertaining the callers while her mother made herself presentable. "What became of that kitten you had when we were here last time?" one of the ladies inquired, for the sake of making conversation.

"Why! Didn't you hear?" the little one exclaimed in evident surprise. "It growed up into a cat."

And that is as far as any cat has a right to expect it will go in life. It is the glory of man that he was created just a little less than God and the angels (Psa. 8).

INVITATION TO BECOME

That was a thrilling invitation that Jesus extended to the fishermen from Galilee. He promised them that if they would follow him, he would make them to become.

We pay high tribute to Thomas A. Edison for the amazing achievements he recorded as an inventor. And there has never been another quite like him, except Leonardo da Vinci. But one of the most thrilling aspects of his work is the number of young men who became great under his leadership. The world is richer by at least half a hundred great names in the field of science, because Mr. Edison inspired them to become.

It is one of the greatest evidences of the divine origin of the Christian faith that has inspired men and women in every generation to become.

Inside each of us, latent and untouched, there are possibilities and capacities awaiting the divine touch. And the invitation of Jesus "to become" is still open.

LEFT THEIR NETS

Let there be no mistake about it. When the disciples left their nets to follow Jesus, they were making no inconsiderable sacrifice. The fishing business on the Sea of Galilee was highly profitable the market for fish was good, but the cost of equipment was high. One of the large nets, hand woven, was worth as much as a young fisherman might earn by working for months. All this the disciples left behind.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 2: "THE GALILEAN MINISTRY BEGINS," Mark 1: 14-39.

There really is nothing so very surprising about it. Any one who gets a great vision stands ready to go off and leave a lot of other things in the lurch for achieving. There can be no great life or living without leaving abandoned nets being left behind.

The measure of a man's life is sometimes to be counted in terms of what he has left behind him.

PROFESSIONALISM

No small part of the attractiveness of Jesus' teaching and preaching originated in the fact that His never seemed to be professionally religious. When He talked about God, it did not sound like something He had read in a book. When He professed friendship, it was evident that He had not written it out in advance to make sure that His grammar was correct.

The scribes were good men, but they had never learned to look up into the sunlight. They lived with their faces buried in books, forms, arguments, and details.

Jesus seemed so different because He spoke with the authority of personal experience. The man who keeps his acquaintanceship with God up to the calendar will never sound professional as the scribes did.

The only religion that is worth having is that which reveals itself every morning.

Ceremonial robes spread out behind them, members of the College of Cardinals line up to perform obeisance before their new spiritual leader, Pope John XXIII. One of the cardinals kneels before the Pope to kiss his ring in the dramatic ceremony staged in the Vatican's Sistine Chapel, where they elected the supreme pontiff Tuesday. (AP Wirephoto).

The success of this venture at Cobourg, Dr. Moorhouse said, will govern whether more such centres will be opened in smaller localities in the future.

The speaker was introduced by F. J. Lancaster and the appreciation of the man was expressed by Dr. F. G. Loder. The president, Mr. H. T. Floyd, was in the chair.

Day-Care Centres Subject of Talk At Men's Club

The men of St. Thomas' Church were given an insight into the operation of mental hospitals at their monthly B.A.C. dinner meeting on Tuesday night when the guest speaker was Dr. C. Moorhouse, Superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at Cobourg.

Dr. Moorhouse discussed the newly formed "Day-Care Centre" which was opened at Cobourg last July 15th. There are forty to fifty Day-Care Centres located, mainly in large cities spread across Canada and the United States for the treatment of mentally ill patients who are not ill enough to be admitted to a large mental hospital. The Cobourg centre is the first of its kind to be located in a principally rural district. There are at present approximately twenty patients coming from points as far distant as forty to sixty miles.

Appointments for treatment at the Day-Day Centre are made through the patient's family physician. No documents are necessary for admission and the patients come and go when they wish. They are not confined.

Treatments at the centre are divided into four more or less formal sub-divisions: twenty-four hour care, day care, night care, outpatient. Dr. Moorhouse cited as an example of the type of treatment given, a woman who gets depressed to a point where she should not stay in those along, after she gets father or to work, and the children to school she goes to the Day-Care Centre for the rest of the day for treatments, returning home in time to get supper. If a patient is found to be ill enough to be admitted to a larger hospital, he is referred back to his family physician.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S ETIQUET TIP . . .
ABOUT PLANE TRIP WITH A SMALL CHILD

Here's an excellent etiquette tip from Northwest Orient Airlines for mothers or mothers planning to travel by plane with a small child: "Have a briefing in good manners with your child. Explain and 'Please' you will make things stewardess happy when she brings water or a pillow or shows other special attention. Books and toys should be kept neatly on the seat. And while other passengers may be children, they need privacy and will not welcome junior's running up and down the aisle or playing tag with another tot."

FIANCE SHOULD NOT ATTEND THE BRIDAL SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been having a dispute with my husband, and we'd like your help in it. Our daughter recently was given a bridal shower. Her fiance came and stayed to help her open her gifts, then left. I thought this was proper, but my husband maintains that her fiance should not have been at the shower. Who is right?

— Mother of Bride-to-be

I agree with your husband . . . that the fiance should not attend the girl's fiance to come to the shower unless or until it's a "mixed shower"). He might perhaps have come to greet the guests, but certainly should not have stayed to help his fiancee open her gifts.

ENGAGED COUPLE TAKE ONE GIFT TO "MIXED SHOWER"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance and I have been invited to a mixed shower in honor of two dear friends of ours whose engagement recently was announced. We've never been to a "mixed shower" and would like to know if each of us should take a shower gift to each of them, or just what is the thing to do.

— We Two

You and your fiance bring just one gift to the couple. You do not each contribute a gift. And you should bring a gift that would be suitable for both the bride-to-be and the groom-to-be: records are a most popular gift for this, and so are accessories for buffet service or bar, ash-trays, perhaps garden equipment if you know they're to have a garden.

IN THIS CIRCUMSTANCE "MISS" IS THE TITLE TO USE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

It so happens that I must soon write a letter to a woman who lives out of town; I don't know whether she is married or single, and have no way of finding out. It is to be more or less a pro forma letter, concerning the date of publication of an old and valuable book. Under these circumstances should I address the envelope to "Miss" or "Mrs"? — Sara K.

Address her as Miss.

CONCERNING THAT COURTESY TITLE, "THE HONORABLE"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

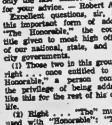
We were having a discussion last evening about the title "Honorable," and I'm writing to ask you to answer, please, some questions about this.

(1) For example, when a person has once been entitled to "Honorable," does that hold for the rest of his life? (Two in the group last evening said this is true.)

(2) Isn't it true that "The" must always be used before "Honorable"? (My wife and I are quite sure we've read this in your column. Right?)

(3) Is it correct to use the abbreviation "Hon." for "Honorable"?

(4) Should the first name be used after the "Honorable," or only the last name? Thank you for your advice. — Robert A.



Excellent questions, sir, about this important form of address. "The Honorable," the courtesy title given to most high officials of our federal, state, and often city governments.

(1) Those two in this group are right . . . once entitled to "The Honorable," a person continues the privilege of being addressed like this for the rest of his or her life.

(2) Right . . . "The" must be used with "Honorable," "The Honorable."

(3) No. "Honorable" should be written out in full.

(4) Here is the correct form: The Honorable James Alexander Smith: The Honorable Mary Clark.

Don't just stand there! Rub on some more after-shave lotion or something!"

The Experts Say

Unwise Shopping Habits Partly Cause of Complaints

By RINA GUNNER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian consumer's been slipped the shoe on the other foot.

Usually, the CAC criticizes manufacturers for what it considers unfair or harmful to buyers then changes some aspects of their products.

Now, Mrs. Jean Beckwith, chairman of the CAC's national textiles committee, says housewives may be the ones at fault.

"We get numerous complaints about garments, linens, home accessories that are not fast - colored; sewing thread that breaks easily, and elastic that does not last," she said. "But often these complaints are large and general—what we need for action are names of manufacturers, and a description of washing and of wear."

UNWISE SHOPPING . . .

Mrs. Beckwith, a home economist in charge of a textiles testing laboratory for a Toronto department store, says shopping habits are partly the cause of "complaints."

"If low price is the prime factor in a purchase, don't expect the article has been cheapened to keep the cost down. Sometimes not then is the most satisfactory service."

"But if an article is purchased whose quality should be satisfactory and labels render responsible wear and satisfaction, then the consumer has reason for complaint if it does not do so."

She says it pays to be careful in merchandise selection.

"There would be fewer complaints as a result, and a gradual improvement in quality, if selection of goods might follow," she said. "Cheap and inferior need by what he cannot sell as a profit, so unsatisfactory goods would not buy as frequently."

RETURN GOODS

She says CAC members who are not satisfied with textiles they purchased return them to the retailer; they should tell the buyer where they bought the goods, the price paid, the brand name of the article, and details of its defects.

Now, the CAC is working on obtaining clothes for large women, having buttonholes on shirts and blouses made horizontal instead of vertically, standardizing children's clothes, and checking on weaknesses in sewing thread.

Manufacturers say retailers will not stock larger sizes of clothes. "Careful shopping is the answer," says Mrs. Humphries).

Complaints about sewing thread are being checked. Members have been asked to send samples of unsatisfactory thread to the CAC. Grace Frank of the MacDonald Institute at Guelph, Ont., is testing the strength of thread as a project for students.

Women's Institute

WELLINGTON W. I.

WELLINGTON — The Welling ton Women's Institute met on the evening of October 21st for its regular monthly meeting in the town hall with a fine attendance of 30 members and 19 visitors.

Mrs. S. Tripp, the president, welcomed all.

Letters of appreciation were read from the hospital Auxiliary and serveral W. I. members. A donation of $5. from the Picnic Tea committee for the exhibit was received. An invitation to Gilbert Mills to attend their meeting on October 29 was also read. A carload of ladies arranged to go. Arrangements were also made for members to attend the annual convention in Belleville.

Mrs. Adams reported on the buying of a mirror for the hall in memory of the late Mrs. Cleave Blakely, a former district secretary. It was decided to purchase the mir:or.

Mrs. W. Callon reminded all that next month Mrs. Jackson and herself would have a special guest speaker at their meeting.

Those contributing to their birthday box were: Mrs. S. Tripp, Mrs. E. Marvin and Mrs. Andy Allison.

PROGRAM

The following program was presented by Mrs. F. Harris and Mrs. N. Foster, hostess for the evening. Poem of the month, "Autumn," was read by Mrs. N. Foster. Current events by Mrs. H. More in the absence of Mrs. H. Marvin. Piano solo, "The Flower Song," by Mrs. Warner; McFaul of Hillier, was enjoyed. Mrs. C. Barber, the district president, was welcomed and brought greetings. She gave a splendid message suggesting the Institute enter the Salada Tea Party contests. She also told of many things which were invented or discovered in Canada. .

Mrs. Harris introduced Mrs. J. McKenzie, who has recently returned with her husband and family from a three-year sojourn in India. She showed some interesting slides of their home while in India; the Bata Shoe Company; many fine Indian Temples, and Buddha Shrines; beautiful carvings and fine architecture, and told of the habits and customs of the people and of their trip home. She showed several treasures which they had brought home with them including wave yards and yards of beautiful silk, which when wrapped around makes the costumes; dolls of India; jewelery; carved ivory and wood. It was indeed a both interesting and educational.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychologist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been brought to it by readers and counsellors.

Jean M. — I want to be friendly with my sister-in-law.

Margaret E. —She drove my brother to his grave.

Jean M. — I am a 30-year-old widow with a six-year-old daughter. My parents were both killed in an accident several years ago and my only brother lives quite far from me.

I have, therefore, been anxious to be close to my late husband's family. My sister-in-law has two daughters a little older than mine. I would like the girls to be friends, and I would also like them to feel some contact with h e r father's family. But there is not much a terrible blow to her.

In spite of my best efforts, my sister-in-law has been very unfriendly. She rarely invites me to her home and always dodges my offers of invitations to my home. We were never on good terms, but I make an effort to be nice for my child's sake. I feel that my sister-in-law should be interested in making the same effort out of respect for her dead brother.

Margaret E. — I loved my brother very much and it is for that very reason that I can't bring myself to be friendly with Jean.

Jean does not mention that her marriage with my brother was bitterly unhappy and probably would have ended in the divorce court if my brother had lived a few years longer. As it was, she drove him to the grave with her excessive demands on him. He developed ulcers and a heart condition in the years he was married to her.

Jean is a very grasping woman. She was always envious of the fact that my husband was able to provide me with more material things than she could have. I feel that she wants to be in touch with us now for whatever she can get out of it. If we were poor it is doubtful she would know us. I am quite fond of my little nephew. I'm sure she'll turn out a lot like her mother.

The Council: Margaret makes dreadful and ill-rounded accusations!

The marriage between Jean and her brother may not have been happy, but Margaret cannot possibly judge how much of this was caused by her brother. Certainly it is not in her ability to judge correctly what caused his physical ailments and the accusation that Jean "drove him to the grave" is just cruel as it is unprovable.

Margaret further shows her tendency to make vicious, illogical statements when she accuses a 6-year-old child of taking on her mother's undesirable characteristics.

We cannot judge Jean's underlying motives in pursuing a friendship with her sister-in-law, but the reasons she offers are very sound. The reasons Margaret offers against it are completely unsound.

It is very doubtful whether good relations can be established with a person who gives every sign of irrationality and ill-will. We think Jean would be far better off to put her time and energy in trying to form good, warm friendships with couples of her own age. Many of them will take her and her child to their hearts and Jean will not have to fear the hurts her sister-in-law seems determined to inflict on her.

Club Activities

TRINITY LADIES CLUB

MADOC — With fall activities in full swing, a large attendance marked the October meeting of Trinity Ladies Club held at the home of Mrs. S. R. Beatty, with the president, Mrs. George Devolin, conducting the business.

Plans were made for a rummage sale and anniversary potluck supper.

With Thanksgiving in mind Mrs. Percy Naylor prepared a fine devotional service.

The Rev. J. Milley addressed the club and spoke of the necessity of all church members supporting the many new youth organizations which are beginning this fall. He urged United Church people to help their children to find their places and life in the church.

The Rt. Lawrence Seaway was the topic of the evening program, arranged by Mrs. Beatty. Dr. Beatty took his listeners on a tour of the seaway, showing by book map and slides the development and progress of this gigantic and really undertaking.

Rev. Drinkwalter expressed appreciation to Dr. and Mrs. Beatty, Mr. Milley and Mrs. Naylor for contributing to a worthwhile meeting.

Following an amusing contest, coffee and doughnuts were served.

Readers' Friday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

My seven-year-old daughter has gone over my head re invitations for friends to a Birthday party, so if you can give me some ideas on what to serve it would be ever so grateful . . . I have your column on the day of my birthday sake. Do you think it O.K. for seven-year-olds? There are 18 in all from 7 — 10 years . . . Mrs. J.L.E

ANSWER:

I seldom give unasked for advice but today I am impelled to comment on the imperious invitations your young daughter issued. I love children — all of them — especially those that initiative. I would do as you are doing — go along with her impetuous urge but before this party I would tell her never to do it again before consulting you. Otherwise this headstrong behavior will develop so that her father, then her friends, then her future husband are not consulted either. Need I say more?

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

FRIDAY

(Hallowe'en)

Breaded Scallops; Sauce Tartare; Green Beans with Brown Butter; Baked Potatoes; Celery Hearts; Happy-face Gingerboys (see Monday); Coffee.

In my carefully considered opinion this is what I think that girls between 7 and 13 years would eat: Serve on each plate one stick of raw celery and carrot, half devilled egg (very mildly seasoned), one small slice point of ham and chicken, one buttered whole wheat roll, one individual bright red jelly mould, one cube process cheese.

QUESTION:

Will you have a recipe for Spice Cake with Rolled Oats? . . . this is the only cake my husband really likes . . . Helen B. B.

ANSWER:

I have shortened your letter but enjoyed all of it. Try this:

SPICE OAT LOAF

One beaten egg, 1 cup buttermilk, ¼ cup brown sugar, 1 cup fine rolled oats, flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon each salt and cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves, 1 cup oatmeal or quick-cooking rolled oats, 1 cup chopped dates, ½ cup chopped nuts, 2 tablespoons melted butter or shortening. Beat together egg and buttermilk then beat in sugar. Sift together the spices, salt and sifted flour and add all at once; add oats, dates and nuts, stirring barely enough to mix. Fold in melted shortening. Turn into buttered and paper-lined (greased) loaf pan and bake at 350 deg. F. 1 hour. Store for one day before slicing.

If you would like a cinnamon and fruit oat bread quite simple to make with yeast let me know. It is delicious and highly recommended.

Used Hypnosis To Discover Real Cause of Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — A Canadian physician reports he used hypnosis to discover what he termed the real cause of an airliner crash that baffled investigators for years.

Dr. Bernard B. Raginsky of Montreal, president of the Society for Clinical and Experimental Hypnosis, says the reason for the crash—brought out in two hypnotic sessions—was that the pilot of the plane did not understand the workings of a new type altimeter.

Dr. Raginsky reported his findings to a meeting of the society in Chicago Wednesday. He permitted physicians attending to listen to a tape recording of hypnotic sessions with the plane's pilot.

Dr. Raginsky declined to name the commercial airliner or the pilot involved but said the crash occurred in North America.

He said the pilot approached an airport too low, hit some trees and crashed. The pilot was caught fire. Many of the passengers were burned, but all escaped alive.

Dr. Raginsky said the captain came to him for help in trying to determine what had happened. He said the hypnotic sessions also showed the captain had an unconscious fear of high places.

Brain Abscess Cause of Visions Says Doctor

LONDON (AP) — A prominent British physician concludes that Joan of Arc, the 15th century French heroine made a saint by the Roman Catholic Church, heard voices and saw visions because she had a brain abscess.

In an article published today, Prof. John Butterfield and his wife said they have extracted medical evidence from documents on Joan's life and her trial for heresy.

Their verdict: Joan was suffering from an abscess caused by tuberculosis of the brain.

Writing in the magazine History today, the Butterfields give four reasons for their conclusion:

1. Her accounts of hearing voices, seeing visions and bright lights are typical of the symptoms of tubercular brain abscesses.

2. There is evidence they claim, that Joan was suffering from a kidney infection during her trial, a common complication of tuberculosis.

3. The executioner reported part of Joan's body was not burnt. The Butterfields say that in cases of tuberculosis acquired from cow's milk, the bones are sometimes chalk deposits in the abscess and hence would not burn.

4. Finally, the Butterfields note that during her trial, Joan believed she was going to die shortly, and said in prison:

"Had she not been burned, she might have died inconspicuously some months later in prison."

Three American Scientists Win Medicine Awards

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Three American scientists won the 1958 Nobel prize in medicine and physiology Thursday for solving some of the basic riddles of heredity.

Their discoveries were credited by a member of the prize awarding body with opening new avenues in cancer research.

The winners are Drs. George Wells Beadle, 56, of the California Institute of Technology; E. L. Tatum, 49, of New York's Rockefeller Institute, and Joshua Lederberg, 33, of the University of Wisconsin.

The Royal Caroline Institute of Medicine said half of the $41,420 prize will go to Beadle and Tatum "for their discovery that genes act by regulating specific chemical processes."

The other half of the prize went to Lederberg "for his discoveries concerning genetic recombination and the organization of the genetic material of bacteria."

Genetic recombination" is a term for sexual fertilization in the bacterial world. Lederberg found that from the geneticist point of view, this corresponds exactly to the normal sexual fertilization in higher organisms."

Prof. Torbjorn Casperson of the Caroline Institute said the research of Beadle and Tatum in the early 1940s "offered the first chance to understand the mode of action of the genes" and is one of the foundations of modern genetics.

Their research was based largely on a red bread mold called neurospora crassa, which Beadle described as "one of the most useful genetic guinea pigs." Any strain of this mold can be multiplied a million times in a couple of days without genetic change.

Mormonism Stretching Over Western Canada From Million Dollar Temple at Cardston

CARDSTON, Alta. (CP) — The Mormons of Canada think of their expansion as like ripples moving out from a stone dropped in water. The ripples are growing and widening, stretching over Western Canada from the $1,000,000 granite temple in this southern Alberta town.

The huge temple on a hill is the only one in Canada of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Seven temples are in the United States, one in Switzerland, one in Hawaii and one is being constructed in London, England.

The growth of Mormonism, described as a complete way of life, has spread into Canada from here through Cardston, founded in the rolling foothills of the Rockies on the banks of Lee's creek in 1887 by a missionary group of Mormons.

LARGE GROUPS

Today, Cardston's population is more than 70 per cent Mormon with about 4,200 members in the town and district. Almost all of southern Alberta is an offshoot of the Cardston church. Calgary's Mormon membership has tripled in size to nearly 4,000 and Lethbridge, 80 miles northeast of Cardston, has more than 2,000 members.

Gordon S. Brewerton, 60, an official of the Cardston temple, says some 30,000 Mormons attend as far east as Swift Current, Sask. Ontario has a growing membership and more than 1,000 live in Vancouver.

Mr. Brewerton came here in 1927 from Utah. He says the truth of Mormonism "is what it contains" and "a way of life that fills every need of man and woman if they live it."

Mormonism is unique among religions. It has no clergy and largely through volunteers it manages one of the most amazing organizations in history.

Mormons are told not to use tobacco, alcohol, coffee or tea. Every male is expected to be ordained to the "priesthood" at the age of 12. The devoted zeal of members has kept the church growing in all directions.

HISTORIC TREK

Persecuted in many states of the U.S., the Mormons set up the foothills of the Rockies and Utah and then spilled over into Canada. Mormons are spreading rapidly throughout North America and the world and claim an average of 34,000 conversions a year plus a birth rate of 36.8 per 1,000.

Back in 1886 such a trek was contemplated by a Utah church official who had his eyes set on Mexico. But Charles Ora Card was advised instead to head for Canada where he would find British justice.

He and two associates headed through British Columbia and when they came upon the rightly-grassed Alberta hills they decided on a settlement site. The next year, a weary band of Mormon settlers pitched their tents near Lee's creek after a journey in horse-covered wagons across the plains.

From that small settlement, Mormonism has boomed. The federal government granted the settlement certain concessions relating to lands, grazing, timber and water. In 1901 Charles Card became the town's first mayor.

GREAT TEMPLE

Twenty years later, the tabernacle and temple was built. Granite for it came from Nelson, B.C.; more than 50,000 bags of cement, 3,680 tons of granite, 14,000 cubic yards of gravel and 300 tons of steel were used.

Plumbing and heating cost $18,000, electric wiring $8,500, roofing $13,000, skylights $19,000, Ontario chandeliers with a Maltese cross pattern on the ground flood and Belgian glass in the 165-foot spire, an annex with cafeteria and other recreational facilities, was added.

Visitors may enter the tabernacle but only those issued a permit, a sacred section reserved only for full-standing members and Mormon marriages.

Mormons believe everyone on earth is a spiritual son or daughter of God, that His children have a human form as one stage in their existence to test them and increase their knowledge. If worthy in a future life they will resume their bodies and be exalted in the "celestial kingdom."

Because Mormons hope to achieve divinity it becomes their duty to live saintly lives on earth, Mr. Brewerton says.

Mormons believe that in the latter days, when Christ will rule the world for 1,000 years, faithful will be resurrected, assume physical but deathless bodies and reunite life together.

That is one reason couples wishing to be married in the temple are not married just for life but for "time and all eternity."

Three Injured As Horse Jumps Arena Rail

OTTAWA (CP)—Three persons were injured Thursday night when a horse jumped the arena rail in the Ottawa Coliseum at the Ottawa Winter Fair's nightly horse show.

James Stewart, 55, of Arnprior, is in hospital with a concussion after being knocked out when the horse landed on top of him. Fred Kelly of Ottawa, an usher, was treated for a head cut, and Ottawa police constable Elwood Pollex was shaken up.

During the evening's first event a hunter class competition, the horse jumped the rail near the exit shute, apparently thinking it was another obstacle. There was no panic.

Some 3,185 persons attended the fair Thursday, a record fourth-day attendance.

HOLSTEIN KING

James M. Brown of nearby Almonte, was named king of Canada's largest Holstein judging competition.

He took both the premier breeder and exhibitor banners, having shown the grand champion cow, the junior champion female and the senior get-of-sire.

Brown's herd numbers 80 exhibitors—mainly from Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec—but Holstein size was exceeded in size only by the 336 total of a previous Ottawa fair.

A new exhibitor, Kenneth Baker of Kingston, showed the reserve grand champion female with his three-year-old Pond - Crest Pabst Rose, who also was judged best udderred female in the show.

Mr. Brown's grand champion, Strathburn Rag Apple Sunbeam, was the winner in what Judge E. A. Innes of Brantford described as "an outstanding class of aged cows in milk."

Mr. Brown took the junior championship while Charles Pope of Lancaster had the reserve.

BULL COMPETITION

In a reversal of last year's placing, L. and Gordon Leadbeater of Seeley's Bay took the senior championship over previously supreme has been champion at this show.

Miss Pope's Anthony, owned by Marland Murray of Marlatown and the reserve, Lenda's Vanderbilt Hill, took the junior bull championship. Pen Farm Adjutator of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Hallam at Kingston was the reserve champion.

Lanark won the county herd class, with Stormont, Leeds, Carleton and Russell, Pontiac (Quebec), Dundas, Renfrew, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry finishing in that order.

OTHER AWARDS

Barker and Sons of Shawville, Que., had the best junior herd; calf, Gordon J. Presley of Carleton Place took second place and J. F. Lindsay of Sydenham, third.

Edwin Pirie and Son of Maryland, Que., took the junior two-yearling award. Howard Kyle of Wolfe Island, was runner-up, and in this class and in that for five-year-old cows in milk.

Edwin Pirie had the best four-year-old dry cow, and Alex McLean of Gananoque, was second.

Red Reaction to Award To Pasternak Is Blunder

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There seems little doubt that the official Communist reaction to the award of the 1958 Nobel Prize for literature to Boris Pasternak is a blunder.

Pasternak's crime in the Kremlin's eyes is that his prize-winning book Doctor Zhivago carries a respect for humanity and a love for people as individuals in the tradition of Leo Tolstoy that transcends political theory.

The book can be taken as an indictment of communism — it criticizes Marx and many aspects of Russian life since the Bolshevik Revolution—but perhaps more important he bewails the submergence of the individual in the group that is common to other societies besides the Communist.

When the Swedish Academy told the 68-year-old poet, novelist and translator last week that he had been chosen for the Nobel Prize, the news was kept from the Russian people.

As tributes poured in from the rest of the world, in Russia a campaign of slander began. He was thrown out of the writers' union. Observers of Russia see in the abuse and obscenities thrown at Pasternak a development of the anti-intellectual line that Nikita Khrushchev followed last month in making changes in the university system that give students less opportunity to discuss and criticize the regime.

This and the actions against Pasternak's friends has been suggested are the outcome of Kremlin fears that strong dissatisfaction with the government might result in action. The Kremlin remembers that in the Polish and Hungarian uprisings of 1956 writers and other artists were active.

If the Russians had wanted to keep their people ignorant of Pasternak's book—it has not been published there — the best thing might have been to let him go to Stockholm next month and accept his prize. There need have been no widespread publicity.

As it is — now, the Russians know that Pasternak has written a book and even if they don't know much about its contents, they realize it must be incompatible with the regime. And the fact that a man has the courage to write critically of the totalitarian society will give comfort to others who are forced to keep their thoughts to themselves.

Whether Pasternak was forced to reject the Nobel Prize or not perhaps doesn't matter.

It has been suggested that the Kremlin feared he might seek asylum outside Russia if they let him get but in interviews with Western reporters he gave the impression of being like Tolstoy in his devotion to the country and its people.

And if Pasternak gave up the prize voluntarily, as he told the Swedish Academy, "in view of the meaning given to this honor in the community to which I belong," no one will miss the meaning or mistake his courage.

TCA Monopoly Gets Support Of Transportation Economist

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Pacific Airlines' attempt to break into the transcontinental field in Canada has received support from another one of the country's top transportation economists.

In a lengthy submission of the Trans-Canada Air Lines' monopoly on the mainline route was given the air transport board Thursday by Dr. A. W. Currie, professor of economics at the University of Toronto and author of books on Canadian transportation.

Testifying as a witness for TCA, he said the line has not yet arrived for the introduction of competition and it is the publicly-owned corporation.

"I see no reason that the time is not opportune for the permitting of another carrier to fly the transcontinental route," he said.

"I take this position because of the low unit costs and the high uncertainty of the general business outlook, the financial burden of introducing jet aircraft and the fact that, instead of receiving the benefits which it expects from a competition, the public would suffer."

He predicted heavy losses for CPA if there was a break in its monopoly on the domestic mainline route.

He also said a competitor might be forced to seek government aid. Although CPA President Mc-Conachie has testified before the board that it will run on a "commensurate" help. CPA is a subsidiary of Canadian Pacific Railway.

In other evidence, TCA President Gordon R. McGregor said the government would be welladvised to run into deficits in the event of competition on the transcontinental routes.

With an obligation to give service to the public, TCA would have to continue its existing service in the face of competition, except perhaps for some non - lucrative short lines.

Public Inquiry Into Ottawa Blast Requested

OTTAWA (CP) — Attorney-General Ketia Roberts of Manitoba has been asked for a provincial public inquiry into Saturday's multi-million-dollar explosion that rocked downtown Ottawa and claimed one life.

The request, made by board of control Thursday on the recommendation of the committee of inquiry, was phoned to the attorney-general's office in Winnipeg Nelms "because of the urgency."

Meanwhile, fire, hydro and gas officials continued to work around the clock to halt gas seepage into a basement sewer line in the Sparks Street area, three blocks from the scene of the explosion.

GAS SEEPAGE

The gas was traced to a three-inch hydro duct entering the building. A hydro works department official said that at no time was the danger of explosion in the duct evacuating about 200 employees in the building.

Fire prevention department inquiry, headed by Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, chief commissioner and coordinator, felt it could not consider the cause of the explosion yet because it is not authorized to call for evidence under oath.

Mr. Worthington said an inquest would be held into the death Wednesday night of William Anderson, 65-year-old janitor of the Addressograph - Graphotype Canada building on Slater Street which was at the centre of the explosion.

RAISES AT KODAK

TORONTO (CP) — Wage increases ranging between six and 10 cents an hour have been awarded 350 workers of the Canadian Kodak Company. The new two-year contract with the Chemical Workers International Union (CLC) includes provision for reopening negotiations at the end of the first year.

National Ballet Star Falls Twice In 24 Hours

OTTAWA (CP)—What does a ballet star do when she's not playing a leading role, she falls down twice in less than 24 hours?

"You just get up," replied petite Betty Pope, a former British Columbian now with the National.

The 26-year-old star of the National Ballet of Canada had this unfortunate habit in less than 24 hours during a two-day visit to the nation's capital where she also here was a lucky time for her.

She delighted an audience Wednesday night as Princess Aurilda role in the premiere performance of the Canadian version of the old French classic, Coppelia.

COMIC SUCCESS

The theme is comic and both as actress and dancer, Miss Pope proved she is very talented in the pantomime essential for such a role.

The work, produced by company artistic director Celia Franca and designed by Ray Cambrose, was presented for the first time to a students' matinee.

"But it was just a bit of bad luck," Miss Pope explained when she fell down the first time.

As for what she felt: "You don't really have time—it's so quick."

She displayed a red bruise the size of a quarter on her knee. A layer or two of skin was missing there.

DOWN TWICE

For a dancer who hadn't really experienced a solid pratfall before in her career, at least not in such a vital role, Miss Pope fared badly on this visit.

Besides the Coppelia spill, she took a tumble at a fast-moving point in Les Rendez-vous the night before. She explained that on that one she was just a mite late for her cue.

"I really did try to slide but I slid a little too far."

Auction System Proposed to Hog Producers

TORONTO (CP)—Major meat packers have proposed an auction system of marketing to Ontario's 70,000 hog producers.

The proposal has been advanced to the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board in secret meetings with Agriculture Minister Goodfellow. Two meetings have been held and a third is scheduled for Nov. 8.

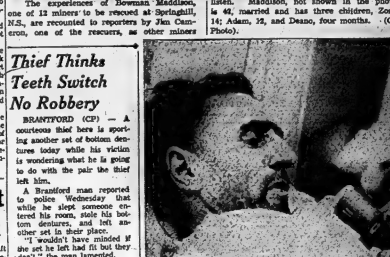
The big packers, represented by the Meat Packers' Council of Canada, are committed to want auctions in Toronto and Kitchener with sales lots varying according to the wishes of the buyer. More auctions centres were considered possibility.

The small meat packers, members of the Dominion Processors' Association, were called into the talks by Agriculture Minister Goodfellow but it is believed they weren't consulted by the big five.

Under the existing marketing system, hogs are sold on the basis of an asking price or nearest offer from about 45 packing firms. Sales are made in Toronto as hogs arrive at 16 assembly points throughout Southern Ontario.

The marketing agency is believed to be reacting coolly to the new offer on the ground it would favor the larger packers. Last spring the board rejected a proposal for the Dutch clock system of marketing.

Progress Made In War Against Lamprey Eels



LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Definite progress is being made in the attack against the lamprey eel, says federal Fisheries Minister J. Angus MacLean.

"I don't know how soon we'll be able to rid the lakes of this menace," he said Thursday. "It poses an especially tough problem because it is the only place in the world that is dealing with it scientifically. Our research has to start from scratch."

Mr. MacLean toured the fisheries research station here and then planned to wind up his London visit today at an fisheries minister should, by going fishing.

He noted definite progress had been made with the use of electrical barriers in lamprey streams and, more recently, with the development of lampricides, chemicals which attack the lamprey larvae without injuring other life.

He said the lamprey problem in Lake Superior is now "pretty much under control."

Levi Milley, 47-year-old miner rescued with 14 others early Thursday morning, tells of his experience while resting in a Springhill, N.S., hospital. It was the first time he had been in bed since being trapped at the 13,000-foot level of the mine six days earlier. (CP Photo).

Volume Turkey Production Only Way to Obtain Success

FOAM LAKE, Sask. (CP) — Frank R. Pickering raised 22,000 turkeys this year.

"It is no use puttering around with a few birds if you are going in for turkey raising as a commercial enterprise," he commented.

The Foam Lake district farmer said turkey raising has become too specialized, competition so small that only by volume production can success be attained.

Mr. Pickering said that when all costs of operating the turkey enterprise had been paid, including wages for a staff of five and including depreciation, the net profit would be 45 cents a bird.

The profit of nearly $10,000 would be shared with his partner, L. B. Crawford. Mr. Crawford operates the Kelliher Creamery, Kelliher is 25 miles south of Foam Lake in east-central Saskatchewan.

Mr. Pickering has raised chickens in most of the years since he started farming in 1935 and 1958 was only his second year for turkeys. He considers that a acre turkey ranch near Kelliher with 10,000 square feet of brooding space when he decided to become a partner in Pickering Farms Limited.

About 40 acres of the 640-acre Pickering farm is alloted to the turkey enterprise and the remainder operated separately for grain growing.

Mr. Pickering intends to raise 30,000 turkeys next year and develop an approved flock so he can supply turkey eggs to hatcheries.

The first marketing of turkeys this year was Aug. 9 and every week thereafter as they matured. Many of the bids brought "fit quite a pound before the price dropped to 26 cents a pound.

Thief Thinks Teeth Switch No Robbery

BRANTFORD (CP) — A courteous thief here is sporting another set of bottom dentures today while his victim is wondering what he is going to do with the pair the thief left him.

A frustrated man reported to police Wednesday that while he slept someone entered his room, stole his bottom dentures, and left another set in their place.

"I wouldn't have minded if she set he left had fit but they don't," the man lamented.

Major Tax Cuts in Budget Next Year Out Say Experts; Deficit May Be Billion Dollars

OTTAWA (CP)—The word from federal experts is that you might as well forget about any major tax cuts in the next budget.

While the economy seems to have recovered a bit, they say, federal spending in the fiscal year starting next April 1 will be heavy, perhaps establishing a new high.

The budget deficit—and the experts are already convinced there will be a deficit—may rise to a billion dollars or more, economists say.

DEFICIT ON DEFICIT

This would be atop the deficit for the current year, officially forecast by Finance Minister Fleming at $500,000,000. Some informants anticipate may reach $900,000,000 or $600,000,000 by the time the fiscal year ends March 31.

Thus it would appear that in a period of two years, this year and next, most of the $1,000,000,000 hike in the national debt will disappear. The debt, $11,000,000,000 at the end of the last fiscal year, may reach toward the record $13,400,000,000 established in 1946.

Instead of talking of possible tax cuts, some officials are beginning to wonder if this isn't a retrenment ends meet. But this time they are bound to make even could mean political repercussions, so tax increases are considered out. The government will continue to borrow to pay its bills and the country will go deeper into debt.

BORROWING COSTLY

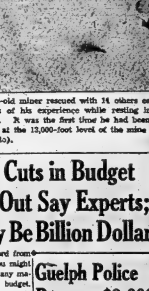
Borrowing won't be too easy because interest rates have stiffened with the Bank of Canada putting restraints on the expansion of the country's money supply in fear of inflation. The central bank's interest rate rose Thursday to 3.06 per cent.

This means an increase in national debt charges. Public debt charges rose to $386,000,000 in the first half of the current fiscal year from $376,000,000 last year.

Federal spending this year, including budget items and old age pensions, likely will reach a peak $6,000,000,000. Revenue may total about $5,300,000,000 or less.

Guelph Police Recover $3,000 In Phoney Bills

GUELPH (CP)—Two detectives are returning here today with a second man wanted on a counterfeit money warrant and police say they have recovered about $3,000 in phoney bills.



Detectives Lorne Hails and Del Polston went to Timmins to pick up Oscar Boudreau, 22, wanted under a warrant charging the possession and passing of counterfeit United States $20 bills.

Donald Briand, 21, also of Timmins, is already in jail here on the same charge. He was arrested following the complaints of storekeepers who got some of the bogus bills.

Some of the bills collected by police were found on a highway south of this city; more were discovered stuffed under a parked car in town.

GOALIES TARGET

Goalkeepers appear to be the whipping boys in the National Hockey League.

A few years ago, Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs hit the sports pages when he told Turk Broda, his netminder, to skim down—or else. The papers carried daily stories of Broda's battle of the bulge.

Then probably gave Coach Phil Watson of the New York Rangers an idea. Last season he conducted a public running feud with goalie Gump Worsley. Watson thought that Worsley was overweight and told him so at every opportunity.

This year, Watson has come to Worsley's defence at the expense of Johnny Bower, former Ranger and now goaltender with Toronto Maple Leafs. Watson says that Bower is "full of baloney."

Wade Hall of Los Angeles after Bower said the Ranger coach didn't give him a fair chance to remain in the NHL. This, said Bower, happened three years ago.

"Everybody pooh-poohed me when I said I could come back. I did. Now Worsley was a better goalie three years ago and I still think so now."

Just last spring, when Rangers got a clinched second place with a victory in Toronto, the New York coach told Bower:

"Even Gump was hustling—the fat slob."

The annual end-of-season panic for playoff spots in the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Unions has moved Ted Reeve to observe that the clubs really are moving into the third season of the current campaign. Don't go, the knowledgeable Toronto Telegram sports columnist explains it this way:

1. Exhibition Season: the balmy summer evenings when the touring football troupes, East and West, play social matches with about "40 imports on each and every side, and the customers paying regular prices for a look at the pick-up matches."

2. The Legit Season: "When well-organized and hard - hitting squads such as Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats or Edmonton Eskimos make their drive through the docket of late August and September and early October and battle into first place, or into a solid situation for playoff room.

3. "PANIC SEASON"

"Then comes cutting time in the National Football League and the local bush leaguers begin to come to life again." Reeve doesn't name No. 4, but it could be the "Panic Season."

He says: "Season Number Three is upon us and a good thing for the so-called Big Nine spectators but a bit of a bilk, owing to this three-out-of-four playoff gimmick (in the Big Four) for the consistent contenders.

Dutchies Whip London 31-29

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — London Lords made a gutsy second - half comeback here Thursday night but found a big Kitchener - Waterloo lead too much to overcome as they bowed 31-29 to the Dutchmen in a thrilling Ontario Rugby Football Union senior semi-final contest played before 1,800 fans.

The Dutchmen, who have won four straight league tilts, now lead this year's final. The first game is slated for Sarnia Wednesday night with the second in Waterloo Saturday, Nov. 8. A third game if needed will be played in Sarnia, Nov. 12.

Al Bruno's Lords outplayed the visitors by a wide margin. The Lords rolled up 153 yards rushing compared to K-W's 57, and made 251 yards passing compared to the Dutchies' 181.

TOUCHDOWNS AERIAL

K-W quarterback Bob Celeri threw 26 passes and completed 16 with one intercepted. Harry Thompkins of the Lord tried 34 passes, most of them in the second half, and completed 17 with three intercepted.

Halfback Jack Royall Bailey scored the first K-W touchdown after he grabbed a Celeri pass that slipped off Ron King's fingers at the London 31 and went all the way.

Celeri hit halfback Bernie Custis on a 21-yard pass for the second K-W major, just before the half ended Celeri threw to Chico Macedonia in the end zone. The ball was batted into the air by London's Jim Greer into the hand of K-W halfback Davey West for a touchdown.

Tackle Tom Mooney recovered a fumble by Thompkins and raced from the London 46 to score the Dutchies' fourth touchdown.

Fullback Mike Norcia kicked two converts, a single and a 25-yard field goal. Celeri also kicked a single point.

Peahead Says Canadians Are Doing 'Job'

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Douglas Walker, cautiously conceding his Montreal Alouettes "might have a fair shot this season," feels that "we're doing all right for future seasons" and that his new and more established Canadian players are doing a good job.

"We've got some good boys coming up," he said in an interview cloning Mike Kovac, Eddie Learn, Ron Murphy, Dave King and Bob Geary, products of the rebuilding program which got under way in the earnest last season.

Among the veteran bonebreaker, Walker said he regards defensive end Doug McNichol as one of the better Canadians in the Big Four football loop. "Another McNichol is having one of his best seasons. Walker named Bill Crawley as runner-up.

Walker spoke of his new Canadiens as the "the Canadian contingent."

Of Learn, a punt receiver who played with Kitchener - Waterloo last season, Walker said: "He's coming along and showing improvement. He's not a big boy but I think we'll hear more about him."

D King, another Kitchener-Waterloo product: "He's boy with defensive ability. He has been playing good and we'll certainly keep him around."

Lane Hopes Yankee Trade Rumor True

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland general manager Frank Lane said today he hopes New York Yankees and Washington Senators complete a rumored trade.

Lane believes he would have a better chance of obtaining Richardson from the Senators than the Yanks and "Cleveland is in need of a second baseman."

Many Young Stars Preparing To Replace Movie Veterans

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Its an old axiom that for every star on top there are a hundred young actors fighting to take his place.

That's truer than ever today, with rewards for a movie star greater than ever. And so the golden dream stars find themselves hard pressed for their birthright in the unexpected crop of youngsters. The average age of Hollywood's top 12 stars is 47.

Here is a richly promising silver shield for those who would reach the top:

Pat Boone was voted the No. 2 box office draw after only two pictures. That based largely on his appeal to teen-agers. If he can capture a wider audience there and overseas, he could inherit the mantle once worn by Bing Crosby.

Elvis Presley is with us to stay, like him or not. He'll have a big comeback when he leaves the army. If he handles himself well, he could be a solid threat to Frank Sinatra.

Paul Newman is the best young dramatic star in some along since Marlon Brando and James Dean.

James Garner has established himself as a solid personality as TV's Maverick and could well came in films. He's the likeliest successor to Clark Gable.

Tony Randall is an expert in light comedy akin to Gary Grant, Mike Grant, he can also play dramatic roles.

Don Murray has proven he can play comedy (Bus Stop) and outdoor epics (These Thousand Hills). He seems the Gary Cooper type, and he's a solid actor, too (A Hatful of Rain).

Tony Perking is tall, shy and an excellent actor, like James Stewart. His future is as promising as any young star today.

Tab Hunter is blossoming into an all-round performer. He has a solid following with the teenagers, switch doesn't hurt him.

John Gavin has had one big vehicle, Time to Love, which was no great shakes. But he has the physical qualities that could place him in a class with Rock Hudson.

Russ Tamblyn was another slow starter, and he went into the army when his career was getting up steam. But his future is bright.

Sal Mineo could well threaten the Tony Curtis stronghold. The youngster is also dark, intense and admired by the youngest set.

Ricky Nelson has yet to prove himself in films, but there can be no doubt that he will be a top attraction. Reason: he has the following with the teen-agers and they buy the most theatre tickets nowadays.

BCIVS Grid Squares End Schedule With Twin Victories Over Picton

By PAUL FLEMING

BCIVS football teams yesterday scored two victories over Picton CCSSA Junior and Senior "A" matches at QSS. The seniors trounced their opponents 23-2 while the juniors upset Picton 20-12.

In the senior contest the first half was very ragged as neither team could get untracked, due largely to poor blocking and good hard tackling. BCI threw away an excellent scoring opportunity in the first quarter, when they had drives deep into PICI territory, fumbling the ball on the four yard line and Don MacNaughton of Picton ran the ball out to the 25.

After a see-saw battle for most of the second quarter Terry Keller attempted a field goal from the 35-yard line but was short and so the first half ended in a scoreless tie.

From the opening kick-off in the third quarter the BCI boys started to mobilize and marched downfield 65 yards in eight plays, Don Masters finally bootlegging the ball around right end for a TD. The convert attempt failed, putting BCI out in front 6-0. Three plays later, Ed Hardy came up with a smart defensive play, picking off a bullet-pass interception and racing down the sidelines for a major, and Keller, making no mistake this time, added the extra point, putting BCI out in front 13-0. Midway through the quarter Hardy completed a spectacular 30-yard pass and run play in one of the main sparkplugs in the BCI backfield, Ralph Boomhower. The convert attempt failed. Gary Rowbotham ended the scoring in the third quarter on an off-tackle smash from seven yards out, but again the convert was no good, leading BCI out in front 25-0.

In the final frame both teams appeared to tire and neither team threatened, although PICI got close enough for Elmer Guernsey to boot for a single making the final score 25-1 in favor of BCI.

JUNIOR GAME

In the junior encounter both teams fought to a standstill throughout the first quarter, although as the quarter ended BCI punted deep into Picton territory.

On the first play of the second quarter Pete Weston, of BCI broke through to block a kick and on the next play Bill Latimer romped around the end for a TD. Near the end of the first half Roy Insley recovered a BCI fumble on the 15-yard line of BCI. The out-of-towners on three plays were unable to move the yardsticks and were forced to punt. BCI again fumbled the kick in its end zone. Dick Sutton of Picton dove on the loose ball for a major. The convert was wide, evening the score at 6-6 .

B.C.I. got off to a fast start from the kick-off and on five plays were knocking on Picton's door at the one yard line where Peoples carried over on quarter back sneak. Weston added the single to make the score 13-6 in favor of B.C.I. Near the end of the third quarter Barry Roberts recovered a Picton fumble on their 35 yard line and on the next play Don Skinner tossed a beautiful pass to Pete Weston in the end zone and Weston added the extra point putting B.C.I. out in front 20-6.

In the final stanza Gary Woodbeck of Picton sliced through the right side of the B.C.I. line to score from the 10 yard line, Roy Insley added the extra point but a holding penalty against Picton nullified the the convert making the score 20-12 as the gun went to end the game.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARYER, Sports Editor

Those pesky Cornwall Chevies are here tonight, and they're not coming in for any sightseeing tour, unless it's to visit the Maes going down to their fourth defeat of the schedule season.

Ike Hildebrand and the Macs will have something to say about that.

They're determined there will be no repetition of the heartbreaking loss they suffered Tuesday night when the never-say-die Hull-Ottawa Canadiens flashed sudden scoring fire to turn what looked like almost certain defeat into an eleventh-hour victory.

The Canada-jerseyed crew with but one win in four starts are coming in for more than their share of criticism from all parts of the province. It seems to be the general opinion that champions should pick up where they left off last season when they won titles, with the same ability, power and scoring strength.

Condition and shape are two mighty important factors in a hockey club or any athletic organization. The Hull-Ottawa club has proved that to all of their outings. It was that extra edge in condition that was perhaps the difference in the teams here Tuesday, although the savage goal-scoring offensive in the dying minutes was probably dealer spirit and speed of attack, that loosed the Macs off balance sufficiently to cost them the victory.

There are critics pro and con, with the "cons" in the majority at this stage of the game.

One loyal local fan opines: "The Macs could be the 'Silky Sullivans" of the league, away to a slow start but picking up speed in the home stretch, and roaring down the home stretch in a victory drive. You must remember they won 29 games and lost 29 while tying eight in their schedule play last season, and were one of the only two teams of the six that finished with a better won-and-lost record."

Wren Blair of the Whitby Dunlops, is one of the more severe critics of the Macs if he is quoted correctly in the sports column of Cornwall's Free Press.

According to Orr, Blair says: "Drury Denyes is in a mighty tough spot with the Macs getting them ready for the big tour. He has' a big job ahead of him. I am a little surprised, too, about next year and the future of hockey in Belleville. They could end senior hockey there in their effort to win the crown."

The little man with the wandering forelock is also quoted by Orr as saying: "They didn't have the strong goaltending by. They have the wrong kind of players, it seems, for the game. Also many of last year's team aren't playing very well."

Blair told Orr that "when one made our additions last year at the start of the season, we picked Billy Flick, Mickey Roth, Wally Maxwell and Ron Casey. But they were not the players of the calibre we needed." (He did not add that these were the players handpicked by Blair himself.) "We had to add Jack McKenzie, Connie Bruden and Jean-Paul Lamirande along with Roy Edwards before we went."

Now didn't the fine hand of the CAHA show somewhere in the selection of this quartet of players?

Orr says Blair said him Johnny McLellan, Hags Hagias, Flori Geogan and Frank Bathgate are "fair hockey players but not that good. They will have to add some better ones before they leave. But where are they going to get them. They have made the pro clubs mad by grabbing players instead of asking for them. (How that's the understatement of the year). "They might have trouble getting the men they need."

And so it goes. The Macs need some strength and lots of condition. The latter is sure. We hope the former be secured.

JUNIOR HOCKEY

Messrs. Maurice Rollins and Charlie Lambert of the Rollins-Lambert combination are to be back-patted for their decision to again sponsor a junior "B" entry in the city. Junior "B" clubs operating in a centre that has a senior "A" club have more or the two strikes on them for fandom generally prefers the higher bracket. However, the city entry at least assures a number of youths the opportunity to play their favorite sport, and it is hoped the fans, at least a goodly number of them, will get behind the youngsters at the box office.

It looks now as though the Junior "B's" will be entered in a compact four-team loop with other cities from Belleville, Peterborough and Kingston. Other teams might enter. There will be a meeting of the league held at CJBQ Monday night, starting eight o'clock where pre-season wrinkles will be ironed out.

BOOSTER BINGO

There will be Bingo tonight at Memorial Arene, while the Cornwall Chevies and the Macs are cooling off between periods. It is a new innovation, and it is hoped will catch the fancy of the fans. Cards will be offered at the game and somebody or some people are going home with nifty prizes. The Maes Booster Club is behind the scheme and they thoroughly deserve all the support they can get. How about it?

PLAYED WALKER CUP

LONDON (AP)—British Walker Cup golfer Philip Scrutton and John D. Pritchettwins, a professional, were killed Thursday night when their automobile collided with an army truck near Black Airfield in Hampshire county, Scotland, it was reported. Scrutton represented Britain against the United States in cup play in 1953, 1955 and 1957. Pritchette to repeat.

Bruins Take Over Second Place In National Loop

Knock off Chicago Hawks 5-2 As Detroit Whips Blues 4-1; Wings Play Errorless Hockey

By BEN WARD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Boston Bruins took over second place in the National Hockey League Thursday night but protest Red Wings stayed hot on their heels. A key game between the two clubs is scheduled Saturday afternoon.

The Bruins knocked off Chicago Black Hawks 5-2 in Boston, the sixth straight game without a victory for the Hawks. Detroit won a home game against New York Rangers 4-1, moving their points total to 10, one behind Bruins.

Both have a long way to go to catch first-place Montreal Canadiens who have piled up 16 points in their first 10 games.

TOPPAZZINI MOVES UP

Winger Jerry Toppazzini was one of three Bruins to score in a 31-second span during the first period and the goal, his seventh of the season, tied him with Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens for the league lead.

Johnny Bucyk and Don McKenney got the other quickies for Boston with Fleming Mackell and Leo Labine getting the assists.

Hawks outshot Bruins 29-27 but their attacks didn't have much on the ball. Ted Sloan and Elmer Vasko scored while Boston was shorthanded. It was sloan's sixth of the season. He only 15 in his 39 games with the Toronto Maple Leafs last season.

The oddity in Detroit was that not a single penalty was called against the winning Red Wings by referee Frank Udvari. Rangers drew three minors to make it one of the quietest games of the season.

Ted Wings got the only goal of the opening period when Johnny Wilson picked up a rebound on Nick Mickoski's shot and had a simple job popping it into the corner.

BATHGAGE EVENS IT

Andy Bathgate got it back for New York in the second when Camille Henry's pass hit his stick 15 feet in front of Terry Sawchuk's net and Andy blasted a hard one home.

Wings struck back fast, Norm Ullman and Marcel Pronovost performing the scoring chores to make it 3-1 at 3:22. Pronovost's second goal this season and equalled the defencemen's total for last year.

Gordie Howe sewed it up for Wings in the latter with his first goal in six games. The all-star winger took a pass at the Ranger blueline, faked Gump Worsley out of the net and casually backhanded the puck behind him. The Detroit crowd roared its appreciation.

A full weekend of action is ahead, opening with the Wings-Bruins game in Boston. Saturday night Hawks play in Montreal and Rangers visit Leafs. Sunday Leafs are at Boston and Wings visit New York.

GREY CUP SPEAKER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jim Sutherland, Canadian-born coach of Washington State Cougars, will be guest speaker at the Grey Cup luncheon when fellow Canada's only national professional football championship to be played here Nov. 29. Born in Winnipeg, Sutherland went to the U.S. when he was 16 years old. His coaching career began with the Santa Monica, Calif., high school where he handled Rosie Knox, now quarterbacking Toronto Argonauts.

Form Ten-Team Senior League In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—A new 10-team senior hockey loop was formed officially here Thursday night.

Representatives of communities to be represented wound up meetings and headed home to prepare their squads for the Inter-provincial Senior Hockey League.

The league is split into two groups. Pembroke, Renfrew and Barry's Bay, Ont., and Shawinigan, Que., are in the northern section. Ottawa, Rockcliffe Park station, Hull, Smiths Falls, and Hull, make up the eastern section.

Each team likely will play 42 games this winter. A schedule is to be released soon. The league champion will enter Allan Cup playoffs as Ottawa Valley representative.

It will be the first time in six years—since the demise of the Eastern Hockey League — that there has been major senior hockey rivalry in the Ottawa district.

CECIL DUNCAN'S IDEA

The new league is the brainchild of Cecil Duncan, former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, who is also president of the new loop.

He started with a small-scale senior operation last winter involving the Hull Legion team, Smiths Falls, Renfrew and an Ottawa squad. This project's success gave Cecil the idea for expansion.

Pembroke, which dropped out of the OHA senior A eastern division recently, was represented at the meeting by Wally Lenaerts, Ron. Craig and Art Bogart.

Milwaukee Braves, Yankees Dominate All-Star Selection

NEW YORK (AP)—Milwaukee Braves and New York Yankees dominate the 1958 Associated Press major league all-star team named today in a poll of 172 baseball writers selected the Associated Press Baseball Writers Association of America.

Three Milwaukee players and three Yankees were selected. The Braves are outfielder Hank Aaron and Wes Covington and left-handed pitcher Warren Spahn. The Yanks acclaim are outfielder Mickey Mantle and right-handed pitcher Bob Turley.

The rest of the squad is composed of first baseman Stan Musial of the Cardinals, second baseman Nellie Fox of the White Sox, third baseman Frank Thomas of the Pirates, shortstop Ernie Banks of the Cubs and outfielder Willie Mays of the New York Giants.

ONLY HOLDOVERS

Only Aaron, Spahn, Mantle and Musial are holdovers from last year's first team.

The balloting for shortstop was the most one-sided. Banks, the major league homer and RBI leader, collected 166 votes as compared to 8 for his nearest challenger, Luis Aparicio of the White Sox.

Other-leading vote-getters were Spahn, with 135, Musial 134, Mays 131, Turley 125 and Aaron 100.

The closest competition was for the third base job. Frank Thomas beat out from the Red Sox' Frank Malzone, 91 to 81.

WILLIAMS GO SECOND

Ted Williams of the Red Sox and Richie Ashburn of the Phils, the batting titlists, landed outfield berths on the second all-star squad along with Boston's Jackie Jensen.

Others chosen on the second team, in addition to Aparicio, Lollar, Turley and Aaron 100, are Norman Orlando Cepeda of the Giants, second baseman Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates, left-handed pitcher Stanley Ford of the Yanks and right-hander Bob Friend of the Pirates.

SWIMMER CHOSEN

LONDON (AP)—Ian Black, 17, of Scotland, winner of three swimming gold medals at the European championships, has been named Britain's sportsman of the year in a poll by the British Sportswriters' Association.

Priest Gets Ovation in Hockey Role

TIMMINS (CP)—Rev. Les Costello, 31-year-old Roman Catholic priest who gave up a professional hockey career for the priesthood, returned to the amateur ice lanes Wednesday night.

Father Costello, a curate at the Church of the Assumption here, played right wing for the Timmins-Edmonton Flyers of the Porcupine Mines League Senior A circuit. He received an ovation when he first appeared.

He didn't figure in-the scoring as Flyers dropped a 6-4 decision to Atoitki Eskimos but Flyers are confident he'll develop into the league's best wingman when he gets into condition.

Father Costello played juvenile hockey in this area, went to Toronto St. Michael's of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League and helped them win two Memorial Cups.

PLAYED WITH LEAFS

He then played with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League and played on the Leafs' 1947 Stanley Cup team. He also played with Pittsburgh Hornets, the Leafs' farm club in the American Hockey League.

Father Costello is the oldest of three South Porcupine brothers in hockey, Murray sport three seasons in the Chicago Blackhawks system and Terry is with the Boston and Detroit clubs of the National Hockey League and played on the Leafs' 1947 Stanley Cup team. He also played with Pittsburgh Hornets, the Leafs' farm club in the American Hockey League.

Another Do-or-Die Weekend For Argonauts and Alouettes

By BAR CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A week from Saturday night, the men will stand out from the boys around the Big Four football league's overnight cocktail party.

The names of the men may be Shatto, Knox and Hampton Pool.

Or they may be Richeverry, Peterson and Russell Maxwell.

It all depends on whether:

The Toronto Argonauts can stop a tremendous stretch drive by dumping the Montreal Alouettes twice in a row, or

The Alouettes demolish the Argos in the same two games, thus ending the astounding comeback that has seen Toronto quarterback Ronnie Knox complete 61 of 89 passes while his mates registered three consecutive victories.

The teams meet at Toronto Saturday. They go at each other again a week later—Nov. 8—at Montreal.

REASON FOR ANXIETY

Hamilton and Ottawa also play on the same dates. Only three of the four teams see the playoffs. Three have reason for anxiety.

This Saturday's Varsity Stadium meeting of Toronto and Hamilton a football fever that could hardly be greater if the Grey Cup, emblem of Canadian football supremacy, was the stake. By Thursday afternoon no tickets were available.

At Ottawa, the league champion Hamilton Tiger Cats will trot out quarterback Tony Curcillo for a crack at Frank Cialo's Rough Riders and a little more of what Hamilton boss Jim Trimble calls conditioning. Whether first-string quarterback Bernie Faloney will play part of the game isn't clear.

The following Saturday, the Rough Riders will be at Hamilton.

PASSING DUEL

The Argonauts have to beat the Alouettes and the formidable passing arm of quarter Sam Etcheverry twice in order to nail down the third playoff spot. Even if Hamilton beats Ottawa twice and the Argos split with the Alouettes, Toronto and Ottawa would wind up in a 10-point tie that would favor the Rough Riders' better performance against Argos in five games this season—215 points to 191. Ottawa would also get the playoff nod in a tie with Montreal — the only other possibility because of an 83-83 season's edge on the Al.

The Alouettes are returning offensive-defensive end Hal Patterson to action for Saturday's game at Toronto. Injuries have kept him out since Sept. 20.

"We knew he'd be back," recalled Toronto coach Hamp Pool gloomily. "Great players always head faster because they want to get back in so badly."

STUDIED DEFENCE

Doug Walker, Als' coach, has spent the week trying to devise a pass defence to contain Knox and his fired-up receivers.

That's a tall task for a weak heart; in addition to Knox's almost unbelievable passing record in the last three games, Toronto halfback Dick Shatto—nursing a leg injury this week—has scored eight touchdowns in the same period and leads the Big Scoring list with 54 points. Teammate Vic Kristopaitis is second with 48 points—20 converts, seven field goals and a single.

Trimble, the 41-year - old ex-coach of Philadelphia Eagles, of the National Football League, says the "conditioning" policy that has Curcillo tabbed for Saturday against Ottawa will help him to rest veterans like Eddie Macon, P. W. Underwood and Billy Graham, all with knee hurts and Vince Scott and Eddie Bevan who could use just plain rest.

He roundly denounce critics who said his strategy was designed to produce Ottawa victories, thus ending the possibility he would have to meet Toronto in the playoffs.

CRUCIAL COLLEGE GAME

In the Intercollegiate Senior circuit, University of Western Ontario Mustangs are in much the same spot as the Big Four Argos. Mustangs play host to the University of Toronto Blues Saturday and must win to force a playoff. Blues unbeaten in five games, will take the crown with another win. League rules say there's no playoff unless the second place team — that Mustangs this year—beats the top club at least once in regular competition.

The other intercollegiate game is Queen's University at Kingston in a game which could decide third place in the standing but not much else.

Teepees Win Five in Row; Flyers Beaten

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

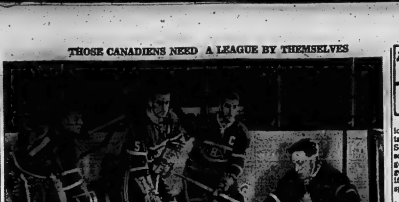
St. Catharines Teepees are sliding comfortably atop the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit with five straight wins.

They romped home with two unanswered goals in the third period Thursday night to break a 3-3 deadlock against Hamilton Tiger-Cats and increase their lead over the second-place Toronto Flyers to four points.

The Flyers — despite a third straight defeat Thursday night when they lost to Toronto St. Michael's Majors — still in second place with six points. Toronto Marlboros, third with five points, get a crack at the Teepees Saturday night.

In the night's other games Guelph Biltmores, still winless, held Peterborough Petes to a 4-4 tie.

Cube dominated play in the first period with a 2-1 edge but St. Catharines tied it up 3-3 by the end of the second and went on to win.



Ray Cullen scored twice for the Teepees, Terry McGuire, Chico Maki and Vic Haddield fired the others. Stu McNeill, Lloyd Haddon and Larry Jeffrey score for Hamilton.

St. Michael's opened the scoring early against Barrie, but the Flyers struck back at 2:30 into the second. The majors answered with a single in the second and outscored their hosts 2-1 in the final period.

Jack Costello and Gene Rebellato each scored twice for the visitors with Larry Hall adding a single. Ray Dupuis, Wayne Haig and Gaetan Secours scored for Barrie.

Peterborough and Guelph ended the first period at 2-2. Biltmores took a 3-2 lead in the second and led 4-0 midway through the final but a goal by Hugh McGonigal for the Petes at the 16 - minute with Harry Hall adding a single. Ray Dupuis, Wayne Haig and Gaetan Secours scored for Barrie.

Peterborough and Guelph ended the first period at 2-2. Biltmores took a 3-2 lead in the second and led 4-0 midway through the final but a goal by Hugh McGonigal for the Petes at the 16 - minute mark and Bill Moores' second tie in five starts. Larry Babcock and McGonigal each scored two for Petes. Biltmore scorers were Roe, Brain, Leon Rochfort, Bob Ertel and Bob Cunningham.

It's hard to believe, but maybe those Montreal Canadiens are even more powerful this season than they were last. In the last 11 games they have swarmed over the opponents' goals for seven wins and two ties. Their last victory—and they made it look routine—was over the Toronto Maple Leafs in Toronto, and even after a tiring schedule, they mowed the Leafs down by a 5-0 score. This score was typical of the game, with Moore, Baun, Geoffrion and Richard right up to the Leaf net where goalie Chadwick had to act like an octopus to keep the score from going space-wards.

Ezzard Charles Is Suspended

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Ezzard Charles, former world's heavyweight champion, has been suspended from boxing for an indefinite period.

Alton Erickson, supervisor of Professional Boxing and Wrestling Division, notified Charles that he was suspended for his "poor showing in your bout with Donnie Fleeman in Dallas Monday night."

Deputy state labor commissioner Sammy George of Dallas says he asked for Charles' suspension because "he withheld information from the doctor, which is detrimental to boxing, and his performance hurts the sport in Dallas."

Charles sprained his left ankle in a workout last Friday. His and his trainer, Jimmy Brown, kept this injury a secret. Charles, barely moving around the ring, was an easy target for Fleeman and lost by a knockout in the sixth round.

May Form 1st Negro Line In Pro Hockey

QUEBEC (CP)—The performance last weekend of a nervous junior may decide whether Quebec Aces will form the first all-Negro line in professional hockey.

The responsibility rests with John Uttendale, a 20 - year - old Negro rightwinger who played hockey last year with the junior Edmonton Oil Kings.

A player can work five games with a pro club and still retain his amateur status. At present Uttendale is playing on a line with speedy Bill O'Dee and Stan Maxwell, both Negroes and both accomplished performers in the Quebec Hockey League.

Uttendale has played four games for us already," said Joe Crozier, rugged defenceman who doubles as Aces' general manager. "We won't dress him for Saturday's game against Chicoutimi but will use him Sunday against the Royals in Montreal."

GOOD SKATER

"If honesty don't know yet what we'll do. He's a dandy skater, handles the puck well and can check. He's at 5-9 and 160 but is in prime condition — though that would be corny quickly enough in a pro league."

"If I don't turn him pro now he may not get him at all as he again becomes the property of New Westminster of the Western Hockey League. They might send him down but there's no guarantee we could get him again.

"If I do turn him pro and he doesn't make the grade then there is the complication for hi mof being reinstated as an amateur," Crozier said. "And a reinstated amateur can't play in either the Ontario Hockey Association or the Northern Ontario Hockey Association."

ONE ASSIST

Uttendale has not met with much success in the points department: In four games he has but one assist to his credit. Maxwell has two goals and three assists in eight starts while O'Ree, also in eight games, has one goal and five assists.

O'Ree and Maxwell, both 22 are in their third seasons in the QHL and both are considered NHL prospects. O'Ree's best season was two years ago when he scored 22 goals and assisted on 21 others in 68 regular season games.

Last year for the Aces Maxwell potted 22 goals and helped set up 26 others.

BRUINS TRIED O'REE

O'Ree last season became the first Negro to play in the National Hockey League. The parent Boston Bruins, hard hit by injuries at the time, called him up for a couple of games. He didn't score any points.

Nearly 10 years ago an all-Negro line performed in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, amateur circuit that later became the minor-pro QHL. The line was comprised of the Carnegie brothers Herbie and Ossie and Manny McIntyre. They played with Sherbrooke.

Hogan Meets Costa Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Hogan (Kid) Bassey, world featherweight champion, adds class to tonight's boxing show at Madison Square Garden in a non-title 10-round match with Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn.

Bassey is expected to brush past Costa, a fancy boxer but weak puncher, en route to a defence tentatively set for Los Angeles early next year. He may meet the winner of a Davey Moore - Ricardo Moreno elimination to be held in Los Angeles on Nov. 20.

The 10-round match will give fans their first look at Sandy Saddler's successor since he won the crown. As usual New York rules will apply with two judges and a referee scoring by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case of even rounds.

Bassey comes from Nigeria but now fights out of Liverpool, England.

Nothing Like Syntona For Indigestion And Tired Rundown Feeling

Actually Helps You Digest the Food You Eat. Gives relief from Gas, Indigestion, Nervousness, Tired Feeling and Rheumatic Pains.

MR. WITHERSPOON

When you have headaches, indigestion or feel tired, rundown and your nerves are all on edge, there's nothing like Syntona to make you feel better fast. Made from a proven medical formula including 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots, Syntona has helped thousands of men and women. In addition to helping digestion it acts as a tonic in rundown conditions.

Telling his experience with Syntona, Mr. Wm. G. Witherspoon, 138 Wellington Street, London, Ontario, said recently:

"After suffering two years Syntona relieved me of indigestion and constipation. I used to be always tired, nerves all on edge and couldn't sleep, but now I sleep fine and feel better than I did for many a day."

You too can enjoy the benefits of Syntona. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better. Begin taking it today.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

Paul Emile Cardinal Leger act to stop any form of bingo in Quebec.

"The participation of the church in forms of lottery is something we have been fighting since before the reformation," he said. "I cannot say how pleased I am to see an official of the church of Rome step right on the problem."

SAPS STRIKES, LOCKOUTS

Earlier, during discussion of labor disputes, Mr. Davies said he believes strikes and lockouts should be abolished as weapons of gaining advantage in labor disputes and compulsory arbitration enforced.

"I say this," he said, "as a member of a working man's family who has fought for the right to strike for more than 20 years."

Mr. Davies said the church should act as a conciliatory body during strikes.

Dr. J. R. Mutchmor of Toronto, chairman of the United Church's board of evangelism and social service, attacked speculation on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

"I think the chief ambitor of the rambling urge in Canada is not the prerogatives of kings but the Toronto Stock Exchange," he said.

shoot pin-up pictures of her on Aug. 1, 1957. He strangled her on the desert near Indio, about 25 miles east of here, and buried her in a shallow, sandy grave.

CHARGED AS FILMMAKER

Posing as "George Williams," Pasadena filmmaker Glahman dated Mrs. Shirley Ann Loy Bridelord, 34, a divorcee of suburban Sun Valley, shortly after Los Angeles lonely hearts club last March.

He ended her life after forcing her to disrobe and submit to the pin-up photographs. He didn't bury her because he walked her "almost a mile into the desert and I didn't think anyone would find her there."

Last July 23 he called on Miss Ruth Bila, Mercado, 34, through a modeling advertisement. He spent the night in the apartment, assaulting her repeatedly at gunpoint, then forced her to walk in his car and drove her to the site.

"I didn't want to kill her," Glahman told officers. "She was the one I really liked."

FOURTH ONE GOT FREE

Officers said his fourth intended victim was Miss Lorraine Hall, 23, of Los Angeles, whom he dated Monday night, ostensibly for picture-taking. He told her he "studio" but instead he sped about 35 miles south and parked. She got out, broke free of his car, her hands and tried to assault her.

They struggled. The pistol went off and the bullet grazed the inside of Miss Hall's right ear. Then she grabbed the weapon and was about to shoot him when the patrolmen happened by.

SHE RECOGNIZED ALARMED

Miss Hall told of her date with Glatman:

"I did not become alarmed until we entered the Santa Ana Freeway and he began talking in a strange speech. He wouldn't answer my questions or even look at me.

"We eventually reached a lonely section and he turned off into a little thy side road.

"Suddenly he pulled out a gun and pointed it at me. I immediately grabbed it on the muzzle.

"Then, although I still held the gun, and was screaming, he picked up a piece of rope from the floor and tied my hands in other hand in back of me. 'Just be a I tell you and you won't get hurt,' he said.

FELL ONTO STREET

I knew, however, that he would kill me and I wouldn't let the gun go. I struggled with the hand that was in back of me, opened the door and fell out onto the street.

"He rolled over and over on me shouting that he would kill me, scratching of cars, passed, but none would stop.

"I bit his wrist and he cried out, then suddenly I found I had the gun in my hand. I turned it around and pointed it at him.

"He said, 'I thought you were a lot tougher than that.'

"If I had known how to fire it, I believe I could have killed him. But he just stood there and looked at me and after a while the police came."

NO SURVIVORS IN U.S. MINE BLAST

In the same tunnels where 37 men died last year, 22 miners were killed by an explosion in the Pocahontas company coal mine shafts at Bishop, Va. Unlike the current disaster at Springhill, N.S., the men were killed instantly and there were no survivors found by the rescue miners who went into the wrecked shafts to recover the bodies of their friends.

Police Unable To Find Trace Of Missing Teller

OTTAWA (CP) — Police say they have run into a blank wall in trying to track the whereabouts of Miss Beryne Johnstone, wanted in connection with the weekend theft of more than $260,000 from the Imperial Bank of Canada branch where he was employed.

Detective Inspector Ab Cavan said Thursday that police haven't been able to find a trace of Johnstone since the 25-year-old Renfrew native was seen Sunday morning at his Ottawa apartment.

MASSEY SPEAKS

Vincent Massey, Canada's High Commissioner to Britain, said there are differences between the English - speaking peoples occasionally, but there was "too deep an affinity, a too profound abundance of consonessense" to suggest any real peril.

QUEEN'S MESSAGE

Prince Philip read a message from the Queen extending her good wishes to the ESU for success in its deliberations. He did not mention that the Queen is his wife.

The ESU meetings were to end today with decisions on resolutions prepared by committees discussing the topics. It announced that Prince Philip would take the chair.

One of the ESU's preoccupations has been methods of improving its publicity and information setup.

PRINCE WILL PAY

was little talk. Groups of miners sat and reflected. A bare-faced miner waiting to go underground looked at a news photograph.

"Can't you understand? I don't want my picture took!"

DAY OF MOURNING

In Halifax, the Nova Scotia government proclaimed next Sunday a day of public mourning for the Nova Scotia dead.

And Premier Stanfield said Revenue Minister Nowlan has given assurance the federal government will give the Nova Scotia government full support in any effort to aid the people of Springhill. Mr. Nowlan said here later he does not know yet what this assistance will be.

The provincial cabinet named a committee to study the economic future of Springhill and recommend what can be done to save its economy, largely dependent on coal.

Deep inside the battered colliery volunteers dug out each other every eight hours, as they continue the search in the faint hope of finding survivors alive.

FEW WILL TALK

Few survivors will talk of their experiences in the 13,000-and 13,-600-foot working levels where there are only inches of room to tunnel through a solid mass of debris.

Rescuers were inching along at a foot an hour.

At the School All Saints' Hospital a mile from the mine the 13 men brought out Thursday awaited after their ordeal.

Doctors said all are in good shape and can return home after a short rest, except for Joseph McDonald, who has a broken leg.

New Pope First Cigaret Smoker, Puffs 2 a Day

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII is the first cigaret-smoking pope.

The new pope lives simply and eats frugally.

For breakfast he takes only strong Italian coffee heavily laced with milk, and bread and fruit.

Lunch usually consists of rice, meat or cheese and fruit.

For dinner he often has soup, vegetables or salad, and bread and fruit.

NO SWEETS

An aide said Pope John never takes sweets or liquor.

Pope John likes to work at his desk during quiet hours of darkness. As patriarch of Venice, he never slept more than six hours daily.

Usually he went to bed at 10 p.m. and rose at 4 a.m. Sometimes he slept from 9 p.m. to midnight or 1 a.m. and worked for six hours then went to bed for another two hours.
